SPIRIT AND BODY.

Said the Spirit to the Body: Come, let us go adventuring! There are mountains to be climbed, There are rivers to be crossed. On the lakes the winds are blowing, Our boat we should be rowing, Where the white capped waves are wildly tossed.

Said the Body to the Spirit: Let us sit beside the fire. Underneath the whispering pine trees let us rest. For the afternoon is waning, The evening shadows gaining, And the sun will soon be sinking in the

Said the Spirit to the Body: Let us go a wand'ring, I have heard of a lovely canyon, far away. Grim, the mountains circle 'round it, Few, the travelers who have found it. For it lies beyond the desert, sad and gray.

Said the Body to the Spirit It is better to be resting, In our peaceful, quiet home, Than on dusty deserts trudging-That yield their secrets grudging-Or climbing mountains to their icy dome.

Said the Spirit to the Body: Let us go a treking To the tundras of the north. Where the wild geese are resting, Where the swan and loon are nesting, And caribou and reindeer forage forth.

Said the Body to the Spirit: Oh, thou ever restless dreamer, I cannot venture with you For I'm growing old and weary And the prospect's ever dreary When I think of things that we were wont to do

Soon our partnership we'll sever I'll not hold you back forever Then you can see the great adventure through.

Into endless miles of space Your unfettered wings can race, Like light from star to star But as you joyous go forget not me, I pray,

Just give some kindly thought To the one who with you wrought And shall, then, be naught but clay.

ON THE DOTTED LINE.

(Continued from last week.)

her own business but who broke such courted in preference to Jessica. personal rules for Michael. There

Mr. Michael. But it's because—well, write her a policy for twenty-five you remind me of someone, someone thousand dollars. who was very dear to me, that I'm telling you all this!

Hollywood. She claims, as she spoke, those golden lights in Michael's eyes first time in her entire career that turned black. She also says he did not utter one astonished word, but ter. Jessica took out a forty-thought for a young wife. Someone I could she won a man away from her sissue of the standard she word and flattered Jessica, for it was the came very coy. "Yes, I'm looking for a young wife. Someone I could she won a man away from her sissue of the standard she won a man away from her sissue of the stan quietly thanked her for her kindness, sand-dollar policy. and then walked out into the marvelous California sunlight.

kill Fay. He would murder the were out. prince. He would—And suddenly he "And wh found himself back in his hotel suite. chael. A telegram was handed to him. It was from the head of the life insur-

Am Waiting for Those California

Policies aloud-wild, Well, he would now return to New York. A failure in every way. A man who could not get the woman he lov- mother had no more daughters. ed. A man who could not even insure one person for a meager five thou-

He stopped short in his ravings. The great idea had dawned upon him. a stop to the whole business. At the Fav was a double-crosser. make use of her and secure a life insurance policy. Such an action would not harm the woman. It was merely a good way for her to save money, and it might reestablish him with his by now infuriated employer. One huge policy was worth more than all the other fellows' conscientious striving for small amounts. In this manner he could turn the tables on Fay and never let her know just how badly she had hurt him. So, with his heart nearly bursting with emotion, ness." he joined Fay and the prince at din-

He worked on a certain well-known that terrible business for a change! theory. What women cannot have I have no intention of telling them they usually want, specially women like Fay. He showed her the telegram.

"I ecrtainly have not done any buisness," he explained, trying his best to look shamefaced. It's fortunate they would never give you a policy, or I should have become a pest." 'Why can't I get a policy?" she demanded, her eyes flashing indignant- ed, as an afterthought.

sure. They carefully investigate each clients." applicant's reputation."

Mr. Smart Aleck, what's wrong with my morals?"

"Nothing that I know of," he was quick to reply. "But the Company would be sure to count up all those past husbands."

Well, I divorced them, didn't I? You just make out a policy for me, and I dare anyone to refuse !" That started a heated discussion.

