Looking around he was astonished to see that it was the geese that had attacked him, one of them having a good hold on his trousers' leg and presenting a very billigerent attitude. He was compelled to use his cane to drive them away.

—In letters eighteen feet high, the Pennsylvania State College has had the name "State College" painted on the roof of the new recreation hall on its campus, as a location guide to aircraft. Located between the Seven mountains and the Allegheny escarpment, the State College marker is expected to prove a boon to future air traffic. Flying in Central Pennsylvania is regarded as hazardous because of the mountains and the marker will afford easy location of the Bellefonte airmail landing field, ten miles northeast of the college. Commendation for this service has come to the college from the State Aeronautics Commission and the Daniel Guggenheim committee on the promotion of aeronautic.

FREE WATER CONSUMPTION HIGH COST OF PUMPING

Mr. Cunningham Submits Figures Showing 500,000 Gallons Given Away Daily

Most of Monday evening's session of borough council was taken up with a discussion of the water situation in Bellefonte which followed a voluminous report submitted by Mr. Cunningham chairman of the water committee. The water question in Bellefonte has been one of considerable concern for some years, not because of any scarcity of it but because of the continual increase in the cost of pumping. During the fifteen years that he has served as a member of borough council Mr. Cunningham has been closely identified with the water department and undoubtedly knows more about it than any man in the town. It was on the recommendation of the Water committee, of which he is chairman, that the Gamble mill property was purchased so as to give the borough the water power as a means of offering a cheaper means of pumping. At the time it was the idea of the committee to install water wheels and electric generators and use the electric pumps now on hand at the spring pumping station, but the estimated cost of installation, $25,000, seemed prohibitive at that time.

In the meantime the West Penn Power Co., which is now furnishing the electric current for pumping the water, started an investigation of its own to determine if there is any way by which the cost of pumping might be reduced. At the last meeting of council a report was submitted by D. C. Morrow, water engineer for the American Water Co., in which he asserted that Bellefonte is pumping a million of gallons of water more a day than it should, and he ascribed it to leakage in the reservoir and pipes. Mr. Morrow also advised a searching test of the mains for leaks by the Pitometer company, which would cost the borough $1500. The West Penn, however, offered to make a preliminary test at its own expense to determine if there is leakage, if the borough gives its approval.

Since the last meeting of council Mr. Cunningham and water superintendent J. D. Seibert have also made an investigation, and they found a small leakage at the reservoir, but they also found that the borough is actually pumping half a million gallons of water daily for which it gets no returns in dollars and cents. This big amount of water is accounted for in free service to all the schools and churches in Bellefonte, the Y. M. C. A., Centre County hospital, borough home, free use of house at private homes, etc.

Mr. Cunningham's report was listened to with considerable interest by every member of council and at its conclusion he reported that he had received an estimate from the Worthington Pump Co. for the installation of a water wheel and a pump of 1500 gallons a minute capacity at the Gamble mill property at a total approximate cost of $10,000. The installation of such a pump, in connection with the two hydraulic pumps now in use, will furnish an adequate service for Bellefonte, and will not require any additional help to maintain or operate. Mr. Cunningham recommended that such a pump be installed. Mr. Mignot made a motion that the committee be empowered to ask for bids for such installation.

Mr. Cobb suggested that in view of the fact that the West Penn Power Co. had very generously, offered to make a preliminary survey for leakage that it would only be fair to apprise them of Mr. Cunningham's report and ask them if they still thought it advisable to make such a survey.

In its routine report the Water committee reported the collection of $135.27 on water duplicates.

The Finance committee asked for the renewal of notes totalling $5000 and recommended that $16,000 in notes soon falling due at the Bellefonte Trust Co. be paid. So ordered.

The Fire and Police committee reported that the Undine company's new pumper had been tested and approved. The committee also reported that the fire alarm be repaired to do until some decision can be reached in regard to installing a new system.

