

Democratic Watchman

Bellefonte, Pa., November 14, 1930.

NEWS ABOUT TOWN AND COUNTY.

The Bellefonte curb market still continues in operation, with ten cars on hand last Saturday morning.

Penn State surprised even its most ardent followers, last Saturday, by holding the strong Syracuse football team to a no-score game.

The new 1931 Chevrolet was put on exhibition last Saturday. It is 2 inches longer in wheelbase than the 1930 model and prices are from $20 to $40 lower.

Mrs. Emma Hummer, wife of Jesse Hummer, of South Danville, and mother of Dr. Joseph Hummer, of Bellefonte, died on Sunday morning at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Donald Shannon, in Baltimore, as the result of a heart attack. Burial was made at Danville on Wednesday afternoon.

Charles O. Gourlen and Miss Winifred P. Angus, both of Auburn, N. Y., who were members of a house party at State College over the week-end, came to Bellefonte Saturday morning, secured a marriage license and were later married at the parsonage of the Methodist church by the pastor, Rev. Horace Lincoln Jacobs.

Judge Fleming has appointed Howard A. Heaton, of Bellefonte, court tipstaff to fill the vacancy caused by the recent death of James H. Rine. Mr. Rine's son, Clarence L. Rine, was appointed constable in the West ward of Bellefonte for the unexpired portion of his father's term, which will be until the first Monday in January, 1932.

P. C. MacKenize, livestock superintendent of the Pennsylvania State College, has been chosen to judge Cheviot and Dorset sheep in the Chicago International Livestock Exhibition. Eleven States and two foreign countries have been drawn upon to furnish the rest of the judicial talent, Canada will send two men, and Scotland three.

We regret very much the unavoidable accident last Thursday afternoon that compelled us to mail copies of the Watchman to some of its readers that were far from being a credit to the paper's usual mechanical excellence. A smash-up that came just before the edition was completed was so serious that we couldn't get the press and type forms fixed in time to print better copies.

Nine members of the Rossman hunting club, of Pennsylvania Furnace, passed through Bellefonte, Saturday afternoon, on their way home from a four day's bear hunt on Big Run, Lycoming county. They brought home the carcasses of three bears as the result of the hunt. The bear were shot by R. L. Musser, of Mill Hall; A. R. Rossman, of Pennsylvania Furnace, and Rev. V. D. Grubb, of Juniata.

The West Penn Power company is officially engaged, this week, in taking over the property of the Centre Electric company, at Howard, which it recently purchased. This will mean a re-booking of some two hundred or more customers which the Centre Electric company had on its list. Residents of Storms, town and also of Rote, Clinton county, have signed up for electric service from the West Penn, which will mean the extension of lines to both those towns.

Early last week a Tyrone minister motored down Bald Eagle valley, crossed the mountain from Port Matilda to Halfmoon township and as he made the sharp turn onto the state road his automobile turned over twice, came down on the wheels and kept on going as if nothing had happened. The story is vouched for by residents of that locality, the only disputed point being the number of times the machine turned over, some maintaining three times while others state two.

Noah H. Swayne II, of Philadelphia, director of the Anthracite Institute, was at State College, on Monday, conferring with Joseph E. Shaw, head of the department of ceramics, and Edward Steidle, dean of the school of mineral industries, on the research being conducted at the College under a fellowship founded by the Institute. The fellowship this year was awarded to Charles E. Hall, of Osceola Mills, for the study of mine waste products with a view to exploring the possibilities of making a practical use of the same.

Twenty-five years ago the late C. G. McMillen, of Dayton, Ohio, but fifty years ago landlord of the Brockerhoff house, submitted to the writer a scheme to bottle water from Bellefonte's spring and ship it as mineral water but nothing came of it. Not many years ago Walter C. Cohen appealed to borough council for permission to bottle and ship surplus water from the spring but his scheme also fell through. Now, we hear, that down in the Gap, near Howard, they have found a real mineral spring and are not only making shipments of bottled water but shipping it in tank cars to Pittsburgh and other places. A good sized building has been erected which is used as a bottling plant and the water is advertised as good for various ills.

