

NEWS ABOUT TOWN AND COUNTY.

W. Harrison Walker Esq. has entirely recovered from his recent illness and is at his office as usual.

The Bellefonte public schools opened, on Tuesday, with a total attendance of 1097 pupils. Of this number 431 are enrolled in the High school.

A basket picnic attended by many of his relatives and friends commemorated the 89th birthday anniversary of Jerome A. Confer, at Yarnell, on August 31st.

Herbert R. Glenn, of State College, has successfully passed the examining board of the State Board of Health and has been awarded a certificate authorizing him to practice his profession as a full-fledged physician.

The grand jury for the September term of court reported for duty Tuesday morning. J. O. Heverly, of Bellefonte, was appointed foreman. District attorney John G. Love has a list of seventy bills for the jury's consideration.

Mrs. H. C. Quigley's tea Tuesday afternoon, was in compliment to her sister-in-law, Mrs. William Horne, her daughter, Mrs. Eschweiler, of West Port, Conn., and Miss Horne, of New Haven, all of whom are at present at Mrs. Horne's summer home at Beech Creek.

Inquiry at the hospital yesterday elicited the gratifying news that the condition of H. J. Walkey was slightly improved. He was taken to the hospital on Sunday, in a very serious condition and during the early part of the week it was feared he would not survive.

The State's share of the money paid out for mother's assistance in Centre county during the month of July was $335. As the county paid a like amount it would mean a total of $670 paid to deserving mothers for the support of themselves and dependent children.

While attending the Altoona races, on Tuesday, Mrs. Charlotte Mong, of Milesburg, suffered heat prostration and had to be treated at the infirmary on the race track. There were many prostrations and minor injuries so that the temporary hospital was full of patients all day.

Fred Zipp, of Williamsport, is in jail here because he couldn't pay a $500 fine imposed by Justice Tressel, of Pleasant Gap, for running a money wheel at the Grange picnic. W. J. Hackenberg, of Rebersburg, was fined $10 by Tressel for some violation of the food laws at the stand he conducted at the picnic.

Bellefonte councilmen evidently do not believe in laboring on Labor day, consequently no meeting was held on Monday evening, much to the regret of a car load of members of the Dairyman's League, of Nittany valley, who had motored to Bellefonte for the purpose of closing negotiations for the purchase of a site for their proposed milk receiving and shipping station.

George Gilliland, of State College is serving twenty-five days in jail in default of payment of a $25 fine and costs for starting rough-housing in the Club diner at State College, about two o'clock last Tuesday morning. George is said to have been a bit "pickled" and got into an altercation with his nephew, Albert Gilliland. The fight that resulted was rather hard on the fixtures and some other patrons in the diner.

A blow-torch that he was trying to charge nearly ended the life of Alex I. Greninger, well known merchant of Tylersville, Clinton county, on Wednesday. The torch exploded while he was charging it and the burning gasoline completely enveloped him for a few moments. He was frightfully burned before the flames could be smothered out. The accident occurred outside his store building. Had it been inside Tylersville would undoubtedly have had a disastrous fire.

The Labor day celebration held by the John Ashley Dennis post of American Legion, at Phillipsburg, drew a big crowd and the program of sports was unusually interesting and closely contested. The American Legion drum and bugle corps, of Bellefonte, attended and won first prize for organizations of that kind. Phillipsburg defeated Clearfield in the final game of the C. and C. league season, and Bellefonte defeating Houtzdale the same day left Clearfield the pennant winners.

Antoinetta Ciccarelli, 14 year old daughter of Michael Ciccarelli, proprietor of a hotel in Lock Haven, has confessed that she has set the place afire many times. The girl said she started the fires for the thrill it gave her. Three separate fires broke out in the hotel on Tuesday and suspicion pointed to Antoinetta. When questioned she admitted setting fire to bed clothing in five rooms of the hotel located on three separate floors. Shortly after they had extinguished the first fire, firemen were called back to fight another blaze in several beds. Then a fireman was detailed to watch the hotel and in a little while another fire burst out on the third floor.

BELLEFONTE NOTED ON LOG OF THE GRAF

The big Graf Zeppelin, which only a week ago caused so much excitement in its flight over Bellefonte, is safe at home in its hangar at Friedrichshafen, Germany. Leaving Lakehurst at 7:18, eastern standard time, on Sunday morning, the flight to Germany was made in 67 hours and 34 minutes, landing there at 2:52 eastern standard time on Wednesday morning.

The Graf not only caused excitement here in its voyage east, Thursday morning of last week, but proved a super-excellent advertising medium for Bellefonte. In fact while it was passing over Bellefonte the wireless operator was in communication with the radio station connected with the Byrd expedition at Little America, in the Antarctic, according to a special cable dispatch sent by Russell Owen to the Chicago Daily News. Mr. Owen said:

"Our radio station was in direct communication with the Graf Zeppelin, last night, on the last part of its flight. Carl Peterson, who was on the night watch, got in touch with the big ship while it was over Bellefonte, Pa., and talked for some time with Freund, one of the Zeppelin's wireless operators.

