Tomorrow is the date for the joint reunion of old students of the Pine Grove Mills Academy and the Fry clan, on the old academy grounds at Pine Grove Mills. It will probably be one of the biggest gatherings held in that section of the county this summer and one worthwhile attending.

Mrs. John G. Love Jr., was hostess at a dinner this week, Miss Katherine Love at an evening card party, and Mrs. E. H. Richard at a bridge dinner last night, at the Nittany country club, all in compliment to Mrs. Richard's house guests, Mr. and Mrs. Elliot Wynn, of Philadelphia.

Prior to the rain that started Wednesday evening Centre county had rarely experienced such a long period of dry weather. Farmers were hauling water and the streams were running very low. Telephone linemen who were setting poles say that the ground was actually dusty at a depth of two feet under the surface.

Mrs. Harry W. Flack fell down a flight of stairs, at her home on East Logan street, Saturday night, and suffered painful injuries. At first it was feared that her skull was fractured but fortunately this did not prove to be the case, although there was a slight concussion of the brain. It is now believed her most serious injury is badly sprained or ruptured ligaments in the leg.

The Bellefonte baseball team won its first game of the season, last Thursday afternoon, when it defeated Phillipsburg 7 to 4. And it was no fluke, either. George Brown pitched the entire game for Bellefonte and was able to keep the hits made off of him scattered so that they did not prove effective in run-getting. The Bellefonte players proved more effective at the bat than ever before, making hits when they were needed to produce runs.

On Friday evening a young man by the name of Hoy, from State College, had a hearing before Squire J. L. Tressel, at Pleasant Gap, for a minor violation of the motor laws. He was fined $10 and costs or ten days in jail. He refused to pay and said he'd go to jail. The justice made out a commitment, gave it to him and told him to take himself to jail. Hoy did, but after presenting the commitment to the sheriff and looking the jail over he said he believed he'd go back and pay the fine, which he did.

She was only a slip of a girl but she was mad from the top of her head to the tips of her toes, when she invaded the court house, Friday afternoon, on the hunt of some one to run down the driver of an automobile who had run against her and knocked her down the day previous. She said she wasn't hurt at all, but she'd "be darned if any automobilist was going to knock her down and get away with it." She had the number of the offending driver's license tags and was advised to communicate with the State highway patrol.

ONE PAROLE REFUSED, AND ONE GRANTED.

At a session of court, on Saturday morning, W. D. Zerby Esq., presented a petition for the release, on parole, of Ernest Long from the Allegheny county workhouse. Long was sentenced on February 26th, 1929, to pay a fine of $200, costs of prosecution and imprisonment in the Allegheny workhouse for not less than six months nor more than one year, after he had pleaded guilty to a violation of the liquor laws. In presenting the petition Mr. Zerby stated that Long has served five months of his minimum term, has been a model prisoner and his wife and family needs his support. District attorney John G. Love opposed the granting of the parole because of Long's record in the past. He told the court that early in 1928 he had been arrested for stealing hides, but the hides were recovered and the case never reached court. Later he was arrested for furnishing liquor to prisoners at Rockview penitentiary but he hid behind his wife's skirts by claiming that she made the sale. He was arrested early this year on a similar charge, pleaded guilty and was sentenced as above stated. "Parole refused," said Judge Fleming.

Probation officer Roy Wilkinson presented a petition for the parole of Robert A. Hendershot, of State College, from the county jail, Hendershot was sentenced on May 22nd to pay a fine of $200, costs of prosecution and imprisonment in the county jail for a period of three months, after he had entered a plea of guilty to operating a motor car while under the influence of liquor. Mr. Wilkinson told the court that Hendershot was in the draying business, at State College, and had a regular clientele of twenty or more fraternity houses and other places from which he removed ashes and other refuse; and that there is danger of his losing this work if he is not back on the job soon. He also stated that Hendershot had agreed to pay the fine and costs in installments as soon as he got to work and earned the money. The court granted the parole.

Philip Johnston presented the plea of Russell E. Cable for release from the county jail. Cable was brought before the court on May 16th for failure to support his wife and three children and was sentenced to pay $25 a month, give bond for faithfully complying with the court's order and stand committed until the sentence was complied with. Mr. Johnston told the court that Cable asked release so he could go to work and earn some money, and that he hoped to be able to furnish bond in a few days. Judge Fleming stated that he would give him five days in which to furnish bond and failing to do so he directed that Cable be taken to the Allegheny county workhouse for a sentence of not less than six months nor more than one year.

Charles T. Noll was again brought before the court and stated that he had not yet been able to furnish bail, as required when he appeared before the court a week previous. The court stated that he had carefully considered his case and had decided to reduce the court order for the support of his wife from $75 to $50 a month. He gave him fifteen days in which to furnish bond and if the same has not been filed at the expiration of that time he will be taken to the Allegheny county workhouse to serve a sentence of six to twelve months.