ONE MORE AUTO FATALITY ON CENTRE CO. HIGHWAYS.

The dangerous double curve in the State highway just east of Pine Grove Mills was the scene of another automobile accident shortly after nine o'clock last Friday evening, which resulted in the death of a young woman of Butler, Pa. The victim was Miss Esther Florence Stewart, 29 years old, instructor in music in the public schools at Sewickley, Pa.

Miss Stewart, with her sister, Miss Dorothy Stewart, and Miss Ione Potter, also a Sewickley school teacher, were guests at a house party, at State College, for the week-end. On Friday evening the three young women, accompanied by Miss Helen Armstrong, of Clinton-dale, went for an auto ride. Miss Dorothy Stewart drove the car and her sister and Miss Potter were in the rumble seat. So far as could be learned Miss Stewart had never driven over that stretch of highway and had no knowledge of the dangerous curves near Pine Grove Mills. Highway patrolmen who investigated the accident aver that she was driving at a fairly high speed when she struck the curve and in her endeavor to make the turn the car was ditched and turned over.

Both young women in the rumble seat were thrown out, Miss Esther Stewart sustaining a fractured skull and severe chest injuries. Miss Potter sustained a slight concussion of the brain while the other two escaped with minor injuries. Miss Stewart was brought to the Centre County hospital where she died at 12:40 o'clock Saturday morning without regaining consciousness. Miss Potter was taken to the hospital at State College but was able to leave there early in the week.

Coroner W. R. Heaton, of Philipsburg, was notified of the accident but after an investigation decided that an official inquest was not necessary. An undertaker from Butler came to Bellefonte, on Saturday, for the body of Miss Stewart, which had been prepared for burial at the Widdowson funeral parlors.

STOLEN WRIST WATCH RETURNED BY THIEF.

Last Thursday morning Mrs. Charles Brachbill found a small package in her mail box. It was done up in plain brown paper and contained no address or writing of any kind. Naturally Mrs. Brachbill opened the package and was surprised to find in it her wrist watch, stolen some six weeks ago when robbers carried away all her silk underwear. There was no writing of any kind on the package to tell from whom it came.

The watch was wound and has been keeping good time, the only thing wrong with it being a slight bend in the minute hand. It is quite likely that the person who stole the watch realized it would be dangerous to attempt to sell or pawn it, and did not want to be caught with the watch in his or her possession, so returned it some time Wednesday night.

BIRTHDAY SHOWER AT PRESBYTERIAN HOME.

On Saturday, November 1st, Miss Sarah Margaret Miller, a Bellefonte guest at the Presbyterian home at Hollidaysburg, was 98 years old, and as she is the oldest guest at the home she was given a miscellaneous shower of gifts by her friends and admirers. She received seventy-five postcards bearing loving felicitations and congratulations, together with a handsome bouquet of yellow chrysanthemums, asters and marigold.

She received a choice collection of handkerchiefs and a beautiful string of red beads, which she prizes highly and wore on her natal day. Despite her advanced years, Miss Miller enjoys good health and activity and thoroughly enjoyed her birthday, circulating among the guests and partaking of a fine birthday dinner prepared in her honor and enjoyed by all of the residents of the home.

CATHOLIC DAUGHTERS INSTALL NEW OFFICERS.

The new officers of Patrick McArdle court, Catholic Daughters of America, Bellefonte, were installed, on Wednesday evening of last week, by district deputy, Helen Merritt, of Tyrone, as follows: Grand regent, Miss Agnes Beizer; vice regent, Mrs. Bertha Bauer; historian, Mrs. Elizabeth Dunlap; prophetess, Mrs. Helen Bickett; financial secretary, Miss Adeline Anderson; treasurer, Mrs. Mary J. Gray; monitor, Mrs. Rose Pearl; sentinel, Mrs. Elizabeth Garis; lecturer, Mrs. Mary Brouse; trustees, Mrs. Mary Beizer and Mrs. Elizabeth Jackson; organist, Mrs. Rose Robinson.

