

THE HOUSES OF ALTOONA
SURPRISE MRS. RICHARD LUTZ.

Mrs. Richard Lutz, of East Howard St., was most pleasantly surprised, on Sunday, by a birthday dinner which was arranged, and carried out by Mrs. Lutz's brother, Mr. Uriah H. Housel, and family, of Altoona. Mrs. Lutz advanced in years was very much composed and joined in the occasion by showing her appreciation and expressing her many thanks to those who so cunningly arranged the surprise which will long be remembered by those who were present including:

Mrs. Richard Lutz, daughter, Marion, and grand-daughter, Virginia Elizabeth Coll, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Uhl, of Bellefonte; Mr. and Mrs. Uriah Housel, Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Housel, Mr. and Mrs. William Ickes, Miss Mabel Housel, Miss Irene Reeder, Miss Mary Jane Donahue, Miss Jean Housel, John Ferguson, Belva-dean Ferguson, and Donald, Charles, and Malcolm Ickes, all of Altoona; and Mr. F. E. Johnstonbaugh, of Pittsburgh, Pa.

Effective June 1st the Tyrone division of the Pennsylvania railroad will be discontinued as a separate operating unit, the branches now making up the division to be placed under charge of the Williamsport and Middle divisions. Superintendent J. K. Johnston, of the Tyrone division has been made assistant general superintendent of the Eastern division with headquarters at Harrisburg. The Bald Eagle Valley branch will be operated from Williamsport. All other branches of the Tyrone division will be operated by the Middle division from Altoona. This change has been in contemplation for some time and is in line with the general policy of consolidation of operating centers. It will mean a very serious loss to Tyrone.

The Queen Esther and the Standard Bearers Societies, assisted by the junior choir of the Bellefonte Methodist church will give an entertainment in Pleasant Gap Methodist church this evening at 8 o'clock. The entertainment will consist of a missionary play entitled "With or Without," and a sacred drama, "The Challenge of the Cross." A solo, "I Come to the Garden Alone," by little Betty Jean Haupt and a duet, "What Does It Mean to You?" by Mrs. James Driver and Mrs. Glenn Johnston will follow. Mrs. Forrest Tanner will be the accompanist.

The sixty-seventh annual Convention of the Sunday schools of Pennsylvania will convene at Williamsport, October 9, 10 and 11. It is expected that from four to six thousand preachers, teachers and leaders will be present from all parts of the State.

SHINGLETOWN.

Mrs. Neff and daughter, Miss Cora, were Saturday visitors at the John Shope home, at State College.

Mrs. Ella Jordan has been at State College the past three weeks, in charge of the home of her son Charles, during the absence of his wife.

Harry Gearhart and children had quite a thrilling experience with a deer, on Saturday night. They were on their way to the Edgar Hess home when Gearhart espied a deer frolicking around in the lane. He throttled his car down to slow speed so the children could get a good look at the animal. When the car got fairly close the deer, evidently blinded by the lights, made a leap right at the car, landing on the hood and smashing the windshield. Mr. Gearhart was able to stop the car almost in its tracks. He sustained a number of cuts on the face by flying glass from the windshield, but the children were uninjured. The deer had one leg injured but was able to run around and remained in that neighborhood over Sunday.
