East-bound passenger train on the Bald Eagle Valley railroad, at 9:20 o'clock last Thursday morning, hit a mule, which had wandered onto the track at Snow Shoe intersection and killed it. The animal belonged to E. Blair Fisher.

Forstalling Valentine day Mrs. S. M. Nissley gave a bridge luncheon, last Friday afternoon, at her home on north Spring street, at which four tables were in play. The prize winners were Mrs. Charles Mensch and Mrs. W. Harrison Walker.

James E. Williams suggested an interesting news item that we call attention to the fact that there has been enough of rain this week to muddy the water in Spring creek, and we might add, the first time since the middle of last trout fishing season.

Yesterday was the 82nd birthday anniversary of W. I. Gilliland, of State College, and Wednesday Mrs. Gilliland was 75 years old, and in celebrating the double event the couple were guests at a dinner given in their honor by their daughter, Mrs. Frank Shillings, of east Howard street, on Sunday.

The many friends of Ed Beizer will be sorry to learn that he is in a Phillipsburg hospital with his right hip in a plaster-cast and likely to stay there for weeks. While helping to push a motor car out of an ice coated gutter he slipped and, in falling, broke or injured the hip bone.

Toner A. Hugg, deputy revenue collector for this district, will be at the Moshannon bank building in Phillipsburg on the 24th. At the court house in Bellefonte on the 25, 26 and 27th. At his office in Milesburg on the 28th. These special sittings will be to render assistance to any who might need it in making out their income tax reports.

In spite of the stormy weather the baby clinic, held last week in the W. C. T. U. room, in Petrikin hall, was well attended. The workers felt much encouraged by the number of women who appeared with their small children on the opening day. Each week these free clinics will be held on Friday, at 3 p. m., in the W. C. T. U. room. It is hoped that all who are interested will take their babies, up to three years of age, for examination.

The annual football dance of the Bellefonte Academy will be held at Hecla park on Friday evening, February 27th. It will be a semi-formal affair, $3.00 per couple, and the public is invited. Refreshments can be obtained at the Nittany Country club. As there have been very few social gatherings this winter this dance will afford the people of Bellefonte an opportunity to enjoy an evening's pleasure and relaxation. Dancing from 9 to 2 o'clock. Good music is assured.

Sterling Ruhl, who had been in charge of the A. & P. store, in the McClain block, ever since it was started, was transferred to the management of a combination meat and grocery store, in Lock Haven, going there on Monday morning. He will move his family to that place just as soon as he can secure a house. Roy Wadding, who had been in charge of the green goods department in the store in the Brockerhoff house building, has succeeded Mr. Ruhl in the management of the down town store.

The State College school board has awarded the contracts for the new school building at that place. The general contract went to Frank Yenter, of Tyrone, at his bid of $79,400. Trout and Trauchinbaugh, of Altoona, were awarded the contract for heating and ventilating at $15,486. William Seckinger, of State College, will do the plumbing for $9,730.04, and Carl Eisenhuth, State College, the electrical work for $5,433.14. The total of the bids is $109,999.19, or just 81 cents short of the bond issue of $110,000.

HORTON S. RAY FOUND DEAD IN HOME FRIDAY.

Took Own Life by Shooting Himself in Head.

Horton S. Ray, a resident of Bellefonte for twenty-eight years and former landlord of the Brockerhoff house, committed suicide, on Friday morning, by shooting himself in the head. His body was found lying on the floor of his own room, at his home on east Linn street, at 12:15 o'clock by his daughter, Miss Elizabeth, when she returned home for lunch from the Cadillac garage where she is employed in the office. A physician, who was hastily summoned, stated that Mr. Ray had been dead for from two to three hours.

When found he was lying on his back in front of a dresser, and was clad only in his night clothing. His bathrobe was on the bed. The revolver was found on the floor beneath his right side. It was an old Smith & Wesson, 32 calibre, contained one exploded cartridge and three loaded ones.

Mr. Ray had not been in good health for some years and this, coupled with the fact that he recently lost his job with the State Highway Department, is believed to have resulted in the despondency which caused him to take his own life. That morning he was the first one to get awake and called his children. He then appeared about as usual. But he did not go down for breakfast. When his room was searched for a note or letter a copy of The New Yorker magazine was found on his dresser. It was open at an article about furniture, which he had probably been reading. Judging from the position of the body he had stood before the mirror in the dresser when he fired the fatal shot.

He was a son of Frank D. and Sarah A. Petty Ray and was born at Syracuse, N. Y., on December 23, 1874, hence was 56 years, 1 month and 21 days old. When a boy his parents moved to Chicago and after a few years there went to Seattle, Wash. Most of his schooling was received at the latter place, he having graduated at the Seattle High school. The family later returned from Seattle to Chicago and for some time he was employed on the Daily News of that city in the "want ad" department. It was while employed there that he became acquainted with George Ade and others of his contemporary writers.

