FIFTY YEARS AGO IN CENTRE COUNTY.

Items from the Watchman issue of September 5, 1878.

The extensive saw mill of E. M. Sturdevant and Co., at Beaver Mills, was totally destroyed by fire last Saturday night, with 100,000 feet of lumber and many shingles.

Noah Musser, of Fillmore, is the owner of a turkey hen only four months old that started laying two weeks ago and has laid an egg every day since. Can you beat that?

Typhoid fever is said to be prevalent in College township in the neighborhood of State College.

Mrs. and Miss Rothrock, mother and sister of our energetic Democratic friend, Henry Rothrock, of Spring township, have returned from Colorado, after a most delightful visit.

John Ardell, of this place, has lately closed a contract to put in 16,000,000 feet of logs at Cherry Tree for Messrs. Hopkins and Irwin. The timber will be splashed down Cush Cushman creek to the Susquehanna and thence to the booms in Lock Haven and Williamsport.

The "New York Clipper" this week graces its columns with a fine portrait of J. Monte Ward, of this place, the great curve pitcher and baseballist, giving a sketch of his achievements in that line. "Monte" has arrived at the very summit of baseball fame and is now able to command any salary he asks. He is at present with the Providence, R. I., club.

The first day of September was about as hot as anybody could desire and for fellows who had notes due in bank that day, it was doubly warm. That was the day the jury found that Peter Herdic, of Williamsport, had not gotten money by false pretenses from the banking house of Wm. F. Reynolds and Co. In this place, Maj. Reynolds had sued Herdic on such a charge. The case was tried here and a great array of outside witnesses and lawyers were in attendance. In fact the Bush house was taxed to capacity by Herdic's witnesses and friends from Williamsport.

RETIRED TRACK FOREMAN HONORED WITH BANQUET.

Samuel L. Lucas, of Warriorsmark, retired track and floating gang foreman of the Pennsylvania Railroad company, was the honor guest at a banquet given by railroad maintenance of way foremen, at Port Matilda on Wednesday evening of last week. The affair was a complete surprise to the veteran railroader. One of his friends invited him to take a little automobile ride and once in the car he was taken to Port Matilda where the banquet was served by the ladies of the Methodist church. One of the features was the presentation to Mr. Lucas of a leather bill fold containing a $50 bill of the new issue. Mr. Lucas is a native of Centre county and went to work for the railroad company in 1880 as a track laborer on the Snow Shoe branch. He was later made a track foreman on the Fairbrook branch with headquarters at Warriorsmark. Several years ago he was made a floating gang foreman, at Tyrone, and served in that capacity until his retirement last May, after forty-nine years of service.

Track foremen present at last Wednesday's banquet included John H. Fisher, Bald Eagle; Harrison M. Crain, Port Matilda; John M. Robinson, Unionville; P. Gray Murray and Robert S. Malone, Wingate; Lemuel J. Hipple, Milesburg; Edward Quick, Milesburg; Flenuel T. Rupert, Julian; Forden T. Walker, Milesburg; Carl L. McKinley, Howard; John W. Byran, Blanchard; Edward T. Rupert, Beech Creek; Wilbur H. Copenhaver, Mill Hall; F. W. L. Schneider, John S. Hommer, William J. Benford and Samuel Cannistraci, of Tyrone.

Members of the Bellefonte Presbyterian church will be interested in knowing that Edward M. Hawes, son of Rev. George E. Hawes, of Germantown, but a former pastor of the Bellefonte church, has successfully passed the State bar examination and has been admitted to practice law in Pittsburgh. The young man got a portion of his early education in the Bellefonte schools. His collegiate education was received at Washington and Jefferson college after which he attended the law school of the University of Pittsburgh where he graduated with high honors.

NEIDIGH.—John Henry Neidigh, one of the best known residents of the western end of the county, passed away very suddenly, at his home at Pine Hall, on Tuesday morning of last week. He had been in his usual health, on Monday, taking a short drive behind the family horse. Tuesday morning he did his usual work at the barn and returning to the house sat down in a chair on the porch where he died within a few minutes.

A son of Jacob and Mary E. Neidigh, he was born in Haines township in 1845, hence had reached the age of 84 years. When he was six years old his parents moved to Ferguson township and settled on a farm near Pine Hall. It was there he grew to manhood, his boyhood days having been spent in farm work and attending the public schools. When twenty-one years old he and Miss Sarah Ann Kustaborder, a daughter of George and Katie Kustaborder, drove to Boalsburg where they were married by Rev. William Groh. They started married life on the William Bailey farm, at Baileyville, where they lived three years, then went to Michigan and spent four years on a farm there. Returning to Centre county they tenanted a farm for some years then purchased the Gilbert Archey farm and later the old family homestead, both of which were brought up to a high state of production.

