If every Centre countian who went to Harrisburg, on Tuesday, to see Pinchot inaugurated Governor expects to benefit by the shaking of the Pike countian's plum tree, it will take a pretty good crop to go around.

The light snow-falls and rains we have been having have resulted in no appreciable change in the streams, wells and springs of this section. While cisterns gather a little water other sources are actually dwindling.

In the winter course in agriculture and dairy manufacturing at the Pennsylvania State College eighty-one students have enrolled. Twenty-five in dairy manufacturing and fifty-six in general agriculture. Only one of them is from Centre county and he is Adam K. Garner, of State College.

Mid-year graduation exercises for those students at the Pennsylvania State College who have done their four year's work in three and one-half years, will be held next Tuesday, January 20. Ninety one are in the class. William G. Walker, of Spring Mills, and Sarah P. Wentzel, of State College, are among them.

A recent change at the American Lime and Stone Co. was the advancement of Linn Fromm from storekeeper to assistant shipping foreman; George Porter Lyon, who was formerly car checker, was given Mr. Fromm's place as storekeeper. John Curtin Jr., who had been loading foreman, was made a salesman and will be stationed at Oil City.

At a special session of court, on Monday morning, Chester McCue, Huntingdon county, and Theodore Markal, Clearfield county, the two prisoners who escaped from Rockview penitentiary on Sunday, January 11th, were sentenced by Judge Fleming to an additional term of two to four years, to become effective at the expiration of their present sentence.

The Great Lakes Construction company, of Chicago, proved to be the lowest of twenty-four bidders for the erection of the new federal penitentiary, at Lewisburg, when the bids were opened in the Treasury Department, at Washington, on Monday. Its bid was $2,771,800. The highest bid submitted was one for $4,256,512. It is assumed that the contract will be awarded within ten days.

Roiand Spicer, who has been farming the Swartz farm up Buffalo Run, for ten years or more, is going to quit farming in the spring. He is not tired of it, nor has he any complaint to make about not being able to make it go at present prices for farm products. "Rollie" has been getting on all right, but he's all knocked out physically and just has to quit. Consequently he is going to sell out on March 18th and there's a sale you should keep in mind, for he has a big lot of stock and good implement equipment.

Our attention has been called to the fact that some people are throwing on the ash pile or giving to paper gatherers old Bibles and other books that might possibly contain memoranda that is or will be of historic value. Shortly an historic society for Bellefonte and Centre county will be organized. We have reason to believe that it will be well enough endowed to make it a permanent and very useful organization in both town and county. With that hope in mind we are suggesting that when cleaning out the attic and other places where old things have accumulated in your house, if you find anything that bears on birth records, or other events in your family, save them until this Society is formed. They might become very important fifty or one hundred years from now in establishing facts for your posterity. It must be remembered that prior to the institution of the record of vital statistics by the State, which was relatively only a few years ago, no permanent record was kept other than what might have been in your family Bible or on some paper easily lost. For a while at least, hold onto anything of interest or records of the past in Centre county.

TWO YOUTHFUL HOBOES A REFRIGERATOR CAR AND KINDLY PEOPLE

BY JOHN M. FLEMING

Cervantes roamed the sunlit roads of Spain, Goldsmith played a flute for bread, Jim Tully has immortalized the open road and "Frankie" Ziem and "Jimmy" Hackett have learned that home is the best place after all.

Just a week ago, last Wednesday, "Frankie" and "Jimmy," aged fourteen and sixteen respectively, wandered to the railroad yards of their native city, Hillside, New Jersey. They watched with envious eyes the long freights pulling away for distant parts and the thrill of adventure crept into their young, romantic minds. Previous warnings by parents and teachers were swept to the four winds by the glamor and glory of a journey into that great beyond where the railroad trains went, and without further consideration for home and mother they climbed a freight and embarked on a career into an unknown world.

This being the initial journey of the would-be hoboes and not being at all familiar with the mode of transportation they had chosen, "Father Fate" dealt harshly with them. "Jimmy" and "Frankie" found themselves on a refrigerator car and having only an ice compartment or exposure to the elements to choose between as a resting place, they decided on the lesser of the two evils and crawled into the top of the car where the ice is stored. The ride was undoubtedly very cold but neither the rays of a tropical sun nor the freezing temperatures of a refrigerator car can abate the ardor of romantic youth, and only after the train had stopped in Altoona did the lads emerge from the polar climate in which they had made their debut in the wide, wide world.