Following the business session refreshments were served and the members enjoyed a social hour with cards.

The ruffed grouse, or common pheasant season closed last Saturday, and all told the kill in Centre county was considerably below the anticipation of hunters. Tomorrow will be the last day for ringnecks and wild turkeys while squirrel and rabbits will be legal game up to an including Nov. 30th. So far rabbits have constituted the bulk of the game killed.

D. A. R. WOMEN RESUME ROUTINE ACTIVITIES.

After two special programs from which business was eliminated, a constitution day dinner in September and an anniversary dinner in October, the Bellefonte chapter, D. A. R., renewed its regular winter meetings on Thursday evening, November 6th. The hostesses were Mrs. John VanPelt, Miss Virginia McCurdy, Miss Grace McCurdy, Mrs. Robert Morris, Miss Anna McCoy and Miss Kate Shugert.

Under the skillful guidance of the regent, Dr. Lucretia Simmons, the routine business which had accumulated during the summer was quickly disposed of.

From the membership committee the following names were announced: Miss Grace McCurdy for transfer from the Gettysburg chapter to full membership in the Bellefonte chapter; Miss Verna Ardery for acceptance and Miss Marjory Trotter, of State College, for associate membership.

Mrs. P. H. Dale, of State College, reported that a marker to the memory of John Goheen, a revolutionary soldier to whom ten of the present members of the local society trace their ancestry, is being erected near Rock Springs by his descendants and will probably be unveiled in December.

A valuable addition to the chapter's growing library was made in the gift received from the State registrar, Mrs. H. D. Sheppard, of a register of all the Pennsylvania D. A. R. and their revolutionary ancestors.

Excellent reports of the State conference held at Wilkes-Barre, October 21st to 24th, and of the regional conference at Atlantic City were received from Mrs. Edwin Erle Sparks, The Wyoming Valley chapter of Wilkes-Barre, which, Mrs. Sparks wrote, entertained the delegates most hospitably, is one of the oldest, having been organized only six months after the National society, D. A. R.

The entertainment part of the program was given by two chapter members.

Miss Madge Bogart, an instructor in home economics at State College, told very interestingly of the extension work being done by her department, of its growth and continuously widening influence in many counties of the State.

Mrs. A. R. Wieland gave an illustrated description of the Violet Oakley mural paintings in the capitol at Harrisburg.

CASES DISPOSED OF AT NOVEMBER COURT

The regular session of November court convened on Monday morning. Going over the civil list the case of George Miller vs. D. P. Brink was continued on account of illness.

The eighteen damage cases against the Pennsylvania Railroad company were again continued until March 9th, when a special session of court will be held to try them.

The first case called was that of John Steele, of Bellefonte, indicted for assault and battery. Chief of police Harry Dukeman was the prosecutor. The fact will be recalled that on July 27th Steele created trouble at home and the police were summoned. Officer Howley responded and Steele threw him over a stone wall. After hearing the evidence the jury returned a verdict of guilty. Steele was sentenced to pay the costs of prosecution, $25 fine and spend a month in county jail.

Charles Rudy plead guilty to a statutory charge and was given the usual sentence doled out in such cases.

A petition for the parole of Frank P. Meyer, sentenced on September 5th to pay a fine of $500, costs of prosecution and serve five months in jail, was continued until December 5th.

J. R. Spear, charged with a violation of the motor laws, was sentenced to pay the costs and placed on probation for one year.

THREE WEDDINGS HELD AT METHODIST CHURCH.

Rev. Horace Lincoln Jacobs had three weddings at the Methodist church, on Saturday. The couples were as follows:

Charles Orvis Gourley and Miss Winifred Pearl Angus, both of Auburn, N. Y., were married at 11:15. They were attended by Harry G. Westernfield, of Port Deposit, Md., and Miss Mary Z. Flannigan, of Braddock, Pa.