In 1904 he retired from the farm and moved into a cozy home at Pine Hall. He was a member of the Reformed church from youth and served as elder many years. He was also a regular attendant at Sunday school and for a long term of years teacher of the men's Bible class. In politics he was a Democrat though liberal in his views at all times. He was a member of Washington Grange. He is survived by his wife and eight of a family of ten children, namely: Newton C. Neidigh, Mrs. Anna Garner, Mrs. C. W. Fishburn and Mrs. John Hoy, all of State College; Mrs. Curtis Cronemiller, of Patton; Mrs. John Lytle and J. Calvin Neidigh, of Altoona, and Jacob D., on the home farm. One son, George, died in youth, and William was killed in a train explosion on the Western Maryland railroad in 1908. He also leaves two sisters, Mrs. Belle Brisbow and Mrs. Ida Holcomb, both in Michigan.

Funeral services were held in the Reformed church at Pine Hall, at 2:30 o'clock on Friday afternoon, by Rev. W. W. Moyer, burial being made in the Pine Hall cemetery.

STIVER.—Dr. R. J. Stiver, prominent physician of Freeport, Illinois, died in a hospital in that city, Saturday night, August 24, following an illness that had extended over many years.

Roland J. Stiver, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas and Mary Stiver, was born near Potter's Mills, Centre county, Pennsylvania, on January 27, 1858. After graduating from normal school he taught in Pennsylvania and after going west where he settled in Stephenson county, he taught school at Rock Grove, Davis and Rock City.

He entered Rush Medical college and graduated with high honors from that institution in 1894. He took post graduate work in Denver, Colo., California and Pennsylvania. Dr. Stiver began practicing in 1891 at Lena where he built up a very large and successful practice. In 1913 he moved to Freeport where he has since resided.

Dr. Stiver was a very kind and conscientious physician and will be greatly missed by a wide circle of friends in that community. He was a patient sufferer for many years from spinal trouble. He is survived by one sister, Mrs. J. E. Ward, Bellefonte, Pa., besides a host of friends and relatives. His parents, six brothers and one sister preceded him in death.

Interment was made at Lena, Illinois, services having been held in the Lutheran church and interment made in accordance with the ritual of the Masonic order of which he was a member.

BOAL.—Robert Hamill Boal died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Priscilla Riehm, in Waynesville, N. C., on Friday, August 30, 1929. His death was due to an amputation of an arm and a consequent general breakdown in health.

Deceased was a son of George and Elizabeth Boal and was born in Boalsburg, this county, on November 5, 1847, making his age nearly eighty-two years. The last thirty years of his life had been spent in West Virginia to which place he moved after severing his connection with the Collins Bros., and the Bellefonte and Buffalo Run Railroad Co., in this place.

Forty-two years ago he married Miss Katherine Devling who preceded him to the grave. Two daughters, Mrs. Mary Davis, of Bayard, W. Va., and Mrs. Priscilla Riehm, of Waynesville, N. C., survive. Interment was made at Bayard on September 1.

BUTLER.—Burdine Butler, a man who was known throughout Centre and adjoining counties, died at his home at Howard, at 10:30 o'clock on Wednesday morning, following a prolonged illness with kidney trouble. He had been confined to his bed for a month previous to his death.

A son of Thomas and Margaret DeHaas Butler he was born in Howard township almost 75 years ago. Practically all his life was spent in farming. Mr. Butler had a record for appearance in Centre county courts more frequently, perhaps, than any other man, and one case he fought to the bitter end was that of opposing the vaccination of his children, but which he finally lost in the highest courts.

As a young man he married Miss McCaleb who survives with the following children: Mrs. Margaret Mayes, of Syracuse; Mrs. Ida Bartges, of Akron, Ohio; Hugh, Fortney and Daniel, at home. He also leaves two brothers Frank and A. M. Butler, of Howard. Funeral services will be held at his late home at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning, burial to be made in the Schenck cemetery.

LOCAL STAMP COLLECTOR VIEWS VALUABLE EXHIBITS.

