

NEWS ABOUT TOWN AND COUNTY.

—The regular monthly meeting of the board of directors of the Centre County Motor Club will be held at the Hotel Brockerhoff, Bellefonte, this Friday, February 6, at 6:15 p. m.

—The public schools of Centre county this week received their annual semi-yearly appropriation, a total of $99,854, which is about $3000 less than the amount received one year ago.

—The first semester at the Pennsylvania State College ended on Saturday last and the students of the institution had time off until yesterday, Feb. 5, when the second semester began.

—On Monday President Hoover transmitted to Congress a message asking appropriations for public buildings throughout the country, and included in the list was $125,000 for a public building in Bellefonte.

—Officials and employees of the West Penn Power company in the Bellefonte-State College district will celebrate Washington's birthday with a supper party in the P. O. S. of A. hall Monday evening, February 23rd. In the neighborhood of one hundred have already signified their intention of being present.

—Members of the Bellefonte chapter D. A. R. will give a card party at The Talleyrand tomorrow afternoon to which the public is invited. Price will be one dollar, the receipts to go toward the maintenance of the D. A. R. room in the Centre County hospital, as well as pay for the service at The Talleyrand.

—Adeibert L. Christian, of Julian, and Mrs. Ellen Watson, of Nanty-Glo, were married in Ebensburg, early last week, by Rev. H. J. Bangartel. Mrs. Watson had 24 children to her first husband, George W. Watson, who died in 1928, eleven of whom are living. Mr. and Mrs. Christian will live at Julian.

—On April 1st Mrs. Hannah Beck Kelley will move from the Musser property on Logan street into the Blair property on north Spring, now occupied by Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Cassidy. It is reported that she will take the Taylor house adjoining, also, in order to have ample room for her boarders and lodgers.

—Henry Johnson, of Grass Flat, the young man who started a number of costly fires in Phillipsburg so that his girl friend could see him in action in his uniform, was recently judged insane by a lunacy commission and on the authority of Judge Fleming was committed to the Fairview asylum for criminal insane at Honesdale, Pa.

—Bellefonte firemen responded to two chimneys fire alarms, last Saturday, one at the Edward Witmer home on Reynolds avenue, and the other at the Walter Cohen property, on east Lamb street. No damage was done at either place. On Tuesday they were again called out to Reynolds avenue by a fire at the Earl Teaman home.

—"Abraham Lincoln" will be the showing at the Richelieu theatre next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. Every historical character appearing in this mammoth screen romance of Lincoln's life bears a striking resemblance to the original. More than one hundred and twelve of the best known character actors on the stage and screen appear in the picture.

—Raymond H. Smith, comptroller of the Pennsylvania State College, and very well known in Bellefonte, has been granted a six-month leave of absence by the board of trustees which he plans to spend in rest and travel. The leave takes effect this week. Mr. Smith, who is a graduate of the college, class of 1905, has been actively connected with the institution in an executive position since 1911 when he returned as alumni secretary and graduate manager of athletics. He has served as comptroller since 1918.

—Ambrose N. Diehl, who for ten years has been chairman of the board of athletic control at the Pennsylvania State College, has resigned the position and Col. J. H. M. Andrews, of Philadelphia, has been elected to succeed him. Mr. Diehl was made vice-president of the United States Steel Corp. last fall and his added duties in that office have made his engagements too onerous to continue on the athletic board at State. It looks very much as though 'Amby' is headed for the presidency of the great steel corporation.

—The Warner-American News, for January, contains quite an article on the visit of the twelve foremen at the Bellefonte plants to the Warner industries at Philadelphia and Wilmington, Del., the article being embellished with a group picture of the men taken while on the trip. Under the head of salvaging rotary kiln blocks the News also publishes a picture of the late J. Fall Stover dressing the blocks for use in the shaft kilns at plant No. 20, and in addition a picture of George Berg salvaging elevator chain equipment.

AGED BELLEFONTE MAN BURNED TO DEATH.

J. Fall Stover, well known stone mason, of Bellefonte, was burned to death in an outside toilet, at his home on Bishop street, early Sunday morning, and no one knew of his tragic fate until firemen started to pull the debris apart to make sure the fire was out and discovered his badly charred remains.

