

NEWS ABOUT TOWN AND COUNTY.

Turn to page 3 for the report of borough council, as well as other interesting local news.

A freight wreck near Howard, on Monday morning, tied up traffic on the Bald Eagle Valley railroad for several hours.

Mrs. John W. Stuart, of State College, whose critical illness was mentioned in the Watchman last week, passed away yesterday morning. The funeral will be held on Saturday afternoon.

Dr. C. J. Newcomb, on Saturday, closed the deal for the purchase of the M. Fauble residence, on east High street. He will move there on April first from his present apartments in the Lyon building.

M. I. Gardner, secretary of the Clearfield county agricultural fair association, was elected vice president of the Juniata-Susquehanna association of county fairs at a meeting held in Lewistown last week.

The Rossman garage is going to have an automobile show of its own next Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Souvenirs will be given away, two prizes awarded and something interesting is promised for all visitors.

At a dinner given Sunday night by Mr. and Mrs. Walter C. Cohen announcement was made of the engagement of their daughter, Miss Grace Cohen, to Max Rosenblum, a wholesale confectioner, of Sunbury. No date for the wedding has been fixed.

At a meeting of the stockholders of the First National bank of Bellefonte, on Tuesday, it was voted to decrease the par value of the bank stock from $100 to $20 per share. This will give each present stock holder five shares for each one now held.

Track laying on the new stretch of the Bellefonte Central railroad was begun on Monday, when a force of men under the supervision of William P. Gates began stringing ties and rails at the Fairbrook connection with the old Lewisburg and Tyrone branch.

All three of the State College co-eds who were recently honored by the students there by being elected honorary colonels in the R. O. T. C. are brunettes. While gentlemen might prefer blondes it would seem that the soldiers prefer their darker sisters.

Mrs. John W. Stuart died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Ray D. Gilliland, in State College, yesterday morning at 10 o'clock. Funeral services will be held at the Gilliland home tomorrow, Saturday, afternoon at 3 o'clock after which burial will be made at the "Branch" cemetery. Further notice next week.

If you pick up an automobile license plate on the roadway anytime bring or send it in to this office. By doing so you will help the loser recover his plate and save him both trouble and costs. We will place all such recovered plates in our window and in that way establish a point where those who have lost theirs can look with hope of recovery. One never thinks much of the other fellow until the dilemma becomes his own and then he realizes how nice it would be if everyone did for others what he would like them to do for him.

Saturday was a big day for the formal opening of the new flower store of Halfmoon Gardens, in the Brachbill building, on High street. An idea of the crowd that thronged the store, day and evening, can be gathered from the fact that close to twelve hundred flowers were given away as souvenirs. Quite a number of flowers as well as potted plants were also sold. The store, though small, has been fitted up with flower cabinets and show cases and presents a very attractive and inviting appearance. In addition to flowers, canary birds and gold fish are also on sale.

Edward Beck, a fireman at the American Lime and Stone company, is in the Centre County hospital with a painfully injured head and face sustained in a fall, last Saturday morning, but fortunately his injuries are not considered of a critical nature. Beck was on top of a kiln feeding in wood to start a fire when in some way he made a misstep and toppled off, falling about twenty feet. He landed on his head and face on a stone pile and how he escaped as luckily as he did is little short of miraculous. As it was his face and head were badly cut and bruised but no bones broken.

Rev. Wilson P. Ard, former pastor of the Bellefonte Lutheran church but now minister at the Messiah Lutheran church, Denver, Colo., delivered the address at the Lincoln's day celebration in Denver, on February 13th, his subject being, "Life and Characteristics of Abraham Lincoln." In speaking of the address the Denver Post says: "In beauty of diction, flights of imagery and purity of delivery Mr. Ard recalled the golden age of oratory when Daniel Webster and Patrick Henry were in their prime," all of which shows that the western atmosphere has not militated one iota against Wilson P's forensic abilities.

ANOTHER GRIST OF CRIMINAL COURT CASES

Chicken Thief Given Five to Ten Years in Penitentiary

Chicken thieves got their just deserts in court last week. The report published in the Watchman last week told of one young man being sent to the penitentiary and two others to the Huntingdon reformatory for stealing chickens, and on Thursday two more men drew heavy penitentiary sentences for pilfering the feathered tribe. The first case was against Andy Shoults, of Snow Shoe township, the prosecutor being John Basalla. Shoults was charged with the theft of five chickens and the Commonwealth was able to produce sufficient evidence to warrant the jury in bringing in a verdict of guilty. Judge Fleming sentenced the defendant to pay the costs of prosecution, one dollar fine and imprisonment in the western penitentiary for not less than five years nor more than ten, which is a minimum of a year for each chicken taken.