The Sanitary committee presented the report of the borough health officer which showed the town entirely clean of communicable diseases.

The Water committee recommended that the entire red brick building at the Phoenix mill be leased to the Beauty Motor company for $450 a year, which was authorized.

Bills totalling $7487.89, which included the borough's share of the Undine pumper, were approved for payment after which council adjourned.

AIRMAIL PILOT HAD TO JUMP FOR HIS LIFE

Thomas P. Nelson, airmail pilot, had to jump for his life, early Wednesday morning, when his plane caught fire at an altitude of four thousand feet while flying over Schuylkill county. Nelson took the parachute leap and landed safely but his plane was burned as well as thirteen out of eighteen sacks of mail. Nelson had stopped at the Bellefonte field on his way east and at that time his plane was all right so that the cause of the fire is unknown.

FORMER COLEVILLE MAN KILLED BY OWN GUN

Harold William Lockard, a former resident of Coleville but for some years past living at Ford City, in Armstrong county, was accidentally killed by his own gun about four o'clock on Saturday afternoon. He had been out hunting with a party of friends and on his way home stopped at a neighbor's barn for a little talk. He stood his gun on the door sill of the barn, holding the barrel in his hand. The gun slipped and the trigger catching on the door sill discharged the gun. The shot struck Lockard on the right jaw, tearing away the right side of his face and head, killing him instantly.

Lockard was born at Coleville and was 29 years and 4 months old. He has lived at Ford City a number of years and was well known and highly esteemed. He was a member of the First Baptist church, of that city, a member of the borough council, Silver lodge Knights of Pythias and the Order of Independent Americans. He is survived by his wife and one daughter, Alice. Also his mother, Mrs. Wash Smith, living at Pleasant Gap, and two sisters, Mrs. Snyder Stover, of Coleville and Mrs. Charles Emehizer, of Flemington.

The Snyder Stover family motored to Ford City for the funeral which was held on Tuesday afternoon, burial being made at Ford City.

GRAY'S CEMETERY A MECCA FOR MANY PILGRIMS

Conditions are probably paralleled in many parts of the county, but just because a register has been kept of visitors to Gray's cemetery, the facts concerning it can be regarded as authentic and will reveal the surprising number of people who annually visit the last resting places of their loved ones.

Of course interest in Gray's has been quickened during the past few years because it has been beautified so and maintained in such perfect condition. It is really one of the best kept country cemeteries we know of, due in no small measure to the interest shown in it by the secretary of the Association, Mr. Thomas Huey.

Scarcely a day goes by that some visitor or visitors are not seen wandering about in this peaceful God's Acre. Aside from those who have gathered there until interments are being made the register shows hundreds of visitors. They come from all parts of the county. In the register we find names of people from Nebraska, Michigan, Ohio, Florida, Delaware, Wisconsin, Maryland, California, and several other States; all of which goes to show how little the world is after all. For those people all came back because there is some one they know, someone whose memory is still dear to them, living up in the cemetery in Half Moon valley.

SOCCER AS PLAYED BY SCHOOL TEAMS

The soccer games played in the Centre county High school league Friday, November 1st, marked the beginning of the second half of the season. Thus far fine soccer has been played and the last half of the season promises an even stronger competition.

Port Matilda has been forced to forfeit all of the remaining games on it's schedule because of scholastic difficulties of many of the players. State College, although they have not won a game, has played fine for boys of their size and age. It should be understood that this team is composed of 7th and 8th graders and freshmen in High school, yet they are playing against High school teams.

To date Spring Mills is leading the league with Centre Hall four points behind. Boalsburg and Rebersburg are tied and are showing Centre Hall very hard. The teams are rated by the point system, a win counting 2 points, a tie 1 point for each team and of course a defeat no points. The ranking of the teams is as follows:

Spring Mills	12
Centre Hall	12
Boalsburg	11
Rebersburg	11
Milhelm	6
Hubersburg	4
Port Matilda	3
State College	0

NEW BEAUTY DOCTOR AT PENN BELLE SHOPPE

Manicuring, marcelling, finger and water waving, shampoo and hot oil shampoo, eye-brow arching and head and facial treatment by a real expert are now offered the ladies at the Penn-Belle barber shop.

