

NEWS ABOUT TOWN AND COUNTY.

Centre county has ninety-nine teachers in one room school houses. Of these twenty-nine are men and nine married women.

Tomorrow the Granger picnic at Centre Hall will open and Aug. 28 to Sept. 1 the Clearfield fair will be the nearby attraction.

The annual reunion of the Mayes and Tate families will be held, at Hecla park, Sunday, August 24. All relatives and friends of the family are invited.

Rev. P. N. Osborne, who has been chaplain at Rockview penitentiary the past several years, has resigned and is now anxious to secure a pastorate in the central part of the State.

Last Friday S. J. McMullen, of Millheim, loosened the radiator cap on his big, five ton truck to see if it was short of water, and as the cap was removed a regular geyser of steam and hot water shot out of the opening painfully scalding him on face, neck and hands.

The rain of Thursday of last week which was the first of any amount that had fallen since July 22nd did some good to the parched gardens and fields, but it didn't go far. Friday morning we noticed farmers plowing oats stubble and dust was rising out of the furrows in clouds.

Members of Troop L, 103rd cavalry, of Bellefonte, are booked to take part in a horse show to be held at the Driving park, Altoona, on Saturday, September 13th, under the auspices of the Phi Beta Psi sorority, a charitable organization of that city. The show will start at 1.30 p. m.

Don't overlook the fact that the big Clearfield county fair will open on Thursday of next week and continue over Labor day. The committee in charge has arranged a program that will please the most exacting. If you are interested in county fairs don't fail to go to Clearfield.

The unusually cool weather of the past week has been a decided contrast to that of the last week in July and the first week in August. But so far the much-needed rain has not fallen in sufficient quantity to do any good. But as the Granger's picnic will be held at Centre Hall next week there is hope.

According to announcement that will be made next week Bellefonte is to have a commercial college soon. Founders of the proposed institution are now here making arrangements to open it this fall. We understand that it is sponsored by very responsible and successful educators in the commercial and business fields.

Miss Elizabeth Hunter, who since her graduation from the University of Syracuse, has been instructor of music in the schools of Springfield, Pa., will resume her work there this fall, with very substantial recognition of the satisfactory work she has been doing. Miss Hunter is a musician of decided ability, as was demonstrated by her solo work in the musical program in the last Sunday morning service of the Presbyterian church here.

Fire on Sunday completely destroyed the tippie at the No. 11 plant of the Moshannon Coal Mining company, near Philipsburg, together with all the machinery, entailing a loss of $25,000. The loss was only about one-third covered by insurance. The mine had been idle most of the time since last March but plans were being made to resume operations in the near future. A new tippie will be built at once. The origin of Sunday's fire has not been determined.

While work on the new military reservation for Troop L has been progressing satisfactorily it will be several weeks yet before the stables will be completed and ready for occupancy. Water for both the administration building and stables is to be piped from Bellefonte and it will take some time to lay the pipe line and install a suction pump and storage tank, so that it will probably be October before the buildings will be ready for occupancy.

Over one hundred years ago one Casper Peters, an itinerant preacher, traveled over Centre and adjoining counties preaching prohibition. He did not live to see the fruition of his work but he has living a real grand-daughter in the person of Mrs. A. W. Reese, of Port Matilda who, with her daughters, who are great grand-daughters of Mr. Peters, have always been active members of the W. C. T. U. and hard workers in the cause of prohibition.

Brookville, Pennsylvania, has just published a 20 page brochure exploitive of the town. It is a well printed, attractive and interesting publication. Brookville calls public attention to her desirability as a residence and industrial location. Her fine homes, business enterprises and lovely surrounding scenes are shown, both by aerial and ground photographs and the credit for the splendid aerial results are given to our local out-door photographer, Wm. J. Sager, who spent several days flying over the place to secure them.

BRIEF MEETING OF BOROUGH COUNCIL.

Monday night's meeting of borough council was a rather brief and uninteresting session. George J. Weaver was present and asked that something be done to put Burrows street, from Ridge street east, in a better condition for travel. Eleven families live along the section of the street referred to. In fact it is really an alley. There are no pavements and the surface of the street is yellow clay, with the result that in wet weather people living there have to tramp the mud. He also complained of the lack of pavements on Ridge street, from Burrows to Howard. The matter was referred to the Street committee for immediate investigation.

Roy Bayletts, of Bellefonte, asked council for a permit to start a sanitary garbage collection route in Bellefonte. His proposition is to place twenty-gallon cans at the home of each customer. The cans to be emptied once a week in winter time and twice a week during the summer, his charge to be 25 cents a week. He admitted, however, that he had not yet made any arrangements for a dump or disposal ground, and was informed that if he could secure the necessary grounds and come back to council a permit will be granted.

Secretary Kelly read a telegram from Governor Fisher expressing appreciation of the offer of Burgess Hard P. Harris of water from the Bellefonte spring to any community needing it.

