

NEWS ABOUT TOWN AND COUNTY.

Judge M. Ward Fleming is holding court in Pittsburgh this week.

The Central Pennsylvania Rabbit Breeder's association will meet in the fireman's building, State College at 7:30 o'clock tomorrow (Saturday) evening.

Bellefonte High will open the football season in a game with Howard High school, on Hughes field tomorrow. Coach Watson has a squad of forty boys in training for the team.

Rev. W. M. Snyder was returned to the pastorate of the Bellefonte United Brethren church at the annual conference held in Pittsburgh last week. Mrs. Snyder was appointed associate pastor.

Robert Farrar has leased the Tressler house, on Howard street, and as soon as it is vacated by Mrs. Woodcock will move there, with his wife and daughter Helen, from the Emerick house, on Spring street.

J. L. Tressler, health officer and Justice of the Peace for Spring township, has moved from Pleasant Gap, into his own new house, located on the Beaver development, on the extreme east end of Bishop street.

Miss Elizabeth Cooney went to New York, Sunday, for a week at the openings and in the wholesale houses, buying her early winter stock for the Hat Shop. Miss Cooney has arranged to have a formal showing of winter styles next week. 37-1t.

Mary Ellen is the name of the little daughter recently born to Mr. and Mrs. Horace Hartranft, at the Centre County hospital, and who with her mother was taken to the Hartranft home on east Curtin street Tuesday. Mary Ellen, who was named for her two grandmothers, is their only granddaughter.

Col. J. Miles Kephart writes from Hampdon, Va., that he is very comfortable there, is gaining a little strength, has a nurse in constant attendance and a boy to push the wheel chair in which he goes about. Under such pleasing conditions we should say the Colonel ought to be very happy.

F. L. Carson, one of the two prisoners who escaped from the Rockview penitentiary on Sunday, June 17th, 1923, was captured at Champaign, Ill., this week, and brought to the Centre county jail on Wednesday. He was originally sent up from Fayette county for a term of two to three years.

The Woman's club will meet on Monday evening, September 30th, in the director's room at the High school building. As this will be the first meeting following the summer recess it will be a time of sociability, with refreshments, and every member is urged to be there and help plan for an interesting and profitable year.

Water superintendent J. D. Seibert has had men at work during the past week cleaning out the bed of Spring creek from High street bridge to the falls. All the unsightly rubbish as well as loose stone has been removed and the creek now presents a better appearance than it has for a number of years. New planks were also put on the dam and it is now in excellent condition. This work has been done in anticipation of putting in a pumping station at the Gamble mill property.

In court, on Thursday of last week, Farley Jennings, one of the negro prisoners who escaped from Rockview penitentiary on September 11th and was caught near Mapleton on Tuesday of last week, was given an additional sentence of eighteen months to three years in the western penitentiary. No action was taken on a charge of assault lodged against him for beating police chief Cramer, of Mount Union, but the charge will be held open pending the arrest of John Williams, the other escaped convict.

Deer hunters of Centre county can live in hope. A Bellefonte automobile party in driving over the Seven mountains, early last Friday morning, saw forty deer by actual count. They were seen in herds of anywhere from four to ten, some lying in the bushes by the roadside and others browsing their morning meal. Early in the summer deer were reported as exceedingly scarce in the Seven mountains and now that they are being seen in fairly large numbers the question is, where were they earlier in the year.

An Associated Press dispatch sent out from Harrisburg, on Monday, stated that Bellefonte will vote at the November election on the question of introducing voting machines in the several precincts of the borough. This is a mistake, as up to the present time the only election precinct in Centre county which has petitioned the county commissioners to submit the question of voting machines to the people at the November election is the Third ward of Phillipsburg. And the commissioners have not yet been advised as to their obligation to put the question on the ballot on the strength of that one petition.

EARL T. YARNELL KILLED IN AUTO ACCIDENT.

Tragedy Occurred Saturday Night On Road Near Sinnamahoning.

