Jimmy was very timid and backthe older boys and missing that wonderful experience of being "just a kid." He loved to play in the water but his mother always said, THURSDAY, AUGUST 22nd. "don't go near the water," so Jimmy contented himself sailing his little boat in the bath tub. One day a new experience but dangerous! A misstep and Jimmy slid into eleven feet of water. Helpless, he went to the bottom like a stone, and apparently it was "curtains" for Jimmy. His companion, however, set up a lusty yell and fortunately a man was nearby who jumped in and pulled Jimmy out, but not before artificial respiration was made necessary.