It really is no wonder Bud Nixon troduction.

missed the thrill !"

to take out an insurance policy and one who always would give a square much?" when he had pocketed the check for deal. the first premium, he was on the next victim, or client, or customer, or whatever you choose to call her.

all the men at the insurance office, had missed her name entirely. who gathered around his desk each day in order to see what new business he had conquered. It was his phenomenal ability of invariably urging held him enthralled. the lady to sign on the dotted line name spread like wild-fire. He be- of nothing to say. came "Insure Mike" to both friends "I try to write—and enemies. the worst. It might never have been of her reply. considered so terrible if he had not gone around saying his pet abomintation was sister teams, and then after the affair, or rather affairs, were over, he should not have insisted upon asking people a question that sounded like, "What is worse than two sisters?" and when the puzzled listener inquired, "What?" it was dreadful of Michael to go off into wild paroxysms of laughter and answer, "Three sis-

No one understood his nonsensical joke, outside of those who knew about the Sweet sister incident, but of course there were plenty of peo--By Will Truckenmiller. ple who chanced to be well acquainted with those facts.

Sweet out because she was a superb dancer. And to him dancing was a He was right. It could not go on. thing apart. As for her mentality, Fay's tight- lipped gray-haired house- he rated Ardele with a huge zero. keeper enlightened him. The house- Ardele Sweet, who performed with keeper whose fifty-odd years had her twin sister Jessica in "The Frivtaught her the wisdom of minding olities.' Ardele, whom men usually

Michael escorted the prettier twin was something about him that made on the rounds of the night clubs, and her think of a beloved son whose before Ardele, whose feet moved fast golden eyes had been dimmed in the now almost forgotten World War.

"I hope you won't think I'm fresh.

Mr. Michael But it's because with the property of the

He hiked and hiked, unconscious of not know there was a third sister. He the passing hours. Horrible thoughts meant to telephone Jessica. A strange raced through his brain. He would voice informed him that the twins

"And who are you?" ventured Mi-

"Their younger sister." Needless to add that he made a ance company. Dully he read the date with her. In a way he was disago in a taxi accident. It's difficult black words:

| Dully he read the date with her. In a way he was disago in a taxi accident. It's difficult appointed. The younger sister was for me to get around. I limp a litnot a good dancer. Yet, she had blue California policies. He laughed was a cute one, and she let him inhysterical laughter. sure her life for the family record- posal." breaking sum of fifty-thousand dol-matters would have continued to out of his thoughts. It was dreadful decent people, had not Bud Nixon put cluding lady authors. ipon him. a stop to the whole business. At the Why not time he remained totally unaware ing to forget the brown eyes of a life in- that he played savior to the bank- Carlyn Dane, her white skin, her accounts of America's pretty ladies. He only knew he invited Michael to a dinner-party.

"An important client of mine is having some guests. I promised I'd cies. drag another man along. You would be doing me a great favor to oblige." "Who's going to be there?" asked tion?"

Michael. "Oh, probably a few customers of my client. He's in the novelty busi- golly, no woman was going to make "Any insurance people?" your trade." And Budd laughed. "To think I have lived to see the day when I must advise Michael Phillips to stay away from work." "I'll come, and I won't talk insurance, but I hope no other agents are there. It's a funny business, you nevis the old dinner, anyway?" he add-

"Moral clause. This company is I know, a last-minute invitation, but insure this lady," he said.

"Of course I am! You don't sup-

So Michael broke an appointment "Reputation? I like that!" Now with a beautiful prospect and went she was furious. "And pray tell me, to dinner. As he drove towards his to dinner. As he drove towards his the best agent in the world!" destination, martyr-like thoughts ran for some unknown reason Bud hung through his head. Pretty decent of up the receiver. him, spoiling his evening just to When Michael telephoned the Dane please Bud. That little brunette girl she seemed glad to hear his voice. would surely have come across with a fat policy too. But Bud was a good pal, and with one of those I'min-for-it ing this-time sighs Michael paid off his commission, departed for New York, first time in many months he also for- chairs, not decorations, and sofas motor law enforcement is that before pausing for only a few moments to got a little blond lady with purring that made you long to sink down, leave with the prince two telling manners and a voice like silvery bells. never wanting to rise again.

