NEWS ABOUT TOWN AND COUNTY.

After six years as dairy extension specialist at the Pennsylvania State College, Stanley J. Brownell has resigned to accept a similar position on the staff of the New York State College of Agriculture at Cornell University.

The low bid submitted at the State highway letting, last Thursday, for the 5.87 miles of concrete highway from State College to Wadell was $298,167, submitted by the Ross Construction company, of Westview, Pittsburgh.

Tonight "Paris Bound," an all talking drama, with Ann Harding, Frederic March and Leslie Fenton featured, will be shown at the Cathaum, State College. The showing tomorrow night will be "The Girl from Havana," with Lona Lane and Paul Page. It is an all-talking mystery romance.

Water superintendent J. D. Seibert had a force of men clean out all the rubbish and loose stone from the bed of Spring creek, from High street bridge to the falls, which adds considerably to its appearance though some of the ladies in town are fearful lest the big trout won't have any stones left to hide under.

Dr. Lewis F. Pilcher, nationally known architect and for the past three years vice-dean of the school of fine arts at the University of Pennsylvania, has been appointed head of the department of architecture and professor of architectural design at the Pennsylvania State College. He succeeds Professor A. L. Kocher, who resigned in 1926.

A number of boys in Bellefonte are indulging in the very questionable sport of killing harmless birds with slingshots. Diligent practice has enabled them to become quite proficient with the slings and quite a number of birds have been killed outright or so badly injured that they die. This is not only a brutal sport, but is against the law, and the boys ought to refrain from continuing their merciless shooting.

Milton S. McDowell, who has been director of agricultural extension service at the Pennsylvania State College since its organization fifteen years ago, has been granted a six months' leave of absence by the college trustees, to date from the beginning of the year. His plans are to leave, on January 1st, on a tour of the United States and will visit land grant colleges and make observations of the methods of agricultural extension as it is conducted in other places.

A gentleman giving his name as C. C. Loos and his address, Snyder county, is stopping with sheriff Dunlap for a few days. It appears that he arrived in Aaronsburg, Tuesday afternoon, too full for the car he was riding in and oozed out onto the streets of that placid place. What occurred then is not written in the record, but Mr. Loos is in jail and a very contrite and crest-fallen person. He says he hired someone to drive him from Salona to "Hairy John's" park and that's all he can remember.

Centre county will pay the undertaker's bill for William Delaney, the Beech Creek bank robber who died at the Centre County hospital as the result of injuries sustained when their stolen car was wrecked near Runville. When Delaney died the remains were turned over to undertaker Frank L. Wetzler, of Milesburg, by order of county detective Leo Boden. Delaney's relatives refusing to receive the body it was sent to the State Anatomical society. The undertaker's bill was also sent to the society but it was returned with the information that the society has no fund for payment of undertaker's expenses, and the bill will now be paid by the county commissioners.

Shortly after four o'clock, on Monday evening, Bernard Crust, of Fillmore, driving his father's Chevrolet coach and with three girls and two boys—High school students he was taking home, was in the act of crossing High street bridge when W. J. Parker backed his heavy truck from the north side of the bridge right into the side of the car. The car was considerably damaged but aside from a few minor cuts from broken glass none of the occupants were seriously injured. State highway patrolman Meckley was soon on the scene and Parker, who was said to be under the influence of liquor, was placed under arrest and taken in the Centre county jail. At a hearing the next day Parker was held in $400 bail for trial at court.

Mrs. Henrietta Nolan, of Logan street, widow of Jerry Nolan, was eighty years old, Thursday of last week, but unfortunately she had been ill with a slight attack of pneumonia and no effort was made on the part of her children to celebrate the event. Several of them, however, who live away from Bellefonte, made it a point to visit her that day and extend filial congratulations on her anniversary as well as heartfelt wishes for her early recovery. Among those who were with her that day were Mr. and Mrs. Frank T. Kern and children, Edward and Edith, and Mr. Price Jones; Mr. and Mrs. Daniel E. Nolan, of Tyrone, The Ottos and Mr. Jones left for their homes in Johnstown shortly after the supper.