It was twelve-thirty the next morning when the slow freight arrived in Altoona. The youthful vagabonds had been almost sixteen hours in their air-cooled state-room. It was dark and they were in a strange city. The hours from the time of their arrival till the break of dawn were spent on the top of the car, and with the dawn came another desire, even stronger than the desire for adventure; a desire to go home.

In the pocket of Hackett's well worn sweater reposed a twenty-five cent piece. The entire purchasing power of "Jimmy" and "Frankie" was wrapped up in this one piece of silver. Even the stoutest of hearts would flinch at the thought of being three-hundred miles from home and friends with only a quarter but the firm of Hackett and Ziem, explorers in the fields of fame and fortune, was not dismayed. They calmly purchased two bars of chocolate and a package of cigarettes, the cost entirely consuming the finances of the duo.

By the grace of some kind hearted motorist they arrived in Bellefonte about noon Thursday. Perhaps the thrill of an automobile ride and the fascination for the wonders of a motor vehicle that only boys of their ages can possess, the "Jersey Kids" decided that they would motor home in a car of their own. Not having the necessary funds with which to purchase an automobile the only alternative was a theft. The car of Miss Beulah Fortney, of Pine Grove Mills, parked near the Court house attracted the eyes of the two boys and they concluded to make away with it. With the realization that neither knew how to operate the machine they were temporarily stopped, but youth knows no barriers and Frank and James came to the conclusion that it would be the best kind of fun to learn to drive on the way to Hillside; so they boarded the car and attempted to start the motor. Before they succeeded in making a get-away Fire Chief John Bower intercepted them and the motor patrol took them in custody. They were only too ready to tell the whole story and First Sergeant Bear, of Troop C, immediately sent a teletype message to Newark. An answer was received which indicated that the boys were not "wanted" in that State but were merely missing from home and the father of the Ziem boy would come and take them back. In the spirit of mercy tempered with justice, and considering the tender age of the youths the arm of the law in Centre county did not enter a prosecution against the two sheep who had strayed from the fold.

Even a highway patrolman has a heart, (believe it or not) and most of them are quite large, so the would-be knights of the Pennsylvania Motor Patrol at their barracks in the residence of Mrs. W. C. Coxe, on East Bishop street. A bath was in order, administered by Sergeant Bear, Corporal Moriarity, and Private Holmes, clean clothes were provided by the patrolmen and food in mountainous quantities was served to the hungry lads without charge by Mrs. Coxe. Nothing was overlooked for the comfort and pleasure of the guests and she and "John Law" enjoyed playing host to the fullest degree. Sergeant Bear, in repeating the story, remarked, "you should have seen those boys eat."

Saturday morning at two o'clock Mr. Frank Ziem, father of the younger prodigal, arrived in Bellefonte and called at Sheriff Dunlap's hotel on the hill only to be informed that the boys were not registered there but could be found at the patrol barracks. Mr. Ziem was cordially greeted by Mr. Coxe who rather than allow him to begin the tiresome journey back to New Jersey immediately gave him a bed and the next morning he departed for home with the two runaways, "Frankie" and "Jimmy."

Quite an experience for youths of such tender years? Yes, but what can we gain from a knowledge of something of this nature. Well, home is perhaps the best place in the world but its the last place we want to be 'til we're so far away that we can't walk back. I venture to guess it will be a long time before "the Jersey Kids" will take another ride in an ice compartment, but it always takes the stern reality of experience to prove to ourselves just how well off we are, safe in the harbor of home. And again, we see that all the world is not cruel and harsh and even though we step off the beaten path, someone will give us a bath and a meal and start us off home again. "Frankie" and "Jimmy" have gone back home better citizens, and happy; knowing that the uniform of a policeman doesn't always signify that there isn't a great big heart beating beneath the coat.

JUST A GLAD HELLO Say, pal, did you ever stop to think When you're at your play or working, That often times in the heart of a friend A sorrow may be lurking, And a cherry smile and a glad "Hello" May help him on his way And then, perhaps, when you are blue, He'll pay you back some day.

