Bellefonte, Pa., March 14th, 1930.

NEWS ABOUT TOWN AND COUNTY.

—Osceola Mills had a fifteen thousand dollar fire on Sunday morning.

—One month from tomorrow trout fishermen will be out in full force.

—Fifty-three people went from Bellefonte to Philadelphia on the excursion Saturday night.

—Ames field, Philipsburg's airport at Kylertown, has been granted airport license No. 4, by the State aeronautics commission.

—Dr. Scholl's foot expert will be at Bane's shoe store tomorrow, Monday and Tuesday. If you have foot trouble of any kind it will pay you to see him.

—Troop L's minstrels drew a crowded house at the State theatre last night. If you failed to see the performance there will be another opportunity tonight.

—D. R. Goodlander, ticket agent at Coburn, on the Lewisburg branch of the Pennsylvania railroad since April 1st, 1929, has been transferred to Montgomery, effective March 1st.

—A carload of prisoners was transferred from the western penitentiary, at Pittsburgh, last Friday, to Rockview. They were brought to Bellefonte on the Lehigh express and taken out to Rockview by the shifter.

—The Kew-Bee bread truck, from Williamsport, was wrecked on the curve beyond the Triangle last Friday morning, toppling over the embankment. The driver failed to make the turn at the curve and the truck ran off the roadway.

—About twenty-five stockholders of the Sutton Engineering company attend the annual meeting held here on Monday, which was followed with a dinner at the Penn Belle hotel. All the local members of the board of directors were re-elected.

—Mrs. Charles Cruse entertained with bridge, at her home at State College, Tuesday evening, in honor of Mrs. N. A. Staples, of Philadelphia, the guests being members of the bridge club of which Mrs. Staples was a member prior to her marriage.

—Something went wrong with the lock on the door of Crossley's jewelry store, in the Brockerhoff house block, on Friday night, and members of the Undine fire company had to be called into service with their pinch bars, on Saturday morning, to get the door open.

—If your feet trouble you, and you can't get a pair of shoes that feel comfortable, go to Bane's shoe store and consult Dr. Scholl's foot expert. He will be there tomorrow, Monday and Tuesday, and will be able to prescribe the right kind of shoes for comfort.

—In federal court, at Scranton, on Tuesday, Harry Horner, 33 years old, of Centre Hall, was sentenced to four months in the Centre county jail after he pleaded guilty to manufacturing and selling liquor on his farm. Government officers declared Horner operated a still and sold liquor to students at State College.

—A real old frolic will be held in the hall of St. Mary's parish, Snow Shoe, on Monday evening, in celebration of St. Patrick's day. There will be euchre and five hundred for those who like cards, and music and dancing. A 34-piece dinner set will be given away. Mrs. Sue McLaughlin is chairman of the committee in charge.

—Dr. A. E. Martin, head of the history department, and Professor E. D. Walker, head of civil engineering, are on sabbatical leave from the Pennsylvania State College for the second semester. Dr. Martin has left for Tucson, Arizona, to complete his second volume of American history. Professor Walker is making an extended trip through the South and to the west coast, inspecting the newer engineering projects.

—The regular monthly meeting of the Mother's club was held at the home of Mrs. Robert Thena on Monday evening, at 8 o'clock, when a very enjoyable evening was spent. The program was a very interesting one. Mrs. Earl Hoffer read a paper on "Anger," while Mrs. Samuel Shalldress and Miss Daise Keichline gave some very good advice on "Common Colds." Mrs. James Letzell read an article on "Our Child needs Success." A splendid talk was given by Mrs. Eleanor McDowell on "Preparing the Pre-School Child for Reading." There were 21 members present and one guest.

—Mr. and Mrs. William M. Way, both natives of Centre county, celebrated their golden wedding at their home in Tyrone, on Monday, which was just one day short of fifty years of wedded life. It was on March 11th, 1880, when William Meredith Way, of Unionville, and Rebecca Fisher, of Snow Shoe, were married. They took up their residence in Unionville where Mr. Way worked at his trade as a carpenter. A number of years ago they moved to Tyrone and that town had been their home since. They have six children, all of whom were present at the celebration.