At 12:30 o'clock the pastor married Raymond Oliver Freudenberger, of Millville, Pa., and Miss Margaret Elizabeth Sharp, of McKeesport. They were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Miller, of New Kensington.

In the evening, at 7 o'clock, Lawrence Allen Barner, of Mill Hall, and Miss Florence Margaret Grenning, of Bellefonte, were married.

The student Y. M. C. A. at the Pennsylvania State College went over the top in its annual drive for funds, the campaign being completed last week. The total asked from the students, $3500, was exceeded by $300, while the faculty also exceeded their quota of $900 by several hundred dollars, present returns show, the final check having not yet been completed. The budget for the year was set at $4400, the same as last year.

NEW JAIL RECOMMENDED BY COUNTY GRAND JURY.

The grand jury passing upon the bills of indictment for the November term of court concluded its work, on Friday, and filed the customary report, only in this instance the jury recommended the erection of a new county jail, going so far as to say that if money is not in hand a bond issue be floated to meet the expense. Of course it is easy to recommend but it is hardly likely the county commissioners will seriously consider the matter at this time.

A. C. Williams was foreman of the jury and the salient points in their report are as follows:

We have acted upon 36 bills of indictment, 27 of which were found true bills, 6 ignored and 3 withdrawn.

We beg leave to report that we have visited the county buildings and find that immediate steps should be taken to give the court house and jail a general cleaning, and keep them in a sanitary condition. The present condition of these buildings show gross neglect on the part of the county commissioners.

We further report and recommend new floor covering for the agricultural extension office and also for county superintendent's office. This room shows crowded conditions, with broken glass in book cases. We recommend removal of waste material in vaults of prothonotary's office.

We recommend the building of a new jail, and if money is not available a bond issue be made. In case the county commissioners do not build a new jail that they immediately provide a separate apartment for female prisoners.

We recommend that the commissioners secure the services of a plumber to replace washers and repair spigots in the various rooms in the court house.

We recommend that fireproof waste containers be placed in the corridors of the court house.

COUNTY SABBATH SCHOOL MEETINGS NEXT WEEK.

A series of meetings will be held in Centre county next week in the interest of Sabbath schools, under the auspices of the County Sabbath School Association. Good speakers will be present at every meeting and residents of the various localities are urged to turn out and make the gatherings a success: The meetings will be held as follows:

Sunday, November 16, in the Lutheran church at Snydertown, afternoon and evening.

Monday, November 17, in the Presbyterian church at Milesburg, afternoon and evening.

Tuesday, November 18, in the Reformed church at Pine Hall, evening only, at 7:15 o'clock.

Wednesday, November 19, in the Methodist church at Stormstown, evening only, at 7:15.

Thursday, November 20, in the Salem Reformed church between Spring Mills and Millheim, afternoon and evening.

It is also possible that a meeting will be held at Philipsburg on Friday evening.

Dr. Fred Lewis Pattee, professor emeritus of American Literature at the Pennsylvania State College, has recently published a new volume of critical studies which brings his series up to the present. His latest book, "The New American Literature," embraces the period from 1890 to 1930, the majority of authors discussed having published their first book before 1920. Dr. Pattee has been in the fore rank, his pen has always been greeted eagerly.

NEWS PURELY PERSONAL.

James Cook has arrived home, having come in from Colorado to be with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Cook, for an indefinite time.

Mrs. George S. Denthorne has been in Pittsburgh this week, going back for a visit with friends and to spend several days in the shops.

Thomas W. Downing drove up from Downingtown, Tuesday, for one of his occasional visits of several days with his nieces and nephews in Bellefonte.

Mrs. David Dale went to New York, Monday morning, called there by the death of her brother, William McFher-son, who died unexpectedly Sunday night.

Miss Elizabeth Larimer is home from Camp Devitt, where she had been for several weeks continuing the treatment under which she has been during the past two years.