UPBRAIDED BY MOTHER GIRL COMMITS SUICIDE.

Upbraided by her mother for her conduct with a young man Clara S. Wilkins, better known as Bessie Coble, shot and killed herself, at noon on Monday, at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Coble, at Oak Hall. According to reports the girl had been a source of worry to her parents for some time.

Shortly after eleven o'clock Monday morning Mrs. Coble had a heart to heart talk with her daughter. At it's conclusion the girl ran upstairs, got a bottle of liquor of some kind from her trunk and returning down stairs locked herself in a lower floor room. At 12:20 o'clock members of the family, who were in the kitchen, heard a shot, and when Mr. Coble forced the locked door he was confronted with his daughter lying on the bed, her clothing on fire and a revolver tightly clasped in her right hand. An empty bottle was found on the floor by the side of the bed. Mr. Coble quickly extinguished the girl's clothing. She was still conscious but soon lapsed into unconsciousness and died at 1:15. The revolver with which she killed herself is alleged to have been one she had taken from a Potters Mills man several weeks previous. When taken from her hand it contained one empty shell and a loaded cartridge.

When the young man who Mrs. Coble upbraided her daughter about heard of the suicide he went to the Coble home and begged for the gun, declaring he would kill himself, but of course the gun was not given him. Coroner W. R. Heaton was notified of the suicide and after holding an inquest the jury returned a verdict of suicide. In addition to her parents the girl is survived by two brothers and two sisters. Burial was made at Boalsburg on Wednesday.

ELMER BREON FIRST MAN IN FIELD FOR SHERIFF.

Elmer Breon, of Bellefonte, is the first Democrat out in the open as a candidate for Sheriff. His announcement will be found in another column of this paper. Mr. Breon, a carpenter by trade, was a candidate for the nomination four years ago but lost out and is going to try it again this year.

Last week the Watchman, in giving a possible lineup of contingent candidates, mentioned the name of Sinie H. Hoy, but we did not mention the fact that Mr. Hoy is now the efficient deputy under sheriff H. E. Dunlap.

PURSE SNATCHER BOBS BELLEFONTE WOMAN.

Shortly after eight o'clock, on Tuesday evening, as Mrs. Paul Eberhart was on her way to the American Legion card party, she met a young man on Howard street, along the G. Murray Andrews property, who grabbed her handbag and made a getaway before she had a chance to get a good look at him. The bag cost $9.00 and contained only a small amount of money in change.

Philip Benner, a young man who works for Cohen & Co., claims he was held up, last Saturday evening, at the corner of Allegheny and Logan streets, by a masked man who demanded his pocketbook at the point of a gun. Benner asserts that he gave the man his pocketbook who, after taking out the money, $10.00 gave the pocketbook back.

ANNUAL MEETING OF BELLEFONTE TRUST CO.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Bellefonte Trust company was held on Tuesday, at 11 o'clock. More stockholders were present at this meeting than at any previous time. The old board of directors was re-elected, and are as follows: J. L. Spangler, J. T. Henry, N. E. Robb, C. Y. Wagner, D. M. Kline, J. L. Seibert, W. J. Emerick, L. H. McMullen, F. L. Wetzler. The board of directors organized by re-electing the following officers: J. L. Spangler, president; C. Y. Wagner, vice president; N. E. Robb, secretary-treasurer and trust officer; Earl S. Orr, assistant secretary-treasurer; Helen R. Williams, assistant treasurer and assistant trust officer.

The report of the auditors, Ivan Walker, Homer P. Barnes and C. Y. Wagner, who were elected by the board of directors to audit the accounts for the year ending December 31, 1930, was presented to the stockholders. The report was explained in detail by Ivan Walker and showed a very healthy growth for the year, taking into consideration the present business conditions. The capital structure in part now stands:

Capital $300,000.00 Surplus and Undivided Profits $198,577.89 Resources $1,452,894.67

The Trust company has no bills payable, no overdrafts and is in the best financial liquid condition that it ever has been, Mr. Robb said.