"He also transmitted direct to the ship the message of Commander Richard E. Byrd to Dr. Hugo Eckener, congratulating him on the success of the around-the-world trip. After Freund had taken the message he asked Peterson to wait a minute, and soon returned with word that the airship's commander and Capt. Sir George Hubert Wilkins were both asleep."

So that is the only fly in the ointment, that the world-renowned commander was asleep when he flew over Bellefonte and hence was unaware of his air visit to this historic place. Bellefonte, however, was given a place in the official log of the ship's flight as compiled by the Associated Press, according to eastern daylight time, which is as follows:

- THURSDAY, AUGUST 8. 12:39 a. m.—Left Lakehurst, N. J., for Friedrichshafen. SATURDAY, AUGUST 10. 8:30 a. m.—Landed at Friedrichshafen completing trip of 4200 miles in 55 hours and 24 minutes. FRIDAY, AUGUST 23. 2:18 a. m.—Left Kasumigaura for Los Angeles. MONDAY, AUGUST 26. 9:11 a. m.—Landed at Los Angeles, completing flight of 55 miles from Tokyo in 78 hours, 58 minutes. RABBIT BREEDERS FORM ASSOCIATION FOR PROFIT.

On Wednesday of last week, during the Grange encampment, rabbit breeders from various sections of central Pennsylvania held a meeting at Runkle's hotel, Centre Hall, and organized the Central Pennsylvania Rabbit and Cavy Breeder's association. Officers were elected and a committee appointed to prepare a set of by-laws for the government of the association which will be presented for adoption at a meeting to be held at State College at 7:30 p. m., Saturday, September 28th.

A census of the rabbits already owned by the breeders in attendance shows a total of fifteen hundred, with an estimated output of eighteen tons of rabbit meat and nine thousand pelts a year. Members believe that by proper attention the industry can be made to produce fifty tons of meat yearly and thirty thousand pelts.

The primary object of the organization is to educate the public as to the great food value of rabbit meat and to supply a market for all the rabbits that can be grown. In some of the western States the rabbit industry runs into hundreds of thousands of dollars and the promoters of the new organization believe there is good money in it if handled properly.

All individual breeders desiring to join the association before the State College meeting should get in touch with A. B. Cross, secretary, Mill Hall, Pa., or C. M. Boyer, Boalsburg.

The Logan fire company went out beyond the Titan Metal company, at noon on Monday, where a small underbrush fire was in progress on the hill to the left, but as it did not look very dangerous they came into town and going onto north Water street tested out the pump to see that it is in good working condition.

Mr. and Mrs. John Garman, of Howard street, are receiving congratulations on the birth of a new daughter, Ruth Anne. The little Miss arrived last Friday.

BELLEFONTE ACADEMY WILL OPEN NEXT WEEK.

The Bellefonte Academy will open the fall session on Tuesday, September 10th. Day pupils will report at 9 o'clock Wednesday morning, September 11th, when classification will be started.

Young ladies wishing to avail themselves of the splendid courses at the Academy will be gladly welcomed.

Football candidates have been reporting daily since September 3rd for preliminary practice.

The faculty will be composed of ten competent and experienced teachers, namely: Miss Helen Overton, Miss Isabella Hill, Lyndon Colby, John L. Simmons, Howard Thomas, Charles S. Hughes and Karl Bohren. All of whom will be found in their respective places.

Fred Cockins, New York, and T. C. Butterfass, of Middletown, N. J., are the new instructors and will be in charge of science and German and Latin departments, respectively. Both are experienced and successful teachers.

Dr. Colonna, of Aliquippa, familiarly known as "Nick," star fullback on the Pitt team 1920-'22, and a former team mate of coach Bohren, is visiting the Academy this week. He will assist the coach in drilling the candidates in the fundamentals of football. His timely assistance should prove of much value to the Academy players.

A liberal reward will be paid for any information leading to the detection of the culprit who painted over the gilt letters of the Bellefonte Academy sign at the corner of Spring and Linn streets. Such information given at once will be fully appreciated.

DISASTROUS FIRE AT STATE COLLEGE.

A disastrous fire, Monday evening, completely gutted the property of Mrs. Roy Genzel, on south High street, State College, and practically reduced to ashes the furnishings of Dr. J. R. Flick and family, who occupied the premises.

Mrs. Flick was away from home and the doctor was bathing by himself. For cooking purposes they used a gasoline stove and Monday morning the doctor noticed that the tank was empty. He refilled it with a gallon of gasoline then went away for the day. But he forgot to turn off the feed valve and a good part of the gasoline leaked out, ran onto the floor and filled the house with fumes.

Returning home, tired and hungry the doctor failed to notice the smell of gasoline and going to the kitchen struck a match to light the stove. At the first flicker of the match the entire interior of the house appeared to burst into flames and Dr. Flick had to make a dash for the door to save himself. The firemen were prompt to respond but were unable to save anything in the house and the interior was so badly burned that it is likely the walls will have to be pulled down. The house was insured but Dr. Flick had no insurance on his furniture.

RANDY MILLER WINS CLUB GOLF CHAMPIONSHIP

The annual club golf tournament of the Nittany country club was played over the Labor day holidays and turned out to be a closely contested affair.

