CALLAWAY.—Mrs. Elizabeth H. B. Callaway passed away at the Jersey Shore hospital at 1:30 o'clock on Christmas morning, as the result of heart collapse following an operation five days previous. She was apparently getting along as well as could be expected and only an hour before her death said she felt very comfortable.

She was a daughter of Daniel G. and Louisa Tome Bush and was born at Jersey Shore in 1869, hence was 60 years and 17 days old. When but a child her parents moved to Bellefonte and here is where the greater part of her life was spent. She was educated at the Bellefonte Academy and Wilson college, Chambersburg, and at the age of twenty years married Charles L. Callaway, of Baltimore. Her early married life was spent in that city but later she returned to Bellefonte and made her home with her parents. She was a member of the Woman's club of Bellefonte, the Bellefonte chapter D. A. R. and an associate member of the Benjamin Franklin chapter of Paris.

In 1910 she made a trip around the world and thus imbibed a love for travel that ten years later led her to an undertaking for which she was peculiarly adapted, that of an assistant hostess with the Clark's Cruises. In that capacity she made four trips around the world and went three times on a cruise to the Mediterranean. She was also scheduled to leave on her eighth cruise on January 30th and had her plans well formulated for the trip. Having traveled so extensively, and with a mind alert to prevailing conditions wherever she went, gave her a breadth of vision and understanding of economic conditions in the world generally possessed by few women.

Mrs. Callaway ranked high among the women of Bellefonte who have carried its name and fame beyond the confines of the home circles. A woman of marked intelligence and gracious manner she loved life and got much out of it. Though it might be said that she gave more than she took, for she was entertaining always. Her witticisms, her zest for enjoyment and her deft art of accommodating herself to any company were the sparks that lightened many drab moments for those with whom she came in contact. She was an optimist who did not recognize defeat and one of her strongest virtues was her unswerving loyalty to friends. In many ways she was an unusual woman—so many, in truth, that her loss is not alone to her family, but to Bellefonte, as well.

Her survivors include two daughters, Mrs. Louise B. Garber, of Flushing, Long Island, and Mrs. George B. Thompson, of Bellefonte, as well as two brothers, George T. Bush, of Bellefonte, and Harry P. Bush, of Milford, Oregon. Her husband died over twenty years ago.

Her remains were brought to Bellefonte on Christmas morning and taken to her apartment in the Bush Arcade, where funeral services were held at 3:30 o'clock last Thursday afternoon, by Rev. Stewart F. Gast, rector of St. John's Episcopal church, of which she was a member, burial being made in the Bush lot in the Union cemetery.