ONE MAN SHOOT'S BIG BUCK ANOTHER LETS DEER LIVE.

During the early summer months deer from Brush mountain have been visiting the farm of Harry Long, near Fiedler, and feeding to some extent on his crops. Just how much damage they did is not known but Mr. Long thought it sufficient to watch for the deer. Some ten days or two weeks ago three deer came into his field, a doe and two bucks. One of the latter was a regal animal and is believed to have been the "Daddy Buck" that so many hunters have tried to shoot during the past few years of buck-killing. Lying concealed within easy range Mr. Long had no trouble shooting the buck. It proved to be as big as it looked and had six points on each antler, but they were still covered with velvet.

John McCoy has a little farm on the point of Bald Eagle mountain where he raises the usual run of farm crops. He has seen plenty of evidence that deer were pasturing in his fields but the amount of damage they are doing is not large. One day recently he and his farmer also saw three deer in the field and the farmer was strong for shooting them, but John declared against it. In fact he made it very plain that every man in his employ is to protect, instead of killing the deer.

Those who love good swimming and tennis will find splendid opportunities to enjoy their favorite pastimes at Hughes athletic field. The fresh water running constantly into the pool keeps it in fine condition. Tickets providing six swims for a dollar can be secured from the caretaker. The courts are in fine shape and many lovers of the game are playing on them daily. Mr. Carver, the caretaker, is on hand all the time ready to render courteous service to the public. Season tickets can be secured for three dollars from Bill Waite, in Sim's clothing store, or from the caretaker.

BELLEFONTE TRAIN SERVICE MIGHT BE CUT, IS RUMOR.

Persistent rumors are abroad that the Pennsylvania Railroad company is contemplating another drastic cut in the train service to and out of Bellefonte. One rumor has it that the one and only passenger train now operated on the Lewisburg branch is to be cancelled, which would leave all of Pennsylvally and Buffalo valley without any passenger service. But the most serious part of it would be its effect on State College, especially at the opening and closing of school terms and at vacation periods.

Another rumor in effect is that the morning train from Tyrone which reaches Bellefonte at 9:40 and reaches here on the trip west from Lock Haven at 5:02, is to be removed. While it is true that passenger traffic on these trains is not heavy, only forty or fifty high school students from Bald Eagle valley use them regularly every day, yet it is the one train that brings the western mail and express to Bellefonte in the morning and the Harrisburg and Williamsport papers in the evening.

It is understood that superintendent H. H. Russell, in charge of the Williamsport division, and who also controls the Lewisburg branch and the Bald Eagle as far west as Vail, favors dropping the above trains, if he has not already actually recommended it, but whether the company will decide to do it remains to be seen.

While passenger traffic to and from Bellefonte, on the above trains, might not be a paying proposition, Bellefonte as a freight feeder to the Pennsy is the best paying station along the line, and it would seem as if the company, as a corporation, would not readily enter into any undertaking that might "kill the goose that lays the golden egg." And every curtailment of railroad service to and out of Bellefonte is just that much of a retrograde movement to feudal times.

For this reason it is to be hoped that the company will very carefully consider the question from all angles before any more trains running into Bellefonte are taken off.

SUBSTANTIAL EVIDENCE THAT FISH DO REASON.

On Monday afternoon water superintendent J. D. Seibert opened the flood gates at the head of the race in order to obtain an accurate measurement of the water power of Spring creek at the Gamble mill flume. With the gates open practically the full volume of water flowed down the race with the result that the water in the creek opposite the Watchman office sank rapidly to a low level.

It is in this section of the stream the big trout which have proved such an attraction to strangers visiting the town hold forth and as the water began to go down they became very much agitated. Quite a number of them lost no time in swimming down stream but the big bulk of them swam back and forth between the bridge and the falls, evidently testing the depth of the water and when the stream finally stopped falling they congregated in the deepest pool apparently content that the stream was not drying up.

And just here we want to say that for some weeks past we had been harboring a suspicion that some one was surreptitiously swiping the big trout from Spring creek. There didn't seem to be as many of them there as there were early in the year. But the lowering of the stream, on Monday, shows the suspicion to have been without foundation. There were hundreds of trout there but they couldn't be seen heretofore because they were out in the stream where the water was too deep and cloudy to see them.

JULY FROST ON SATURDAY NIPS GARDEN VEGETABLES.

The extreme dry weather of the latter part of the week probably saved many a garden from serious damage by frost, on Saturday morning, during one of the coolest spells experienced in the month of July, in this section of the State, in many years. Cool weather prevailed most of last week but thermometers reached their lowest level, Saturday morning. In Bellefonte they were down to the frost line, 38 degrees above zero, but only slight traces of frost were noticeable here.

