

Bellefonte, Pa., December 5, 1930. CENTRE COUNTY RUNNER

WINS BERWICK MARATHON.

Richard Detwiler, Penn State's cross-country star, who hails from Rebersburg, wrote his name among the winners of the Berwick marathon, on Thanksgiving day, when he outsprinted Louis Gregory, of Rochesabreast for more than eight miles. Detwiler crossed the tape in 50 minutes and 15 seconds, more than two minutes slower than the record set by Willie Ritola, in 1922.

The race was the greatest in the and having taken it ourselves we 21 years of the event. G. OSCAR GRAY

Every individual is a purchaser of insurance. As people become successful their need for insurance expands. Thus the amount of insurance carried should be in accordance to one's income and increased accordingly. Yet thousands of young men enter into the insurance field, only to withdraw from it as failures, because it is a business which requires every attribute of success. There is no royal road to success. It means lots of intelligence, wit, hard work, honesty and sincerity of purpose. These qualities are possessed in a large degree by Mr. G. Oscar Gray and they have brought him to the apex of insurance supremacy. He has been in the business of general insurance for some years and his circle of clients and friends is growing greater every day.

They realize that he is daily bending every effort, energy and ability to secure for them the best insurance at the lowest possible rate. A policy written by Mr. Gray contains every clause desired by the client and none objectionable to him. He sees to that personally. In spite of the fact that he is all for his clients. His personal worth and his character make him a welcome visitor at all times to the offices of the underwriters and this makes it less difficult for him to place some policies where the clauses demanded should happen to be a bit out of the usual. Mr. Gray's offices are on West High St., where his clientele is composed of both prominent individuals as well as firms and corporations and where his large business shows that you can't keep a good man down, as the saying goes. Nothing interests him more than insurance unless it may be the civic interests of his city.

The wild and exaggerated stories in fiction about the works of detectives and their various methods of operation, give the average person the idea that they are something apart from the usual human being. But after all, the modern detective is just as much a business man as anyone else. His methods are based upon science plus a wealth of acutal, practical experience and probably no two detectives ever work alike. They may use the same methods in a sense, but a different style of applying those methods in practical use. But of all the detectives, the man who comes

Bees are much more efficient agents of pollination than wind for our fruits, and their absence is always harmful, says Prof. L. H. Bailey.

The minimum number of colonies for successful pollination is one, and colonies should be scattered these throughout the orchard. Nearly all varieties of apples are self sterile and even varieties which are self fertile produce more fruit when cross-pollinated with an interfertile variety.

-A grower should diversify his varieties which bloom about the same time and which will intercross. He should choose good varieties for pollination purposes and then rent bees from a good keeper to do the pollination work for them. Pollinator bouquets should be placed fifteen feet from the hives.

closest to the live cases to be solved is the man who holds the office of winter should be relied on to pre-Chief of the County Detectives. This applies to any county but is particularly important in Centre County where we find Mr. Leo Boden holding that office with no little amount of ability.

Some of his work might be considered by the layman as being is one of those modest men who would have you believe that there was really nothing unusual at all in his work or the manner in which he. There are a number of a number of a number of the second of really nothing unusual at all in his work or the manner in which he does it. But that is the way with men who achieve. They like to go the even tenor of their way and say nothing about it. Nevertheless the citizens of Centre county know for themselves that Mr. Boden has been an exceptionally good chief of the county detectives and therefore it is fitting to mention the fact in this special column. He is very civic it is fitting to mention the fact in this special column. He is very civic it is fitting to mention the fact in this special column. More attention is paid to the plumbing these days than ever before in the history of building. The people have learned the value of plumbing and its effect upon the health upon the household and upon the community in general. Thus plumbing has become a highly specialized trade requiring the services of skilled mechanics and the use of materials of the highest order. Bellefonte has most of its homes equipped with the the work is done by insects. One of the leading plumbing establishments in Bellefonte is that of Mr. A. E. Schad of W. High Street. Mr. Schad started 50 years ago and fruit pollination. To make fruit ers. In the past two years Altoona has met with the success he so well merits, for he has studied the science growing a real success, bees are of plumbing in the same thorough and careful manner as a doctor would study his profession. To him it has meant a branch of engineering, which after all, if the truth is told, it surely is; and the day will come when plumbers will be classed and have their degree accordingly.

Aside from being a master plumber himself, Mr. Schad will not employ anyone who is not expert and in this way he is always assured that his customers get the best kind of service it is possible to obtain anywhere. No wonder his business is growing in leaps and bounds and stands today among the leaders. There is a reason-many reasons and all of them good reasons too for Mr. Schad sees to that himself.

CENTRAL TRACTOR AND IMPLEMENT CO.

The agricultural interests have not been letting the grass grow under their feet-and this may be taken literally. The late James J. Hill said that the man who can make two blades of grass grow where only one grew before, is the greatest of public benefactors. It is therefore not surprising that so many of the best citizens have turned their efforts toward agricultural pursuits. It is to these farmers and the various concerns supplying them with the necessary implements to till the soil, that we must look for our future food supply.

For this reason the Central Tractor and Implement Co. located on Dunlap St., is one of the potent factors in the nation's food maintenance and prosperity. Mr. Charles R. Beatty is head of this enterprise and Mr. Wm. J. Ward is manager. This well known agricultural implement business has been in successful operation for many years and under Mr. Ward's able management it has gone forward constantly. Mr. Ward the animal and has proven highly gives his customers much valuable advice in aiding them to select their successful in trials so far. More exgives his customers much valuable advice in aiding them to select their implements required and this concern is known to be fair and honest in their every transaction.