American souvenirs called black eves. All Michael could see was a girl, so It was odd, but Michael Philips, ling achievements. How during the She was very tall. Her thick straight fortune, or the insurance pastime. short space of one year he wrote black hair was combed in a low coil nore insurance policies than anyone that rested on her slender neck. She ing that he clasped one of her cool connected with his organization. The had a determined-looking chin. Her hands within his own, and asked a policies were for fabulous sums, and mouth was a trifle too large. A gen- question. A question which had been they said all his accounts were wo- erous mouth, thought Michael. Her haunting him for a week: men. That was why his actions seem- nose was straight, Grecian. And ed so shameful. He would rush a when you glanced into her brown bother with that old greeting-card girl, make love to her, persuade her eyes, you knew that here was some- fiend? Does money really mean so

Joan of Arc," he said, and then grin- work for my living, and he was a ned with embarrassment, for Michael great prospect. It's good I can't He never failed to write a policy— suddenly remembered that during the annoy

> "It's Carlyn-Carlyn Dane." Here was no deadly sweet sounds. think. Her voice was low—husky tones that that caused the envious office wit to subsequently wanted to kick himself. agent. Idub him, "Insure Mike." The nick- His brain stood still, he could think

A burst of loud laughter, of blaring several minutes before he could tell Most of his actions were inexcus- jazz music, of shrieking voices rais- her why. able. The sister episode being about ed in conversation, drowned the rest

They were quickly ushered to din- They gazed at a new policy. They ner, and Michael was abruptly joited were back to earth. He sat at the Dane one did break the silence. girl's left, an elderly man was seated by her right. He gradually began Yuh gotta hand it to him. I'd like to notice that all her attention was to see my wife give me a policy. Fat centered upon the old companion. A chance, even if she had money. And little beast started to prowl around on his honeymoon too. One hundred Michael's brain. A beast, born on the thousand dollars......some bride. Jimday Fay Waring Bennett's house- iny cricketts! And he don't even need keeper spoke her mind. The beast it. talked a great deal to the mental Michael

"Don't let her fool you. She's false like all the rest. Remember how Bud times that amount. introduced you, 'Just a working friend of mine!' She doesn't know who you are, and she's sure the old To do Michael justice, it must be man has money. Don't get hurt Bud Nixon was his confidant, and Bud admitted that he first took Ardele again, Michael, my boy. Just watch!" does happen to be one of my box to her ancient dinner partner. his first name. He told her lots of mopolitan. other data. Facts that Michael could not help overhearing.

"I'm the greeting-card king of EXPOSES PRIVATE

"Yeh. I commenced on nothing, absolutely nothing. Wrote most of Ardele had been so easy that Mi- the verses for the greeting-cards, mychael could not resist thinking of her self. Remind me to send you a few And she told him. Told him full twin. With him thoughts meant ac- of the best sellers. Now I have so details concerning the forthcoming tion, so pretty soon it was Jessica much money I don't know what to do elopement between Fay Waring Ben- who became his partner on those with it all. You know, I'm a widownett and the prince who was visiting night club dance floors. A thrilled er." He winked rougishly, and be-

> Michael could hardly believe his This much can be said in defense of eyes. The Dane girl seemed all at- the oyster reacts to the application of Michael's behavior. He honestly did tention. He shuddered. Then she quinine and detects this substance in was just like Fay.

"Sisters under the skin game," he muttered. The monotonous rhythm ticed as applied to the human tongue. of the old man's voice once more broke through his thoughts:

"I have one hobby—collecting wild flowers. Yes, I love them. No, I of locomotion and absence of special don't dance, I was hurt several years organs of vision and hearing." tle; not much, you really can't noeyes and red hair. Besides, her figure tice it. I have two cars. I wish you would let me place one at your dislars. Lucky for the Sweets that their on the Dane girl. He could not lister. to another word. Later, he discov-It is difficult to say how long such ered that he also could not get her shock the minds and pocketbooks of —to know all women were false, in-> smooth black hair, that husky voice. A week of idle loafing and of being kidded by the boys in the office because he failed to bring in more poli-

> "What the matter, 'Insure Mike'? Is the new lady a tough proposi-

Their continuous teasing forced him to arrive at a dreadful decision. By an idiot out of him, taking up his thoughts, when she was two-faced. er.

