The "Watchman" will not be published next week. Adhering to an old-time custom of giving all employees a holiday at Christmas time no paper will be issued from this office.

NEWS ABOUT TOWN AND COUNTY.

A new Brunswick or Majestic Radio will bring plenty of Christmas cheer—Harter's Music Store, Bellefonte. 50-1t

Mrs. George Weaver, of Burrows street, who has been so seriously ill with intestinal flu, has so far recovered as to be able to receive visitors.

Christmas trees of all sizes are on exhibition in front of the court house, at prices ranging from 25c. to $1.50. The principal dealers are Joe Messmer, Syrus Shope and Wesley Spangler.

It is estimated that two million Christmas trees will be used in Pennsylvania this season. Growing Christmas trees on waste woodland might prove profitable. Douglas fir will develop to a desirable size in ten years.

"Dorice" Reed was placed under arrest and put to jail, last Friday evening, on the charge of furnishing liquor to Morris Rine then robbing him of a sum of money. Rine was also put in jail on a minor charge. Most of his money was recovered.

Cantata, Bellefonte Methodist church, December 21, 7:30. "Story of Bethlehem" presented in tableaux, chief character taken by a native Syrian, and twenty voices, directed by Mrs. John T. Taylor, of State College. Great production, impressively interpreted.

The Pennsylvania State College will close today, for the Christmas holidays, and will reopen at 8 o'clock Monday morning, January 5. Many of the 4191 students are leaving before the end of the week to take short time jobs during vacation. College administrative offices will be closed from Christmas day to Monday, December 29.

Jimmie Shillings, seven year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Shillings, of Howard street, won the lilliputian automobile given away in a guessing contest at the Chrysler garage, on Saturday evening. The secret number was 79297 while Jimmie guessed it to be 78889, or within 408 of the right number. Two other guesses were within a hundred of being as close as Jimmie's.

The Chemical Lime company has started work on the erection of two large concrete and steel bunkers for the storage of agricultural lime. Each bunker will be 80 feet high and 30 feet in diameter. They will have a capacity of over five thousand bushels and will enable the company to manufacture lime during the winter and store it against the large demand in the spring.

Chief of police A. E. Yougel, of State College, went to Charleroi, Wednesday of last week, and brought back to the College Victor F. Silvestra, a student from California, Pa., who was charged with passing a number of forged and worthless checks on State College merchants. At a hearing before a justice of the peace he admitted some of the charges and was held in $2000 bail for trial at court.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Rothrock have moved into their own home, on south Water street, the former Miss Ida Greene property, which has been so completely remodeled that it looks like a different place. The Mrs. Robert Cole house, on east Bishop street, vacated by the Rothrocks, has been occupied by Arthur Barracrough and family, while the house they vacated further east, on the same street, has been taken by a Nolan family.

After being thoroughly overhauled and remodeled the Reformed church, at Hubersburg, was rededicated on Sunday. The pastor, Rev. Harry Hartman, was assisted in the services by Revs. W. E. Yingling, of Howard, and Paul Keller, of Snyderstown. Music was furnished by a male quartette, of State College, and the Hubersburg High school orchestra. The expense of remodeling the church was $650, all of which has been met.

If every driver of an automobile who breaks the traffic laws in Bellefonte was arrested and fined the borough would soon accumulate a tidy sum therefrom. Most of the infractions take place at an hour when the drivers know the police are not on duty, from 6:30 to 7 o'clock in the morning, and consist of an utter disregard of the traffic signs at street intersections. At that time in the morning there is considerable traffic, men driving to their work, and three out of ten will cut the corners and not bother to go around the traffic signs. Quite a number such infractions also take place during the day.

MYSTERIOUS EXPLOSION KILLS MAN AT MILL HALL. Sheasly's Garage, Mill Hall, Wrecked and Harry Miller Killed When Empty Gas Tank Lets Go

About 5 o'clock last Thursday afternoon a 500 gallon gas tank exploded in a mysterious way in Sheasly Bros. garage at Mill Hall, killing Harry Miller, age 62, instantly and nearly demolishing the large concrete structure.

The garage stands on the highway just next to the American Legion park in that place and is owned by Samuel, Alvin and Walter Sheasly, formerly located at State College.