Mrs. George Kerstetter was up from Harrisburg, for an over Sunday visit with her sisters, Mrs. Geisinger and Mrs. H. C. Yeager, at the Yeager home on north Spring street.

Mrs. Harry Keller and Miss Margaret Cook went over to Danville, Sunday, and entered the Geisinger hospital, where they both will be under observation for several weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Darius Cole, of Altoona, were among the Armistice day visitors to Bellefonte, having been here for an all day's visit with Mrs. Cole's mother, Mrs. Samuel Miller, at Coleville.

Helen Thomas, now a patient in the Centre County hospital, will be there only until there is a vacancy at the Cresson sanatorium, expecting to be entered there as soon as possible. Helen is a daughter of William Thomas, of Milesburg.

Mrs. H. S. Cooper, left her Monday to return to her home in Galveston, the usual time of her stay in Bellefonte having been shortened two months. Mrs. Cooper came north in July and has been with her aunt, Miss Sara Benner, since that time.

The Misses Katherine and Mame Brown, of Baltimore, Edward, of New York city, and Mr. and Mrs. Leo Brown, of Johnstown, were all back home the early part of the week for the funeral of their father, Edward A. Brown, whose body was brought here from Baltimore Monday for burial in St. John's Catholic cemetery.

J. L. Tressler, of Centre Hall, was a Watchman office caller, last Thursday, and while he lamented the fact that Pennsylvania Democrats so woefully fell down on the job when they had an opportunity to make such a wholesale sweep of the biggest offices in Pennsylvania he was well satisfied with the way Democracy came to the forefront throughout the nation.

Relatives in Bellefonte for the funeral of George VanTries, whose body was brought here from Pittsburgh, Saturday, for burial, were Mrs. VanTries, her niece, Mrs. Robert DeGolyer, of Evanson, Ill., and his nephew, the Rev. William VanTries, of Germantown. Upon leaving, Mrs. VanTries went to Tyrone to spend several days with her sister, Mrs. Woodring, before returning to Pittsburgh.

Those of the Magee family who accompanied the body of William Magee over to Centre Hall Sunday, where it was buried during the afternoon, included, Mrs. Magee and her three sons, Huyett, William Jr., and Forrest II, Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Magee, Boyd Magee, Miss Martha Law and Mr. and Mrs. Alexander. Dr. McCoy, his mother, Mrs. Linn, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Nolan, Mr. and Mrs. Owen, and Mrs. William Reardon and her daughter, all swept in to make such a wholesale sweep of the biggest offices in Pennsylvania he was well satisfied with the way Democracy came to the forefront throughout the nation.

BELLEFONTE WOMEN STRONG ON BRIDGE.

Now that the evenings have grown longer and weather cooler Bellefonte women are showing a strong hand at bridge and various parties are held every week.

A recent evening party was given by Miss Nina Lamb, at her home on north Allegheny street, where four tables were in play.

Last Thursday evening a bridge dinner was given at the Nittany County club in honor of Mrs. Charles G. Cruse, the guests including Mrs. Cruse, Mrs. Elsie Helliwell, Miss Mary Rankin, Miss Nina J. Lamb, Miss Winifred M. Gates, Mrs. Collins Shoemaker, Mrs. John F. Musser, Mrs. Harry N. Meyer, Mrs. H. S. Taylor, Miss Roxie Mingle, Mrs. Jack Guldin and Mrs. O. B. Malin.

Miss Winifred M. Gates gave a bridge dinner at The Talleyrand, Monday evening, at which five tables were in play. On Tuesday evening The Talleyrand entertained a party of about thirty, from Snow Shoe.

TWO ESCAPED PRISONERS RECAPTURED LAST WEEK.

James Ross and Richard E. Norman, the two prisoners who escaped from Rockview penitentiary on the evening of October 28th, were captured at Clarkburg, W. Va., last week, and brought back to Centre county on Friday, Monday morning they both entered pleas of guilty to escaping and Ross was given an extra term of 6 to 12 years and Norman 6 to 20 years in the western penitentiary.