Earl Tele Yarnell, next to the youngest son of ex-sheriff and Mrs. George H. Yarnell, of Hecla, was instantly killed in an auto accident on the state highway near Sinnamahoning, about ten o'clock on Saturday night. He had been employed as a foreman on a state road project there, having been sent there about five weeks ago.

On Saturday afternoon he and Ambrose Dodson, of Hecla, who was also working on the same job, drove to Renovo in Yarnell's car to get some supplies. When nearing Sinnamahoning on the return trip, according to Dodson, the steering gear broke and the car ran into a ditch and turned over. Both young men were thrown out onto the state road. One of the rear wheels of the car was broken off and the rear axle came down on Yarnell's head crushing it badly and causing instant death.

A passing car a few minutes later picked up the dead body as well as Dodson and took both to Renovo, Yarnell's body being turned over to an undertaker and Dodson sent to the hospital. The latter sustained several bad cuts and a number of bruises, but was able to return to his home at Hecla on Monday. Yarnell's body was brought to the home of his parents, at Hecla, at six o'clock on Sunday evening.

His death is the second in a family of eleven children, an elder brother, Ward S. Yarnell, receiving injuries in an accident at the Sun Shipbuilding company plant, at Chester, which resulted in his death on March 17th, 1926.

A son of George H. and Nora S. Grenoble Yarnell the unfortunate young man was born at Zion on April 5th, 1904, hence had reached the age of 25 years, 5 months and 17 days. He was unmarried and in addition to his parents is survived by eight brothers and one sister, namely: W. Orvis Yarnell, of Zion; Fred, of Chester; Rush, of Detroit, Mich.; Roy, of Bellefonte; George F., of Hecla; Boyd N., of Lock Haven; Mrs. Charles E. Gates, of Hecla; Nevin, of Detroit, and Phillip, at home.

Funeral services were held at the Yarnell home, at Hecla, at 2 o'clock on Wednesday afternoon by Rev. H. A. Hartman, burial being made in the Zion cemetery.

H. E. SCHRECKENGAST VICTIM OF FATAL ACCIDENT

H. E. Schreckengast, a native of Pennsylvania, and who, during most of the summer, had been in charge of township road work in Potter township, died at the Centre County hospital shortly before one o'clock, on Tuesday, as the result of injuries sustained between ten and eleven o'clock in the morning while at work in a shale quarry near Spruce town.

On Monday men employed in the quarry tried to dislodge an overhanging rock but failed to do so because it appeared too solidly embedded in the strata of shale. While at work, Tuesday morning, the rock unexpectedly let go and in falling caught Schreckengast, crushing his chest and one leg. He was brought to the hospital but died within an hour.

Hannibal E. Schreckengast was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Luther Schreckengast and was born in Potter township on June 23rd, 1868, hence was 61 years, 3 months and 1 day old. As a young man he learned the carpenter trade and followed that occupation a number of years, finally going to farming in Potter township. He farmed but a few years then made sale and returned to his former vocation as a carpenter. In 1927 he was a candidate for the nomination for sheriff on the Democratic ticket but was low man of three candidates in the race. During the past year or more he had made his home with his son Earl, near Zion.

In 1891 he married Miss Mary M. Weaver who died on Christmas day, 1923, but surviving him are the following children: Mrs. Ruth Gellin and Mrs. Mary Saron, of Greensburg; William, of Dallas, Texas; Paul, of Houston, Texas, and Earl, of Zion. He also leaves seven brothers and sisters, Samuel Schreckengast, of Hollidaysburg; Newton, of Millmont; Harry, of Farmer's Mills; Mrs. William Ralston, of State College; Mrs. Heavner, of Easton; Mrs. McCaughel, of Philadelphia, and Mrs. Edna Hickernell, living in Nevada.

Funeral services will be held at two o'clock this afternoon, at the Earl Schreckengast home, at Zion, after which burial will be made in the Centre Hall cemetery.

