

NON-SUPPORT AND PLEAS OF GUILTY COURT.

A session of court was held, last Friday, to dispose of non-support, desertion and pleas of guilty cases, and the calendar was cleared of the following:

Paul Weaver, brought into court on a bench warrant because he failed to obey an order of court of May 28, 1928, to pay $10 a month to the support of his child, was informed that if he failed again to make good he will be sent to the Allegheny county work house.

Lawrence Marshall, who is $200 in arrears in the payment of $25 a month for the support of his children, told the court he could pay $50.00 down, and will make up the arrears and pay the order if given a chance and the court gave him another opportunity.

Clarence Benner, sentenced in November, 1929, on the charge of seduction, was haled into court because he made no effort to meet the payments included in his sentence. He was remanded to jail pending a further consideration of his case.

James Allen, sentenced in November, 1928, to pay $30 a month for the support of his wife and children, was in court because he has failed to meet the payments during the past eight months. The court gave him ten days in which to pay all arrearages or go to the Allegheny county workhouse for six months to one year.

Howard Jones, of Osceola Mills, was in court on a non-support charge and had grocers bills to prove that he was contributing to his wife's support though they are not living together. Jones works at the brick works and makes $52 a month, as he has only four days work a week. His wife is an able-bodied girl and they have no children. Asked what she ought to have a month for her support she told the court not less than $27. The court told her to go to work and made an order for $5 a month.

Edward Houser and his wife, Zilla Houser, who have separated, were in court in an amicable proceeding to have the court make a formal order for support for the children. The couple had agreed on $35 a month and the court made an order to that effect.

Charles Benn, a Sophomore in the State College High school, was in court on a technical larceny charge in connection with the robbery of the J. H. Musser store and Myers' meat market. The real robbing of the store was done by Eugene Moore, who kept all the money, but Benn was with him at the scene of the robbery. He was sentenced to pay the costs and placed on probation for two years.

Paul Lingle appeared in court as appellant from the decision of a justice of a peace in sentencing him to pay a fine of $100 and costs for a violation of the game laws, A. H. Hartwick being the prosecutor. After hearing the evidence Judge Fleming dismissed the appeal, ordered payment of the fine and noted an exception for the defendant.

Irene Rhoads, a delinquent, was ordered placed in the care of Mrs. Mary Kane until permanent arrangements for her keep can be decided upon.

Joseph Davis, issuing a fraudulent check which was cashed by the Hoy Bros., was given a suspended sentence until December 31st to give him time to make restitution and pay the costs.

Elmer Nolan, who plead guilty to false pretense, was sentenced to pay the costs, a dollar fine and serve one to two years in the Allegheny county work house.

Henry Nevill, charged with defrauding a board bill, was given until December 31st to make good and pay the costs.

David L. Tressler, failing to appear on a non-support charge, a bench warrant was issued for his arrest.

William O'Shell, charged with making threats to kill, was discharged and the costs put on the prosecutor, James S. Dixon.

H. H. Kanour, who was before the court on three charges, false pretense, issuing a fraudulent check and defrauding a board bill, was given until December 31st to make good his delinquencies and pay the costs.

Isaac Brown, charged with a violation of the liquor laws, was sentenced to pay the costs and placed on probation for one year.

J. R. Spera, of Lancaster, faced Judge Fleming on the charge of a violation of the vehicle code. He was given a suspended sentence upon the payment of the costs.

E. W. Kane, violation of the vehicle code, was sentenced to pay the costs and placed on probation for one year.