From Chicago the family moved to Port Huron, Mich., where they remained about a year then came to Pennsylvania and located in Altoona, the elder Ray taking charge of the Altamont hotel.

In April, 1902, Mr. Ray came to Bellefonte to manage the Brockerhoff house, and a year later leased the hotel. He remained there until October, 1920, when he quit on account of his failing health. Since that he clerked at various hotels in Pennsylvania and New York and had worked at anything he could get to do, his last position being in the Bellefonte office of the Highway Department.

Though not a college graduate few men were as well versed in the general topics of the day, as well as ancient and modern history as Mr. Ray, all acquired through an insatiable thirst for reading.

Twenty-six years ago he married Miss Grace Armor, who passed away on November 26th, 1926, but surviving him are five children, Miss Sarah, in Philadelphia; Philip, a student at State College; Miss Elizabeth at home; George, on the school ship Saratoga, and Edward, at home. He also leaves one brother, Frederick D. Ray, of Brooklyn.

Funeral services were held at his late home on east Linn street, at 11 o'clock on Monday morning, by Rev. Stuart F. Gast, burial being made in the Union cemetery.

STEVE MATTIS KILLED AT NORWALK, CONN.

A report received here, late on Monday, stated that Steve Mattis had been killed at Norwalk, Conn., by being hit by a truck while walking on the State highway. The first information was somewhat mixed up in transmission and it was not until an attorney in Norwalk called up members of the Mattis family by long-distance telephone that it was definitely established that the dead man was Mr. Mattis. John Mattis, the eldest son, left on Tuesday morning for Norwalk and will bring the body here for burial.

The Mattis family lives on the Gray farm, in Buffalo Run valley, but because he was unable to get any work in this section Steve had gone to Connecticut where he had been employed for some time. On Saturday evening he and a companion were walking on the highway when both were run down and injured by a heavy truck. Mattis died on the way to a hospital. Identification was made through papers found in his pockets.

The dead man leaves a widow, three sons and four daughters. He will be remembered by Bellefonte people as the man who lived out on Verona hill, in the house where the Samuel Shultz tragedy took place a few weeks ago. At that time he owned a team of Mexican burros and was a familiar sight almost every day as he drove them along the streets of Bellefonte.

WHERE WOULD WE LOCATE NEW PUBLIC BUILDING.

Since Congressman J. Mitchell Chase made the declaration that work on the new public building in Bellefonte, for which an allotment of $125,000 has been made, will likely be started early in 1932, there has been considerable speculation as to just where an available location can be found. Naturally business men in the uptown section are desirous of having the new building as near that section as possible, while on the other hand the government may insist on a location as near the railroad as possible.

Among the various suggestions heard on the street is that the Y. M. C. A. property be offered as a site for the postoffice, and if accepted, that the Hastings home be purchased as a location for the Y. M. C. A.

Another suggestion is Harry A. Rossman's Chrysler garage property, on the corner of Allegheny and Howard streets, but this would not be large enough without acquiring the Hibler property next door.

John Gross is willing to give his property, on Spring street, but whether this will be large enough is a question.

Outside of the present location of the postoffice the above are about all the available sites in the uptown section that might be even speculated upon.

And down town about the only available site on the main street is the Meek estate property, if the heirs would be willing to dispose of it. This property is larger than any of the suggested up-town locations and has the advantage of being near the railroad. Another advantage would be ample parking space in the rear for the cars of rural carriers as well as a driveway for delivery of and loading of mails.

LANDLORD LANDSY TO LEAVE THE BROCKERHOFF HOUSE.

On March 31st landlord M. A. Lansdy will retire from the management of the Brockerhoff house and thereafter devote all his time to looking after his own hotel, The Markland. He took charge of the Brockerhoff in May, 1921, reopening it after it had been closed for eight months, following the retirement of the late H. S. Ray. Under his management the hotel was greatly improved and won a good patronage.

Some years ago he purchased the Bush homestead, on Spring street, and has converted it into a modern and up-to-date hotel, one of the best to be found anywhere in the State. Looking after it in conjunction with the Brockerhoff is too much of a physical burden, so he has decided to quit the Brockerhoff at the expiration of his lease, which is March 31st.

Up to this time there is no information as to who will succeed him at the Brockerhoff, although it is understood that the owners have had negotiations with several parties.

MISS BEWLEY PLEASED WITH BELLEFONTE VISIT.

Miss Bewley has come and gone. Those privileged to hear her in her most delightful entertainment of the Kentucky Hill people, on January 29th, will be pleased to know of her appreciation of the attendance and courtesies paid her while here.

In a letter to Miss Hill she says: "In my report to Mrs. Waite (her representative) I paid personal nomination for the best all round audience of the week (tho not the largest) Bellefonte."

The consensus of opinion is that Miss Bewley was an artistic, intelligent success, and that if she should return to Bellefonte a large audience would be assured. It goes without saying that Miss Bewley is worthy of the elaborate praise accorded her by the many who have seen and heard her.

