

MINIATURE GOLF COURSE FOR BELLEFONTE PLAYERS.

Kenneth Wall, manager of the icheleu theatre, and Charles McLellan, proprietor of the Kellfonte, have leased the vacant lot in the rear of the Benner property, on High street, and are building there a miniature golf course, which is the very latest sport now being rejected throughout the country. The course will consist of eighteen holes, with several bunkers and hazards, so as to make the sport a par with a regular golf course. A force of men is now at work building the greens and perfecting the course.