The tank that blew up so mysteriously was owned by the Valley Oil and Gas Co. and had not been in use for nearly a year because it had sprung a leak. After it had been removed from the ground it had been exposed to the air for a long time before it was decided to undertake to repair it. All the while the three three inch taps in it were open and it was known that there was no gas in it. Thursday it was loaded onto a truck, filled about three quarters full of water and Miller and Kyle Flanagan, employees of the Valley Co., hauled it to the garage. The regular welder at Sheasly's was away on a hunting trip and Klinefelter, another expert, was working in his place.

He got his torch ready and started to work. At the time Alvin and Walter Sheasly were working on a truck standing on the floor right beside the one that carried the gas tank. Sam Sheasly had just left the building to go to his home next door to attend to the fires. Kyle Flanagan was standing by the anvil in the shop and Miller was standing on the truck just back of its cab and at the end of the tank.

Almost the instant that Klinefelter touched the huge container with his torch it let go with terrific force and roar. The concussion was so great that it blew every window out of the large building, lifted the ceiling above the shop a foot or more and split nearly every studding in the partitions on the second floor. Flanagan was blown clear over the anvil and out through the door leading to another shop room.

When the smoke had cleared up a bit and the men recovered partially from the shock Miller was found on the floor breathing his last. Then it was noticed that the heavy steel braces holding the cab, against which Miller had been leaning, to the frame of the truck were broken off and the cab had been blown six inches forward on the chassis. Miller was on the floor of the garage, the whole lower portion of his body was a pulp and the flesh almost entirely shredded from the bones of his legs.

The two Sheaslys and Flanagan were not injured but Klinefelter was no where to be seen. A search for him was instituted at once. Finally he was found seated in another car in the garage in a fainting condition. He can't give an account as to how he got there. As the doors on the car were all closed tight the only possible explanation is that dazed by the explosion he got into the car, pulled the door shut after him and promptly fainted.

The real cause of the tragedy will probably never be known. One explanation is to the effect that such tanks, after long use as gasoline containers, become "charred," rough and porous on the inside. Gas permeates these pores and is never fully released, no matter how long the tank might stand empty and exposed to the air.

The whole thing is shrouded in mystery because the end of the tank opposite the one that had the crack on which Klinefelter had started to work let go first. And he had applied so little heat before it blew up that it seems almost impossible that sufficient gas to have caused such a terrific explosion could have been generated.

TYRONE BANK CLOSED LAST FRIDAY MORNING.

The Farmers and Merchants National bank, of Tyrone, closed its doors and suspended business, last Friday morning, a voluntary action taken by the board of directors to conserve the bank's resources and protect the depositors. A federal receiver has taken charge of the bank's affairs.

The last statement made to the comptroller of currency showed the bank's assets to be $791,689.31, and liabilities $550,104.07. Loans were listed at $325,683.04, and bonds, reserve and cash $160,315.30. The total deposits were given as $364,536.61.

The bank was organized in 1902 and in 1922 erected a costly bank building on Pennsylvania avenue. For several years thereafter the institution apparently prospered but for the past several years its business had been on the decline. Officials of the bank feel confident that with a conservative liquidation of its resources every depositor will be paid in full. The closing of the bank, however, will hit depositors who had their Christmas funds in the institution, and it is said there were quite a number of such.

VICTOR GRANGE WON THE STATE PLAY CONTEST.

Centre county will be represented in the State one-act play contest which will be held at the State show in Harrisburg, next month, by Victor Grange, of Boalsburg. The elimination contest was held in Progress Grange hall, at Centre Hall, on Monday evening of this week.

Three groups were entered in the contest. One group dropped out, which left the competition between the two Granges, Logan Grange, Pleasant Gap, and Victor Grange, Boalsburg. The plays were well presented by both groups; however, after careful consideration, the judges awarded the decision to Victor Grange. Frank Millward was the coach of the Logan Grange group and Mrs. R. S. Kirby, of State College, coached the Victor Grange group. The winning play was "Mother's Old Home." Following is a list of the characters and those taking the various parts:

- Characters: People Taking Parts. Jane Moody, Mrs. John Kimpert, Nora Scott, Margaret Dale, Mary Powell Whipple, Mrs. Kenneth Thomas, Sarah Powell, Priscilla Wasson, "Boot" Whipple, Eleanor Wasson, Mrs. Sally Probst, Mrs. Harry Musser, Jim Paige, Kenneth Thomas. The plays were judged by W. S. Jeffries, Miss Sarah Neff and L. R. Lenhart.

