

EAS OF GUILTY AND DESERTION COURT.

It took two days, last week, to try the pleas of guilty, desertion and non-support cases called for a ring without jury trials. The court convened at 9:30 o'clock on Tuesday morning and it was four o'clock Friday afternoon before the case was disposed of.

The first case called was that of Harry Oversby, an incorrigible, and parole officer was instructed to furnish her money to go to her mother, who lives in an adjoining county.

Harry McCool, charged with desertion and non-support, was ordered to pay $2.00 per week for the support of his child.

Andrew Billy was ordered to pay $1.00 a month to the support of his child.

Harry DeLeon, charged with operating an automobile while under the influence of liquor, was sentenced to the county jail for two years.

William F. Robenolt, charged with desertion and non-support, was ordered to pay $35 a month.

Ward A. Markle, of Pleasant Gap, was sentenced to $40 a month for support of his wife.

John Farrell, charged with a violation of the motor code, was sentenced to pay the costs, reimburse employer, Mr. Peters, for a badly mangled car, and go on probation one year.

James W. Thorp, charged with a violation of the motor code, was sentenced to go on probation one year.

Ralph Hosterman, Palmer Wheeler and James Stover, plead guilty to the stealing of chickens, at Millersburg, and were sentenced to pay the costs of prosecution, make restitution of the value of the chickens and go on probation for two years.

Elmer Davis, of State College, plead guilty to the violation of liquor laws, was sentenced to pay the costs of prosecution, $25 and imprisonment in the county jail for a period of three months.

John Zipko, of Rush township, plead guilty to the larceny of a watch, but as there were extenuating circumstances he was sentenced to pay the costs and placed on probation for two years.

Karl W. Bohren, charged with a violation of the motor laws. Prosecutor, B. F. Meckley, State highway trooper. This case was an appeal from the decision of a justice of the peace. Mr. Bohren, athletic coach of the Bellefonte Academy, was arrested on May 4th, on the charge of driving another car near the summit of Bishop street without a clear view ahead for the distance required by law. He paid his fine and costs for the justice then took an appeal. After hearing the evidence in the case Judge Fleming announced that the defendant was not guilty and the county to pay the costs. He so ordered that the fine and costs be returned to him.

D. E. Williams, charged with desertion and non-support, was ordered to pay $20 a month to the support of his wife.

Mrs. Al Courson, of Philipsburg, plead guilty to a violation of the liquor laws and was ordered to pay a fine of $25, costs of prosecution and undergo imprisonment in the Allegheny county workhouse for not less than a year nor more than two years.

Commonwealth vs. Elmer Hoover, violation of liquor laws. Prosecutor, Leo Boden, county detective. Defendant appeared in open court, plead guilty and was sentenced to a fine of $25, costs of prosecution and undergo imprisonment in the county jail for a period of three months to begin at the completion of a present sentence he is now serving for violation of game laws.

Fred Zipp, charged with operating a gambling device at the Grange employment, was sentenced to pay a fine of $100 and thirty days in jail.

On petitions presented by district attorney John G. Love the court ordered that two trucks and an automobile, seized while transporting liquor and now in possession of the sheriff of Centre county, be publicly advertised and sold. The trucks were the property of W. W. Bickett and the car James Burns.

The grand jury, which went into session Tuesday morning, completed its work on Friday. Instead of seventy bills of indictment reported ready for them last week, only forty-eight were presented, and of this number ten were ignored, the largest number ever ignored by any grand jury. Among the number ignored was the bill against the county detective Leo Boden, for assault in which John P. Eckel was the prosecutor. The grand jury's report is as follows:

To the Honorable Court:

We beg to report that we have examined and passed upon 48 bills of indictment presented by the district attorney, 38 of which number were found true bills and 10 not true bills.

We have visited and inspected the county buildings and beg leave to report:

The county jail is in need of the following: A heating plant separate from the court house; that the old walls should be removed and in their places plaster and cement should be used; painting is necessary; the halls of the sheriff's office should be papered; the walk be-

JUDGE FLEMING HEARS TWO IMPORTANT CASES

Two cases of importance were argued before Judge Fleming, last Wednesday morning. The first was that of the injunction proceedings instituted by O. E. Miles, of Milesburg, against the Lord Construction company, the State Highway Department, Milesburg borough and the county of Centre to prevent them from taking his land for street purposes without condemnation proceedings or posting an indemnifying bond. Former Judge Arthur C. Dale occupied the anomalous position of counsel for the plaintiff and endeavoring to persuade the court that while Mr. Miles is entitled to redress and should be legally protected the county of Centre is not liable because the commissioners entered into no agreement, either written or oral, to assume the burden of damages within the borough.

