Bellefonte, Pa., November 30, 1928.

NEWS ABOUT TOWN AND COUNTY.

—Gasoline tax for the third quarter of 1928, collected from Centre county dealers, amounted to $41,085.12.

—A food sale will be given by the Home Guards of the Methodist Episcopal church Saturday, December 1st, at Zeller's drug store.

—The rubber stop signs placed on the streets of Bellefonte seem to be regarded more by the average motorist than any other sign that has been put up.

—Ogden B. Malin and family moved, on Wednesday, from the Heverly apartments into the apartment over the Ritz theatre, recently vacated by Charles Richelieu.

—As a celebration of his birthday anniversary W. J. Emerick entertained the members of the board of directors of the Kiwanis club at a dinner at the Bush house, last Saturday.

—Everybody in Bellefonte and community should send out their Christmas cards and announcements by special air mail on December 18th, using the tenth anniversary envelope, and thus help boost your town.

—At a meeting of the board of Bishops of the Methodist church, held at Atlantic City, last week, Bishop W. F. McDowell was assigned to preside over the sessions of the Central Pennsylvania Methodist conference which will be held at Clearfield beginning March 13th, 1929.

—Thanksgiving turkeys were a scarce article on Bellefonte tables yesterday. Comparatively few of the birds are raised on Centre county farms these days and dealers have very few brought in, as the price of turkey is prohibitive to the ordinary man who has to work for a living.

—Headmaster James R. Hughes and his Bellefonte Academy football team, are known from coast to coast. In its issue of November 20th the San Francisco Examiner says: "Jimmy" Hughes, headmaster of Bellefonte Academy, who played on the first football eleven to represent the school, always travels with the team."

—Announcements have been received in Bellefonte of the marriage of Miss Margaret Ann Yeager, daughter of Mrs. Maurice W. Yeager, of Detroit, Mich., and Russell Emerson Jackson, also of that city, the wedding having taken place on Wednesday, November 21st. The Yeager family formerly lived in Bellefonte and have many relatives and friends here.

—The Ladies Aid society of the Pleasant Bview Union chapel (Red Roost), near Bellefonte, will hold a sale at the Variety shop, on Allegheny street, tomorrow, Saturday, December 1. It will open at 9 o'clock in the morning. Children's clothes, aprons, pies, cakes and home-made candy will be offered. This is a very worthy cause and your patronage will be appreciated.

—Students of the Pennsylvania State College are this week spending a few days at home or visiting with friends during the annual Thanksgiving recess. The vacation period began Wednesday noon and lasts until noon Monday, December 3. Many of the students attended the annual University of Pittsburgh-Penn State football game on Thanksgiving day in the Pitt stadium, particularly those who live in the western part of the State.

—The Reds and the Blues had a regular tug-of-war, last week, in their tagging contest for the Bellefonte High school athletic association. The Blues won but the Reds gave them a good chase. All told the sum of $527 was realized for the benefit of the association, which was considered very good by the school faculty. In this connection, it might be said, the school authorities will give a dance at some date in the future to all those who took part in the contest.

—Contractor Benjamin Bradley is making fine progress in his work of remodeling and building an addition to the former Bush residence, on Spring street, in order to create a modern hotel which the proprietor, M. A. Landsy, has already christened "The Marklan." All the walls for the large addition in the rear are up, the roof on the old building has been raised and modernized which will give more and better rooms on the third floor and when the building is finally completed it will have upward of thirty rooms, most of them equipped with bath and all modern conveniences.

—George T. Bush, who heads the Kiwanis committee on arranging for a celebration of the tenth anniversary of the inauguration of the air-mail, which will be the 18th of December instead of the 12th, as announced in the Watchman last week, has on hand fifteen hundred letters to be sent out that day to all parts of the United States in five cents and to foreign countries eight cents. Mr. Bush feels certain that by the date of the anniversary he will have five thousand letters to mail. If Bellefonte business men and individuals get awake to the splendid advertising opportunity the event will offer several thousand letters should be the town's contribution. It might also aid in restoring the Bellefonte field to a first-class station.

CENTRE COUNTY BANKERS HOLD ANNUAL BANQUET

Every Bank in County Represented in 118 Guests Present.

The annual meeting and banquet of the Centre County Bankers' association was held at the Bush house, last Thursday evening, at 6 o'clock. Every one of the fifteen banks in the county was represented by members of its board of directors, officers and employees, the total number present being 118. The officers for the ensuing year are as follows:

President, Earl S. Orr, assistant treasurer of the Bellefonte Trust company; first vice president, George H. Barnes, cashier of the First National bank, of Philipsburg; second vice president, Willard K. McDowell, cashier of the First National bank of Howard; secretary, Lloyd W. Stover, cashier of the Farmers National bank and Trust company, of Millheim; treasurer, Theodore C. Jackson, cashier of the Mohammon National bank, Philipsburg.

