Of Another Calling

En route to fulfill an engagement in New England once, Sousa got off the train at a station to stretch his legs for a few minutes. Before he could look around an excited woman rushed up to him and frantically demanded:

"Has the nine-thirty train pulled out?"

"I don't know," he replied.

"Why don't you know?" she shouted.

"Why do you stand there like a log? Aren't you a conductor?"

"Yes, I'm a conductor."

"A fine conductor you are," she exclaimed contemptuously.

"Well, you see," he humbly replied.

"I'm not the conductor of a railroad train; I'm the conductor of a brass band."

The Brimstone Path

When the revivalist, Torrey, was holding meetings in London, he was annoyed by persons who disapproved of his sermons leaving the hall. Preaching a regular hell and brimstone sermon one night, he told his hearers what a great sorrow it had been to him because he believed one of his aunts had died repentant. "And she has certainly gone to hell," the evangelist added. A young man could stand no more, and got up and walked out. "Yes, and there goes a young man who will go to hell, too," Torrey shouted. Reaching the door, the young fellow turned around. "Yes, I'm off," he called back. "Ta ta. Any message for auntie? Or shall I tell her you'll see her later?"—Portland, Ore. journal.

The Only Girl

Jack had just asked Jill to marry him, and she murmured "Yes."

"Jack, dear," she ventured after a long silence, "am I the only girl—"

"The young man's arms tightened about her."

"Jill," he interrupted fiercely, "don't ask me whether you are the only girl I ever loved. You know it as well as I do."

"That wasn't what I was going to say at all, Jack," she answered. "I was going to ask you if I was the only girl who would have you."

Forgetting Success

The less a man thinks about success and his personal advancement, the closer a scholar writing in Farm and Fireside, the more certain he is to succeed beyond his wildest dreams.
