Bellefonte, Pa., February 1, 1929.

NEWS ABOUT TOWN AND COUNTY.

F. W. Warner Jr., of Philipsburg, a student at The Pennsylvania State College, has won one of the John W. White scholarships at that institution.

The weather of the past week has been more seasonable and winter-like, and it is highly probable that we will all get enough of it before the bluebirds come again.

The Logan fire company was called down to Milesburg, yesterday morning by a slight fire on the roof of the Milesburg hotel, but it was extinguished before much damage was done.

The women of the Presbyterian Missionary Auxiliary will hold a food sale in the Variety Shop on Saturday, February 2nd, beginning at 2 p. m. All kinds of home-made pies, cakes, etc., will be on sale.

Bishop Hughes, who will give his stirring lecture on "The Biography of a Boy," here on Monday evening, March 4th, will broadcast from station WENR, Chicago, on Sunday evening next at 9:30 o'clock eastern standard time.

Burgess Hard P. Harris has not yet put his seal of approval on the voluminous milk ordinance passed at the last meeting of borough council, but will likely approve it, since no good purpose would be served by failure to do so.

Ernest Leitch, of Lock Haven, arrested in that city last week on the charge of stealing one hundred chickens from the coop of William Yearick, at Jacksonville, was this week turned over to Centre county authorities and will be tried at the February term of court.

Dr. William J. Lentz, professor of veterinary anatomy and director of the small animal clinic of the University of Pennsylvania, will lecture before the Mahoning Valley veterinary club, at Tyrone, on February 5. Veterinarians of all of the central counties of the State will be there.

The Catholic Daughters of America, will give a sauer-kraut dinner in their club room, in the Lyon building, Wednesday of next week, served from 12 until one o'clock. Dumplings, mashed potatoes and everything good, that is usually served with a sauer-kraut dinner, will be included. Price 65 cents.

Daniel LeRoy Snively, an inmate of the psychopathic ward for the criminal insane at Rockview penitentiary, eluded the watchfulness of the guards, about 10:30 o'clock on Tuesday morning, and made his escape. He was found about two o'clock within the prison grounds and not far from the prison buildings. The man was suffering considerably from cold and exposure. Snively was sent up from Blair county for five to ten years for an attack on a crippled child.

J. O. Brewer, registrar of vital statistics, has record of thirty-nine deaths which occurred during the month of January in his district, which includes Bellefonte borough, Benner and Spring townships. This is the largest number ever recorded since 1906, the year the registration law went into effect. The next highest record was during the flu epidemic of 1918 when there were thirty-eight deaths. Of course the number last month included the five men electrocuted at Rockview Penitentiary.

Lovers of the light fantastic are requested to bear in mind the Academy football dance, which will be held in the pavilion at Hecla park on Friday evening, February 8th. So far there have been comparatively few dances this winter and this will afford an opportunity for real enjoyment. The dance will not be confined to Academy students, and as no invitations will be issued anyone desiring to do so can attend. Good music is guaranteed. Ladies unaccompanied by a partner and who wish to watch the dance will be admitted free.

Ladies and gentlemen are again urged to go to the armory this (Friday) evening and see the Academy boxers in a return bout with the istic battlers of Cook Academy, of Monroe Falls, N. Y. The latter defeated the Academy on their home floor but the Bellefonte boys hope to return the compliment tonight. Last Friday evening they defeated the Coal Township High school team, from Shamokin, 5 to 2, and are now in better shape for Cook Academy. In the visitor's team will be Halaiko, the great Hawaiian boxer. The bout will start promptly at 8:30 o'clock.

The hard crust on the snow, which fell last week, will be hard on the game birds in the woods, as they will be unable to get at their natural feed on the ground. The only means of sustenance they will have is from buds on the trees and underbrush, if they can find any. Inasmuch as it is uncertain how long the snow may lie on the ground it would be a humane act if sportsmen's associations and farmers living near woodlands inhabited by the birds would put out feed for them. So far there is no occasion to worry about the deer, they will be able to take care of themselves.

BIG FIRE AT SPRING MILLS EARLY TUESDAY MORNING.

State College Also Had Disastrous Fire Tuesday Morning.

The village of Spring Mills had a big fire, at an early hour on Tuesday morning, which completely destroyed two stores, one dwelling house, the top of another house and caused damage to adjoining properties. The properties destroyed were the shoe store of Charles A. Krape, the store and dwelling of J. H. Rishel, and a portion of the farm house of Harry Allison. Most of the window glass in the John Rossman home and one or two other nearby properties were broken by the intense heat, while the main lines of the Bell Telephone company were burned off completely severing all telephone communication with that part of the county.