It was just 4:20 o'clock, Sunday morning, when a number of persons living in that section discovered the fire. An alarm was promptly sounded and the Undine fire company was on the ground inside of five minutes. The building was originally a double toilet, half of it being on the Harvey Miller property and half on the Stover property. Of late years the building had been used mostly as a storage house. Before the firemen reached the Stover home men first on the scene had carried out some tools from the Miller side of the building which was the last to catch fire, but no one had ventured near the Stover side, which was enveloped in flames. When the firemen arrived the entire building was a seething mass. As the building was small it burned down in less than ten minutes.

When the fire was apparently out fire chief George Carpeneto sent all the firemen back to the house as it was a cold morning, except a detail of four, which he kept with him to make sure there were no lurking sparks which might be fanned into a blaze. With a drag hook chief Carpeneto started to tear the ruins apart and it was only then that the charred remains of Mr. Stover were uncovered. How he came to be in the building, and how the fire started, will never be known.

He had just recovered from an attack of the shingles which had kept him hosed up since about the middle of November, and on Saturday talked of going to work on Monday. It had been his habit for years to get up about four o'clock, and it is quite possible he did so on Sunday morning and went out to the building on the hunt of his tools. He may have struck a match and accidentally set fire to stuff stored in the building and in an effort to extinguish the flames was overcome before he could make his escape.

An inquest was held on Monday morning but with the meagre facts at hand the jury could only return a verdict that Mr. Stover was burned to death in a fire which destroyed an outbuilding at his own home.

He was a son of John William and Elizabeth Stover and was born at Callensville, Clarion county, on August 2nd, 1853, hence was in his seventy-eighth year. When a boy his parents moved to Unionville and it was there he learned his trade as a stone mason. Forty-eight years ago he went to work for the American Lime and Stone company and continued in their employ ever since. He was a member of the Methodist church and the Bellefonte camp P. O. S. of A.

On February 5th, 1874, he married Miss Anna Stover, at Unionville, and the first few years of their married life were spent at that place. Thirty-eight years ago they moved to Bellefonte and this had been his home ever since. Mrs. Stover has been dead for a number of years but surviving him are two daughters and four sons, Miss Nora Stover, at home; Mrs. Daniel O'Leary, of Bellefonte; Curtin and John Stover, of Akron, Ohio; Cameron, of Butler, and L. Scott, of Bellefonte. He also leaves two brothers, William and Henry Stover, both of Butler.

Funeral services were held in the Methodist church at two o'clock on Tuesday afternoon, by Rev. Horace Lincoln Jacobs, burial being made in the Oak Ridge cemetery, near Unionville.

CLEVELAND SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA AT STATE.

The Cleveland Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of Nikola Sokoloff, will appear in concert at State College next Wednesday evening, Feb. 11.

Among the great orchestras of America, this organization stands alone in its record of playing with ever increasing popularity and success for audiences of all kinds, all over the country. The insistent demand for its services has created a surprising situation in the fact that the Cleveland orchestra actually appears as often in other cities as it does in its own home. Its annual concerts in New York have become significant features of the metropolitan season and are generally distinguished by the novel interest of their program, as well as the high quality of performance.

Tickets for the concert are $1.50 and may be reserved by calling the treasurer's office, 110 Old Main, State College.

—The annual mid-winter dinner dance and general get together of the Centre County Association of Philadelphia will be held next Saturday, February 14th, at 7 o'clock p. m., at the Bellevue-Stratford hotel, Philadelphia. Many invitations have been sent out but as all members cannot be reached the committee in charge hopes that any who may be overlooked will come forward voluntarily and encourage others to do so. The dinner will be $2.50 per plate.

TIMELY WARNING ABOUT INFLUENZA.

The first week of January, 88 populous cities reported 780 deaths from influenza and pneumonia. The same cities reported 810 deaths the corresponding week of 1930.