BELLEFONTE TO HAVE NEW POSTOFFICE BUILDING.

The White Brothers to Build it on Valentine Property Which They Recently Bought.

Bellefonte is to have a new post-office building but it will not be built by the Government. It will be constructed by Bond and Ray White on the northern end of the Valentine lot corner of High and Spring Sts., which they purchased several months ago. A contract for a ten year lease on the building was received by the White brothers, on Tuesday. The contract calls for a building with not less than 3,000 cubic feet of floor space.

The Rhoads Bros. have been awarded the contract for the building which is to be constructed of reinforced polished concrete. It will be 60x50 feet in size and will be set in far enough from the north end of the lot to permit a ten foot parking space along the width of the lot on Cherry alley. The contract calls for the completion of the building by September 1st, 1929, but as the official documents were only received this week proper allowance will have to be made.

The building will be one story in height. The foundations will naturally be put down first. When it is completed the forms for the walls of the building will be put up complete so that when concrete pouring begins it can be carried along continuously until the walls are up. This will obviate any tendency to cracking. The polishing will be done after the forms are removed.

Just what the White brothers will do with the old Valentine homestead has not yet been determined. With the postoffice located on Spring street it offers a good location for a business block and it is just possible it might be converted into one.

BIRMINGHAM YOUNG MAN KILLED IN AUTO ACCIDENT.

Paul Tolen, 22 years old of Birmingham, was almost instantly killed about 6:20 o'clock on Sunday evening when he rode his motorcycle head-on into the automobile of Frank Deitrick, of Bishop street, Bellefonte, on the Bald Eagle valley concrete highway about two miles west of Julian. Tolen was riding west and Deitrick headed for Bellefonte, both attempting to pass a west-bound car at the same time. Deitrick, naturally had the right of way and corporal Graham, state highway patrolman of Bellefonte, who investigated the accident, said that he was not to blame.

Tolen was badly crushed by the impact against the Dietrick auto and died within a few minutes. He was a son of Peter and Laura Tolen and in addition to his mother is survived by four sisters.

In the Dietrick car were Mr. and Mrs. Deitrick, their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. David Peak and their two children. Mr. Deitrick had one of the bones in his nose broken and sustained cuts and bruises. Others in the car had minor cuts and bruises but no serious injuries.

MARSH CREEK BRIDGE COLLAPSED LAST WEEK.

The county bridge over Marsh creek, in Liberty township, collapsed last week, under the weight of a motor truck load of sand, leaving the truck suspended on an abutment. The truck was driven by Russell Lucas, of Lock Haven, who was accompanied by his wife and child. The truck was almost across the bridge when the flooring gave way and fell eighteen feet into the bed of the stream. Fortunately the front wheels of the truck had gained the farther abutment just as the floor fell and the truck hung suspended by the wheels, holding the family prisoners for a time.

Lucas finally succeeded in climbing from the truck to the abutment and then helped out his wife and child. A derrick pulled the truck to the road.

The bridge had only recently been surveyed by the State Highway Department with a view of taking it over from Centre county next year.

Officials of the Highway Department established a detour, on Saturday, around the bridge, directing motorists to ford the creek, now at low stage.

MORE FACTS ABOUT MRS. BARRY'S WILL.

In the Watchman of September 20th was published a brief statement of the will of the late Mrs. Matilda Barry, of Philadelphia, but formerly of Bellefonte. The item was copied from the columns of the Philadelphia Inquirer and was incorrect in detail. In her will Mrs. Barry made a number of bequests of personal belongings to members of the family, relatives and friends leaving the residue of her estate to all her children, share and share alike.

The strong Villa Nova freshmen will be the Bellefonte Academy football team's opponents on Hughes field tomorrow afternoon, game to be called promptly at two p. m. Last year the Academy defeated the freshmen by four touchdowns, and naturally will make a try for another victory this year. Remember, the game will be called promptly at 2 o'clock and the same men who officiated last Saturday will be in charge.