Steve Beranty, also charged by Basalla with stealing three chickens, entered a plea of guilty after Shoults' conviction, and was given from three to ten years in the penitentiary, $1.00 fine and costs.

Commonwealth vs. Yony Lingle and Susan Lingle, indicted for assault and battery. Prosecutor, Ellyery Wance. This case was from Green Briar, in Penn township, and was the result of a dispute over a certain road. The jury returned a verdict of not guilty and divided the costs equally between the prosecutor and defendants.

Harry Ramey, of Philipsburg, was before the court on two indictments for larceny. Norman A. Grauer was the prosecutor in one case and Barney Finberg the other. In both cases the defendant waived the finding of the grand jury and entered pleas of guilty. He was sentenced on both indictments to pay the costs, one dollar fine and not less than eighteen months nor more than three years in the western penitentiary, the sentences to run consecutively.

Commonwealth vs. George Schaick, indicted for larceny. Prosecutor, Paul Stover. This case dates back to the deer hunting season in December. Both parties in interest were hunters in the Seven mountains. Stover claimed that the defendant confiscated the carcass of a deer which he had shot. A bullet found in the carcass was one of the chief exhibits in the case. A verdict of guilty was returned against the defendant, whose attorneys promptly made a motion for a new trial.

Ralph Snyder, of Patton township, was before the court on two indictments charging violation of the liquor laws, chief of police A. E. Young, of State College, being the prosecutor. Snyder was charged with selling to college students. In the latter part of January he was taken before the Federal court at Lewisburg, on a similar charge and being convicted was sentenced by Judge Johnson to sixty days in the Centre county jail. He was convicted on both indictments, last week, and Judge Fleming imposed a sentence on each one of payment of the costs, a fine of $250 and not less than nine months nor more than eighteen in the Allegheny county work house, or a total of eighteen months to three years, the sentences to run consecutively and to date from the expiration of the Federal court sentence he is now serving.

Commonwealth vs. Albert Ernest, indicted for assault and battery in the careless handling of firearms. Prosecutor, Wassil Zupko. This case was from near Osceola Mills and the contention of the Commonwealth was that on the evening of January 9th the defendant had carelessly fired two loads from a shot gun, one of the shots striking Zupko's sister on the right hand as she was sitting at an open window listening to "Amos and Andy" on the radio. The jury returned a verdict of not guilty and divided the costs equally between the prosecutor and defendant. Court adjourned on Friday evening until Monday morning.

THIS WEEK'S SESSIONS When court convened on Monday morning the list of cases was again gone over and notations made as follows:

Lucy A. Smith vs. Bellefonte Trust Co., executor of the last will and testament of Ellis A. Irwin, deceased. Continued.

Marcella Beals vs. The County of Centre, an action in trespass to recover damages for land taken on her farm in Huston township at the time of the building of the State highway through Bald Eagle valley. Settled.

Fred B. Hicks vs. O. J. Harm. Settled. The first case called for trial was that of the Commonwealth vs. George Robinson, Jr., indicted for wantonly or playfully displaying firearms at Stob Hill, in Snow Shoe township. Prosecutrix, Mary Maxmunky. Verdict of not guilty and the costs divided equally between the prosecutrix and the defendant.

Commonwealth vs. William Hendershot, indicted for larceny as ballee. Prosecutor, Willard Eckel. This case grows out of a card game, the prosecutor having put up his watch as security for a short time. When he had the money to lift the watch the defendant refused to return same claiming that it was in the pot. Verdict guilty. He was sentenced to pay the costs of prosecution, a fine of $1.00 and undergo imprisonment in the Allegheny county work house for not less than six months nor more than twenty.

The next case taken up was C. N. Fisher vs. A. L. Peters. Defendant appeared in open court and confessed judgment in favor of the plaintiff for $325.00 and the record costs.

William R. Kerstetter and Mary L. Kerstetter, individually, and Frederick Kerstetter, by his natural guardian and next friend, William R. Kerstetter, and Mary L. Kerstetter vs. Verna Gehret. This case had been settled and a verdict was taken in favor of the defendant.