Another asset of very great importance is the number of wills, life insurance trust agreements and life insurance partnership trust agreements, totalling more than two millions of dollars, in its files for future settlements. There are, no doubt, many other such trusts that have not been placed in its hands for safekeeping which would be an additional asset to the institution. The trust department shows a very substantial, healthy growth, which is evidence of the confidence placed in it by its customers.

After the stockholders meeting a banquet was served at the Brock-erhoff house, and there were 113 stockholders and guests present. The speaker of the day was John W. Chalfant, an attorney and also vice president in charge of the trust department of the Colonial Trust company, Pittsburgh. His subject was "Trusts," which is a very voluminous, broad subject. The music was furnished by Mrs. Louis S. Chad, Mrs. Russell Blair and Paul Crust, who gave a very delightful program of instrumental, classical music. Many pleasing comments were made and the musicians are to be highly complimented. M. A. Landsy, proprietor of the Brock-erhoff house, furnished a delicious turkey dinner and all that goes with it.

LAWRENCE TIBBETT IN "NEW MOON" AT CATHAUM.

Music lovers in particular, and theatre-goers in general, have a treat in store for them on Monday and Tuesday of next week when "New Moon," Lawrence Tibbett's superb new picture, will be the attraction at the Cathaum theatre, State College. Many still remember with keen delight Mr. Tibbett's marvelous singing in "The Rogue Song" last Spring, and for them "New Moon" promises even more glorious entertainment.

"New Moon" is now in its second month at the Astor theatre, New York city, at $2.00 prices but there will be no advance in admission for the Cathaum showing. Supporting Mr. Tibbett is the beautiful Grace Moore, Metropolitan opera star; the debonaire Adolphe Menjou who says volumes with a shrug of his shoulders; Roland Young, stage celebrity, and others.

Daily matinee at the Cathaum will start at 1:30, with a complete program being shown from 3:00 o'clock on. Evenings open at 6:00.

FORMER JUDGE DALE GETS LUCRATIVE APPOINTMENT.

One of the last appointments made by Governor Pinchot on the eve of his induction into office was that of former Judge Arthur C. Dale, of Bellefonte, as chairman of the workman's compensation board. A belief was prevalent among Mr. Dale's friends that he would be given a cabinet appointment but Mr. Pinchot evidently had too many debts to pay with such honors. While the appointment given Mr. Dale has not the dignity nor quite the salary of a cabinet position it is one of the most worth-while of the secondary appointments at the disposal of the Governor. The compensation board is the leading division under the head of the Department of Labor and Industry, and the salary of the chairman is $8,000 a year, or $750 a month. Whether Judge Dale will move his family to Harrisburg or continue to make his home in Bellefonte is not known at this writing.

Mr. Dale will succeed Paul W. Houck, who had been connected with the compensation board for twenty-one years.

A note from "Bert" is to the effect that they are very comfortably located and that on the 13th temperature there was 73 degrees, with a gentle rain fall-ing.

—Miss Anna Muffly, of Howard, was in Bellefonte shopping, on Wednesday, and it was with regret that we learned from her that her mother, Mrs. C. M. Muffly had a very serious accident on Friday of last week. She slipped on some ice on a back step of their home and fell with such force as to suffer distressing shock and bruises. No bones were broken, however.

—Miss Kathleen Seibert R. N., of Chambersburg, who has frequently visited in Bellefonte, as a guest of Mrs. John A. Woodcock, has been made community nurse of her home town. Miss Seibert was formerly a supervisor of Columbia hospital, at Wilkinsburg, superintendent of the Homestead hospital and a supervisor of the West Penn hospital, at Pittsburgh, but tiring of institutional work, resigned and returned to Cham-bersburg two years ago.

—Dr. George L. Hays, prominently known surgeon of the staff of the Mercy hospital, Pittsburgh, made one of his very rare visits to Bellefonte Monday afternoon, but only on the rail-road platform on his way back home from a business trip east. Bellefonte had reason to be proud of its claim on Dr. Hays, who left here to locate in Pittsburgh after his graduation from medical school; his work since then having given him a place among the lead-ing men of both medicine and surgery of that city.