The Street committee reported that Burnside street has been opened, graded, stoned and oiled. Also oiling a number of other streets and alleys and that work has been started on the sewer on east Linn street. Report was also made of the collection of $120 for sewer permits, all of them being at properties on Pine street, which will do away with four cess pools in that locality.

The Water committee reported installing a new meter for the Pennsylvania Railroad company and the collection of $200 on 1929 and 1930 water taxes which had been turned over to the borough treasurer and $625.00 additional on taxes and $37.50 on garage rent for which the collector's checks were presented.

The Finance committee reported an overdraft in the water fund of $37.08 and a balance in the borough fund of $568.20. One note for $1000 was renewed and a new note for $1000 in the borough fund and one for $1500 in the water fund authorized to meet current bills.

The Water committee presented the plans and specifications for the water supply pipe line from the big spring to Gamble's mill and the work of the committee was approved and a motion passed that work on the laying of the pipe be started as soon as possible.

Borough bills totaling $803.64 and water bills $1724.20 were approved for payment after which council adjourned.

SCREEN DOORS NO BAR TO STATE DOG CATCHER

Edward J. Gehret, of Bellefonte, is under $100 bond for his appearance at the September term of court to answer to the charge of harboring a female dog on which there was no license tag at the exact time the State dog catcher took a peek at her through a screen door. And Gehret denies ownership of the dog; and also alleges that the dog in question was never outside of the house minus a collar and tag.

Along in the latter part of July, when E. M. Isenberg was in Bellefonte seeing that the dog law is being rigidly enforced, he visited the Gehret home. Both Mr. and Mrs. Gehret were away from home but Jimmie Foreman was in the kitchen, with the screen door locked, playing with Mrs. Gehret's pug dog. Because of the heat the dog's collar, on which was the legal tag, had been removed while she was indoors, and peeking through the screen door Isenberg noted this fact. He promptly left a summons with the boy for Mr. Gehret to appear before Squire Tressell and settle. Mr. Gehret did not appear until last Friday when he refused to pay the costs and fine and gave bail for his appearance in court.

BELLEFONTE ON BUS LINE TO NEW YORK CITY.

Bellefonte is to be a station on a new bus route to be operated by a subsidiary of the Edwards Motor Transit company, of DuBois, between Sharon and New York city. Two busses will be run daily, each way, one in the morning and one in the evening.

TWO YOUNG MEN ARRESTED ON CHARGE OF LARCENY.

Two Bellefonte young men, Allison Charles and Harold Leathers, were arrested, on Monday, by sheriff Harry E. Dunlap and chief of police Harry Dukeman on the charge of stealing gas and tires from Bellefonte garages. Later they both signed confessions of guilt. At a hearing before justice of the peace John M. Keichline, Tuesday afternoon, they were each held in $1000 bail for trial at court.

ROBBERS LOOT HOME GET WOMAN'S SILK UNDIES.

A female burglar is believed to be abroad in Bellefonte. Between the hours of 8 and 10 o'clock, Saturday night, some person or persons broke into the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Brachbill, on Pine street, ransacked the house and carried off every article of silk underwear owned by Mrs. Brachbill, all the table silver and a wrist watch valued at $37.50. The robbers missed three diamond rings which were in a jewel box in one of the ransacked bureau drawers. The value of the stuff stolen is estimated at from $150 to $200.

The belief that a woman was a party to the robbery was emphasized by the fact that a perfumed cigarette, the special brand of the female smoker, was found inside of the house. The Brachbills occupy one side of the George Sunday house. Mr. Brachbill was at work in the store and Mrs. Brachbill and children were down town. The robbers gained an entrance through the kitchen window, the latch on which is imperfect. From the way drawers had been rifled of their contents and furniture displaced they took their time in doing the job. But why they made a clean-up on the silk undies is the puzzling question.

ROCKVIEW FUGITIVE RECAPTURED LAST WEEK.

On Tuesday of last week a man who gave his name as Glen Burt was arrested at Linwood, Delaware county, on the charge of forgery. A magistrate sent him to the Delaware county jail and when his finger prints were taken they were found to be identical with those of George Dailey, who escaped from Rockview penitentiary on July 14th. Officials at Rockview were notified and an officer went to Delaware county, identified Dailey and brought him back to Centre county, landing him in the Centre county jail about six o'clock on Saturday morning. Just five hours later he was taken before Judge Fleming and sentenced to not less than three nor more than ten years in the western penitentiary. Dailey had been sent up from Cambria county for three to ten years for breaking and entering, larceny and receiving stolen goods.

William B. Addleman, a Clearfield county inmate who escaped from the psychopathic ward at Rockview, on August 6th, was captured at Clearfield on Monday afternoon of last week. Being deemed irresponsible for his act he was returned to the psychopathic ward at Rockview.