M. H. VanZant vs. Harry Behler, William Breen, John F. Spencer, Harry Tressler and I. C. Holmes, being an action in trespass. This case was called late Monday afternoon and a jury challenged but no testimony was taken until Tuesday morning. The case grew out of an arrest of the plaintiff for selling diseased meat, alleged not fit for human consumption, but plaintiff was discharged by the justice of the peace. This action was brought by the plaintiff to recover damages for an illegal arrest. At the close of the plaintiff's testimony on Tuesday afternoon counsel for defendants moved a compulsory non suit which was granted by the court.

The Federal Land Bank of Baltimore, Maryland, vs. the Estate of Mollie E. Confer, Frank Cox and Milford Cox, executors, Frank Cox, Milford Cox, Ruth Cox, nee Gilbert, and Charlotte Confer, heirs of Mollie E. Confer and the estate of John C. Confer, Arthur C. Dale, executor of John G. Confer, being an action to foreclose on a mortgage. The case was called late Tuesday afternoon and a verdict rendered in favor of the plaintiff for $2083.91, debt and interest, insurance paid $18.60 and an attorney's commission of $91.60.

At the conclusion of the above case court adjourned until Saturday morning.

HIGH SCHOOL GLEE CLUB SCORED IN SPRING MAID

The presentation of "Spring Maid" by the glee club of the Bellefonte High school at the Richelieu theatre, last Thursday evening, was even more pleasing than the advance notices gave promise of its being. A very large and unusually appreciative audience greeted the young players and the show moved along without a hitch, notwithstanding the hundred or more in the caste, many of them little folks in the first grades of the schools.

It was a pretentious undertaking. The score of "Spring Maid" is a difficult one to sing effectively, the dialogue is involved and clever acting is necessary to convey the real theme. Withal it was handled in a way that reflects much credit on Mrs. A. M. Krader under whose direction the show was presented. When one comes to consider the infinite patience required to rehearse, costume and stage a production in which one hundred or more amateurs, ranging down to six years in age, have parts there is a fuller appreciation of the finished production and no place for criticism.

All of the leads did well. Among them were two decidedly clever young actresses and one actor who are likely to be seen more in the future in amateur theatricals if local impressarios are looking for promising talent. And Gretel's singing revealed a young voice of rather unusual quality and range. In truth we would like to say something of each one of the characters, but the great number in the caste would draw too heavily on our limited space and all we can do here is to compliment them generally, as well as those who moulded them into the smooth going, pleasingly presented entertainment they offered us.

The interpolated dancing numbers and other specialties were all clever and effectively staged. "The Glow Worms" keep glowing on, their numbers growing each year and their twinkling toes twinkling more intricately at each successive appearance.

New platform scales are being put down outside the new baggage room at the Pennsylvania railroad passenger station in Bellefonte, instead of inside, as the scales were in the old baggage room, which has now been taken over by the American Railway Express company. The new scales will be eight feet in size, plenty large enough to hold a four-wheel truck, which will make it much easier for the man who will eventually succeed Joe Undercoffer as baggage master, as the old scales were too small for a four wheeler and heavy baggage had to be unloaded and weighed then reloaded.

The Bellefonte Academy boxing team went to Philadelphia and met the U. of P. Freshmen, on Saturday afternoon, losing the meet by the score of 5 to 2. The two bouts won by the Academy were the 125 pound class by Buckley, who was awarded a technical knockout, and the 160 pound class by Procinio, who also got the decision on a technical knockout.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Sutton Engineering Co., of this place, will be held at the Penn-Belle hotel at noon on Monday, March 10. Immediately following the meeting luncheon will be served and afterwards the party will inspect the plant of the com-

TROOP L MINSTREL SHOW TO BE STAGED NEXT WEEK

"Cavalry Minstrel Flashes" will be the vehicle that is expected to carry the histrionic talent in Troop L, 103rd Cav., through two hours of fine comedy and melody at the State theatre next Thursday and Friday nights. The show has been in rehearsal for several weeks and the caste of over one hundred has been selected specially for its singing, dancing and comedy talent.

