

NEWS ABOUT TOWN AND COUNTY.

J. O. Brewer has taken another year's lease on the M. J. Thomas coal yard, on Lamb street.

April 1, moving day, was cheerless, cold and wet. A light snow covered the ground early in the morning.

Saturday's rain filled up most of the streams in Centre county but so far has failed to revive many springs that became dry during the fall and winter.

The regular monthly meeting of the board of directors of the Centre County Motor Club will be held at the hotel Phillips, in Philipsburg, this evening at 6:15.

A card party will be given in the parish house of St. John's Episcopal church, in this place, on Thursday evening, April 9, at 8 o'clock. Refreshments and prizes. Tickets 50cts.

The State Senatorial reapportionment proposed under the 1930 census would make no change in the Thirty-fourth District, which would continue to be made up of Centre and Clearfield counties.

John "Pappy" Steele, of Pine street, claims to have been held up by two men, Saturday night, out in the vicinity of Wagner's mill, and robbed of five dollars. Police have no trace of the alleged robbers.

State policemen, on Monday, raided the home of John Kriskovsky, at Clarence, found a ten gallon still in full operation, five gallons of moonshine, thirty quarts of home brew and a barrel of grain mash. The still and wet goods were confiscated and the owner held in $1000 bail for court.

Wilson I. Fleming was 74 years old last Friday and in celebration of the event Mrs. Fred B. Healy gave a dinner in his honor at which Dr. and Mrs. S. M. Nissley were the only out-of-the-family guests. Mr. Fleming's friends also remembered him with a post card shower to the number of one hundred or more.

Charged with breaking, entering and larceny from a mine house of S. Rusnak & Sons, near One Mile Run, George Harris, 18 years old, and Carl Harris, 16, confessed to the theft and were held for court by Squire J. E. Hoffman, of Philipsburg. George Harris, father of the boys, was also arrested for receiving stolen goods. Failing to secure bail they were brought to jail on Friday.

In her first appearance on the floor of the Y. M. C. A., gymnasium, last Thursday evening, Miss Mary Gaukin sustained a compound fracture of the left arm when she crashed into the brick wall of the gymnasium while chasing a volley ball. The large bone in the arm was broken just below the elbow and the small bones above the wrist. The latter protruded through the flesh. The accident happened five minutes after she went on the floor.

The girls' glee club of Geneva College will sing in the Presbyterian chapel, in this place, Monday evening, April 6. The concert is sponsored by the Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y clubs of Bellefonte and it is hoped a large audience will greet the singers. There are twenty-eight young ladies in the club and advance reports are to the effect that they have perfected a very excellent singing ensemble. There are vocal, violin and piano solos, with a short play to give variety to the program. The admission is 50 cts.

The Anderson Construction company is making the dirt fly on their job of increasing the capacity of the P. R. R. classification yard in Bellefonte. A crew of workmen, with a large steam shovel, is engaged in tearing off the point of the mountain just beyond the old Peter Kane home where the longest spur of the new side tracks will join the main track. The stone and earth removed from the mountain will be used to make fills in low points in the new yard.

Pennsylvania department commander Charles I. Engard, of the American Legion, has recently appointed Eugene H. Lederer, Burgess of State College, as a member of the department membership committee. This is encouraging to the Legionnaires of Centre county, for it means giving recognition by the state commander to this section of the Commonwealth and will put the activities of the department in closer touch with the various posts of the county.

On Saturday Harman Devine was arrested at Centre Hall on a warrant issued in November 1929, charging him with desertion and non-support of his wife and two children. According to the warrant Devine deserted his family in 1927 and has been living in Washington, D. C., where he has been on the police force. A warrant for his arrest was issued late in 1929 but he has never been within the jurisdiction of this court until last week when he unthinkingly made a trip to Centre county to see his family, who live at Centre Hall. Learning of his presence there deputy sheriff Sinie H. Hoy went over the mountain and served the warrant. Devine gave bail for his appearance at court.

INTERESTING HEARING IN DOE SHOOTING CASE.

The illegal killing of a doe deer, early last dear hunting season, resulted in an interesting hearing before justice of the peace S. Kline Woodring, last Thursday morning. The prosecution was brought by game protector Miles Reeder, of Union county, on the alleged finding of the carcass of a doe at the camp of Louis Moff and Mike Bonella, two Northumberland county hunters, in Penn township, Centre county. The alleged carcass was found on the second day of the hunting season and the hearing was originally set for February 20th. It was continued until February 27th and then to March 26th.

