GAS — the Speedy Fuel for Cooking

Mornings when all the family clamors for a quick breakfast and every minute counts with mother — your gas range is ready! At your will, it springs instantly into full, efficient action.

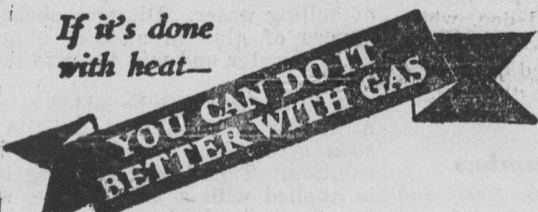

Father must get to his work — the children must be sent off to school — mother's day is too tedious to try her with cooking delays. Gas, the instant fuel, is the willing and speedy servant. Together with speed, it has the big advantage of giving dependable cooking heat for less money.

Keep the Flavor in the Food

Cook by the modern "oven-steaming" method. It's far better than boiling on a range top. Less water is required — hence the natural fine flavor of vegetables, fruits and other foods is retained to the fullest extent. Too, the valuable minerals and vitamins are preserved with the result that oven-steamed foods are more healthful as well as more delicious.

INSULATED Oven
for all oven steaming

The newest development in gas ranges is the insulated range. It enables you to "oven-steam" your foods efficiently and economically. Oven insulation holds the heat in the oven where it belongs — keeps your kitchen comfortably cool. Scientific oven ventilation makes all foods more delicious, and keeps cooking odors out of the house.