THREE COURT OFFICERS SUBMIT ANNUAL REPORTS

Volume of Work Done by Each One
During Year 1929

Desertion and probation officer Roy Wilkinson, county detective Leo Boden and juvenile court officer W. C. Thompson have filed with the court their annual reports for the year 1929, which shows in detail the work performed by each one, the receipts and expenditures and the costs in each office. Mr. Wilkinson's report shows that in 1929 his office received $23,799.24, as against $13,800.04 during 1928, the first year of the office. His report in detail is as follows:

JUVENILE OFFICER'S REPORT

In his report Rev. Wm. C. Thompson, juvenile court officer, states that during the year 1929 he received 106 complaints and investigated 102. There were ten juvenile court hearings, three of the delinquents having been committed to the Polk State school, one each to the Laurelton State village, and Mt. Airy institution for the deaf. One was discharged, three were paroled in the custody of the juvenile court officer and one paroled in the custody of the parents.

Removed to Sleighton farm school for girls, for violation of parole, three. Indigents removed from county to proper poor districts, eight. Four petitions were heard for the removal of juveniles from the control of the juvenile court officer and place them under care of the parents, all of which were refused.

Nine cases were cited to the district attorney for offenses against juveniles, one of which was ignored by the grand jury, two entered pleas of guilty and were sentenced and six cases were pending on February 1st. The juvenile court officer's salary for the year was $420 and expenses $452.34, a total expense to the county of $872.34.

NEW MODERN HOTEL FOR STATE COLLEGE.

A seventy-five room modern hotel is being planned for State College. It was announced recently. Work is expected to be started in May for the Consolidated Hotel Service, Inc., of New York, which will construct and operate the hostelry.

The hotel, which has been urgently needed due to the rapid growth of the Pennsylvania State College and community, will be located near the College recreation hall. It is planned to place it facing the 18-hole golf course and on one of the main highways leading into the borough and the college campus. It is to be of colonial design, the interior laid out with the peculiar needs of a hotel for State College in mind.

These requirements, calling for a large banqueting hall and for smaller meeting places for groups and parties, will be met by the inclusion of a dining room capable of seating several hundred persons and several smaller dining rooms for private parties. Typical of these needs were the more than thirty organizations which met in State College last year, bringing upwards of 20,000 representatives, and numerous pilgrimages were made to the college by business men's clubs, agricultural and industrial groups.

TIBBETT TO SING AT STATE COLLEGE.

Lovers of music are unusually fortunate because of the fact that Lawrence Tibbett, baritone of the Metropolitan Opera company, will appear in recital at State College on Monday, March 31st. The concert will be held in the Schwab auditorium beginning at 8:15.

Mr. Tibbett is America's greatest baritone in every sense of the word. Native born, he studied the voice and dramatic art in this country, and it was here that he made his reputation of being, as critics unanimously agree, the greatest baritone in the world.

The success and popularity of Lawrence Tibbett has been gained from several sources. In recital he is a tremendous favorite, being recalled again and again for repeat engagements. As the leading baritone of the Metropolitan Opera company he has appeared in all of the great baritone roles of the familiar operas, and last year created the role of Jonny, in "Jonny Spielt Auf," a novelty enlarged by his appearance in the talking picture "Rogue Song," in which his voice and acting ability have thrilled millions.

Reservations, at $1.50 a ticket, may be made by writing Clay Musser, office of the College Treasurer, State College, Pa.

CHICKEN PROTECTORS WORKING CENTRE COUNTY

Three men who claim to represent a private detective agency, are working among the farmers of Pennsylvania insuring their chickens from theft at $12.50 per farmer, and their scheme is such a good one that they are not violating any law.

They carry with them a hand punch or die which stamps a certain mark on the under side of the wing of every fowl, in India ink, as a means of identification. This stamp is sold for $5.00. Then they insure the flock against theft which costs $7.50 more, or $12.50 all told. Just what the insurance can do to protect the chickens from being stolen is yet to be proven.

Last week three men, possibly the same three, operated in Union county but left there the latter part of the week. On learning of the operations of the men in Pennsylvania county detective Leo Boden made a trip over to investigate. He found the men, all right, but also found that they are not violating any law, although he don't believe their insurance will protect the farmer's flock.

SIXTY GUESTS ENJOY JUDGE FLEMING'S BANQUET

Judge M. Ward Fleming was host at a banquet, given at the Brockerhoff house last Friday evening, to members of the bar, court house officials and a few personal friends. All told about sixty guests were present and the splendid menu was thoroughly enjoyed by all. At the conclusion of the repeat John Blanchard Esq., acted as toastmaster and directed the speech making in a gracious and characteristic manner. As there was no prearranged program every man who responded evinced spontaneously and the general trend was a tribute to the Judge on his two year's work on the bench and his courteous treatment of every member of the bar as well as county officials.