"Randy" Miller, one of Millheim's favorite sons, and president of the club, evidently thought it would be a reflection on the dignity of his office to be rated as a mere runner-up so he stepped in and took the club championship away from the thirty-one other members who were striving for it.

It was all right for "Randy" to do that, but he was establishing a rather bad precedent for—say, A. L. McGinley should be happy to be chosen president of the club.

Miller won the championship by defeating J. M. Curtin, of Pittsburgh, 5 up and 3 to play.

In the second eight Hugh M. Quigley was the winner, with Wm. S. Brouse runner-up.

In the third eight Swengle Smith was the winner, with Fred Cleveland runner-up.

In the fourth eight Alexander Morris was the winner, with James E. Craig runner-up.

Work of tearing down Old Main, the oldest building at the Pennsylvania State College, was completed last week and excavators are now preparing a great hole in the campus for the foundation of the new building that is to rise on the same spot. All usable limestone from the old building has been salvaged for use in the walls of the new. The work of razing to the ground level was completed in a little more than six weeks and it is the hope of the contractors to have the steel framework in place and concrete floors poured by December 1. The new building, which will be student and college administrative headquarters, is to be finished in August, 1930.

CHILD HIT BY AUTO DIES FROM INJURIES.

Harry Meese, five year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Meese, of east Bishop street, died at the Centre County hospital about noon, on Monday, from the effects of injuries sustained when hit by an automobile on the street in front of his home between eleven and twelve o'clock on Sunday morning.

As near as we can get agreement among witnesses as to how the accident actually occurred it was as follows: Mrs. Meese had just returned to her home from Sunday school, with her two children. Then they stepped across the street for a moment's conversation with Mrs. Eiderbach, who lives opposite. While there the little boy expressed a desire to go home, but was warned by his mother not to cross the road because traffic was so heavy. Ignoring the admonition he looked down the street and seeing no cars approaching dodged behind one going east and right in front of one coming west which he hadn't seen. It was a Buick and the heavy lamp on the car hit him with such force that he was sent spinning down the street fully fifty feet. The iron supports of the lamp were bent back by the force of the impact with the child and the lens was broken.

Alden Crandall, of Olean, N. Y., was the driver of the car, but was completely exonerated of negligence even by the child's mother. He was on his way to the Altoona races. He swerved his car as much as possible in the instant he had to do it, in order to avoid the accident, and was able to get it stopped almost before his little victim had stopped rolling down the street, so he did not run over the child.

The injured lad was taken to the hospital where an examination failed to reveal any broken bones and his injuries did not seem to be unusually serious. On Monday morning he seemed to be improving but toward the noon hour he became unconscious and finally passed away. Death is believed to have been caused from a blood clot on the brain. The driver of the car was not held, as he was not deemed guilty of any negligence or in any way to blame for the unfortunate accident.

In addition to the parents one sister, Annabelle, survives. The funeral was held on Wednesday afternoon, burial being made in the Union cemetery.

AARONSBURG MAN'S DEATH MIGHT HAVE BEEN SUICIDE

The death of Paul Bower, in the garage at his father's home in Aaronsburg, on Monday night, which at first was believed to have been accidental asphyxiation by carbon monoxide gas might have been a case of suicide. The young man, who for several months past has been working in the mill of C. Y. Wagner & Co., in Bellefonte, drove to his parents' home in Aaronsburg, on Monday, for the Labor day holiday. In the evening he went for a drive in his car, but as he sometimes remained out late none of the family waited up for his return.

On Tuesday morning, however, it was discovered that he had not been in the house at all during the night and members of the family went out to the garage to see if his car was there. They found the garage doors closed tight, and on opening them Paul's dead body was found lying under the car. An examination disclosed the fact that the muffler had been loosened from the exhaust pipe but there was no other evidence of the young man having made, or attempted to make any repairs. The motor of the car was not running but an examination of the gas tank showed it to be empty of gas, which looked as if the motor had stopped of its own accord when the supply of gas was exhausted.

What motive the young man may have had for taking his life is unknown, but members of the family recall that only recently he made the remark that there would "be a break in the family before long," and he even then might have been contemplating self-destruction.

He was a son of Michael and Mary Bower and was born at Aaronsburg on April 21st, 1901, hence was in his 29th year. In addition to his parents he is survived by one brother and three sisters, John and Miss Mabel Bower, of Aaronsburg; Mrs. G. A. Witmer, of State College; and Mrs. Lawrence Musser, of Coburn. Burial was made at Wolf's Chapel yesterday.

THE LINDYS MAKE SECOND VISIT TO BELLEFONTE.

For the second time within two weeks Col. and Mrs. Charles H. Lindbergh were brief visitors at the Bellefonte airport, having stopped about twenty minutes between two and three o'clock, on Tuesday afternoon, on their way to New York from attending the national air races at Cleveland, Ohio.

As on their trip west they stopped to have their oil and gas supply replenished and their ship looked over for any possible need of repairs. While the work was being done both Col. and Mrs. Lindbergh stretched their legs by walking back and forth on the field. Only a few persons were there to see them and they were principally young folks.