The fire started in the basement of Krape's shoe store, but the nature of its origin is unknown. It was discovered by Mrs. John Rossman, who lives nearby, just as the flames were eating through the floor into the main storeroom. She awakened her husband and he gave the alarm. By that time the flames had spread throughout the store and it was at once apparent that a bucket brigade would not be adequate to fight the fire. Mr. Rossman then telephoned to Bellefonte for help and the Logans responded making the run down in 38 minutes. It took only a few minutes to put two streams into service but by that time the fire had gained such headway that the Krape and Rishel buildings were doomed but the Harry Allison home was saved from complete destruction, notwithstanding the fact that the roof and upper portion were burned. The firemen also prevented the flames from spreading to other buildings.

Mr. Krape's loss on his building and stock has been estimated at from $5000 to $6000. Mr. Rishel's loss is placed at about $18,000, while the Harry Allison home was damaged to the extent of $2,000. All of them were insured but to what amount could not be ascertained. The loss on other damaged properties was only nominal.

The Bellefonte firemen remained on the scene for two hours and a half, pouring water on the ruins until they were thoroughly saturated. And when they were through a number of Spring Mills men helped them roll up and load their frozen hose, an act that was much appreciated by the chilled firemen.

ANOTHER FIRE AT STATE COLLEGE.

About nine o'clock on Tuesday morning fire was discovered in the Penn State cafe, at State College, which is located in the Gentzel building, and though the firemen were able to save the building after almost two hours of strenuous work, the interior was badly burned and the cafe as well as The Vogue Shop, also located in the building, was almost completely ruined. Above the business places were four apartments and these were badly damaged by fire, smoke and water. A mother and several days old baby had to be removed from one of the apartments.

L. L. Saltzer, a Freshman from Sacramento, Cal., who roomed in the building, was in class when the fire started and on learning where it was ran headlong to the scene and dashed into the burning structure in an effort to save his belongings. He threw most of his stuff out of the window only to find that his escape by the stairway had been cut off by the flames but he was rescued by the use of a rope ladder.

The fire, which is the third in the same building within ten years, started in the basement, but the cause is undetermined. The exact loss could not be obtained but it is partly covered by insurance.

Snow Stops Work On Ed Haupt's Veiled Lady Cavern.

The recent fall of snow, which is deeper out through the county than it is in Bellefonte, has stopped work on G. Edward Haupt's "Veiled Lady Cavern," in Brush valley. The cleaning out of the main portion of the cave has progressed to a considerable distance and Mr. Haupt figures that a spring flood might complete the job.

About four hundred feet from the entrance to the cave a fair sized stream of water has been found. Beyond the stream and to a depth of two thousand feet outside noises are plainly audible. Automobiles, and even school children, can be heard passing along the state road overhead. Five large side caverns have been opened up, several of them extending off of the main cavern for a distance of 150 feet. There are pools of water and wonderful rock formations.

Mr. Haupt recently purchased the Alva Duck farm, just north of his cavern, and the men on his two farms will also take care of the cave.

Reese Rhoads, an Altoona trapper who spent a month in the Snow Shoe region trapping fur bearing animals, went home last Thursday with the pelts of two wild cats, seven foxes, two minks and two weasels. The wild cats were unusually large and fine specimens. The bounty alone on the above bag of pelts will amount to about fifty dollars, while the pelts, themselves, will be worth at least twice that amount.

VERY REV. Wm. E. DOWNES SIGNALLY HONORED.

Catholic churchmen of high and low degree gathered in Bellefonte on Wednesday to pay homage to Very Reverend William E. Downes, pastor of St. John's Catholic church, in celebration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of his ordination to the priesthood. All told twenty-three gentlemen of the cloth were present, including the Right Reverend J. J. McCort, Bishop of the Altoona diocese. In addition quite a number of personal friends of Father Downes were here from a distance.

High mass was celebrated in the church at 10 o'clock in the morning, which was attended by a large congregation. At 12:30 Father Downes entertained the visiting priests, family connections and visiting friends at a dinner at his residence. The dinner was served by Mine Host Landry, of the Brockerhoff house, and covers were laid for fifty-nine.

As a preliminary to the formal celebration members of St. John's parish gave Father Downes a surprise reception in the Knights of Columbus hall, on Tuesday evening. This affair was largely attended, not only by members of the church but personal friends of Father Downes from other churches. During the evening Thomas B. Hamilton, one of the oldest members of St. John's parish, presented him with a magnificent bouquet. In the top of it was an entop of the bouquet was an envelope addressed to the beloved pastor but, if he saw it, he evinced no curiosity as to the message it might contain until some one suggested it might be well to take a look at the contents, which proved to be a check for $913.00, the gift of his parishioners, and realizing the true spirit of such giving Father Downes was much affected by the unexpected act of kindness. Contributions have been added since so that yesterday the gift had amounted to well over a thousand dollars. While the reception was an informal affair it assumed the atmosphere of a public ceremonial when both the Hon. M. Ward Fleming, Judge of the county Courts, and Hardman P. Harris, burgess of the town, addressed the gathering and conveyed expressions of general felicitation.