"No, I should say not. Must you like all the rest. Just an old man's darling. He would fix her. Yes, he darling. He would fix her. Yes, he would. Let that antique millionaire buy her some insurance as well as a

He telephoned Bud Nixon. "Would you ask the one client to let you have the Dane giri's telephone number?" Bud, always agreeable, obtained the desired information. Afterwards, er can tell who is in the game. When when he talked to Michael, the latter should have known. Bud was laughing.

pose I want to see any woman social-

"Well, if you can insure her, you're "Certainly, I'd love to talk to you. Why don't you come up this even-

However, when he entered the im- and he was only out for business, of debt.

Seemingly reluctant, he allowed Fay portant client's living-room, he for- She did not live in an elaborate EYNON STRESSES VALUE OF to win. Within two weeks she pos- got about the pretty brunette, about apartment. There were no Fay-like sessed a five-hundred-thousand-dollar Bud's qualifications as a pal, about dolls and fancy cushions. Just a policy, and Michael, plus his liberal the insurance business, and for the snug place with chairs that were Somehow he could not say a final clean-cut, so refreshing, that he lost who had expressly come after an ingood-by to Fay. He loved her, and his poise and barely stammered surance policy looked at Carlyn and they and everybody else interested the wound cut deep.

through the formal banalities of in-completely forgot to talk business. with the possible exception of the encompletely forgot to talk business. with the possible exception of the enseemed surprised when he rushed for- She wore a plain black velvet din- felt all hands and feet while he sat about it. ward to greet Michael at the station. ner gown. It had no adornments there, wondering how on earth one For Michael laughed. A bitter laugh. whatsoever, and its very simplicity girl could be both entertaining and "I've earned that first dollar, Bud!" emphasized her slim figure and exquisite. Merely gazing at her, lishe cried. "And I wish to heaven I had smooth skin. There was something tening to that voice of hers, made quite cool about that skin; it seem- him feel peaceful, rested. For once You probably have heard rumors ed so white. Her regal little head in his life Michael did not even brag concerning the rest of Michael's start- reached past Michael's shoulders. about himself: never mentioned his

It was at the very end of the even-"Tell me, why did a girl like you

"Oh, wasn't he awful? But you "Your name should be Diana-or see, I felt it my duty. After all, I

He never failed to write a policy—suddenly remembered that during the annoy you, 'cause I gather you this trait winning the admiration of exciting tumult of introductions he haven't any too much money!" And she smiled "I don't understand." He could not > when we were first introduced. I try "What do you do?" he asked, and to write policies. I'm an insurance Carlyn Dane never finished that sentence. Michael Phillips threw for it. back his head and laughed. It was too awed to sneak. At last 'S too bad that kid's retiring, Well, them that has gets."

The boys at the office were gathered around "Insure Mike's" desk.

Of course the boys did not know that in exchange for Carlyn's policy, Michael gave his wife one for five

Thus ended his business career. Perhaps you are wandering how I found out so much about Michael. does happen to be one of my best He watched. It was a revelation. friends, but that really is not all. The way this writer girl played up Michael's eyes, the lovely compliments he pays and the endearing way Every minute he leaned close to facts from Bud. I must confess, I ters than human be ings attend the dinners of the great, it has occurred to at least one scientist that the private life of these gentle creatures may be a matter of some public concern.

In a somewhat formal expose of "The Private Life of the American Oyster," Dr. P. S. Galtsoff of the bureau of fisheries credits the oyster with a sense of taste more refined in certain respects than that of its human admirers. "It has been found," he says "that concentration four times weaker than the minimum which can be no-

"Apparently a well-developed sensitivity is a compensation which the oyster obtained for its loss of power

Its ability to protect itself from poison, he explains, has been measurpotassium salts and other chemicals in water where it was feeding.