George T. Bush, of Bellefonte, a charter member of the American Philatelic Society, returned home, on Sunday, from attending the annual convention of the society at Minneapolis, Minn., at which place he saw a single collection of stamps, the property of Arthur Hinds, of Utica, N. Y., valued at over a million dollars. Mr. Hinds' total collection has a valuation of more than three million. One stamp alone, a British Guiana issued in 1853, and the only one in existence so far as known, is valued at $40,000. Some two hundred members of the society attended the convention, Mr. Bush being appointed one of a committee of three on the budget committee.

Speaking of his trip Mr. Bush stated that on leaving Bellefonte on August 10th he went to Pittsburgh by train and from there to Cleveland by motor bus. The fare on the bus was $3.25, just about half the fare on the railroads. At Cleveland he attended the Society of Philatelic Americans then went by boat to Detroit. Many collectors were in the party and they all took a four day's boat trip from Detroit to Duluth and return. The trip from Detroit to Minneapolis was made by train but returning Mr. Bush traveled by plane as far as Chicago, a distance of 450 miles.

While in Minneapolis he met Capt. Robert Lipsner, one of the prime movers in the establishment of the transcontinental airmail and who, in that capacity, had made a number of visits to Bellefonte. He discussed, with regret, the pioneer pilots who had lost their lives in the development of the airmail and also made inquiries about a number of Bellefonte people, particularly Burgess Hard P. Harris and Robert F. Hunter. Mr. Lipsner is now engaged in compiling a history of the early air mail, its trials and tribulations.

From Chicago Mr. Bush traveled to Detroit by bus, fare $4.00 as against $10.00 on the railroads, going from Detroit to Toronto, Canada, by bus for $6.50 while the railroad fare is $9.50. At Toronto he spent several days at the Canadian exhibition, which is in reality a big national fair, and which is attended every year by more than two million people.

PIPE ORGAN DEDICATED IN HOWARD M. E. CHURCH.

Sunday was a big day for the members of the Methodist church, at Howard, as it marked the dedication of the five thousand dollar pipe organ, presented to the church by Philip C. Holter as a memorial to his wife, the late Mrs. Edith Weber Holter. The services took place at 2:30 o'clock and were in charge of the pastor, Rev. J. Franklin Smith. Rev. W. Edward Watkins, district superintendent, of Williamsport, was present and dedicated the organ, following the sermon by Rev. Smith.

Mrs. Grace Holter presided at the new organ and a quartette from the Lock Haven Methodist church assisted with the music. The presentation of the organ on behalf of the donor, Mr. Holter, was made by Judge M. Ward Fleming, of Bellefonte, the same being accepted by W. C. Thompson, president of the official board of the church.

While working on the township road, on Tuesday, Harry Stiver, 18 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Stiver, of Huston township, was caught under a fall of clay and sustained back injuries. He was brought to the Centre County hospital where his injuries are not considered serious.

Democrats of Bellefonte should remember that it is W. M. Bottorf, manager of the Olewine hardware store, who is aspiring to be their nominee for tax collector. We understand that some people have been led to believe that it is the other "Bill" Bottorf who is running.

Hunting licenses will be in the hands of county treasurers within the next ten days.

TRCZYLYNLY

Osceola Mills, Pa., Aug. 29, 1929.

Bellefonte Watchman There is in our town a street named Trzczylny. (This may not be spelled right.) I have been told it was named for a Polish count of that name and that he was buried on a hillside a few miles from Bellefonte, going along the State road. The grave was pointed out to me. I understand he was the civil engineer who surveyed this town about 1864. Now if I could give me any data about him, I would be greatly obliged. It is only curiosity that prompts this request.

Truly yours (Mrs.) MARY J. LOOMIS

Replying to your inquiry of the 28th the name, Trzczylny, is spelled as indicated.

Charles Trzczylny came to this country from Poland in 1791 and was identified with the early settlement of Phillipsburg. He was an engineer of ability and one of the first Canal Commissioners of Pennsylvania, in 1824. In 1853 he became postmaster of Bellefonte and died here July 9, 1851, at the age of 94 years.

He had a son, Henry P., who was deputy surveyor of Centre county for a number of years and died at Milesburg in 1878.

Another son, Hyacinth B., was street commissioner and superintendent of the water works, in Bellefonte. He died in 1862.

Common belief always has been to the effect that Charles Trzczylny was a Polish Count. All of them are buried in what is known as Trzczylny's cemetery, just one mile north of Milesburg. Their monuments are rather a matter of curiosity, because of the unusual characters traced upon them.—ED.

The new Beta Theta Pi fraternity house, at State College, built and furnished at a cost of $110,000 will be ready for occupancy by the chapter when its members return to College next week.