The 1200 piece band is expected to be ready for its first public appearance at the first football game between State and Niagara on Beaver field tomorrow.

REV. THOMPSON TELLS OF CONDITIONS IN COUNTY.

The Kiwanis luncheon at the Penn Belle hotel, on Tuesday, was an interesting affair. Frank Murphy, manager of the Central Penna. Gas company, invited the local club to join with the State College club and be his guests at dinner at the gas plant, next Tuesday evening, at six o'clock. Expert gas men will be there to explain every step in the manufacturing of gas. George Bush stated that Governor Fisher is anxious to have the names of the cities and towns along the airplane routes painted in large yellow letters on the roofs of conspicuous buildings. The letters must be at least ten feet high and not over twenty feet. Mr. Murphy announced that the gas plant will have a large arrow painted on the highest cylinder pointing to Bellefonte. Mark Landsy said such an arrow would be painted on the roof of the Brouckhoff hotel.

All the large planes such as the Los Angeles dirigible and the Graf Zeppelin passed over the Academy, hence it is desirable to have "Bellefonte" in as large letters as possible painted on the Academy roof. Mr. Hughes has approved of the plan. Cecil Walker announced that an arrow on one of the buildings at Hadley Field points to Bellefonte.

Secretary Heineman, of the Y. M. C. A., urged Kiwanis members to give the "Y" drive their most enthusiastic support. Rev. Homer C. Knox also made an eloquent appeal for such support. District attorney John G. Love welcomed Orrie Kline into the membership of the club.

Kiwanian Knox introduced Rev. W. C. Thompson as the speaker of the day. His subject was the "Delinquents of Centre county." His address teemed with interesting information and startling revelations. He praised the good spirit of the commissioners and other county officers in their co-operation with him as juvenile officer. He related his interesting and surprising experiences in that capacity. He startled his hearers as he told of the deplorable and degrading conditions prevailing in certain sections of the county, as to manner of living, with environments that are most distressing and surely crime producers.

He mentioned the four classes of unfortunate with whom he has to deal, namely, the delinquents, the incorrigibles, the neglected, and the dependents. He outlined the history of juvenile enactment as follows: First, the creation of the house of refuge, with the incorrigibles added; second, the provision preventing the detention of children between two and sixteen years of age in almshouses over sixty days; third, the establishing of the juvenile court; and fourth, the appointment of probation officers. He explained the manner of conducting juvenile cases in court. He stated that the majority of girl's cases resulted from sexual laxity, while the boys offenses were predominantly thefts. He denounced the system of poor relief in our county as antiquated and abominable. He hopes that the citizens of the county will vote for the creation of an up to date "county home." He stressed the evils incident to the road houses. They are the evil spots, the spots of contagion in the county. He mentioned certain sections that are so indecent that they should be blotted out by the authorities. He referred to the imbeciles in the county, explaining their history and emphatically declared that society in self defense must eliminate them.

Only two gold medals were given, and they got one, and the only one awarded a Pennsylvania exhibit. The judges were Howard D. Beach, of Buffalo, N. Y.; J. Ernest Mock, of Rochester, N. Y., and J. William Hellmer, of Wilkes-Barre.

The ladies of the Bellefonte Episcopal church will hold a bazaar in the parish house on Thursday, December 5.

BIG CACHE OF MOONSHINE FOUND IN PENNSYLVANIA.

Nineteen Barrels of New Liquor Taken From Cave on the Farm of Harry McClellan.

The biggest cache of moonshine liquor ever found in Centre county was located in an underground cave on the farm of Harry A. McClellan, a short distance west of Tusseyville, last Friday, and was hauled into Bellefonte and placed in the care of sheriff Harry Dunlap on Friday night. The alleged owner of the liquor is Orrie Smith, of Yeagertown. He was arrested on information furnished by L. H. Nicholson, of Huntingdon, and at a midnight session, Friday night, before Squire J. L. Tressler, of Spring township, he waived a hearing and gave bail in the sum of $1000 for his appearance at court for trial.