In some sections of the county, however, there was a very decided frost, which not only nipped vegetables but did considerable damage to gardens. Reports of damage done came from the Snow Shoe region, Stormtown, Gatesburg and Ferguson township. On Tadpole the garden of Mrs. Lydia Sunday was almost entirely ruined, beans, tomatoes, cucumbers and flowers being badly blighted.

It was the first frost the writer can recall in July since the year 1880 when a frost on July 2nd practically ruined the corn crop in Centre county.

Notwithstanding the unusually cool weather, last Saturday, almost twice as many Centre countians elected to spend Sunday at the seashore than chose Philadelphia for a day, as 28 tickets were sold at the Bellefonte depot for the excursion to Philadelphia, Saturday night, and 53 for Atlantic City.

BOOM TO BE STARTED FOR GREATER BELLEFONTE.

The near approach of the time for taking another census has inspired a movement for a "greater Bellefonte," by the annexation of all the surrounding suburbs; and while no preliminary action has yet been taken some definite proceeding will be inaugurated in the near future, according to a well known Bellefonte attorney.

It is a well known fact that there are very few good building sites remaining within the boundary lines of Bellefonte, which is just one mile square. It is also a well known fact that all the suburbs are practically dependent on Bellefonte for their water supply. The people living therein enjoy the use and privilege of Bellefonte streets, they go to the town's churches, have access to the Bellefonte High school and in a great measure are dependant on Bellefonte. If all these people lived within the borough limits it would give the town a much higher rating in census statistics.

As tentatively proposed the borough lines would be extended to take in Coleville on the west, north to include Ed Haupt's place and east as far as the Beaver farm. On the south the line would be extended to include the Forge House, thence across to "Burnham," the Valentine farm and west as far as the Jewish cemetery and north to take in all the houses on Halfmoon hill.

Just how residents of Spring township would feel about being annexed is not known at this time. So far as the valuation of improved property for taxable purposes is concerned there is very little difference between properties in the borough and out of it. While the tax mileage in Bellefonte is a little higher than it is in Spring township there is not enough of difference to prove a stumbling block.

Should such a movement be carried through to a successful issue it would make very little change in the political complexion of the enlarged borough. It would still be normally Republican but with a fighting chance for any good Democrat who might aspire to office.

BELLEFONTE MAN GOES ON A LONG HITCH-HIKE.

John Winklosky, who has been a resident of Bellefonte the past fourteen months, left Bellefonte, on Sunday, with thirty-five dollars in his pockets on a hitch-hiking trip to Florida, through the southern States to the Pacific coast, up the coast States to the great Northwest and through the northern States east and home. He doesn't know when he'll get there but he is on his way.

Winklosky, a young man in his early twenties, came to Bellefonte from Clarion, Pa., in May, 1928, to work for the West Penn Power company. In fact he worked for the company before coming here. He took the job at the solicitation of his mother and against his own inclination, as he had a yearning to go forth and see something of the United States. But after he got to work he just hated to quit. Then he was sent to Bellefonte. The change in location satisfied him for a time but this spring the longing for the road broke out afresh.

Two months ago he gave notice that he was going to quit and last week his name was emasculated from the West Penn payroll. The young man has saved quite a sum of money but it is not his intention to use it in his great adventure. That is the reason he took but $35.00 with him. When his funds show signs of running low he intends going to work; and he will not be particular as to the kind of work he does, just so it yields financial returns. When he has fifty dollars to the good he's going to continue his exploit.

Winklosky is traveling light, taking with him one small suitcase in which he carries just a little clothing as possible. When he left Bellefonte he figured on landing in Florida in two weeks, and there he is going to make a try for his first job.

PINE HALL LUTHERANS TO HOLD FESTIVAL.

The annual picnic and festival of the Pine Hall Lutheran Sunday school will be held in the grove at that place on Saturday, August 3rd. This has always been one of the big picnics, in that section of the county, in former years, and there is every reason to believe it will be up to the standard this year. While many people will take baskets of provisions, those who do not wish to do so can purchase sandwiches and coffee on the grounds.

CARNIVAL NETTED $212.00 EACH FOR BAND AND LEGION.

The joint carnival held by Wetzler's Junior band and the Brooks-Doll post of the American Legion, on the High school grounds, Bellefonte, last Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings, yielded net returns of $212.00 for each organization, after all bills were paid, and close to twenty dollars to Wesley Jarrett for the part he took in helping to entertain the crowd.

Including today there are only five more days of trout fishing, and there are a number of Bellefonte piscatorialists who claim they haven't been able to catch their share by any means.