Judge Fleming Reversed in Laura Wright Case.

Among decisions handed down by the Superior court, the latter part of last week, was that in the case of Laura Wright against Bellefonte borough, in which the decision of Judge Fleming was reversed and the verdict of a Centre county jury awarding the plaintiff $2500 damages for injuries sustained in a fall on an icy pavement sustained.

Readers of the Watchman will recall that two years ago, while on her way down Bishop street, Miss Wright slipped and fell on the ice on the pavement in front of the Mrs. Charles Smith home. According to her claim she sustained injuries which prevented her working for some time and later brought an action for damages against Bellefonte borough through her attorneys, Orvis, Zerby & Dale. The case was tried at the February term of court, 1928, Spangler & Walker representing the borough. At that time the jury returned a verdict in favor of the plaintiff for $2500.

A motion was promptly made for a new trial and in due time the case was argued. Later Judge Fleming handed down his decision in which he stated that the verdict was not warranted by the evidence and he decided in favor of the borough by setting aside the verdict of the jury. Miss Wright's attorneys promptly appealed the case to the Superior court and the decision of that tribunal, last week, reverses the judgment of the learned court of Centre county and orders the verdict to stand as rendered by the jury. Just what action will now be taken remains to be seen.

James S. Meyer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry N. Meyer, of Bellefonte, who since his graduation at State College two years ago has been with the American LaFrance Engineering company, at Elmira, N. Y., has accepted a position with the American Cyanamid company, at Warners, N. J. The company has started the manufacture of a new heat treating (carbonizing) product, and a large portion of James' work for the present will be on the road, installing and demonstrating the product. When not on the road he will devote his time to research work in the technical laboratory.

Announcements were received in Bellefonte this week, of the marriage of Mrs. Marjorie Blakeley Hoy and Albert Daniel Beers, which took place at Chester, Penna., Monday, December thirty-first. Mrs. Beers was formerly Mrs. Albert Hoy and well known in Bellefonte, through her frequent visits here with Mr. Hoy's sisters, the Misses Anna and Mary Hoy and Mrs. W. F. Reynolds.

The ladies auxiliary of the Bellefonte Y. M. C. A. will meet in the association building Monday evening at seven-thirty. In addition to consideration of the regular business of the auxiliary the ladies will listen to an address by physical director Singer.

CENTRE COUNTY GIRL WINS LAMB HONORS AT STATE SHOW.

P. R. R. Co. Buys County Lambs to Convert Into Chops.

A Centre county girl, Miss Alice Foust, of Centre Hall, was crowned grand champion of the 4-H lamb club at the State farm products show, in Harrisburg, last Thursday. Her exhibition was a pen of wonderfully well fitted Southdowns.

Another Centre countian won the grand championship on a pen of Hampshire, the select group of this breed. Clarence Hoy, Bellefonte, was the exhibitor.

By breeds the winning pens were shown as follows: Southdowns: Alice Foust, Centre Hall, first; Edward Bitner, Centre Hall, second; Donald Campbell, Pennsylvania Furnace, third; George Smith, Spring Mills, fourth; Florence Brooks, Centre Hall, fifth, and Philip Smith, Spring Mills, sixth.

Hampshires—Clarence Hoy, Bellefonte; James Campbell, Pennsylvania Furnace; Harold Homan, State College, and Lee Homan, State College, in the order named.

Shropshires—Fred Luce, Centre Hall; Alvin Shaw, Washington; Wilbur Shaw, Washington; Charles Harter, Nittany; Floyd Weight, Bellefonte, and James Martin, Washington.

Dorsets—Luke Pasco, Hickory; Robert Vance, Burgettstown, and Howard Vance, Burgettstown.

In the Centre county round-up the six showings were in the following order: Alice Foust, Clarence Hoy, Fred Luce, Edward Bitner, James Campbell.

Sixty-one head were shown by the nineteen exhibitors who divided a prize fund of $200, contributed by wool merchants, the Pennsylvania Sheep Breeders and Wool Growers Association and prominent breeders of the State.

P. C. MacKenzie, superintendent of livestock at the Pennsylvania State College, who judged the lambs shown by the boys and girls, declared the exhibit the best ever presented at a State show.

The sixty-one lambs exhibited, most of which were from Centre county, were sold on Friday, and netted for their owners a total of $1373.80, or an average of $22.89 a head. Forty-three of the lambs were exhibited by thirteen Centre county boys and girls, and assuming that they received the average price they came home with over a thousand dollars, including their prize money.