The show opens with a dear old lady, Mrs. Harry Yeager, and an old gentleman, Paul Dubbs, discussing the changes that time has brought in the way of entertainment. In a spirit of fun the old gend suggests that they compare the difference. This is the key of the whole first act, a delightful contrast of old fashioned minstrelsy and modern, Cyril Moerschbacher as the old fashioned minstrel and Earl Heverly as the modern minstrel carry the theme songs. Morton Smith as the captain of the "Mounties" enters, followed by his "Mounties," Sgt. Jim Bower, Sgt. Phil Mignot, Sgt. Rex Lilledahl, Corp. Fred Shoppe, Corp. Harry Symmonds, Corp. Jack Montgomery, Corp. Slim Lambert, Cecil Walker, Dr. R. P. Noll, John Rlike, Max Kelley, Sam Rumberger Jr., Bill Markley, Bob McClellan, Chas. Martin, Chas. Bullock, Alvin Pearson, Gerald Little, Russel Aumon, Bill Waite, Little Libby Montgomery as the mascot of the "Mounties" arrives bringing the valets (end men) onto the scene. The ends are: Herb Beezer, Buck Toner, Sam Confer, Lefty Roberts, Norb Derstine, Heck Beezer. A funnier sextette would be hard to find as they keep the rehearsal hall in an uproar with their clever antics.

The second part of the show takes on the form of a revue and is made up of flashes of this and that. Opening is a number of a spectacular nature, "The evolution of the dance" in which types of dancing extending from a century ago up to the present day jazz are presented.

Perhaps one of the funniest skits ever presented on a local stage will be one that sails under the title of "?????" It's nature is kept a secret and must be seen to be appreciated. It has as its members: Nell Wolfe, Bernice Murphy, Chas. Bullock, Morton Smith and Dr. R. P. Noll.

Following will be the "Garden of Dreams," a comedy quartet and the finale, which will be a roaring musical skit called "the Bumville Recruiting Station."

All rehearsals of the show are being chaperoned by Mrs. Harry C. Yeager and Mrs. Geo. A. Miller. These ladies will also be in charge back stage during the performances. There will be a matinee for school children at 3:30 Thursday afternoon. The reserved seat sections will be open for sale at the box office of the Richelieu at 10 o'clock Monday morning and every day thereafter.

LAURELTON BANKER DIES OF AUTO WRECK INJURIES.

Carrol VonNeida, aged 57 years, said to be a banker of Laurelton, Union county, died at the Centre County hospital at one o'clock on Tuesday morning as the result of injuries sustained in an auto wreck on Nittany mountain about eleven o'clock on Saturday night. State highway patrolmen who investigated the scene of the accident are at a loss to figure out just how it might have occurred.

Mr. VonNeida was on his way from Bellefonte to Centre Hall and at the first right hand turn in the road up the mountain, at the intersection of the Greensvalley road with the State highway, Mr. VonNeida's car crashed head-on into a concrete culvert and was completely wrecked. The roads were not icy or slippery, there was no storm and no indication that the driver had been drinking, according to highway patrolmen.

Passing motorists found the wrecked car and injured man and brought him to the Centre County hospital. There it was found that he had sustained five broken ribs and serious internal injuries. It was the latter which caused his death. The body was taken to Laurelton on Tuesday.

John S. Ginter, who for many years has been identified with the business interests of Tyrone, and was one of the three receivers appointed by Judge Arthur C. Dale for the Centre County Banking company, has decided to locate in Altoona where he now has greater business interests than he has in Tyrone. Because of this fact he has resigned as treasurer and manager of the Pruner orphanage, located in Bellefonte. His successor has not yet been selected.

Tell your foot troubles to Baney, the shoe man. A well known foot expert from New York will be at Baney's Shoe Store, Bush Arcade, on March 15, 17 and 18, where free examination will be given. Watch for hand bills and advertisement and remember the dates. 10-2t

The crowded condition of the court room during the recent sessions was not wholly due to the interest in cases on trial. Lack of employment undoubtedly accounted for much of it. Many men out of work attended court merely because they had nothing else to do.

NEWS PURELY PERSONAL

Mrs. Harry McClelland, of Milesburg, has been spending the week in Coleville, a guest of her daughter, Mrs. Ray Kellerman.

Miss M. H. Snyder will spend next week in New York, attending the openings and buying her early summer stock of millinery.

W. H. Walker went east, Tuesday night, to attend the meeting of the Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania Masons, held in Philadelphia.

Mrs. John Garthoff has been in bed since Saturday, suffering with a sprained ankle, the result of a fall while up at State College.