—Having taken over the Twit-mire stove and tinning stove Harry Badger will move the same into a new building he has erected on his lot on east Bishop street. Mr. Twit-mire has been compelled to retire from active business owing to advancing years. He has been in business in Bellefonte for sixty-one years and at his retirement was the oldest business man in town.

—The Bellefonte Academy boxers lost to the Navy plebes, last Saturday, by the score of 4 to 3, but the young midshipmen of Annapolis had to put up a hard scrap to get the victory.

SUDDEN DEATH OF WILLIAM D. ZERBY ESQ.

Though not entirely unexpected the passing away of William Daup Zerber Esq., at his home on east Linn street, at 10:30 o'clock on Wednesday morning, was a distinct shock to his friends in Bellefonte and throughout the county. He had not been in good health for a year or more but had been up and around until three weeks ago. A combination of heart and lung trouble caused his death.

He was a son of Philip and Elizabeth Daup Zerber and was born in Penn township, September 24th, 1856, hence was in his 54th year. He was educated in the public schools of his home locality then took a course in Bucknell University. Following his graduation he came to Bellefonte and read law in the office of Orvis & Bower, being admitted to practice at the Centre county bar twenty-seven years ago. After his admission to the bar he became a member of the law firm of Orvis, Bower & Zerby, and some years ago when that legal firm was dissolved he continued his association with former Judge Ellis L. Orvis under the firm name of Orvis & Zerby.

Mr. Zerby was possessed of an unusually bright legal mind and was quick to comprehend the legal status of the most difficult of cases. His conception and construction of the law was able and fearless. A large portion of the work in the preparation of cases by his law firm was done by him and in this he was thorough and his findings of facts could generally be relied upon.

In politics he was a Democrat, and while yet a young man was chosen county chairman to lead his party. He served several years, at the time when political campaigns in Centre county meant more than merely going to the polls to vote, and his work invariably resulted in at least a partial victory. His only trial for a county office was in 1927 when he ran for the nomination for Judge of Centre county on the Democratic ticket against W. Harrison Walker and lost out at the primaries.

In 1907 he married Miss Isabelle Taylor, who survives with two children, Miss Elizabeth and William, both at home. He also leaves one brother and a sister, Emory Zerby and Mrs. Faust, both of Elgin, Ill.

A meeting of the Centre county bar will be held at 1:30 o'clock on Saturday afternoon and immediately thereafter members of the bar will go in a body to the Zerby home, on east Linn street, where funeral services will be held at 2:30 o'clock. They will be in charge of Rev. Stuart Gast, rector of St. John's Episcopal church, of which he was a member, interment to be made in the Union cemetery.

COLLEGE TO HOLD FARM MACHINE SHORT COURSE

For the third time in three years the farm machinery department of the Pennsylvania State College will hold a short course March 25 and 26, in the stock pavilion on the college campus.

On the evening of March 24, at 7 o'clock, there will be a big opening meeting in the pavilion to which farmers of Centre county and nearby places are invited to attend. Admission will be free. The program will consist of music, motion pictures, and talks by Dean R. L. Watts, of the School of Agriculture, and David Darrah, of the Oliver Implement company, Chicago.

Farmers also are invited to attend the short course where all kinds of farm implements will be displayed and demonstrated. Each year a different manufacturer furnishes the implements for this purpose. Two years ago the International Harvester company provided the machinery. Last year the Massey-Harris company furnished the equipment. This year the Oliver line will be represented.

INTER HIGH SCHOOL DEBATE TONIGHT

Bellefonte, Philipsburg, State College and Tyrone High schools are again conducting a series of debates for the loving cup offered by the Women's club of State College, and later for entry into the district and State contests for High school debating honors of Pennsylvania.

This (Friday) evening, at eight o'clock, the Bellefonte affirmative team will debate the negative team from Philipsburg on the subject:

"Resolved, That the county should be the unit of support and control of the schools of Pennsylvania."

The debate will be held in the auditorium of the High school and admission is free.

On the same evening the Bellefonte negative team will debate the Tyrone affirmative at Tyrone.

This is a live, up-to-date subject. The debaters have been working diligently for some weeks and promise an interesting evening to all who will take the trouble to attend.

—Extension of time in which the Bellefonte Central railroad company may complete construction of its new road in Centre county, to July 1, 1930, was made Saturday by the Interstate Commerce Commission. Previously the road had been given until March 1 to finish the work, but the Commission held that it had shown that it was unable to carry through this order.

NEWS PURELY PERSONAL

—Mrs. Harold Kirk is spending the week in Philadelphia, under the care of eye specialists.