J. Kennedy Johnston represented Milesburg borough, and maintained that the action of the commissioners in approving the plans for the road, as submitted by the Highway Department, was equivalent to assuming the burden for any damages that might accrue at any point along the road. The court took the case under consideration and will give a decision at an early date.

The second case was one of considerable interest to Bellefonte as well as other boroughs. On August 13th Herbert Auman presented legally executed nomination papers for the office of assessor in the North ward of Bellefonte at the office of the county commissioners but Fred B. Healy, clerk, declined to receive them on the ground that the commissioners had decided that under the 1927 act of the Legislature no assessors could be elected until 1931.

On August 30, Mr. Auman, through his attorney, former Judge James C. Furst, instituted mandamus proceedings to compel the commissioners to place his name on the primary ballot. In his petition attorney Furst set forth the fact that the office of assessor is not a constitutional one. That at present the assessor in the North ward is an appointee and was not elected, and that under the general election laws appointees serve only until the next general election for such offices.

It was further alleged that Bellefonte borough was incorporated under a special act of the Legislature in 1806 and had never formally accepted the provisions of the general law as it relates to boroughs, or the special acts of 1851, 1915 or 1927. Wednesday was the day set for argument and up to that morning former Judge Arthur C. Dale, representing the commissioners, was literally floating around in a sea of despond, hoping against hope that he could find some data to combat the statements set forth in the mandamus petition.

Whether he was given a tip or not, a search of the old records in the prothonotary's office brought to light the fact that in August, 1858, the properly constituted authorities of the borough, did make application and formally accepted the provisions of the general law relating to boroughs, and when this entry was shown the court the proceedings were promptly dismissed.

Under the act of 1927, which provided for the election of assessors that year and every fourth year thereafter, it is claimed that provision is also made that assessors so elected shall be under jurisdiction of borough authorities and must be paid out of borough funds instead of receiving their pay from the county.

In appealing for support at next Tuesday's primaries O. A. Kline, Republican candidate for Tax Collector, asserts that if he is nominated and elected he will give the same conscientious attention to the collection of county and borough taxes that he has during the past two years to the school duplicates. His office is centrally located, in Petrikin hall, and it is always open during the hours mentioned on his card notices. Support at the primaries will be greatly appreciated by him.—Adv. 35-1t.

between the jail and the court house has several holes that need attention.

The vault in the Treasurer's office in the court house should be ventilated in some manner and an electrical alarm system installed for protection against thieves. We further find that the outside wood work of the court house needs painting; new floor covering in the grand jury room and the prothonotary's office; we find that either due to lack of help, or to the janitor's negligence, the court house is not up to proper sanitary conditions.

The grand jury wishes to commend the county commissioners for the good work they have done during their time in office. We also extend our appreciation to the excellent work of the county detective and chief A. E. Yougel, of State College.

A GOOD WORD FOR THE "MOVIES"

No matter what you think about the soundness of his judgment, Col. Jason S. Joy, before the International Association of Policemen, said recently that the motion picture is a deterrent of crime and called attention to the fact that in the pictures the guilty never escapes punishment. Here is his argument:

"Of 38 so-called underworld pictures produced last year," said Joy, "the crook or villain was killed in 14 instances, arrested in 19, and reformed in five cases. Of 620 feature pictures produced in America during 1928 33 per cent contained no villain and no crime."

The League of Nations reports the cost of the World War at $363,000,000,000 and 37,000,000 lives.

WINGATE

Hard rain storms four days in succession have put some water in cisterns and helped the late garden truck.

Mr. and Mrs. Daryl Reese, of Ambridge, were here during the week to see Mrs. Reese's mother, Mrs. Robert Malone, who has been quite ill.

Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Witherite and daughter Ruth, and little Helen DeKeeter, of Osceola Mills, spent Sunday at the Mrs. Irwin home here and the Michael Witherite home, at Runville.

The new house of Joseph Davidson will soon be completed and ready for occupancy. The new house of Mack Murray, being constructed of concrete blocks, is about ready for the roof.

Charles Reese has started work on remodeling his house near the railroad but just what his plans are has not yet been learned. The property is the old Lebkuecher house and is reputed to be 109 years old. A number of well known families have lived in it at one time or another—the Longs, Irwins, Lebkuechers and others.