Sheriff Dunlap was apprised of the big find on Friday afternoon by Sergt. Berbecker, state policeman of Huntingdon, who requested him to send a truck after the liquor. Consequently Kofman & Co. were engaged to do the hauling. Edward Kofman had charge of the job. When he got there he was taken to a small shack about 6x8 feet in size, and this proved to be the opening to the underground cave, which is located less than a hundred feet from the farm buildings. From the floor level of the shack it is about twelve feet down to the bottom of the cave. The cave itself is an underground chamber about 15x25 feet in size. Hoisting chains were in place in the shack for lifting the barrels.

It is said the liquor was placed there about three months ago for aging and safe keeping. Where it came from has not yet been discovered. When a sample was examined after the cache had been brought to Bellefonte it was pronounced to be a comparatively new distillation, and the opinion has been expressed that it is the product of a large still, located most likely in some secret place in the Seven mountains. It is highly probable that a search will now be made for the moonshine manufacturing plant.

BELLEFONTE CHAPTER, D. A. R. OBSERVES HISTORIC DAY.

On the twenty-fifth day of May, 1787, a federal convention of delegates from the various States of the new Union met in the State House in Philadelphia and there entered upon the momentous work of preparing a constitution. As was fitting, George Washington was made president of the convention. After many sessions and much indecision, Benjamin Franklin moved that: "Prayers imploring the assistance of Heaven and its blessing on our deliberations be held in the Assembly every morning." There on the seventeenth of September, 1787, following weeks of careful study, of deliberation and debate the Constitution was submitted to Congress by the president of the convention.

To commemorate this event and to pay honor to the wise and patriotic men who gave us our Constitution, the Bellefonte Chapter, D. A. R., holds annually a special meeting on the seventeenth of September.

This year at a dinner at the Nittany Country club, Mrs. W. G. Chambers, of State College, who presided in the absence of the regent, Dr. Lucretia V. Simmons, introduced as the speaker of the evening the Honorable M. Ward Fleming, president judge of Centre county. Mr. Fleming gave a very able exposition of the Constitution, stressing the many difficulties confronting its framers, and making a plea for a more respectful attitude towards the offices of our Government.

The plan for the evening's entertainment and its execution by the committee, Mrs. W. E. Chambers, Mrs. James C. Furst, Mrs. H. C. Hodgkiss, Mrs. John Love, Mrs. John Olewine and Mrs. John Curtin, were a marked success.

NEW ARMORY BUILDINGS TO BE BRICK AND MARBLE

Architect Joseph Kuntz, of Pittsburgh, is in Bellefonte, last Thursday, in consultation with Capt. Ralph T. Smith regarding the plans for the buildings on the new military reservation for Troop L, 103rd cavalry. In company with Capt. Smith he visited the field purchased from Harry Lutz, southeast of Bellefonte, and decided on the best location for the buildings.

As stated two weeks ago the stable will be the first unit erected, and plans for it are to be ready by the first of October. It will be a one story building 145x45 feet, and will be constructed of brick with marble trimmings. The administration building will be 40x70 feet and two stories in height, and connected to it will be a drill hall 40x70 feet in size and one story high. These buildings will also be constructed of brick with marble trimmings.

An artisan well will be put down on the grounds to insure a constant and adequate supply of water. The reservation is large enough to afford an ample parade and drill ground for the troop, and also for any horse shows which the troop may hold in the future. Actual work on the first unit will be started early next month.

Fall is here and it will be no time until snowflakes are flying.

One of the skeletons was found on Wednesday lying down while the other unearthing yesterday was in a sitting position. The skeletons were unearthed near the John Scholl home and were about two feet underground. Their nearness to the surface is accounted for by the fact that several years ago the surface of the street was lowered two or three feet. There is an old legend that Milesburg had been located at top of an old Indian burying ground and the finding of the skeletons is proof that the legend is correct.