Quite a number of witnesses were in evidence at the hearing, while the defendants were represented by Judge Mosier and another attorney, of Northumberland, and former Judge James C. Furst, of Bellefonte. One of the principal witnesses for the Commonwealth was James Catherman, a Union county farmer who, it is alleged, had been arrested several times in Union county for the illegal killing of deer, given a fine in each case but never paid anything but the costs. He claimed that the doe was killed by himself by the use of a spotlight while he and Moff were together in the latter's car. He told how, after killing, they had covered the deer up with underbrush then drove to his home in Union county. On the way back to the Moff camp, he alleged, they picked up the doe, took it into camp at night, skinned it and took the carcass to the cellar through a trap door.

Four men who were in camp at the time testified that they did not see any deer brought in that night, or any time previous. As there was no evidence connecting Bonella with the killing the prosecution against him was dropped.

After hearing all the evidence Squire Woodring imposed a fine of $100 and costs on Moff and his attorneys promptly gave notice that the case would be appealed to court and gave bond for five days while the appeal is being prepared.

An information against Catherman, the man who gave the most damaging evidence against Moff, is also pending in Squire Keichline's office but so far he has not been officially arrested or a date set for a hearing.

PENN STATE STUDENTS HURT IN AUTO CRASH.

Three State College students were injured in an auto crash, in Tyrone, at 12:20 o'clock Sunday morning. They were Pauline Young, 19 years old, of York, Pa., a severe laceration of the scalp, body bruises and shock, who was taken to the Altoona hospital for treatment.

William Harschnall, driver of the car, who escaped with slight injuries. Edward Staff, of State College, who was able to leave the hospital, Sunday morning, after his injuries were given attention.

Harschnall failed to make the turn at Lincoln avenue and Fifteenth street, a dead-end thoroughfare, and drove through a fence, the machine overturning in a vacant lot. People living in that neighborhood heard the crash and went to the rescue of the injured students.

DEER CAUSES AUTO WRECK

About 4:30 o'clock, Sunday morning, Mr. and Mrs. S. Warrington, their six year old daughter, Prudence, their son John and Mrs. Warrington's sister, Miss E. Hewer, all of Toronto, Canada, were on their way down Bald Eagle enroute to Jacksonville, Florida. This side of Bald Eagle a deer jumped out into the road in front of the car. To avoid hitting the animal Mr. Warrington turned sharply to one side and the car crashed into a telephone pole. Passing motorists took the wreck victims to a Tyrone physician who found that the only one seriously hurt was the little girl, Prudence Warrington, who had a severe laceration of the scalp with a possible fracture of the skull. She was removed to the Altoona hospital. The rest of the party went to Altoona to remain until the condition of the child can be determined.

TOKIN-ANTI-TOKIN FREE FOR ALL CHILDREN

Because today is Good Friday the usual baby clinic will not be held. The next one will be on April 10, at 3 p. m. in Petrikin hall, Bellefonte.

At that time Miss Keichline will be present to get the names of preschool age children who should be given toxin-anti-toxin as a preventive against diphtheria. The serum is furnished free by the State and will be administered by Dr. Hoffman on three successive Fridays beginning April 17 at 3 p. m.

It is urged that as many preschool children as possible be registered for serum injections so that the persons in charge may know how much serum to order. George Harshbarger was arrested at Port Matilda, last Friday, on complaint of his wife that he paid more attention to his stepdaughter, a fifteen year old girl, than he did to her. At a hearing before a justice of the peace he was held in $1200 bail for trial at court, which he furnished.

VERY FEW TROUT IN THE MOUNTAIN STREAMS.

When the trout fishing season opens twelve days hence, don't go to the mountain streams with any expectation of making a record catch, because the trout are not there. The unusually severe drouth of last summer and the winter season literally dried up the majority of the mountain streams, and the trout that did not exercise enough sagacity to swim down stream into deeper waters are now no more. They furnished food for the fish hawks, raccoons and other fish-loving birds and animals.