A sumptuous turkey dinner was served by Mine Host W. J. Emerick which was thoroughly enjoyed by all present. Cecil Walker was in charge of the music while special vocal selections were rendered by the Kiwanis quartette. Other musical features were a soprano solo by Mrs. Egil Risan and two solos by Miss Florence Barr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Miles Barr. Miss Freda Edmiston presided at the piano.

Nelson E. Robb, treasurer of the Bellefonte Trust company and retiring president of the association, presided as toastmaster and introduced as the first speaker O. Howard Wolfe, cashier of the Philadelphia National bank, who spoke on "Service Charge."

Mr. Wolfe stated that a bank's checking deposits of less than $100 monthly balance, averages 60% of its total number of depositors and equals only 2% of the total deposits. The service charge means that the bank should charge a monthly fee to any checking depositor whose balance for that month would not average $100 or more. This charge, as it has been universally adopted, is $1.00 per month. It costs the bank an average of $15.42 per year to carry a checking account. Banks do not want to impose this charge but prefer that the depositors whose accounts do not average $100 per month increase their balance in their checking accounts to $100. Mr. Wolfe referred only to checking accounts. If this service charge of $1.00 per month were put into effect it does not mean that those depositors who could not increase their balance to $100 per month would be compelled to discontinue doing business with the bank. They could open a savings account with $1.00 or more, receive 3% interest per annum, and when in need of money could come into the bank and withdraw it. Savings accounts are not subject to check. Mr. Wolfe further stated that there are other ways in which the service charge should be applied. On past due notes, overdraft accounts and a minimum interest charge. The First National bank of State College is applying a service charge on notes carried beyond maturity. If the maker of the note does not arrange for it at maturity he is charged 50 cents for the first day the note is overdue and 25 cents for each day thereafter until the note has been arranged for. Not only is the maker of the note obliged to pay this penalty for his laxness but his credit at the bank is greatly impaired through his own negligence regardless of how substantial his name may be. Banks are required by law to have all notes arranged for when due, and for that reason the penalty charge is just and fair.

A minimum interest charge of 50 cents for each note discounted is made because an analysis of the handling of a note shows that it costs the bank almost that much to take care of it. The speaker also declared that a small charge should be made for all checks presented at the bank when there are insufficient funds on deposit to pay the check. The speaker answered many questions relative to the service charge and the bankers were impressed with his talk and intimated that consideration of the project would be given.

Professor Fred J. Weaver, head of the agricultural economics department of the Pennsylvania State College, was next introduced. He gave a very interesting and instructive talk on "The Farmers Relations to the Banks." He used a chart giving interesting statistics to the bankers showing necessity for credit to the farmers. Prof. Weaver pointed out that farmers generally made purchases on the installment plan and thereby were compelled to pay as high as 19% interest on their money. He proposed that the farmer go to his bank and explain his financial condition. The banker would then be very willing to make the farmer a loan at 6%, thereby saving about 13%, and pay cash for whatever he buys. Banks are only too willing to assist the farmer whenever possible if the farmer will go to his banker and tell him just what he would like to do. Farmers need credit and this credit should be secured at a bank and not through any installment house if farmers want to save money.

A rising vote of thanks was given the speakers and the members went home feeling that the meeting was not only interesting but educational.

AGED BELLEFONTE MAN INJURED WEDNESDAY NIGHT.

Jackson Showers, well known retired electrician, of Bishop street, is the Centre County hospital, in a precarious condition, as a result of being knocked down by an automobile early Wednesday evening.

The accident happened at a few minutes after seven o'clock Wednesday evening. Robert Spicer, of Thomas street, Bellefonte, was driving west on High street and had reached the center of the bridge over Spring creek, where he intended to park, when Mr. Showers stepped out from between two cars evidently with the intent of crossing to the south side of the street. He was in front of the car before either he or its driver realized it. As there was no escape he threw his arms over the radiator with the probable intent of saving himself. At the same time Spicer threw his brakes with all the power at his command. The car didn't move three feet further, but that little bit of movement was sufficient to throw the eighty-year old gentleman backward with such force that J. M. Cunningham and Geo. T. Bush, who were standing on the bridge near this office, were startled by the thud of his head striking on the brick paving. They ran to him at once and tried to pick him up, but he was unconscious and a hasty examination revealed that he was seriously injured. The fact that he was lying in front of the car and his wheels were not on any part of him was evidence that its driver must have been driving very slowly and stopped it as quickly as was humanly possible.

As soon as another car could be commandeered Mr. Showers was taken to the hospital where it was found that he had suffered lacerations of the back of his head, the seriousness of which could not be determined until an X-ray is taken.