Because influenza this year is of a mild type which has not often caused pneumonia, the health men are not greatly concerned. Nonetheless, Surgeon General Hugh Smith Cumming, of the U. S. public health service, saw fit to advise the public last week on how to guard themselves. His gist: "Go home and go to bed—call the doctor—remain in bed; eat a simple diet; take plenty of fluids such as water, fruit juices, milk, bouillon and hot soups at frequent intervals—Do not take any so-called cure. There is no specific cure."

Additional information about "flu" by Dr. Harvey Kellogg, Battle Creek, will be found in the health column on another page.

GAS PLANT GROUNDS TO BE ARTISTICALLY BEAUTIFIED.

The extensive grounds surrounding the plant of the Central Pennsylvania Gas Company, at Axe Mann, are to be artistically beautified according to plans prepared by Albert W. Grove, landscape artist, who will supervise the work. Mr. Grove is a son of Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Grove, a graduate of State College who spent six months in Europe studying landscape gardening.

As a dominant feature in the design Mr. Grove has planned a series of three pictures which passing motorists will view in succession as they move along the adjoining State highway. Consideration has also been given to the aspect of the picture at night. A large gas mantle encased in glass will illuminate the facades of two buildings and will bring out interesting silhouettes of trees and shrubs planted in its vicinity.

Frank L. Murphy, general manager, who is putting forth every effort to put the company on a dividend-paying basis, does not intend to have the entire plan put in execution at once, but will do it by degrees so as to spread out the burden of cost over a period of several years.

HOW PINCHOT ROAD PLANS WILL AFFECT CENTRE CO.

Centre county road supervisors are already beginning to figure on how they and their townships will benefit by Governor Pinchot's rural road plan; wondering just who will be pulled out of the mud.

The Watchman has it on very reliable authority that Centre county's quota of township roads to be improved will be between 200 and 250 miles, or about 25 per cent of the total mileage in the county. The Governor is not in favor of improving small sections of roadway, but long stretches where it will be of advantage to most people.

There are twenty-five townships in Centre county and 250 miles would mean an average of 10 miles to a township. But it is hardly likely that the allotment will be made on an equal basis. The proper thing to do would be for the supervisors to get together and select the roads that will be of most advantage to the entire community, and thus settle on a definite plan to present to the Governor when the time arrives to make application for the county's allotment.

MISS IRENE BEWLEY TELLS OF MOUNTAIN LIFE

The Woman's Club gave an entertainment, last Thursday evening, in the Presbyterian chapel, at which Miss Irene Bewley furnished a charming program. Miss Bewley comes from the low hills of the Tennessee mountains. She gave monologues, composed by herself and own life from a girl, born in a log cabin, to student days in a school of dramatics in Boston.

The sketches showed how the mountain people looked upon the "foreigners," as they called outsiders. In one scene a New York woman of fashion was entertaining home friends at tea and telling them of the contemplated visit of her husband to those dangerous Tennessee mountains, while the second scene depicted an old woman of the Unaka mountains, smoking her corn-cob pipe and bewailing the fact of her son's visit to New York city, where danger lurked for him at every corner.

EARLY SPRING CHANGES

Newell E. Long and family, consisting of his wife and two daughters, arrived in Bellefonte, last Friday, and are occupying the apartment in the Sim Baum building recently vacated by Mrs. C. E. Robb. Mr. Long entered upon his duties, on Monday, as assistant to president Charles M. McCurdy, at the First National bank.

George Kelley and family have moved from the Harry Kelley home, on Linn street, into the flat in Petrikin hall recently vacated by Dr. Brumbaugh.

Pinge, the barber, contemplates moving his barber shop from the Richelieu building into a room in that portion of the Centre Democrat building now occupied by the "Blue Bird" tea room.

LOCAL COAL DEALERS WANT PROTECTION.

Coal dealers in Bellefonte who maintain yards and a fleet of trucks for prompt delivery have appealed to borough council for protection against non-residents hauling coal into town by truck and peddling it around from house to house to the detriment of their own business, according to a report made to borough council, on Monday evening, by president John S. Walker.

The dealers claim that the independent haulers do not pay taxes here, have no expensive overhead and consequently dispose of their coal at a price apparently lower than that of the regular dealers; but as they sell by the load and charge for a certain number of tons the consumer has no positive assurance as to how much coal he is getting, as it is never weighed in Bellefonte before delivery. President Walker suggested the advisability of passing an ordinance covering the matter. Mr. Jodon suggested that if such an ordinance be passed it should also include the peddling of groceries in the town as well as everything else. The matter was held under consideration until the next meeting.