In this connection it might be said that the lambs exhibited by Clarence Hoy, of Bellefonte; James Campbell, of Pennsylvania Furnace; Philip Smith, of Spring Mills; Florence Brooks, of Centre Hall, and Harold Homan, State College, were all purchased at auction by the Pennsylvania Railroad company to convert into blue ribbon meat for serving in the dining cars of the crack Broadway Limited and other trains on that line. In the Hoy pen there were four lambs which weighed a total of 484 pounds. The three lambs in the James Campbell pen weighed 348 pounds. The railroad company also bought some of the prize steers exhibited at the show.

H. E. Hennigh, of Spring Mills, was one of the prize winners at the show for his exhibition of white Plymouth Rock chickens, and Beiber Rishel and Guy Beahm, both of Spring Mills, took third and fourth prizes respectively on their exhibits of white-capped yellow dent corns.

Vocational Course Established in the Boalsburg High School.

A request of the Boalsburg school board for a department of vocational agriculture in connection with their High school was recently granted by the State Department of Education and the course was established at the beginning of the second semester, on Monday of last week. All pupils will continue their academic work as started and in addition the boys will have a half day in agriculture each day.

Edwin Dale, who for four years was teacher of agriculture in the Gregg township vocational school at Spring Mills, has been elected supervisor of agriculture. He is well fitted for the position and under his instruction the department should make rapid progress.

Governor Fisher, last Thursday, appointed Attorney General Thomas J. Baldrige, of Blair county, as a member of the Superior court to fill the vacancy caused by the recent death of Judge John J. Henderson, of Pittsburgh. At the same time Hon. Cyrus E. Woods, of Greensburg, was named as Attorney General to succeed Judge Baldrige in the Fisher cabinet. A cabinet position will be nothing new to Mr. Woods, as he was Secretary of the Commonwealth under Governor Martin Brumbaugh.

The Ladies Auxiliary of the Centre County hospital held a meeting at the hospital, on Monday, and elected the following officers for the ensuing year: President, Miss Mary Blanchard; first vice president, Mrs. J. "OLD MAIN" AT STATE TO BE ENTIRELY REBUILT.

Decision of college trustees to completely tear down "Old Main" and rebuild with the weathered limestone of the 70-year old structure has been announced by Dr. Ralph D. Hetzel, president of Pennsylvania State college.

Preliminary plans of the college architect, Charles Z. Klauder, Philadelphia, for the reconstruction of the condemned and now almost empty structure, have been approved by trustees, and working plans are being drawn up. It has been found inadvisable to attempt reconstruction of the ancient land-mark through interior reinforcement of the present walls. They have many gaping cracks due to foundation settlements, and entire reconstruction along lines of the old building will be necessary.

Considerable sentiment is attached to the old building and retention of its general lines and a 150-foot high clock tower will keep it the most outstanding land-mark in this entire section of the Nittany Valley. It some years ago passed out of the picture as a men's dormitory, and the rebuilt Old Main will become the center of student activities and the college administration. Spacious lounges, student union headquarters, student publication and other activities room, large lobby, cafeteria, health service dispensary, campus societies meeting room, religious activities center and theatrical rehearsal hall are some of the features planned for the reconstructed building.

All but the first two floors of the present building have been vacated. Funds for the reconstruction will be provided partly by state appropriation and through pledges to the college emergency building fund of 1922-23. It is expected that the reconstruction work will be started after commencement in June, when space can be provided elsewhere on the campus for the administrative offices still housed in the building. Trustees have also let the contract for a new dormitory for men to be a duplicate of the present Watts hall.

Grading Work On Bellefonte Central Nearing Completion.

To date about four miles and a half of the connecting link of the Bellefonte Central railroad, in College and Ferguson townships, have been completed, but the snow, cold weather and frozen ground will prevent the laying of ties and rails. The contractor is still at work on grading the incomplete portion and this work will probably be finished by the time the weather settles in the spring sufficient to start laying track.

A temporary track was laid from Struble station west to the public road where an overhead bridge is being built. This bridge is now far advanced and will also be completed in time to prevent any delay when it comes to laying track. All the ties and rails are on hand and the laying of the track, once started, will be pushed as fast as possible. As it looks now the road will be completed in time for hauling material to State College when the building boom starts there during the summer.

Red Cross Meeting.

A meeting of the Bellefonte chapter American Red Cross will be held in the W. C. T. U. room, in Petriken hall, on Thursday afternoon, February 7th, at 4 o'clock. Miss Hughes has been assisting Mrs. Craig in her work, and will continue the school until Mrs. Craig is able to resume charge.

The Bellefonte Woman's club met in the High school auditorium, Monday evening. Mrs. Broyles, of State College, was the scheduled speaker and gave a most interesting talk on the problems of "World Peace." The attendance was not nearly as large as it would have been had there not been so much sickness in the town.