Michael rudely turned his back up-the oyster's organs of sense are few, Efficient though they are, however, being confined to a double row of tentacles or feelers on the edge of each mantle, the soft layer of membrane which can be seen covering the creature when it makes its appearance on the half shell.

When the shell is open and the oyster is feeding, Doctor Galtsoff re-lates, the tentacles expand and stick out into the water, ready to contract at the first warning of danger through any mechanical disturbance or change in the intensity of illumination of chemical conditions.

As the tentacles draw in the mantle contracts, the big muscle which holds the shells together closes them and the oyster may-if oysters canrevel in the sense of security which man enjoys when shut up in a warm, cheerful room on a stormy winter

The oyster's nervous system is a possession which might be envied by many a jump dinner guest. It is so simple that, no matter what distressing occurrence is forced upon the oyster's attention, it always acts in the same way, shutting out trouble by closing up the shell and letting the rest of the world bo gy

MOST COSTLY GRANGE HALL EVER BUILT.

What is probably the most expensive Grange hall ever built in the United States, to be used exclusively for Grange purposes, has just been dedicated at Lakewood, Colorado. It cost $35,000 and is equipped with ev-And ery modern convenience and with upto date furnishings.

Besides meeting all Grange needs. it will be made a genuine community center, and under Grange leadership many welfare projects will be undertaken. In this expectation a generous public response backed up the So he went to visit Carlyn Dane, Grange building effort and the fine telling himself that he hated her, new hall was dedicated almost clear

"STOP" SIGNS ON STATE ROAD.

One of the curious things about law, there are always hundreds of Indeed, he scarcely said a word. He forcement authorities, forget all > the Pennsylvania vehicle code, there was considerable agitation, newspaper comment and comparison of our so-called "antiquated methods" with those of other States all bearing upon the question of establishing "Thru Traffic" highways, or as they are commonly called, "Boulevard Stops."

This was hailed as a modern necessity in highway traffic regulation and the proponents of the measure not only claimed that it would speed up traffic on our arterial highways, and streets, but reduce accidents at intersections to an appreciable degree. Therefore, the Pennsylvanit vehicle code, when presented to the Legislature, carried a provision of this kind, permitting the Department of Highways to designate certain routes as "Thru Traffic' highways, and delegated the same power to local authorities in cities of the first, second and

"It's perfectly clear. I told you The Highway Department has done this, and many cities have taken advantage of the provision, and undoubtedly the measure has to some extent, accomplished what was claimed

That the results are not more noticeable, is due primarily to two causes. First, there seems to be little or no disposition on the part of the motoring public to observe the "Stop" signs and to come to a full stop before attempting to enter or cross a "Thru Highway." It is a curious trait that seems to exhibit itself only when some persons get behind the wheel of a motor car—they feel that nothing should impede their progress, even though it may be something designed for their own safety. Second a similar laxity on the part of local authorities to enforce the regulation rigidly. These statements are not made in a critical spirit, but simply to point out what might be done in the way of accident prevention and reduction if everyone was seriously interested in eliminating accident hazards. An analysis of accident reports submitted to the bureau of motor vehicles for the month of January and February show a total of 236 auto-The old man talked fast and often. he says them. I did not obtain such tions, of which fifty-six resulted famobile accidents at street intersec-Carlyn, patted her hand, and wag- was one of the ladies whom Michael tal of forty-two accidents, with one At rural intersections, the togishly instructed her to call him by insured."—Hearst's International Cos- fatality. Of course not all of these intersections were protected by 'Stop" signs, nor will the mere posting of those signs and enforcement LIFE OF OYSTER. dents, but this does furnish a strikof the regulation eliminate such acciing example of the ne care on the part of motorists at fer to this office. street and highway intersections.

either crossing or turning into the "Thru Highways," to be startled by another car whizzing rapidly past him without any apparent regard for his own safety or anyone else's.

It is this carelessness which breeds contempt and the motoring public and enforcement authorities bear an ed by putting different quantities of Highways so far as State highways that the thoughtless motorist, who fails to stop at an intersection with a Thru Highway" subjects himself to a possible penalty of a ten dollar fine, or a five-day jail sentence, to say nothing of the dire and tragic results if he is involved in an accident.