Little, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Zimmerman, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Zimmerman and children, Arlene and Richard; Mr. and Mrs. William Osman, Mrs. Joseph Johnson and children, Catherine and Nancy; Mrs. Jennie Miller, Mrs. Ella Chandler, Mrs. Charles Miller, Miss Ella Miller, Gerald Miller, Phyllis Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Love and son Donald, Miss Lou Dry, Mrs. Florence Krebs and son Donald, Mrs. Harriet Krebs, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard O'Donnell and daughter Miriam, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Meek and sons, Donald and Richard, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Weaver and children, Alice and Jack.

A RINGNECK PHEASANT FROM COLUMBIA COUNTY.

Records of the State Game Commission show that, contrary to popular belief, ringnecked pheasants do not always stay close to the place where they were released. Recently an official at Rockview penitentiary reported the finding of a dead pheasant, which apparently had killed itself by striking a suspended water pipe line. On its leg was a band bearing the number 24553.

C. A. Hiller, in charge of propagation, in checking the Commission's records, found that the bird had been released in Columbia county after the close of the 1925 season. At that time it was one year old. Officials of the Commission also cite such instances to show the ability of some wild animals and birds to escape the army of hunters which seek them annually.

MISS VIRGINIA HUGHES TO OPEN PRIVATE SCHOOL.

Miss Virginia Hughes, a graduate of Beaver college where she pursued a special course to fit her for a career as a teacher in kindergarten or the first four grades, will open a school this fall for these grades in Mr. Thomas Beaver's home, at the corner of Curtin and Allegheny streets. Miss Hughes taught a class most satisfactorily a year ago and at the request of some of the parents has decided to organize a class this year. Any parent desiring to have their children join such a class will please communicate with Miss Hughes.

ZION CALITHUMPIANS HAD A BAD NIGHT.

A party of nine young folks from Zion fell into the hands of a hard-hearted patrolman, near the old aviation field, Tuesday night of last week, had the truck in which they were riding confiscated and then had to walk the five miles back to their homes.

That morning Joel Clevestine and Mary Hockman, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Hockman, had been married in Cumberland, Md. When they returned home the news of their wedding spread fast and a group of their young friends gathered to callitump them. There was a great din and a grand time. Then someone suggested that they kidnap the bride and groom and take them for "a ride." Blaine Sampsel borrowed his father's truck, Mr. and Mrs. Clevestine were captured and four boys and three girls landed them on it. With lights aglow and an old wood-saw to be pounded they headed for Bellefonte.

Reaching here they made the round of the streets, doing no harm to anybody but having a lot of fun, and headed homeward. Just when they were beyond the borough limits a highway patrolman ended the merriment.

The lights on the truck had gone out and they were in the arms of the law. The officer made the entire party drive back to Hill's garage on east Bishop street. There he locked the truck up, walked away and left the party stranded five miles from home. At 10:30 at night there are not many people about to argue with so the bride and groom and their seven friends started the walk to Zion.

Just a week later, last Tuesday, Blaine Sampsel was called before Squire Tressell and fined $13.90 for driving a car without lights.

It seems like pretty harsh treatment. The officer might have given them a chance to have their lights fixed and locking up the truck and making Sampsel pay for a night's storage for it appears to need some explanation.

CLEVELAND MOTORISTS RUN OFF MILESBERG BRIDGE.

Two motorists from Cleveland, Ohio, had a thrilling experience when they were riding ran off the temporary bridge over Bald Eagle creek at Milesberg, Tuesday afternoon.

They are Messrs. McKinna and Long and were on their way from Tyrone to Williamsport. Evidently they didn't notice the temporary bridge detour until too late and then in attempting to make the turn into it they struck the iron safety guard on the lower side. The car rebounded from it, broke through the railing on the upper side, teetered there a moment and then fell ten feet to the bed of the stream. It landed on its side and top and neither occupant was thrown out. One of them was able to release himself. The other was taken from the wreck by John Wetzel who had witnessed the accident and immediately plunged into the stream to their rescue.

Neither of the men was badly hurt. In fact both were able to go back to Tyrone, where they had been visiting.

Paul Houser, of Lemont, salvaged their car for them.

Following the announcement the young couple left on a belated wedding trip to Washington, D. C. Talking with him concerning his work we learned much about the habits of the Bob White and one of his most interesting revelations was the fact that the cock bird will take a brood hatched by a bantam and mother it just like a female would. Another was his discovery that quail, in their natural habits, will break away from original coverts and migrate great distances evidently to combat the weakening of their strain by too constant in-breeding.

Trying out a new saddle horse last Sunday morning Mrs. Arthur C. Dale was thrown and badly cut about the head and face. In company of her husband and her father she was trying the horse. It had never been ridden by a woman and as it had been in races it evidently undertook to show Mrs. Dale that it could beat the mounts of her companions. Dashing away from them it became unmanageable and she was unseated. In the fall she was cut enough to require the attention of a physician, but not seriously injured.