Speaking of the conditions of the mountain streams Howard E. Holzworth, of Unionville, said, on Monday, that he had gone out on an inspection trip on Wallace run just to see what the conditions are. This run used to be one of the best streams in the county for mountain trout and was never known to go dry. When he made his trip, Mr. Holzworth said, he walked the bed of the stream most of the way. It was not only dry but so hard that in many places big cracks were found in the ground. He came across a few pools of water, deepest places in the stream where the water had not all dried up, and in some of them he saw a few trout, less than a dozen in any pool. In the mud at the edge of the pool were raccoon and bird tracks and he felt sure that most of the trout that had been in the pools had been captured and eaten. Other mountain streams visited by Mr. Holzworth were similar to Wallace run.

Of course such a condition did not prevail in Spring Creek or Logan's Branch, near Bellefonte, Sinking creek or Penn's creek in the lower end of Penna valley or Fishing creek, in Clinton county, but the water was low in all these streams and the trout naturally fell an easy prey to birds and animals.

THREE RECENT RAINS HAVE HELPED A LOT

In these days when there is such general concern as to the time when our exhausted sources of water supply will be restored to normal condition it is interesting to take account of how little we really do know about the matter of precipitation.

Take last Saturday's rain, for instance. It rained practically all day. Sometimes merely a drizzle at others quite hard. While it did a wonderful lot of good the casual observer probably thought it amounted to far more than it actually did.

The U. S. Weather Bureau here reports that from 8 o'clock Saturday morning until 8 o'clock the same evening 32-100 of an inch of water fell. That was the greatest precipitation we have had in any twelve hour record this year, except on January 5, when 36-100 of an inch was recorded.

The rain of January 5, however, was not as beneficial as that of last Saturday. While more water fell it ran away, because the ground was so frozen that it could not permeate it.

We observe the results of the two rains through their reaction on Spring Creek that flows by this office.

The Jan. 6 rain raised the creek fully six inches, but held it there for less than thirty-six hours, when it fell back to about the same flow it had had before the rain.

Last Sunday morning Spring Creek was up about four inches as a result of Saturday's rain. By Monday morning it had fallen two inches, but has remained at that point up to the time of this writing—Tuesday evening. In other words, Saturday's rain was a gentle fall on ground that was open enough to take it in and store it for gradual drainage to springs and streams.

Wednesday's rain was the best thus far this year. From 8 o'clock Wednesday morning until 8 o'clock yesterday morning the local U. S. Weather Bureau reports that 1 and 5-100 inches of water fell. Spring creek raised about 4 inches and is cloudy for the first time in months.

IMPROVEMENTS IN VIEW AT BROCKERHOFF HOUSE.

A force of carpenters started work, yesterday morning, on making a number of improvements at the Brockerhoff house, which was vacated by landlord M. A. Landsy, on Tuesday, who in the future will devote all his time and energy to looking after his own hotel, The Markland.

The office and lobby at the Brockerhoff will be slightly enlarged by tearing out the stairway leading to the second floor and building a new stairway in the rear of the lobby. The front of the office will be changed, also. The old front will be torn out and instead of two doors, double doors will be placed in the centre with a window on each side. A marquee will also be erected over the entrance.

The kitchen will be remodeled and a number of changes made in several of the rooms on the second floor. So far no new landlord has been secured to take charge of the hotel, though several are holding the matter under consideration.

John P. Eckel will open a new meat market, in the room in the Bush Arcade formerly occupied by Twitmore's tin shop, today.

STATE OPPOSED TO NEW BRIDGE ON LAMB STREET.

Bellefonte borough council is certainly "between the devil and the deep sea" with no open channel in sight. Lamb street bridge has been condemned as unsafe for heavy traffic and, according to the Harrisburg Telegraph of last Friday the State Water and Power Resources Board opposes the erection of a new one. Then, in addition, it is alleged, the State Highway Department has come to the front and served notice that no bridge can be built there without first consulting highway officials. Just why the highway people must be consulted is a puzzling question. The bridge is not on any highway route, even present or prospective, and the State has not been asked or volunteered to extend any financial aid, and what business they have to meddle in a strictly borough-county affair is inexplicable to those who are going to foot the bills. To the average man it looks very much like the assumption of an authority unwarranted by any act of the Legislature and can be accounted for only by a desire to centralize all powers in Harrisburg.