—Mrs. Henry Wetzel has been at Howard this week, a guest of her daughter, Mrs. Malcolm Pifer.

—Mrs. Frank E. Nagine went to Atlantic City, Saturday, where she will be at "The Jefferson," until after Easter.

—Mrs. Philip Beezer and her daughter, Mrs. Witcraft, were over Sunday motor guests to Philadelphia, having gone down for a visit with Mrs. Witcraft's son, Philip, a student at business college.

—George R. Meek, accompanied by Mrs. Meek, left last Saturday on an eight day business trip to Texas, expecting to go as far south as the Mexican border. According to their plans they will arrive home Sunday.

—Mrs. Harry Garber, who had expected to return to Bellefonte the first of March, is now visiting with the Edward Bush family, at Hartford, Conn., thus postponing her coming back here for a month.

—The Misses Mary and Maude Dreibleb, among the well known residents of State College, drove to Bellefonte Tuesday, spending a part of the day here in the shops and in looking after some accumulated business.

—Miss Blanch Henry, who has been a guest of Mrs. T. A. Shoemaker, drove over from Ebensburg with some of the Shoemaker family, upon their return home from an over Sunday visit with relatives there, two weeks ago.

—Mrs. Alberta Krader, supervisor of music in the Bellefonte public schools, anticipates spending the week beginning March 24th in Chicago attending the second biennial meeting of the music supervisors' national conference.

—John Davis, of Coleville, was a Watchman office visitor on Saturday evening and was in his usual good humor because of the fact that while many men are without employment he has had steady work right along.

—The Rev. Reed O. Steely, president of the Farmer's National bank, has been in Bellefonte all week, in charge of the bank, owing to the absence of Hays W. Mattern Jr., the cashier, who was called to Tyrone by the death of his father.

—Mrs. Harry Keller will leave Bellefonte the latter part of the month, to go to New Brunswick, N. J., for a visit with her son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Keller. Not expecting to occupy her home this summer, Mrs. Keller's plans are indefinite.

—Miss Elizabeth Larimer, who has been under treatment at Camp Devitt for the greater part of a year, anticipates returning home as soon as the Spring weather justifies the change. Elizabeth has entirely recovered her health, which now is quite a bit above normal.

—Miss Almah Schaeffer, very pleasantly remembered by many in Bellefonte, through her interesting political talks here, was up from Millifenburg for the week-end, a guest while here of L. A. Schaeffer and his daughter, Miss Helen, at their home on Curtin street.

—Mr. and Mrs. John Sommerville have returned from New York and opened their house on the Beaver farm east of Bellefonte, which has been closed since before Christmas. Mr. and Mrs. Sommerville had spent the time at Mrs. Sommerville's former home at Milton and in New York.

—James I. McClure came up from Atlantic City, Monday, to spend the remainder of March looking after his business interests in Bellefonte, intending to go back the first week in April. Mr. McClure has spent much of his time, for the past two years or more, at the shore.

—Mrs. N. A. Staples, of Philadelphia, who prior to her marriage last December was Miss Anne Straub, has been visiting Bellefonte friends this week, her first trip back home since leaving here on Christmas day. She came here last Saturday and will return to the city tomorrow or Sunday.

—D. Wagner Geiss spent Sunday with his father and two sons, George and David, in Philadelphia, having gone down Saturday night returning Sunday night. The elder of Mr. Geiss' sons has been with the P. R. Co., at the Broad street station, for several years, both sons being permanently located in Philadelphia.

—The Hon. A. Lester Sheffer and Mrs. Sheffer, of Milroy, their son-in-law and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. Black, of Lewistown, and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Sheffer, of Jersey Shore, and their daughter, Miss Lillian, were all in Bellefonte, Tuesday for the funeral services of Mrs. McClelland, an aunt of the Sheffer men, whose body was sent to her former home in Denver, for burial, Tuesday afternoon.

—While in Bellefonte on Saturday evening Paul Bennett, of Runville, dropped into the Watchman office on a little business. Paul is in the lumbering business and manufactures mine props but the bottom has dropped out of the prop market and he is somewhat at sea as to the outlook. So far he has continued his operations just to give employment to eighteen men, but if things don't soon take a turn for better times he is afraid he will have to shut down.

—Mrs. Samuel H. Taylor, of Bridgeport, Conn., did not accompany Mr. Taylor to Bellefonte for the funeral of his mother, owing to the condition of her daughter, Eleanor, who is thought to be critically ill. Eleanor has many friends here through her frequent visits to Bellefonte with both her paternal and maternal grandparents. In addition to Mrs. Henry Taylor's three sons, her grandson, Harold E. Taylor, with Mrs. Taylor and their son John, were here from Huntingdon for the funeral Monday.