ORGAN RECITAL TO BE HELD IN PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.

Every Saturday evening at ten o'clock, from station WCAU the University of Pennsylvania organ recitals are broadcast, and residents of Bellefonte will be interested to know that the one who gives these programs, Morrison C. Boyd, acting head of the department of music at the University, has consented to give an organ recital in the Bellefonte Presbyterian church Friday evening, February 27th, at 8 o'clock. Every person who enjoys fine music is invited to avail themselves of this opportunity. An offering for missions will be taken.

Mr. Boyd is not an utter stranger in Bellefonte. His mother was a cousin of the late Mrs. Lavinia Harris and with her son had visited here on various occasions. He is the holder of more than one degree from Oxford College, England, having gone to Oxford after being awarded the Rhodes Fellowship.

OFFICIAL DOG CATCHER IS WORKING IN COUNTY.

Officer Isenberg, from Harrisburg, started to canvass Centre county for unlicensed dogs on Tuesday. If you own a dog and have not yet gotten a license for it you had better do so before Isenberg locates your animal, for then the costs might be $10.00 or more.

MAN BREAKS ARM ON ICE ASKS BOROUGHS TO PAY.

Council Does Not Assume Responsibility for Accident.

In a written communication Frank Gehret, through his attorney, S. D. Gettig, notified borough council, at the regular session on Monday evening, that on January 20th he slipped and fell on the ice at the intersection of an alley and south Allegheny street, and broke his arm so that he has been unable to work since; and because of the alleged fact that the borough was negligent in permitting water to accumulate at that point and freeze into ice, he asks for compensating damages; expressing the hope, however, that the case can be settled amicably without going to court.

Both Harry Badger and E. E. Ardery stated that they had made an investigation of the scene of the accident shortly after it happened and failed to see any way in which the borough was negligent or accountable. At the point in question there are three concrete steps leading from the pavement down to the alley. Gehret fell when he stepped from the last step onto the ice covered alley, and the ice was merely the natural accumulation there and not the result of dereliction on the part of borough officials. Gehret's demand was referred to the Street committee.

Secretary Kelly presented the executed release of the McDermott heirs for ground taken in the opening of Burnside street.

In the matter of compensation for policeman Thomas Howley for injuries sustained in the attempted arrest of John Steele, last summer, Mr. Jodon reported that papers had been forwarded and a favorable reply was expected most any day. Papers have also been executed in the claim of John Anderson, alleged to have been injured at the same time.

The Street committee reported opening a clogged sewer on Linn street, near the Lutheran church, stating that the present six inch terra cotta sewer is too small and ought to be replaced with an eight inch iron pipe. The committee also stated that Mr. Long, of Norristown, will be here this week to consult with the Street committee and County Commissioners relative to plans for rebuilding the Lamb street bridge.

The Water committee reported repairs to the fire hydrant and a leaking water pipe, on Bishop street, had been made. Also the collection of $400 on water rentals and $109.18 for scrap sold and garage rents. Mr. Cobb stated that M. J. Barrick, of Williamsport, district representative of the State Board of Health, had been in Bellefonte and had agreed to recommend to officials in Harrisburg that a permit be granted for laying the proposed 12-inch water line on Lamb street under the bed of the creek.

The Finance committee reported a balance in the borough fund of $2416.84 and in the water fund $5217.23. A water note for $1500 due this week was ordered paid.

The Fire and Police committee reported repairs completed at the Undine fire house and practically completed at the lockup.

Mr. Ardery, of the Special committee, reported that street commissioner Hurley had cleaned out Spring creek from the High street bridge to Lamb street, but a week later paper and refuse could be seen clinging to stones and along the banks of the stream and he advocated putting up signs forbidding the throwing of any refuse into the stream under penalty of a fine. Secretary Kelly stated that there is an ordinance covering the offense.

President Walker appointed Mr. Cobb and Mr. Ardery to represent council at the convention of the Association of Boroughs held in Harrisburg Tuesday and Wednesday.

Fire marshal John J. Bower stated to council that the automatic fire alarm at the Undine fire house is not in good shape because of the worn-out condition of the wiring and suggested that new wires be strung from a point near Hazel & Co's store to the fire house. The matter was referred to the Fire and Police committee.

Mr. Nighthart reported that the Undines had placed a small siren whistle on the outside of the Bellefonte Hardware company's building which is sounded when there is a fire for the purpose of notifying all traffic to look out for the fire company. The whistle is being tried out as an experiment and if it proves a success in giving the firemen an open right of way will be permanently connected with the fire house.

Borough bills amounting to $904 and water bills $971 were approved for payment after which council adjourned.

The MacManus property with all the furnishings of the house, which includes some of the rarest antiques in Central Pennsylvania, will be offered at public sale, on Friday, March 27. Special mention is given to a pair of Heppelwhite inlaid mahogany tables, solid brass andirons, mahogany sideboard, mahogany square piano, two mahogany bureaus and numberless other pieces which will appeal to the collector of antiques.