Joseph Boscano, the proprietor, is determined that the ladies shall have the best and has secured Miss Katharine Pringle, expert in her line, to serve them.

Another offer he is making, something that will make for a happy Christmas day for some one of his patrons, is a handsome toilet set. It will be given away on the night of December 24 and every customer between now and then will be given a chance to get it.

Twenty-six tickets were sold at the Bellefonte station for Saturday night's excursion to Pittsburgh, while the Saturday night previous forty-seven people went to New York on the excursion. The gay metropolis is always a bigger drawing card for country excursionists than sooty Pittsburgh.

RABBITS AND RINGNECKS LED IN THE GAME BAG

Only a Few Wild Turkeys Shot On First Day of the Hunting Season.

Rabbits and ringneck pheasants formed the major part of the spoils bagged by primitive man in his lust to kill on the opening day of the hunting season, last Friday, though a few wild turkeys and squirrels were brought in as a proper leaving-of-the-game bag.

The prize turkey of the day, so far as reports are available, was shot by David Chambers, Jr., of Snow Shoe, up near Julian. It was a hen and weighed 18 pounds. Chambers and James Caldwell, of Bellefonte, were hunting together and Jimmie bagged a 12-pounder. Five more turkeys were killed in that section but the names of the lucky hunters could not be obtained.

In this connection it might be stated that along during the summer a flock of twenty-seven turkeys were seen in that section on various occasions. On Wednesday of last week a flock, presumably the same, was seen but then there were only seventeen in it. With seven killed last Friday only ten would be left.

Two Pleasant Gap hunters got turkeys on Nittany mountain, William Bilger and Jared Stover.

Postmaster John Knisely was a member of a hunting party who went out in the neighborhood of Yarnell on the hunt of turkeys. They made contact with a flock and John got a shot at a gobbler which weighed 22 pounds, but he didn't get it. How he accounts for it's exact weight is what puzzles his companions.

Ringnecks are quite plentiful this year and a number of hunters got birds on the opening day. Harry Ward and son, of Bellefonte, with four friends, brought in eight fine specimens on Friday afternoon, but the day's sport cost Mr. Ward his gun. When they decided to call it a day and return home they trekked out of the woods to their car where they all racked their guns against trees while they talked things over.

When they were ready to go Mr. Ward picked up a gun and climbed into the car. When they reached Bellefonte it was discovered he had the gun of one of the other hunters while his own was missing. He and his son promptly drove back to the woods but the gun was gone. It was probably found and taken by another hunter who is now one gun ahead of the game.

Col. Wilbur F. Leitzell, who is now located at Lewisburg as a hunter of illicit liquor purveyors, came to Centre county for the opening of the season and bagged four ringnecks Friday and Saturday.

A story is told of a hunter after ringnecks in the foothills of the Alleghenies who chased up a flock of eight but by the time he spotted the male of the species they were too far away to shoot at.

As stated in the beginning of this article rabbits led the list of game killed, and most of the hunters who confined their efforts to cottontails got the limit. One Bellefonte party hunting up near Houserville got eleven. Earl Kline and party hunting in the same locality, got eight. William and Earl Houtz, of Lemont, got their limit of five each and a ringneck. Charles E. Gates, of Hecla, bagged five rabbits and a squirrel. Vince Bauer, of Bellefonte, got three rabbits and was home by nine o'clock. A Bellwood party camping on Fishing creek, had eighteen rabbits when seen by our informant and were still on the hunt.

From all sections of the county come reports of a good kill of rabbits but comparatively few squirrels.