He regained only partial consciousness during the night and at 9 yesterday morning was still in a semi-coma.

Infantile Paralysis Causes Death of Bellefonte Boy.

Olaf Stanley Risan Jr., ten year old son of Mr. and Mrs. O. S. Risan, died at the family home, on west Beaver street, Bellefonte, at 9:55 o'clock on Sunday morning, following one week's illness with an attack of acute infantile paralysis. "Junior," as he was familiarly known, became ill on November 18th but his ailment was not considered of a serious nature until Tuesday when the family physician was summoned. At that time it was impossible to tell the nature of the disease and a day or two later blood cultures were taken and an analysis showed the ailment to be malignant infantile paralysis. Everything possible was done but without avail.

Junior was born at Charleroi, but the family have lived in Bellefonte six or more years. In addition to the parents one sister, Charlotte Lillian, survives. Funeral services were held at four o'clock on Monday afternoon by Rev. C. E. Arnold, of the Lutheran church, burial being made in the Union cemetery.

This is the third case of infantile paralysis in Bellefonte this fall but the only fatality.

Bellefonte High School Defeated Juniata 26 to 7.

Showing the best form displayed this year the Bellefonte High school defeated Juniata High, on Hughes field, last Friday afternoon, by a score of 26 to 7. The lone touchdown made by the visitors was by when he slipped through the entire Bellefonte team and ran 75 yards. Bellefonte then woke up and scored three more touchdowns.

On Saturday afternoon the Bellefonte Academy eleven defeated Beckley College, on Hughes field, 21 to 6. The score does not tell the story of the game by any means, or the relative strength of the two teams as the Academy coach used about every man he had in the entire squad just to give them a chance in the last scheduled game of the year.

The Academy's post-season game with Perkiomen will be played on Franklin field, Philadelphia, Saturday, December 8th, to decide the eastern prep championship.

Two Mail Pilots Killed in Storm.

Lawrence W. Garretson, air mail pilot for the National Air Transport company, flying between New York and Cleveland, was burned to death, on Sunday evening, when his plane crashed during a blinding snow storm, near Bristolville, Ohio. Garretson passed over Bellefonte between three and four o'clock on Sunday afternoon. When he reached Ohio he flew into an impenetrable snow storm and undertook to make a landing. It was six o'clock and very dark and he came down along the Pennsylvania railroad tracks, his plane turning completely over and bursting into flames. Two men, who saw the crash, hurried to the spot but the plane had been reduced to ashes and Garretson's body was burned beyond recognition.

The other pilot who met death was Tilden (Pete) Johnson, flying from Cleveland to Cincinnati, who was also forced down by the snow storm, near Massillon, Ohio. His dead body was found in the plane.

—Now that the football season is over the deer hunters will hold the spot-light during the next two weeks.

MANY FARMERS ATTEND THE ANNUAL MEETING.

Interesting Sessions of Agricultural Extension Association.

The annual meeting of the Centre county Agricultural Extension Association, held in Bellefonte last Saturday, was the most successful and interesting since the work was inaugurated eleven years ago. About two hundred farmers and farmer's wives were in attendance.

The meeting was called to order at ten o'clock by the president, J. Foster Musser, of State College, who outlined the program for the day. He also appointed as a committee on the nomination of officers for the ensuing year J. G. Miller, J. J. Markle and Mrs. Arthur Peters.

Miss Mary Reynolds, home economic representative, was introduced as the first speaker of the morning. She gave a general outline of the work done during the year which included clothing work conducted with different groups of women and also the junior work conducted with the girls. Ten Centre county 4H club girls, all dressed in white with green and white standard 4H club caps, gave a demonstration of the camp fire which was conducted at the girls' camp during the summer. It proved very interesting and showed the high type of educational work being done through the aid of the girls' clubs.

Following Miss Reynolds, county farm representative R. C. Blaney submitted a very interesting report of the work done during the year. The report showed an increase of 1536 farm contacts this year over those of 1927, when the present system of keeping records was established. An organized program was developed in each of the thirteen communities in the county. This program was arranged by local committees and carried to a successful conclusion with the assistance of the county agent. Mr. Blaney discussed at some length results on various lines of work, with certain crops and farm dairying taking the lead in accomplishments this year. One of the big features of the work as a whole was that done by the boys and girls in their various clubs. During 1928 a total of sixty girls and boys have been actively engaged in agricultural clubs work in Centre county.

The reports of both Miss Reynolds and Mr. Blaney called forth many expressions of appreciation and by a unanimous vote were ordered accepted and filed of record.

