STATE RIGHTS AND FEDERAL UNION.

VOL. 75. BELLEFONTE, PA., APRIL 25, 1930. NO. 17.

SPAWLS FROM THE KEYSTONE

Falling two feet from the step of his ice wagon to the street, John Rawleigh, of Chester, fractured his skull and died shortly after he was admitted to the Chester hospital on Saturday.

INK SLINGS

Mr. Pinchot's analysis of Shunk Brown's platform is more accurate than complimentary. Inasmuch as the temperature has been sticking around 32 degrees and snowflakes have been visible for three days we're inspired to remark that it was a short summer we had.

Monopoly Moving Forward.

The Electric Bond and Share company, of New York, is having a fine time plucking its victims spread over twenty-six States and numbering 2,101,000 electric and gas consumers.

The County Debt Grows.

We received a copy of the Auditor's Statement of the financial condition of Centre county too late to give it the thorough study such an important matter deserves.

Borough Council to make War on Dogs.

At the regular meeting of borough council, on Monday evening, secretary Kelly read a communication from borough solicitor N. B. Spangler explaining the dog law as it affects canines allowed to run at large and commit depredations on private property.

AH, THIS IS LOVE!

There's the wonderful love of a beautiful maid, And the love of a staunch, true man. And the love of a baby that's unafraid—All have existed since time began.

FIFTY YEARS AGO IN CENTRE COUNTY.

Items taken from the Watchman issue of April 23, 1930. Mr. William Thomas, the ticket agent at the railroad station here, has taken unto himself a wife in the person of Miss Sara Zimmerman, of Milesburg, and intends to take a trip west as a "wedding tour."

There was a big drop in temperature on Tuesday night, and Wednesday morning thermometers registered several degrees below the freezing point. In fact the ground in newly-dug gardens was frozen hard enough to bear the weight of an average sized man.

There are signs of treachery in the Brown-Davis combination.

Mr. Dewey, the slated candidate for Secretary of Internal Affairs, is to be traded off in the interest of Jim Woodward, friend of Cunningham.

Incidentally Mr. Beck paints a true picture of Shunk Brown's temperament.

He reveals a mixture of cunning and cupidity. We can't hate Shunk Brown because he was once a Democrat, but that "a renegade is worse than ten Turks" is proverbial.

As yet there has been no "hard and fast" alliance between Grundy and Pinchot, but it is coming as sure as fate.

As yet there has been no "hard and fast" alliance between Grundy and Pinchot, but it is coming as sure as fate. As an agency for the decrease of expenses of the navy the London conference has been a failure in all the known languages.