When council convened burgess John J. Bower reported a fire hydrant, on Bishop street, as being out of service on Sunday morning when firemen wanted to use it. Water commissioner Seibert reported that it had been repaired on Monday.

The Street committee reported that it had been repaired on Monday. The committee reported that the collection of $1686 on water taxes and $10.05 for rent. Mr. Cobb, chairman of the committee, reported that it was about time to order the 12-inch pipe for the Lamb street connection from the Gamble mill to Allegheny street, and he offered the suggestion that an application be made to the Water and Power Resources Board for permission to lay the pipe under the bed of Spring creek. President Walker expressed the belief that it would not be necessary to get a permit if the pipe is put under the bed of the stream.

Several members of council, however, expressed the belief that it would be best to apply for a permit and the matter was left in the hands of the Water committee to make the application. The Finance committee presented the report of the borough treasurer which showed a balance in the water fund of $4027.18 and $816.88 in the borough fund. Two borough notes for $1000 each and a water department note for $1500 were authorized for renewal.

The Fire and Police committee reported three alarms for chimney fires since the last meeting of council and the burning of an outbuilding at the J. Fall Stover home, on Bishop street, Sunday morning, in which Mr. Stover lost his life.

The Sanitary committee presented the monthly report of Dr. S. M. Nisley, health officer and milk inspector.

Mr. Badger, of the Street committee, presented the request of funeral director F. L. Wetzel that the borough pay him for burying James Parks, a borough employee who dropped dead on the street in January, 1930. This brought up the question of compensation for the Parks family and secretary Kelly stated that papers had been made out and sent in to the State Workmen's Insurance Fund but he had never had any reply. The matter was referred to the Street committee to find out definitely whether compensation can be obtained, at least sufficient to cover funeral expenses.

Borough bills totaling $1641.53 and water bills $463.74 were approved for payment, after which council adjourned.

BREXER GROUNDHOG SAW HIS SHADOW MONDAY.

There is no doubt about the groundhog seeing his shadow on Monday and now all those who believe in signs, superstition and hallucinations will be in readiness to hug the stove for six weeks to come. As for us, we have reached that point in life when we fall to be impressed by the groundhog. The almanac tells us that winter is only half over, therefore we are due for six weeks of it yet, whether the groundhog saw his shadow or whether he didn't. And as the first half of winter has not been at all bad, according to the laws of compensation, it is only reasonable to expect that the last half will give us some real winter. In any event it might be well to anticipate it, then if it don't come we will have an agreeable surprise. So that's that with the groundhog.

The albino trout seen in Spring creek, last week, was one of a consignment of six which burgess Hard P. Harris secured from the fish hatchery and placed in the spring. The trout escaped through the overflow but was recaptured and put back into the spring.

—Our old friend Michael Lamb got out of a sick bed on Tuesday and trudged away down here from his home out on north Allegheny St. merely to pay his subscription. We use the word merely to express our approximation of the immediate importance of the $1.50 involved. Michael looked at it from another angle, however. It meant the forty-eighth annual trip to this office for the same purpose. And he is hoping he can stick around long enough to make these annual pilgrimages fifty in number. We hope he can too; not for the $3 that it would mean to this office, but because Michael is one of the old friends for whom we have always had a peculiar liking and they are dropping out all too fast.

—We met the Hon. John T. McCormick, of State College, on the street here Monday morning. As he approached we just looked and marveled. There came a man supple of movement, the glow of health in his cheeks and the seat of life shining through the smile that broke when we greeted him. When we recalled that he was 82 on January 23 we envied the gentleman the spirit that has been vouchsafed him to carry his years so gracefully. Last Friday his good wife, his sons and daughters had another of those annual birthday dinners for him and from what we hear of them they're prodigious affairs—in the east, especially. After a sitting at that kind many a young fellow would be hunting dyspepsia tablets for days. Not so, the Hon. John T. He enjoys them and suffers not a bit in consequence.