THE LAST YEAR FOR SPECIAL RACING MOTORS.

The 1929 automobile race season is on. Already the tiny speed chariots are beginning to arrive at Indianapolis to be groomed for the Memorial day race. The Altoona Speedway management, having done extensive reconstruction work over the fall. are continuing with their spring program and have announced a 200-mile international championship classic over the monster Tipton speed-bowl for Flag day, Saturday, June 15.

This being the last year in which the specially built racing motors will be eligible for competition, every effort will be made by the drivers and manufacturers to establish new world's records and the competition undoubtedly will be the fastest and fiercest in the history of the sport. To encourage these efforts the Speedway management is offering cash prizes for every world's record broken during the meet on June 15 and, as the Altoona Speedway is rated the fastest in the world, several thousand dollars will apparently find their way into the pockets of the race pilots who are able to show an extra burst

-Subscribe for the Watchman.

BUCKNELL SCIENTIST HAS CAUSE FOR DEER DEATHS.

That fly maggots may be the possible cause of death of deer in central a proposed regulation is enacted into Pennsylvania was revealed by Professor N. H. Stewart, of Bucknell Unipeople clamoring for its adoption, versity, in an address before members and immediately it becomes a statute, of the Pennsylvania Academy of Science which held its annual meeting at the Pennsylvania State College last week. Professor Stewart made a request that heads of deer Prior to the enactment of 1927 of found dead from natural causes be sent to him at Lewisburg so that he may continue with his research study on the cause of death of deer in the State.

More than sixty prominent scientists of Pennsylvania attended the two-day meeting of the Academy. Thirty-four papers dealing with botany, zoology, geneology, physics and chemistry were presented. How the X-ray is being used to tell the scientific world new facts about zoology and entomology, the latest discoveries in the geological formation of the earth's crust of Pennsylvania and other development in the scientific world were discussed by the scientists at their meeting.

THE FIRST LAW

TO PROTECT BIRDS. You will find the oldest law protecting our bird neighbors in the Bible. In the twenty-second chapter of Deuteronomy the Israelites are forbidden to take a nesting mother bird when they find her. "If a bird's nest chances to be before thee in the way or in any tree or on the ground—whether they be young ones or eggs, thou shalt not take the dam with the young," your may read there. The Israelites were accustomed to catch pigeons, doves, and quail for food, but even these birds they were ordered to spare when nesting. You can understand what a wise law this was, since it is easy to catch a nesting bird, but the destruction of such families would soon reduce the number of birds in the land to nothing. Today we have laws protecting the birds in nearly every country and most boys and girls have learned to treat these helpful neighbors kindly.

-Subscribe for the Watchman.

POLITICAL ANNOUNCEMENTS

FOR TAX COLLECTOR

We are authorized to announce Orian A. Kline as a candidate for Tax Collector of the Borough of Bellefonte, subject to the rules governing the Republican Primary election to be held Tuesday, 1929.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

OTS FOR SALE in Bellefonte, inquire of B. H. Shaffer, 117 east High St., Bellefonte. 73-13-tf.

INN'S HISTORY of Centre and Clinton counties for sale to the highest bidder. It is in splendid condition, Nothing under $15 considered. Make of-

During the same two months, the State Highway Patrol reports a total of 630 arrests and convictions for failure to observe the "Stop" signs on "Thru Highways" throughout the State.

It is not unusual for the careful motorist,, who, has come to a stop, and who is guaging his opportunity of either crossing or turning into the

And the Grand Jury to convene on the thirteenth day of May 1929, at 10 o'clock A. M., and the Traverse Jury called for the regular meeting of Quarter Sessions Court will convene on the Third Monday of May, 1929, at 10 o'clock A. M., being May 20th. And the Traverse Jury for the Second Week of Court will appear the Fourth Monday of May, 1929, at 10 o'clock A. M., being May 27th.