FORMER BELLEFONTE MAN FACES JAIL SENTENCE.

In a Philadelphia court, on Tuesday, Judge Fitzpatrick refused the motion for a new trial made by Alonzo E. Smith and Harry G. Fitzgerald, convicted last May of fraud in promoting a $200,000 "dream city" in the Florida swamps, and ordered the two men to appear in court on January 5th for sentence.

Fitzgerald was born and raised in Bellefonte and is a graduate of the local high school. Since leaving here he has lived in Cleveland, Ohio. Testimony at the trial of the two men alleged that they had sold lots in "Melbourne Manor," in Florida, showing maps bearing streets, palatial homes, clubs and golf courses. The "town" was a swamp, investigators discovered, and many investors lost their money in the swindle. Fitzgerald claims he was an innocent party to the transaction.

WHITEROCK OPERATING FULL KILN CAPACITY.

While many industries throughout the country are curtailing output and laying off employees the Whiterock Quarries put a few additional men to work, Monday morning, preliminary to firing their eighteenth kiln. Last year at this time they had only nine kilns in operation but now they have seventeen and will soon have eighteen, their entire battery. And the nice thing about it is that their orders for chemical and agricultural lime now on the books are sufficient to keep them busy until the first of next June.

Incidentally, what are we going to do about Wesley's Christmas? We will be glad to act as Santa Claus for those who might feel like contributing toward making Christmas a joyous day in a very drab life.

Miss Katherine Johnston, who is taking her last year at Westminster college, New Wilmington, Pa., will be home this week to spend the Holiday vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Johnston. Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Johnston, of Red Lion, will join the family after Christmas and go with Mr. and Mrs. Johnston and Katherine to New Castle, for a New Year's day visit with the Wayne D. Stitzinger family, from where Katherine will return to school.

Harry Lyon, of Howard street, dropped in for a little chat on Thursday evening and we learned that they are going to have their usual Christmas family dinner. A family dinner is ordinarily not an unusual event, but the Lyon family dinners are. When Harold and Lee and Guy and Mrs. Philip Connor and Mrs. Edgar Mallory, with their wives and husbands and children, all get together we want to tell you that in numbers that gathering makes a family dinner look like it was really a Sunday School picnic.

Miss Mary Cooney is anticipating spending Christmas with her sister, Miss Margaret, at Hewlett, L. I., intending to go over next week.

Miss Eulalia Williams will come over from Brooklyn to join her sister, Miss Helene, in celebrating Christmas at the latter's home, on east Curtin street.

While in Bellefonte doing some holiday shopping, last Thursday afternoon, Mrs. Fred Garner, of State College, found time to make a brief but pleasant call at the Watchman office.

Not expecting to entertain their customary family house party at Christmas time, Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Hoy will go to Lock Haven to be guests for the day of their son, Miles Hoy and his family.

Charles Labe, of Johnstown, was a recent visitor to Bellefonte, having come over for a day with his sister-in-law and niece, Mrs. Gilbert Boyer and Elizabeth Labe, at their home on east Bishop street.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Shuey and their daughter, Miss Rachel, will follow their Christmas custom of the past several years by going over to Kingston, Wednesday, to celebrate Christmas with the Donachy family.

J. Harris Hoy, of Chicago, arrived in Bellefonte, Tuesday, expecting to divide his vacation between his sisters here and friends in Wilmington and Baltimore. Mr. Hoy will be east until the beginning of the year.

Mrs. Joseph Allen, who has been here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Cunningham, for two weeks, was called to Bellefonte by the illness of her father. Mr. Cunningham's condition is now slowly improving.

The D. J. Kelly family, who have always come back home at this season of the year, will come up from Greer, W. Va., next week, to be Christmas house guests of William T. Kelly, at the Kelly home on east Bishop street.