As to the opposition of the Water and Power Resources Board that might be accounted for by the fact that the plans for the new bridge provide for three 36.4 foot spans which would necessitate the erection of two new abutments within the confines of the stream. Also that the girders are to be 28 inches deep and with a concrete floor or roadway of 8 to 9 inches in thickness it would be necessary to lower the present end abutments two feet or more, which would naturally give a much less water clearance than the present structure. This is one thing that will have to be threshed out at the regular meeting of borough council next Monday evening.

Another will be the laying of the water pipe up Lamb street, or to be more correct across Spring creek so as to go up Lamb street. The Water committee holds an official permit from the State Board of Health, signed and sealed by Dr. Theodore B. Appel, granting permission to lay the pipe through, or under the bed of, Spring creek. But after it was received along comes a notice from M. J. Barrick, in charge of the district office in Williamsport, saying not to lay the pipe in the creek until the exact location and termination of the proposed sanitary sewer down Spring creek is determined upon. And that lets the water committee up in the air.

PHILIPSBURG THEATRE TO RE-OPEN NEXT WEEK

The Rowland theatre at Philipsburg will be re-opened next Monday, April 6, under the management of the Philipsburg Amusement Co.

The Rowland is the fine theatre that the late Congressman Charles Rowland built some years ago as a contribution to the entertainment facilities of the town he was so proud to call home. It is a magnificent play-house, quite an unusual one for a town the size of Philipsburg.

When it is opened to the public next Monday evening a surprise will greet everyone who is there. The interior has been completely done over. Decorations, scenery, seating arrangements and ventilation system all changed with the aim of adding charm and comfort to its patrons. Really the interior is gorgeous in effect and all of the embellishments have been designed with special regard to their effect on the new R. C. A. sound equipment that has been installed.

Padded walls and carpets were built specially for the purpose of making the acoustics of the theatre as nearly perfect as possible. The new lighting system is designed so that a perfect picture may be seen from any seat without the possibility of tiring the eyes.

The opening attraction will be El Brendel's latest comedy hit, "Mr. Lemon of Orange." There will also be several short subjects and a few surprise features. There will be three complete showings on Monday and Tuesday, 6:30, 8:00 and 9:30.

It will be the aim of the new management to bring to Philipsburg only the highest class of entertainment and no cost will be spared in the effort to carry out this program. In line with the plan and to give it the proper setting of dignity all attaches of the theatre will be uniformed.

Henry Johnson, of Winburne, who some time ago plead guilty to starting a number of fires in Philipsburg which resulted in the destruction of much property, was taken to the Farview asylum, in Wayne county, on Monday, by deputy sheriff Sinie H. Hoy. Johnson had been sentenced a month or more ago by Judge Fleming but could not be delivered to Farview at the time because the asylum was filled to capacity. On Saturday the sheriff was notified that Johnson could now be taken care of and no time was lost in delivering him.

The county commissioners have installed new equipment in the men's toilet in the front part of the court house, and also put a window in the toilet as well as one in the women's toilet. This will not only furnish light but also ventilation, something that both toilets have always lacked.

ASSOCIATED CHARITIES CLOSE HEADQUARTERS

At a meeting of the executive committee of the Associated Charities of Bellefonte, held last Thursday evening, it was decided to close the headquarters room in Petrikin hall. The room was closed yesterday.

While the calls on the Charities have slackened very materially emergency cases are anticipated and should be reported to Mrs. M. S. Brouse or Miss Louise Carpeno, who will carry on for the Charities indefinitely.

It is due those associated with the work to say that the service rendered the community has been notable in its effectiveness. Not for many years has there been such need for such organized effort in helping worthy cases. Consequently the work has imposed a considerable burden upon those who have had it in charge.

Through this consolidation of the various organized charity movements of the community and the intelligent direction of the work by one central organization over-lapping has been eliminated, all cases investigated as to real merit and considerable help extended to those who might otherwise have received nothing.

All in all the results have been so wholly satisfactory as to suggest the desirability of a permanent central organization that might act as a clearing house for all of the community charity work.

At a meeting of the Philipsburg Kiwanis club, last Thursday, tentative plans were made for an interclub meeting of the clubs of Philipsburg, Tyrone, State College and Bellefonte, to be held in Bellefonte on May 4th in the interest of the underprivileged child movement.

A class of twenty were taken into membership in the Lutheran church, on Sunday, by Rev. C. E. Arnold. Three of the number were adults while seventeen were by confirmation, fourteen of the latter being all the members of Miss Geraldine Bilger's Sunday school class.