NOTICE is hereby given to the Coroner.

and enforcement authorities bear an equal responsibility although it would seem that the greater burden lies with the individual motorist.

Those cities which have adopted a plan of rigid enforcement have experienced a gratifying reduction in accidents, and the Department of Highways so far as State highways are concerned, will continue its efforts through the State Highways through the State Highways through the State Highways that are and shall be in Jail of Centre County, be then and there to prosecute against the prisoners that are and shall be in Jail of Centre County, be then and there to prosecute against the prisoners that are and shall be in Jail of Centre County, be then and there to prosecute against the prisoners that are and shall be in Jail of Centre County, be then and there to prosecute against the prisoners that are and shall be in Jail of Centre County, be then and there to prosecute against the prisoners that are and shall be in Jail of Centre County, be then and there to prosecute against the prisoners that are and shall be in Jail of Centre County, be then and there to prosecute against the prisoners that are and shall be in Jail of Centre County, be then and there to prosecute against the prisoners that are and shall be in Jail of Centre County, be then and there to prosecute against the prisoners that are and shall be in Jail of Centre County, be then and there to prosecute against the prisoners that are and shall be in Jail of Centre County, be then and there to prosecute against the prisoners that are and shall be in Jail of Centre County, be then and there to prosecute against the prisoners that are and shall be in Jail of Centre County, be then and there to prosecute against the prisoners that are and shall be in Jail of Centre County, be then and there to prosecute against the prisoners that are and shall be in Jail of Centre County, be then and there to prosecute against the prisoners that are and shall be in Jail of Centre County, be then and there to prosecute against the prisoner

H. E. DUNLAP, Sheriff Sheriff's Office, Bellefonte, Pa. 74-15-4t

N OTICE.—IN RE Application of the Pennsylvania Theta Chapter of the Phi Delta Theta Fraternity, for satisfaction of two mortgages.

In the Court of Common Pleas of Centre County, Pa., No. 27 May Term, 1929.

To H. J. PATTERSON, and all other legal representatives of W. C. PATTERSON, a deceased Trustee, and to ALL HOLDERS OF BONDS secured by the two mortgages hereinafter mentioned:

HOLDERS OF BONDS secured by the two mortgages hereinafter mentioned:

In accordance with a preliminary decree of the Court of Common Pleas of Centre County, Pennsylvania, dated and filed of record in the above stated proceeding March 4, 1929, I, H. E. Dunlap, She of the said County of Centre, hereby you and each of you that the Pennsylvania dated and file in the said County of Centre, hereby you and each of you that the Pennsylvania, dated and file in the said County of Centre, hereby you and each of you that the Pennsylvania that the said County in the above entitled proceeding, its petition setting forth, among other things, that all the bonds secured by two mortgages of the said Fraternity to W. C. Patterson, Trustee, dated July 2, 1906, and recorded in the Recorder's Office for Centre County, Pennsylvania, the first thereof recorded in Mortgage Book 30, page 45 &c., to secure ten first mortgage bonds in the denomination of $500.00, together with interest thereon at the rate of five and one-half per cent. per annum, payable semi-annually, and the second thereof recorded in Mortgage Book 30, page 61 &c., to secure fifty second mortgage bonds in the denomination of $100.00, amounting in the aggregate to $5000.00, together with interest thereon at the rate of five and one-half per cent. per annum, payable semi-annually, have been fully paid, surrendered and destroyed, but that, for reasons set forth in said petition, satisfaction has not been entered upon the record of said mortgages, and that the said petitioner prays for satisfaction of record thereof.

who are able to show an extra burst of speed. The 1930 rules call for strictly stock motors.

The drivers and cars selected wifi go to Altoona directly after the Indianapolis race and will be the pick of the field participating at the Hoosier event.

You and each of you are bereby further notified that by said preliminary decree of Court you are required to appear at the next term of the said Court of Court, and Term, 1929, beginning on Moday, May 20, 1929, and answer the said petition and show cause, if any, why the said court should not direct satisfaction of said two mortrages.

two mortgages upon the record H. E. DUNLAP, Sheriff.