INDIAN SKELETON TAKEN TO COLLEGE.

Last week the Watchman carried a brief item relative to the uncovering of what is believed to be an Indian skeleton, on Water street, Milesburg, while excavating for the new State highway. The belief that the skeleton was that of an Indian was strengthened by the fact that between the bones of the clasped hands was a piece of flint, apparently in the course of being fashioned into an arrow head. Two peculiar teeth were also found with the skeleton, both of which were apparently from the heads of different animals. The bones of the skeleton were all in place except portions of the lower leg bones, which could not be found.

On the strength that the find might prove of historical value State College officials sent men down and had the skeleton removed to that place. In order to remove it intact a box form was built around it and this was filled with plaster of Paris. When the latter solidified the skeleton was lifted intact and taken to the College. History cites the fact that about 170 years ago chief Bald Eagle and his tribe camped on the spot that is now Milesburg borough and it is just possible that the skeleton is that of one of his braves.

Robert R. Jones, representing the eastern unit of the Pennsylvania Archaeological Survey made a study of the skeleton at State College, this week, and said it was that of a male about 22 years of age.

Jones found that the young warrior had suffered with rheumatism as shown by pitted marks in the hip joints, and that he had had a severe bump on the back of his head that had healed over, probably caused by an attempted scalping in battle, or marital troubles with the squaw. The skeleton was doubled up with the knees drawn up under the chin. Further investigation of the supposed Indian burial mound is expected to show that a tribe of the Iroquois had had a village within a few hundred yards, at the intersection of Spring and Bald Eagle creeks. Many Indian relics have been found there by collectors.

During the investigation it was learned that a year ago a bushel of bones had been found in making cellar excavations across the road from the Sholl home, indicating the existence of a burial trench.

Professor C. A. Bonnie, head of the college department of geology, and Dr. F. M. Swartz, assistant professor of paleontology, with other members of the staff of the school of mines and metallurgy, lifted the skeleton and are preparing it for exhibition. It will rest in the museum of the mineral industries building now being erected on the campus.

THE WORK OF THE CHRISTMAS SEAL.

The public knows vaguely that Christmas seal money is used to fight tuberculosis. The function of the seal is, first of all, a teacher. The officials of the county and town can expend taxes for only those activities which their constituents approve and demand. They cannot experiment with new ventures. It is this need which the seal fills.

It can provide nurses, nutritionists, clinics, in short answer every kind of public health need a particular district may have.

After a period of trial the community can then appropriate its own funds to continue and the seal money is withdrawn and set to work in new fields. An outstanding example of this procedure has been the nutrition program in county schools. We bespeak the support of all public spirited citizens of this county and urge them to buy Christmas seals, in order that we may carry on this program for the health of the community.

All activities used to fight tuberculosis will depend upon the sale of the Christmas seals for support during the next year.

ALL SENTENCED UP AND NO PLACE TO GO.

Yesterday deputy sheriff Sinie H. Hoy brought Charles Isenberg, of Boalsburg, back to the Centre county jail.

About a month ago Judge Fleming gave Charley a letter of introduction to the master of ceremonies at the Allegheny work house. It was supposed to have been good for from one to two years, but the erstwhile purveyor of "moonshine" probably thinks there was something phoney about it, for they were very inhospitable at Allegheny and wouldn't keep him.

The trouble seems to be that he is suffering with an affliction that won't kill him, but is very bothersome and Charley has his hands so full with it that he is impotent, so far as work house chores are concerned.

What sheriff Dunlap will do with him is the problem.

The rain we have had this week is evidently the equinoctial storm about two weeks overdue. While the rain is not needed now for crops or farming purposes it will come in good to fill up the cisterns, wells and streams throughout the county.

Out of 336 cars of Pennsylvania grown wheat that have arrived at the Baltimore terminal 64% have been graded "garlicky." Almost 90% of that arriving during a single week in September had to be graded "weevily" because of grain moth infestation.

