

UNIONVILLE.

Mrs. Anna Finch spent New Year's day at the home of her sister, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fletcher, of Howard.

The Grangers are having the city water piped into their hall this week, which will be quite a convenience.

Quite a number from here attended the group meeting and watch night service in the M. E. church at Milesburg.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Elway were in town, a few days ago, looking after their houses which are unoccupied now.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Holter, of Howard, were Sunday guests of his sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Eckenroth.

Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Eckenroth were guests at the home of her brother, D. A. Holter, of Howard, on New Year's day.

George and Helen Parsons returned, Saturday evening, from a pleasant visit with relatives and friends at Tyrone, Vandergrift and Saxonburg.

Mrs. Lorenzo McElwain entertained, on Sunday, her niece, Miss Martha Brugger and friend, Miss Elizabeth Herr, of Milesburg, in honor of Miss Brugger's birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kerchner and daughter Dorothy, and Martha Jane Williams spent the week-end at Jersey Shore with their relatives, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Smith.

Prof. and Mrs. Robt. Lannen, of West Chester, who spent their holiday vacation with relatives in Bellefonte, at Pennsylvania Furnace and Flemington returned to their home on Saturday, where the professor is an instructor in a school.

Don't forget the Ladies Aid society of the M. E. church will serve a chicken-corn soup supper in the Grange hall, tomorrow evening, first serving at 5 o'clock, price, 50 and 35c a plate, with lots of trimmings and pie for dessert.

Thank You, Professor Keller.

Often we fall into a "blue funk" and go grooping around in the mist of discouragement with the prospect ahead. On Sunday we were in such a mood and simply couldn't shake it off. Everywhere we looked for reassurance there appeared to come out of the past and the future a droning voice that sounded to us as if it were saying "Futility!" Indeed we were overwhelmed almost to the point of believing that all of efforts to make the Watchman worthwhile to its readers have been futile. When one looks back over forty years of earnest effort only to raise up doubt as to whether they have been wasted it is the zero hour in mental state.

That is exactly where we were on Sunday until we were told of "how much good" our "Christmas Sermon" had done some of our readers; until we opened a letter from far off California in which the writer spoke of having been so much impressed with it that he had a number of his employees read it.

Then we dropped in here and on the desk was the following:

New Brunswick, N. J., 1-2-31

Dear Mr. Meek:

Enclosed you will find a check for our subscription and with it our sincere wishes to you for a most happy and prosperous New Year.

We look forward to the coming of the Watchman, each week, and if I received as much pleasure and utility from all the money I spend as I receive from the $1.50 which goes to the Watchman each year I would indeed be a happy person.

Sincerely,
HENRY KELLER JR.

In Memory of Bess McCafferty.

In loving remembrance of cousin Bess McCafferty who died in Pittsburgh, December 19, 1930.

In memory's treasure house stored away I see two homes standing side by side on the top of a hill in Bellefonte. Honeysuckle vines grew about their doors wreathing the loved faces of those went in and out.

I see the winding path, edged with butter cups and daisies, that led off toward Armor's Gap where the old orchard, moss covered spring house and the purling streamlet that ran from it charmed the fancies of children of other days. All are gone now and new faces, new scenes would greet us were we to come back to the homes where cousin Bess and I spent our childhood.

Father, mother, sisters and brothers were gone and no one was left to stroke a tired brow, to cheer and comfort a lonely and loving heart.

"Come unto Me, all ye that are weary and heavy laden. I will give you rest"—rest for the body, rest for the soul.

May this kind, loving sympathetic woman have found eternal rest.

On going to the barn, last Friday morning, J. Foster Musser found twin calves that had arrived during the night. This is the fifth pair in his herd in four years.

The last butchering in this section was held on Tuesday, at the Hugh Dale home, on the Branch. Sixteen heavy porkers were killed, a number of them weighing 450 pounds and over, and oh, the big dinner that was served!

Losing control of his car, on Saturday, J. E. Walker crashed into a tree near State College and badly wrecked the machine. He was taken to the Centre County hospital where it was found that his injuries are not of a very serious nature.

The Baileyville Sunday school elected as new officers, last Sunday, E. J. Isenberg, superintendent; G. Mack Fry, assistant; Eugene Irvin, secretary; Mrs. Maude Fry, treasurer, and Charles Eyer, librarian.

Nine scholars who had a perfect attendance during the year were given gold star pins.

STUDENTS EARN FUNDS DOING HOUSEHOLD WORK

A working acquaintance with mops and dust cloths is a valuable asset to a young man who is seeking to earn spending money at the Pennsylvania State College, an analysis of the calls for student help received by the student Y. M. C. A. reveals.

More than half of the calls for help are household jobs, Harry W. Seamus, secretary of the Y, said. While some of these are such work as taking out ashes and shoveling snow, the majority specify washing woodwork and household work using a growing number of students.

Seamus pointed out that the number of jobs are too small to warrant the average State College student depending on work at the college for all of his expenses.

SILK AND WOOL HOSE
Some yard length Cretonnes, Cushion length 20c, regular 30c to 70c qualities. Silk and Wool Hose, surprising qualities at little money. Silk Stockings at about 1/2 many ask you. Let the kiddies spend the time with Tinker Toys. FONG. GARMAN'S