—Mrs. Charles Cuneo of Genova, Italy, was a recent visitor of Mrs. Louis Carpeneto and her family, stopping here enroute to New York, from where she sailed January 14, on the steamer Conte Grande, to return to Italy. Mrs. Cuneo had been in the States since October looking after her husband's business in-terests in the vicinity of Pittsburgh, and had intended going home for Christmas, but was compelled to prolong her stay. It will be remembered that Mr. Cuneo and the late Louis Carpeneto were in business together, about thirty years ago, in the room now occupied by the Western Union, in the Brockerhoff house block.

—John E. Griffin, of Tyrone, was a Watchman office caller, Saturday after-noon, while on a business trip to Belle-fonte. We might add that Mr. Griffin seemed very well pleased with himself and the world in general, a condition ascribed to the fact that he has just retired from the clothing business after being a member of the firm of Griffin Bros. since 1901, and now he won't have anything to do but have a good time among his friends and talk Democratic politics; that is if he has not strayed from the doctrine of his revered father, the late J. Hille Griffin, of Stormstown, who half a century ago was one of the party's war horses in Centre county.

TEST CASE TO BE MADE ON FIREMEN'S COMPENSATION.

A test case will probably be made in the Centre county courts on the question of compensation insurance for volunteer firemen, based on the claim of Mrs. Bertha Foster, widow of the late Philip D. Foster, for the death of her husband on March 21st, 1930, while on his way to a fire at State College. It will be recalled that Mr. Foster, apparently in good health when he left his home, suffered a heart attack while at his work at the fire and died within a few minutes. Mr. Foster at the time was chief marshal of the State College fire department and his duties required his attendance at the fire.

State College borough carries compensation for its firemen, as required by law, and Mrs. Foster, in due time put in a claim for compensation. As per schedule of allow-ances her claim was for $300 funeral expenses and a $3000 death compensation. The referee of this district allowed the claim but the insurance company carrying the com-pensation appealed from the decision of the referee and in due course of time the case was argued before the compensation board. Last week Paul W. Houck, chairman of the board, handed down a decision af-firming the award of the referee.

Now, it is understood, the com-pany carrying the insurance has decided to appeal from the board's decision and ask for a court trial. As the case is from Centre county it will naturally come up for trial in court here. Interest attaches to the case because it is the first of the kind to occur in Pennsylvania and this will be a test case. The result of the case will be of interest to all volunteer firemen in the State.

CENTRAL PENNA. MILK GOING TO NEW YORK CITY.

That Central Pennsylvania eventu-ally will provide a large percent-age of the milk consumed by New York city, was the opinion expressed by Professor W. D. Swope, of the Pennsylvania State College, ad-dressing several hundred Sheffield Farms milk producers at a meeting held Monday night in the court house at Bellefonte.

Milk from this part of Pennsylva-nia has been shipped to New York city only within the past five years, according to Professor Swope, but in that time milk shipments have grown until now more than 300,000 quarts daily are being sent to the metropolitan area. This milk comes from over 5000 farms, and requires the operation of 47 plants.

The necessity of extreme care in the handling of milk for New York city was emphasized by Professor Swope in his talk. "No other city," he said, "has more stringent regula-tions governing the quality of milk. For this reason it is necessary that the farmer should take every pre-caution in milk production. Milk must be given every bit as much care by the farmer as it receives when it passes to the New York milk companies.

"Cows," he pointed out, "must be kept clean in clean surroundings. All utensils must be sterilized fre-quently, and be designed so they protect the milk that comes in con-tact with them. Milk at all times should be kept below 50 degrees Fahrenheit."

Harrington—Derstine.—A wedding of interest to Bellefonte people was that of Maynard G. Harrington and Miss Mary Elizabeth Derstine, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Derstine, both of Ambridge, Pa., the wedding having taken place at Sharon, on Thursday, January 15th. The officiating minister was Rev. H. E. Phipps. "Betty," as she is better known in Bellefonte, has been a frequent visitor here with her grandmother, Mrs. William Derstine, and has always been quite popular among the younger set of the town.

Mr. Harrington is a U. of P. graduate and a member of the Alpha Sigma Phi fraternity. He is now associated with his father in the management of the largest book store in Ambridge. The young couple will live with the bride-groom's parents until spring when they will go to housekeeping.

—Miss Josie Decker expects to have her Ladies Shop, on Spring street, open and ready for business in a week or ten days.