Miss Mary Knapik and Miss Marie Heverly, who are taking their first year in the nurses training school of Mount St. Mary's hospital, at Niagara Falls, will come to Bellefonte next week to spend their ten day's vacation at home.

Dr. and Mrs. Fred R. Seidel will drive over from Hazleton to join Mrs. Seidel's brother, Willard Barnhart Jr. and his family, as guests for Christmas day, of Mrs. J. W. Barnhart and Miss Elizabeth, at their apartment on east High street.

Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Landsy will go to Harrisburg, today, to attend a meeting of hotel men and from there Mrs. Landsy will go on to her former home in Philadelphia to spend Christmas week with her family, expecting that Mr. Landsy will join her there later.

Mrs. Dobeblower and her small daughter, Eleanor, will come up from Philadelphia to join Mrs. Dobeblower's son John, for a holiday visit with the children's grandmother, Mrs. John Porter Lyon. John has been at school here and expects to spend the winter in Bellefonte.

Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Cantwell and their two children, Sally Marie and Patrick, will drive in from Akron, Ohio, next week to celebrate Christmas with the children's maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Mignot. Mrs. Cantwell bears her marriage, was Miss Margaret Mignot.

The Bruce Burlingames will drive here from Cazenovia, N. Y., either tomorrow or Sunday, with plans for spending the entire Holiday week in Bellefonte with Mrs. Burlingame's mother and aunt, Mrs. H. C. Valentine and Miss Mary Valentine, at their home on west Curtin street.

The Misses Louise Ryan, Christine Ramish, of Coleville, and Dorothy Lockard, of Lamar, are planning to include in their Christmas week sports program a hitch-hike to Altoona, Tuesday. Expecting it to take but a couple of hours going over, they anticipate having almost the entire day in Altoona.

For Christmas at the William Chambers home, on Curtin street, there will be Miss Mary Chambers, of New York city, and Mr. and Mrs. J. Spencer Clinger, with their four month old daughter, Mary Jane. The Clingers, now of Drexel Hill, recently moved there from Lansdowne. Mrs. Clinger was formerly Miss Martha Chambers.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Warner will go back to Wilmington, Tuesday, to join their home folks in their Christmas celebration and upon their return to Bellefonte will begin preparations at once for moving, the first of February, from the Hart apartments to the newly made apartment on the second floor of the Orvis house, on Curtin street.

At the Dr. John Sebring home there will be Mrs. Sebring's sister, Mrs. Wm. H. Mann, and Dr. and Mrs. Sebring's two daughters, Miss Henrietta, of Philadelphia, and Mrs. Thomas Derr, of Boston, the latter having been in Bellefonte for a week. As the time draws near for Christmas the party will be joined by Mr. Derr and George Gugert, of Philadelphia.

Col. and Mrs. W. F. Reynolds' family house party will include both of their sons and their two grand-children. Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Reynolds, with their daughter and son, Louise and Billy, will arrive, Sunday, from St. John's, Quebec, while Philip Reynolds will not come over from New York until next week. Mrs. Reynolds, who had been in Philadelphia under treatment, returned to Bellefonte Sunday.

Miss Margaret Brisbin, of Philadelphia, and Mrs. James A. McClain and her daughter, Emily Eliza, of Washington, D. C., will be among the Christmas guests whom Col. and Mrs. J. L. Spangler expect to entertain, Albert E. Blackburn, a grandson of Mrs. Spangler, who has been in England for two years doing graduate work at Oxford, and who will come over for a six week's vacation visit, is also expected at the Spanglers during the Holidays.

At the Shoemaker home, on west High street, Mrs. Shoemaker's two daughters, the Misses Ellen and Mary, will be the honor guests at Christmas time. The former will come from Devon, Tuesday, while Miss Mary is expected here from Washington today. Owing to the illness of Mrs. Shoemaker's grandson, Wallace Ebe Jr., who is a patient in the Children's hospital, in Pittsburgh, the Ebe family will not make their customary visit to Bellefonte during the Holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. Myron M. Cobb's guest of honor will be their son Warren, who will come over from Brooklyn for the Holiday week.

Miss May Taylor will leave tonight for Bridgeport, Conn., to be with her brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel S. Taylor, for her two weeks Christmas vacation.