THE ZIMMERMANS HAD GREAT DAY IN THE WOODS

When the name Zimmerman is mentioned in connection with hunting everyone who knows anything of the well known Nittany Valley family just naturally expects something big.

"Bill" Zimmerman lives in Bellefonte now, but he still hankers for the woods and the call of the wild gets him just as often as it did when Mingoville was his post-office address.

On the opening day he and his son, H. L., took a little ramble along the foot-hills of Nittany mountains out about Pleasant Gap, and when they decided it was time to quit there were nine rabbits, eight quail and three ring-necks in their bag.

Fed up on hunting they then turned their attention to locating bee trees. That is another sport that Bill just loves and he must be as slick at it as he is with a shot gun or rifle. Already this year he has located fifty-one trees. If you want to hear an interesting story have him tell you how he does it. He knows the habits of the wild bee so well and is so friendly with them that he says he can distinguish their moods of happiness and fear by the kind of "hum" they hum.

From the trees they have cut this fall they have salvaged 250 qts. of strained honey. They put the mass in large vessels and warm it until it will run through cheese-cloth. By doing this they remove all the waxy comb and have only the pure honey left.

The Bellefonte banks will be closed next Monday, in celebration of Armistice day.

WEDNESDAY IN ALTOONA TO BE A GREAT EVENT.

Wednesday, November 13, is going to be a big day in Altoona—a day filled with interest to every home throughout Central Pennsylvania.

According to the advertisement of the Altoona Booster Association, appearing elsewhere in this issue, the merchants connected with this progressive Association are going to hold their fall dollar day on that day which is also observed as "Suburban Day." The announcement indicates that the booster merchants are planning to offer very unusual values in merchandise of the very kind that is needed right now in every home.

Altoona booster merchants always urge people to patronize their home town stores first. They invite them, however, to go to Altoona for the things their home stores cannot supply. This fall dollar day will be a good time to accept the booster stores invitation as they will offer such a wonderful assortment of goods at special prices that everybody will be able to shop to good advantage and select the things for home and personal use that they cannot buy at their local stores.

Arrangements have been made by booster stores to broadcast a special dollar day musical program over Station W.F.B.G., on Tuesday, November 12, at 8 P. M. This program is to be rendered by one of Altoona's leading musical organizations and is well worth tuning in for.

Those who visit Altoona for the booster stores' dollar day will be able to park their cars anywhere in the business district for any length of time. This is possible through the cooperation of the city officials who have lifted all parking restrictions for the one day for the accommodatation of out of town shoppers.

The only parking restrictions apply to alleys and other points where fire hazards must be observed.

AMERICAN LEGION TO PUT ON A DRIVE

Brooks-Doll Post No. 33, American Legion, will launch a membership drive, next week, with the avowed object of making every ex-service man in this district a Legionnaire, according to W. W. Gherry, post commander. The national objective of the American Legion this year, according to Mr. Gherry, is adequate hospitalization for every disabled veteran. According to figures furnished by the Veteran's Bureau there are now some 5,000 veterans entitled to hospitalization who cannot receive it because of inadequate facilities, and that number is steadily increasing.

It is with this object in view, that of presenting a solid front in a demand for help for their stricken comrades, that the local Legion is staging its drive at this time. It is the hope of the post officers that the membership will be at least 200 by December 1st, since it is in December that the veteran legislation will come before Congress.

PROCLAMATION

It is the earnest desire of borough officials of Bellefonte that Armistice day, Monday, November 11, be observed with fitting dignity and solemnity in honor of the soldier dead of the late war, and it is with this object in view that we make the following proclamation:

All national flags should be displayed, both by business places and residences. Just prior to eleven o'clock a. m., a two-minute silence will be observed and all traffic will come to a halt in all sections of the town. At exactly eleven o'clock bells and whistles should be sounded briefly, following which the services on the Diamond will be conducted by the local American Legion post.