Mrs. Harry Walkey has been in Reading this week, called there by illness in the family of her sister, Mrs. E. C. Carpenter, Jr.

Mrs. Frank Warfield, who went down to Philadelphia last week, has been a guest since going there of her cousin, Miss Phoebe Harris.

Miss Grace McCurdy, of east Linn street, this place, is in Pittsburgh for a visit of several weeks with her niece, Mrs. Geo. S. Denthorne.

Dorothy Derstine came in from Ambbridge, Sunday, for one of her frequent visits in Bellefonte, with her grandmother, Mrs. William Derstine.

James Dawson came over from DuBois Monday, for a visit with his sister, Mrs. T. Clayton Brown, his stay here being for an indefinite time.

Among Mr. and Mrs. Harry N. Meyers' recent house guests was Miss Jennie Reifnyder, of Millheim, who is one of their friends of long standing.

Mr. and Mrs. George A. Beezer have had as a house guest within the past week Miss Henrietta Brady, of Williamsport, a close friend of Mrs. Beezer.

Mrs. Hugh Taylor, her daughter, Mrs. Manchester and the latter's son, Hugh, went to Atlantic City, Saturday of last week, for an indefinite stay at the Shore.

George J. McNichol, with the Bell Tel. Co., at New Cumberland, Pa., spent the week-end at home, with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James McNichol, at their new home on Howard street.

Miss Mary Blanchard returned from Philadelphia, Monday, her visit east being shortened by the illness of her brother-in-law, Dr. Robert M. Beach, whose condition now is much improved.

Miss Bunting, who had stopped in Bellefonte for a two weeks visit with her sister, Mrs. Gregg Curtin, enroute from Philadelphia to California, left last week to continue her trip to the coast.

The condition of Miss Mary Woods, who has been ill at her home on Bishop street, for the past two weeks, is but little improved, making the going to Geisinger hospital for observation a probability.

Miss Hazel Hurley, who has been off duty since Christmas on account of illness, and who is at present with the Kern family at Paoli, has made indefinite plans for coming home, the visit depending upon her condition.

Mrs. John G. Love Jr., was at Lewisburg, Tuesday, for the funeral of the late Robert Halpenny and upon the return home was accompanied by her sister, Miss Rachel Witmer, who had gone up from Philadelphia for the funeral. Miss Witmer was with Mrs. Love in Bellefonte until yesterday.

While in Bellefonte serving as a juror last week, C. M. Garbrick, of State College, was a house guest of his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Garbrick, at Coleville. Mrs. Garbrick and her two daughters, Lillian and Ione, joined him for a part of the week, all being guests for the time at the H. E. Garbrick home.

Curt Garbrick, of State College, was in town all last week doing duty as a juror and while here made his headquarters with his brother, Harry, the Coleville merchant. It was like getting back to boyhood days for Curt, for he was born at Coleville and was one of the crowd of wide-awake lads out there with whom we boys of the West ward spent many a happy hour. Coleville was then "Eggtown" to us and the trip out there was like making a day's journey and a night trip to skate on the Coleville dam was an awful devilish thing to do in those days when good little boys were supposed to be home studying their lessons. Curt only moved to State College a couple of years ago. Most of his life, since leaving Coleville, had been spent at Mill Hall.

Tonight in the Cathaum theatre, State College, "Untamed" will be the showing. Joan Crawford, in her first talking appearance, and Ernest Torrence will be featured. Tomorrow night, Conrad Nagle and Lelia Hymans will be shown in Veiller's thrilling mystery story: "The Thirteenth Chair." Next Monday and Tuesday, March 10 and 11, the Cathaum will present George Arliss, greatest living stage actor in the talking version of "The Green Goddess." While there are probably some who would not care for this picture to lovers of the subtlety of stage-craft it will prove nothing short of a gem.

Blair-Irwin-Howard W. Blair, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Blair of Snow Shoe, and Miss Marguerite I. Irvin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Irvin, of Coalport, were married on Saturday, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Gunsallus, at Lakemont, Altoona, by Rev. Frank Williams, of Altoona. They will reside at Snow Shoe.

Mr. and Mrs. William Williams, of Bellefonte, gave a dinner party, on Saturday evening, in celebration of the golden wedding anniversary of Mrs. Williams' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wilson S. Scholl. Twenty-nine guests were present, which included Mr. and Mrs. Scholl's seven children and their grand-children.