—Mr. and Mrs. Edward M. Shields and their two children, Mary Elizabeth and Michael, drove over from Reading a week ago, for a week-end visit here with Mr. and Mrs. Shields' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Shields and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Galbraith. In addition to Mr. and Mrs. Edward Shields, the Shields family had as house guests, at that time, their daughter, Miss Theresa, director of nurses at the Mercy hospital, Altoona, and her cousin Miss Anne Snyder, who motored down in Miss Snyder's car.

STUART.—Mrs. Ellen Mos Stuart, widow of the late John V. Stuart, of State College, passed away at 10:30 o'clock, last Thursday morning, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Ray D. Gilliland, in the place. She had been in ill health for six months and her death was the result of a general breakdown.

She was a daughter of Daniel and Elizabeth Hunsicker Moser, and was born at Boalsburg in 1850, her age at death being 79 years and 8 months. She was educated in the public schools of her native town and on December 23rd, 1869, she married John W. Stuart. The first few years of their married life were spent on a farm, in Harris township, but about 1875 they moved to State College where Mr. Stuart engaged in the hotel business. It was while there engaged that Mrs. Stuart displayed to advantage her remarkable gift of hospitality which characterized her home during all the years of her life. For many years she was an active member of the Presbyterian church at the College, a member of the Woman's club and the D. A. B. During the latter years of her life she spent a number of winters in Florida and had traveled to various parts of the United States.

Mr. Stuart died on December 21st, 1911, so that her only immediate survivors are two daughters, Mrs. H. J. Shattuck and Mrs. Ray D. Gilliland of State College; one brother and sister, John Moser, of Wilkes-Barr and Mrs. Elizabeth Jacobs, of Centre Hall.

Funeral services were held at the Gilliland home, at 3 o'clock on Saturday afternoon, by Rev. Samuel Martin, interment being made in the Branch cemetery.

McCLELLAND.—Mrs. Sarah McClelland, widow of H. R. McClelland, died on Sunday evening at the home of her sister, Mrs. Samuel Sheffer, in the Bingham apartment on Curtin street, following an illness of some months.

She was a daughter of David and Elizabeth Clawson and was born at Freeport, Pa., on August 3rd, 1844 hence was in her 87th year. Her girlhood life was spent in Freeport but after her marriage to Mr. McClelland they lived for some time in Pittsburgh then moved to Denver, Colo. Her husband died on January 24th, 1911, and during the succeeding nine years Mrs. McClelland made a number of visits in Bellefonte, coming here in 1920 to remain permanently. Her only survivor is her sister, Mrs. Sheffer.

She was a member of the Presbyterian church and Rev. W. C. Thompson had charge of the funeral services which were held at the Widdowson funeral parlors at two o'clock on Tuesday afternoon, after which the remains were shipped to Denver, Colo., where interment will be made beside her husband in Crow Hill cemetery.

KANE.—Daniel Kane, a native of Centre county, died on Wednesday last week, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. William Brown, at Erie, as the result of general debility.

He was a son of Thomas and Mar Kane, and was born at Hecla in 1844; hence was about 85 years old. He married Ellen Farley, of Bellefonte, and the greater part of his life was spent here. His wife died a number of years ago but surviving him at the following children: Mrs. Brown of Erie; Mrs. Margaret Kommeran of Sharpsburg; Joseph Kane, of Uniontown; Thaddeus, of Blonx, an Mrs. Ira Taylor, of Arnold, Pa.

Funeral mass was held in St. Peter's cathedral, at Erie, at 9 o'clock Saturday morning, interment being made in Calvary cemetery.

DAVIS.—Lorna Davis, nine year old daughter of Thurman and Flor Davis, died at the Centre County hospital at eight o'clock Wednesday morning, as the result of an affection of the kidneys, following an illness of four weeks. In addition to the parents she is survived by one sister and four brothers, Ella, Harry, Elmer, Gerald, James and Robert, all at home. Funeral services will be held this afternoon, at the Davi home on Halfmoon hill, by Rev. William Snyder, burial to be made in the Union cemetery.

—Mr. and Mrs. George A. Stim of Maternville, celebrated the 57th anniversary of their marriage on Thursday of last week.

—A dollar sale Friday and Saturday, at Sim's—come, see what you can get for a dollar. 11-1