ESCAPED PRISONER RESENTENCED SATURDAY.

F. L. Carson, the prisoner who escaped from Rockview penitentiary on June 17th, 1923, and was caught at Champaign, Ill., last week and brought back to Centre county, was taken before Judge Fleming for sentence on Saturday morning. Carson told the court that he had regretted his action every day since he escaped and was sorry he had made the break. While telling his tale he broke down and cried like a child and it was several minutes before he could recover sufficient composure to stand up and face the court.

Judge Fleming told Carson that the court had no choice in the matter of imposing sentence on an escaped prisoner as the penalty was fixed by an act of the Legislature. But if he felt he was entitled to extenuating circumstances he could make his appeal to the board of pardons. He then gave him as an extra sentence of a year and a half to three years in the western penitentiary.

Carson's original sentence when he was sent up from Fayette county for robbery and receiving stolen goods was two to three years. When he escaped from Rockview he was accompanied by a prisoner named Fiddell. The two men made a quick trip to Chicago where they quarreled and Carson in some way gave the police a tip where they could find Fiddell which resulted in the latter's arrest while Carson was successful in eluding the police.

During the more than six years he had been at liberty he had been in a dozen States, Mexico and Cuba, afraid to stay long in any place for fear of arrest. During his travels he met a woman who had been deserted by her husband, took up with her, and finally married her. They have one child. Carson is fairly well educated and during his four days in the Centre county jail wrote an article entitled, "Does it Pay," in which he preaches a regular sermon on crime, and which is to be published in the prison paper.

Another man called up for sentence was Graydon Parks, of Rush township, who pleaded guilty of a violation of the motor laws by driving his car after his license had been revoked. There being some extenuating circumstances the court sentenced him to pay the costs, $25 fine and put him on probation for one year.

LOCAL GRIDDERS TO OPEN NEW FIELD AT ALTOONA.

When the Bellefonte High football team journeys to Altoona tomorrow to meet the gladiators representing the High school of that city it will be something more, even, than a struggle that will send one team up and the other down in the percentage column of the western conference. It will mean that the splendid new field of the Altoona High, at Mansion park, is seeing its first foot ball contest.

The opening of the new field means much to Altoona. Accordingly it is to be made quite an event. The Booster Association of that city, in a letter to principal Stock, of Bellefonte, has extended a cordial invitation to Bellefonters to go with their team tomorrow and experience the warmth of an Altoona reception.

The Bellefonte colors will be displayed in all store windows and, generally, it will be Bellefonte day in the Mountain city.

The new field at Mansion park is easy to reach by automobile and there is an abundance of free parking space. Coach Watson has a green team to work with, but the game with Howard last Saturday revealed encouraging prospects. Right at the start off is the time when our boys need support and when good, rousing rooting might mean many goals on Thanksgiving.

It should be on to Altoona, then, where a warm welcome awaits everyone.

A PLEASANT SURPRISE FOR U. B. PASTOR.

A very pleasant surprise awaited the pastor and his wife at the United Brethren church, last Sunday morning, after the devotional period. Just before the sermon one of the members asked permission to speak a few words, and in the course of his speech told of the appreciation of the congregation for the work which Rev. and Mrs. Snyder have done among them the past two years, and with well chosen words welcomed them back for their third year, pledging the cooperation of the members for the months which are to follow.

He then presented Rev. Snyder with a substantial cash offering, which indicated the feelings of the members concerning the return of their pastor and wife. A beautiful basket of roses was the gift of the Women's Aid society to Mrs. Snyder. Rev. and Mrs. Snyder responded to this hearty welcome in words of thanks for the beautiful and useful gifts, assuring the congregation that because of the cooperation which has been manifested they have never spent two happier years in the Master's work, and pledged their unstinted services to the church and congregation for the ensuing year.

The alumni home coming at State this fall will be on Saturday, October 26. Lafayette is scheduled to play football there that day.