Sanzo-Compana. Angelo Sanzo and Antonette Compana, both of Valley View, went to the court house, Saturday morning, secured the necessary marriage license and immediately afterwards were married in the law library by Rev. W. C. Thompson, several officials in the court house being present as witnesses.

Mrs. Emma Louise Jones is quite seriously ill at her home on east Howard street.

ANNOUNCEMENT OF CIVIC IMPORTANCE.

To our readers who are interested in the civic welfare of Bellefonte we take great pleasure in announcing that the community mausoleum to be erected in the Bellefonte Union cemetery will be completed and dedicated during the coming year.

After a careful analysis of present conditions, the management of the Bellefonte Mausoleum company have decided they are not as bad as the pessimist would paint them.

The table and rate of mortality has not changed, death still demanding its regular toll, and in order to provide an opportunity for those who may prefer this beautiful way of caring for their loved ones the company will continue a vigorous campaign for subscribers to space in this memorial.

To summarize the situation, construction will be started in early Spring of 1931, and completed by early Fall of the same year.

The site is the highest point in the cemetery.

When completed, this memorial will not only beautify the cemetery, but stand out as one of Bellefonte's most prominent civic achievements.

CAMPAIGN ON HERE TO EXTERMINATE RATS.

Two young women have started a campaign to kill the rats in Bellefonte, so if you have rats in your place of business, rats in your home or "rats in your belfry" give the women a chance to eradicate them. The women are Miss Madge Case, of Seattle, Wash., and Miss Anna Mae Wright, of Portsmouth, Va. For almost nine years they have been engaged in a campaign of rat extermination and have covered forty-two States and the Hawaiian Islands.

Rats are classed as among the most destructive vermin to prey upon the fruits of man's work. It is estimated that their numbers are from three to five times that of the human family and figures are given to show that each rat does $1.82 worth of damage a year. Rats multiply very rapidly and the only way to get rid of them is to kill them.

The young women who will conduct the campaign in Bellefonte use a drug formula recommended by the United States public health service and which can be purchased and compounded in any drug store. Their proposition is worth a hearing when they visit your place of business.

WILLIAM MAGEE POSSIBLE VICTIM OF CITY THUGS.

The remains of William A. Magee, a U. S. customs inspector in Philadelphia who died in the Pennsylvania hospital, in that city, last Wednesday, reached Centre Hall on Sunday afternoon by motor hearse and were taken direct to the cemetery for burial, the commitment services being in charge of Rev. S. L. Greenhoe. Mr. Magee's wife and children, his two brothers and other friends were in the funeral party.

According to the Philadelphia Record there are grounds for the belief that Mr. Magee's injuries were the result of an attack by a gang of thugs. His skull, arms, legs and a number of ribs were broken. According to the police he left the customs house Saturday afternoon and his body was found late in the evening lying on the ground in a "blind street." A theory advanced is that he was blackjacked and robbed then run over by an automobile so as to give the appearance of being the victim of an accident. Police are investigating.

ARMISTICE DAY HERE FITTINGLY CELEBRATED.

Armistice day, commemorating that eventful epoch in the world's history of twelve years ago when the greatest war of all time came to an end, was fittingly celebrated in Bellefonte by Brooks Doll post of the American Legion. The customary services were held in the Diamond at the zero hour, 11 o'clock, with W. Harrison Walker Esq., the speaker.

In the afternoon the drum and bugle corps headed the march of the High school students to Hughes field for the football game between Bellefonte and State College High school. The game was hard fought and although Bellefonte lost 12 to 0, the boys are to be commended for the plucky fight they put up. State was a much heavier team and they came to Bellefonte confident of running up a big score but the best they could do was two tallies.

On Tuesday evening the Legion post ended the day with their annual banquet at the Penn Belle hotel.

A food sale and bazaar will be held at George J. Bohn's store, in Lemont, on Saturday, Nov. 22, by the Woman's Missionary Society of the Lemont Presbyterian church.
