

WORLD-FAMED BANJOIST COMING TO ACADEMY.

Alfred A. Farland, said to be one of the world's greatest banjoists, who has made twelve continental tours, will give one of his marvelous entertainments in the Academy auditorium, at nine o'clock Tuesday morning, April 14th. Any friends of the Academy who may desire to enjoy this musical treat will be welcome. The admission price will be fifty cents.

This great opportunity to hear a banjoist of such note is due to the fact that over forty years ago Frank Morrow, a skilled banjoist and teacher, living in Tyrone, was secured by Mr. James R. Hughes to entertain at one of the Academy shows. He thrilled his audience. In recent years he has been the booking agent for Mr. Farland. His old association with Mr. Hughes led him to arrange for the appearance of Mr. Farland in Bellefonte.

Mr. Farland's press notices from all over the country would fill a large volume, and they are all of a very flattering character.

On Sunday morning, shortly after the women in the A. H. Sloop home turned on the gas in their range there was a loud explosion in the oven which badly wrecked the stove. The only explanation that could be assigned for the explosion was a leaky connection in the oven. A new range was installed on Monday.

A small home at Smulton, in which Charles Snyder kept bachelor headquarters, was burned to the ground, last Thursday, and on Friday a two-room bungalow, at Valley View, occupied by Wesley Rider, was burned with practically all its furnishings.
