

Elephants Capable of Speed When Infuriated

Cooper's "Lions 'N Tigers 'N Everything," mentions that "the speed of an elephant is a deceptive thing, and it is a good horse that can keep abreast of him, once he unlimbers into full steam ahead."

Aim of Pioneers Was Destruction of Forest

Our forefathers thought not so much of the utilization as of the destruction of the forests. They wanted to get rid of them. For two centuries little progress was made in this struggle with the all-encompassing forest.

Needle 25,000 Years Old

A perfect bone needle, some 25,000 years old, is in the Field Museum of Natural History, Chicago. This needle, more than three inches in length, is complete and has as perfect an eye as if it had been made yesterday.

Garden of Straw Hats

In almost every other part of the world where straw hats are made, the process of bleaching is accomplished by the use of chemicals, but in Luton, England, which boasts of a great straw hat industry, the hats are bleached by exposure to the sun's rays.

A Poet at 8

Oliver Goldsmith, before he was eight years old, had contracted the habit of scribbling verse on small scraps of paper, which, in a little while, he would throw into the fire.

Egyptian Mummification

Egypt owed its scientific advance before other nations to the Nile. Its dead could not be buried in the loose alluvial soil disturbed every year by the floods.

No Loss

When Mary Louise visited in the country her aunt gave her a live rooster to bring home. Several weeks later her aunt visited Mary Louise's mother.

"Did you eat the rooster I gave you?" her aunt asked. "No; he ran away," said Mary Louise. "But he was so old and tough we never would have eaten him, anyway."

DEATH ENDS HIKING PACT OF TWO MEN

Partnership for a $25,000 Prize Is Dissolved.

Antofagasta, Chile.—A hiking partnership of two Englishmen which had been sustained for two years in a gallant attempt to win a $25,000 prize by walking from Buenos Aires to New York was tragically dissolved when one of them was run down on the railroad near this lonely nitrate port.

The dead man is Albert MacLewin. He died in the General hospital and was buried in the tiny Protestant cemetery on the Andean slopes above the port, his companion, James Winyard, and members of the Anglo-American colony carrying the casket.

Started August 21, 1928. Winyard, though grief stricken by the loss of his mate, declared that he would see the adventure through by himself, disregarding the representations of his consul and local residents.

Undaunted, they trekked off again after recovery, this time following the railway to Chile. A diary found on the dead man bears the stamps of station masters, prefects, school teachers, and farmers passed on the lonely route.

It tells of another adventure which befell them when nearing the vineyard city of Mendoza. A stranger attacked them violently. In self-defense they were forced to use the sole gun they carried.

Adventures Bared

"A narrow shave," alludes the diary to the fortunate passing of the de luxe transcontinental pullman train when the men were resting in a safety cutting.

It tells of another adventure which befell them when nearing the vineyard city of Mendoza. A stranger attacked them violently. In self-defense they were forced to use the sole gun they carried.

Lettuce Called Aid to Beauty of U. S. Women

Paris.—American women owe their beauty to lettuce, in the opinion of Mile. Paulette Bernège, a dietician who has just completed a three-months' tour of the United States.

"Vitaminus are their chief concern," Mile. Bernège said. "They drink a good deal more orange and tomato juice than gin, contrary to the popular French conception, and they die 'inctly' are not 'dollar grabbers'."

"As a matter of fact, they are surprisingly loyal and industrious, and their independence of the male is one of the striking things about their great country."

But Mile. Bernège thinks American women are undernourished. It is her contention that a happy medium somewhere between the typical French and the typical American diet would be very nearly ideal.

"Starvation may prove temporarily helpful," she said. "But in the long run it will shorten life, rather than lengthen it."

Vienna Police Must Keep Up Weight to Hold Jobs

Vienna.—By the Austrian Court of Appeals the right of the police to pension off any member of the force whose weight drops below 115 pounds has been upheld.

A verdict to this effect was given, when Johann Kleinedler, age thirty-three, appealed against dismissal from the force because the semiannual health examination of all policemen revealed that he was under this weight.

Firemen Rescue Kid on "See the City" Trip

Canon City, Colo.—It took the fire department to find six-year-old Wilbur Ward. Wilbur decided to "see the city," and spent the day doing so.

When he failed to return home in the evening his mother notified the fire department and he was found within 30 minutes.

Ancient Cannon Linked With Japanese History

An old Dutch gun was recently located in the Kanzaki shrine, Saga, by Prof. Chozo Muto of the Higher Commercial college of Nagasaki, who is an authority on the history of the early Christian civilization. It has for a long time remained unknown to the public, but when Professor Muto visited the shrine and saw the gun, the marks it bears were declared by him to be those of the United East India company.

Cinema Traced to Idea of Photographic "Gun"

Although it is not possible to say that any one person definitely invented the cinematograph, writes the Paris correspondent of the London Daily Telegraph, a large share of credit for the development of this machine is undoubtedly due to the great French scientist, Etienne Marey.

One of his pupils, Prof. Charles Richey, in recalling his outstanding achievements, described him as "the immortal creator of the cinematograph." M. Marey made important contributions to physiology, as a student of the circulation of the blood, to medicine, to flying and to the cinema.

Seized, taken in execution and to be sold as the property of Charles Mong and Mrs. Carrie C. Mong.

Growth of Brain

According to various authorities quoted in Halls' "Adolescence," the size of the brain increases, but little after eight years. It reaches its maximum size at about 12 to 14, though there may be a very slight growth between 20 and 30.

Organized Beggary

While begging in Japan is not the fine art and honorable calling that it is in some parts of China, nevertheless in Tokyo and other large cities there are hundreds who make their living by soliciting alms in public.

Ebb

The San Diego divorce court suddenly came to life. It was the wife who was suing, and for a moment they thought she was a poet.