The nominating committee reported the following officers for the ensuing year, all of whom were duly elected: President, J. Foster Musser, State College; vice president, Clarence Peters, Stormstown; secretary, Newton I. Wilson, Warriorsmark; treasurer, W. C. Smeltzer, Bellefonte. At 12:30 o'clock 126 men and women gathered at the Y. M. C. A. where they were served a delicious dinner by the Woman's Auxiliary. During the repast Cecil Walker led community singing while Dr. H. H. Havner, of State College, gave a brief but interesting talk on agricultural extension work.

In the afternoon there were two group meetings, the women gathering in the library and the men in the main court room. Miss Harmony Hutchinson, of the home economics department at State College, talked to the women and gave a demonstration on home furnishings. Miss Reynolds, who presided, discussed the 1929 program. She stated that due to a change in organization her work next year will be confined to Huntingdon and Centre counties, instead of Clearfield, Centre and Clinton, as heretofore. This change was made necessary due to the increased demand for more home economics work among the women, and will enable her to devote more of her time in Centre county.

The men's meeting was addressed by Dr. E. L. Nixon, the potato wizard of State College and now an experimental farmer in Ferguson township. He stated that one of the big problems facing the farmer is that of securing lime at a price that the farmer can afford to pay. He made the assertion that Pennsylvania farmers are compelled to pay a higher freight rate on lime than those of any other adjoining State. Dr. Nixon stated that the problem confronting the Centre county farmer is the breaking down of a lot of old standard ideas of agriculture and applying more scientific methods. He expressed the belief that Centre county farmers are just beginning to appreciate their possibilities, both economical and educational. Located right at the front door of the greatest agricultural extension experiment stations in the country, it is possible to obtain first-hand information on any line of agricultural work. This information, applied in the proper way, should mean great satisfaction and thousands of dollars in the pockets of Centre county farmers.

—According to statistics compiled in Harrisburg Centre county is 49th among the counties of the State in value of production of industries. The total value of all manufactured products in Centre county for 1927 is given as $10,888,900. There were 4028 employed in them, $1,600 capital invested and the wages of employees totaled $4,181,564. In all of Pennsylvania production values were $477,917,600 less in 1927 than they were in 1926. And that, we should say, tells the story of business conditions far more accurately than a booming stock market.

Let us know tomorrow what the first day's kill is. We will greatly appreciate it.

What Troop B Means in a Money Way to Bellefonte.

A committee of business men of Bellefonte has undertaken the work of raising a fund of $2,500 to purchase a site for a new military post for Troop B, 52nd machine gun battalion, a place where it will not be cramped for room and where the horses can be kept in stables within reasonable proximity of the armory. The site has been selected and the State will build the armory.

While no definite figures can be given of the cost of buildings, it will be anywhere from $80,000 to $150,000, and a good position of that will be spent right in Bellefonte for materials and labor. But this is not the only reason why business men should cheerfully contribute to the fund to purchase the site. Troop B is a big asset to the community, not only in military prestige but financially. According to records at the troop headquarters it costs the State $29,000 a year to maintain the troop, most of the money being spent right in Bellefonte. In the nine years since Troop B was organized a total of $261,000 was brought into this community that would not have been here for the spending had it not been for our citizen soldiers.

The money spent by the State for the support of the troop is divided as follows:

Yearly payroll	$5,600
Camp payroll	2,500
Caretaker's payroll	2,500
Maintenance allowance	3,000
Maintenance of armory	1,500
Instructor's salary	500
Veterinary supplies	5,000
Officers' clothing	450
Horse hire	160
Stable lease	140
Maintenance horses	500
Incidentals	1,000
Total	$29,280

"Bellefonte Blasts" from the American-Warner News.

In the American-Warner News, for November, the little publication which keeps the employees of the American Lime and Stone company posted on everything of interest in connection with the company, is a very good picture of Charles McCoy, one of the faithful old standbys of the company, who has been a continuous employee for thirty-six years.

Among the "Blasts" we find the following: Mary A. Thompson has been employed in the sales department to take the place of Miss Marie Chandler, who obtained a position with the Titan Metal company.

The stork has not forgotten the boys in the hydrate department, as he deposited a bouncing baby boy in the lap of Willis Neff, and on the same trip brought smiles to the face of Elwood Teaman with a boy. We are glad to see "Uncle Jim," Thompson back at his old job, sweeping in plant No. 19, after an absence of several months due to ill health.

Congressman Chase Had Big Majority

Congressman J. Mitchell Chase was re-elected over T. E. Costello, his Democratic opponent, by the biggest majority ever given a candidate for that office in the Twenty-third Congressional district. But the result was not entirely because of the popularity of Congressman Chase, but to a great extent because Mr. Costello made no active campaign for the office. The official vote in the district was as follows:

	Chase	Costello
Centre county	17,177	6,329
Clearfield county	12,016	3,585
Cameron county	1,432	438
McKean county	13,669	4,672
Totals	44,294	15,219
