

ALL FAMILY REUNION
A BIG GATHERING.

Saturday, August 31st, will be a long remembered date in the history of the Hall family and friends, as it is on the occasion of the first clan reunion, an event of unusual delight to all. The weather was all that could be desired, and the place ideal. Large maple trees afforded an abundance of shade in which to spread the tables and there was a large and convenient parking place for cars. The gathering was at the old Andrew T. Hall homestead, now occupied by his son, Robert B. Hall. The row of maple trees above alluded to run along the front of the residence and were planted by Mrs. Sarah E. Hall, wife of Andrew T. Hall, and each one named for one of her children. Mrs. Hall has passed away but the sturdy maples will endure for years.

By noon hour almost two hundred members of the clan and friends were in evidence. All appeared with huge baskets laden with good things to eat, and if tables could groan they could surely have been heard because of the weight of the lavish spread.

Among the first to arrive on the scene was Henry Delp, four score and eight years old, who appeared with his daughter, Mrs. Effie Stere. The aged gentleman lives near Unionville and has for years been so closely associated with the Halls, both socially and in a business way, that he is almost like one of the family. Music for the gathering was furnished by the Unionville orchestra, under direction of Frank L. Wetzler, and composed of the following members: Mr. and Mrs. H. E. McElwain, Ruth Parsons, O. R. Fox, Pierce Lumberger, Glenn Blackwood, Robert Woodring, Warren Wilson and Donald McElwain.

District attorney John G. Love, of Bellefonte, a grandson of Mrs. Sarah Hall Kline, who, with his mother, Mrs. Nellie Kline Love, was in attendance, made a short address in which he gave some interesting data in the family, the first in this county having settled in Bellefonte. He is the son of Robert Hall, who died 48 years ago, having been the first white child born in Bellefonte.

Rev. M. C. Piper, in his characteristic manner, made a beautiful talk that contained it's touches of pathos as well as bright witticisms. He was followed by Rev. M. L. Crawford, who confined his remarks to what he had learned of the Halls during his brief pastorate at Unionville, and also told of his acquaintance, since boyhood, with an elderly lady, Anna Mary Hall, of Renovo, and of her sincere christian life.

Grant Hoover, of Williamsport, owner of "Hi Pines," the Hoover summer resort which adjoins the Hall homestead, was called upon and responded by telling of his associations with the Halls and his esteem for the family generally. C. C. Shuey, of Bellefonte, who on occasion has been supply pastor for Dix Run church, also paid his respects to the family generally.

Judge M. Ward Fleming, whose grandmother was Mrs. Hannah Hall Ward, sent regrets, owing to a previous business engagement.

A reunion association was formed by electing J. E. Hall president. He appointed the following executive committee: Eli A. Hall, Osceola Mills; Miles Hall, Anna Hall Finch and Maude Hall, Fleming; Harriet Hall Pletcher, Howard. It was decided to make the reunion an annual affair. Those who attended the reunion were as follows:

Mr. and Mrs. Eli Hall and Mrs. Lizzy Hall Meyer, of Osceola Mills; Mrs. Emily Hall Miles, of Milesburg; Mr. and Mrs. Homer Hall and son Ivan, of Altoona; Mr. and Mrs. William Caldwell, of Curtin; Mr. and Mrs. Earl Barner and son Tommy, of Bellefonte; Mrs. Freeman Caldwell and children, Elmer, Miles, Donald and Viola, of Altoona; Mr. and Mrs. William Smith and Mrs. Mollie Hall Bolch, of Howard; Harold Keatley, of Washington, D. C.; Charles Keatley of Pittsburgh; Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hall and little daughter, Leola, of Juniata; Mr. and Mrs. John D. Hall, of Cedar Springs; Mrs. Cora Hall Young and three daughters, of Howard; Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Holt and children, Miles, Patie and Jimmie, of Milesburg; Mrs. Fred Schiele and son Robert, of Lewistown; Mrs. Rebecca Shank and daughter Emily, of State College; Miss Martha Schiele, of Lewistown; Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Pletcher, of Howard; Mr. Whiting, of Tyrone; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bickie, of Stormstown.

Mrs. M. L. Crawford and daughter Lorraine, of Milesburg; Cyrus Solt, of Bellefonte; Mrs. Harriet Ingram and daughter Kathleen, of Tyrone; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Driggs, son Grant and daughters Opal and Rosalie, of Boswell; Mrs. Cora Burkhardt and Mrs. Maude Hill, of Altoona; Mr. and Mrs. Blair Ingram and two children, of Tyrone; Mrs. Susie McLaughlin, of Clearfield; Mrs. Charles S. Ladden, of Roscoe, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. W. Hinkel, of Williamsport; Lucinda Holt, of Wingate.

Alfred Ammerman, Mrs. Hannah Holt and son Norman, Mrs. Frances Hall, J. E. Hall, Mrs. Anna Hall Finch, Miles Hall, Mr. and Mrs. Benner Hall and family, Mrs. Maggie Hall Keatley, Miss Emily Keatley, Mr. and Mrs. Percy J. Hall, Miss Rebecca Hall, Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Hall, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Hall and little daughter, Helen Louise; Edward T. Hall and sons, David, Howard, Daniel and Walter; Mr. and Mrs. John T. Hall and family, Mrs. Hannah Hall Scholl, Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Hall and son Kenneth, Mr. and Mrs. A. Y. Williams, Aaron J.
