

NEWS ABOUT TOWN AND COUNTY.

—While walking in her home, Mrs. Samuel Cori, of Ferguson township, fell and fractured her hip. She was brought to the Centre County hospital for treatment. Mrs. Cori is 85 years old.

—While working for the Shoemaker Bros. at State College, last Saturday, Arthur Gearhart had his right arm so badly crushed under a heavy drain tile that the member was amputated at the Centre County hospital, the same afternoon.

—Yesterday Judge Fleming handed down an opinion refusing a new trial to C. A. Krape, of Spring Mills, convicted of arson at the last term of court. Krape is ordered to appear in court on May 14 for sentence.

—David Jerome Kelly is the name of a little son who arrived in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank M. Kelly, at Greer, W. Va., on April 6th. As the baby weighed but 7 3/4 pounds he will have to grow some before he will be able to knock a chip off the shoulder of grandpa David J. Kelly.

—Snow flakes flying, on Monday, recalled the fact that on April 27th and 28th, three years ago, we had a twenty inch snowfall in Centre county which blocked the roads and railroads, demolished telephone and electric power lines and practically isolated the county from the rest of the world for four days.

—V. S. Shuey is the official dog teacher in State College. Last week he caught a little yellow dog running at large in violation of a borough ordinance. With the dog in tow he appeared before Burgess E. H. Lederer. "One dollar and costs," said the Burgess. Shuey paid the fine and departed. The dog was his own.

—Pittsburgh papers, last week, announced that the marriage of Miss Virginia English Furey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Morris Furey, and Dr. David Alexander Cooper, of Philadelphia, son of Mrs. John Cooper, of Henderson, N. C., will take place in the Shady Side Presbyterian church, Pittsburgh, at 5:30 o'clock p. m., on June 1st. Rev. Dr. Hugh Thompson Kerr will officiate.

—The Bellefonte Academy baseball season will open on Hughes field tomorrow afternoon, at 2 o'clock, with the strong Bucknell Freshmen lined up against the Academy. As very few home games are scheduled for the season fans should take advantage of this opportunity to see the first game. Those who have seen the Academy boys at practice are confident they will give a good account of themselves tomorrow.

—Late in February the Superior court handed down a decision in the case of J. H. Detwiler vs. Musser Coldren, in which the defendant was granted the right of a new trial in the court of Centre county. Attorneys for the plaintiff appealed to the Supreme court to set aside the judgment of the Superior court but word was received, on Monday, that the appeal was refused, which means that the now celebrated case will have to be tried again in the local court.

—The various property owners in Bellefonte who submitted proposals for the site for a federal post-office building are beginning to wonder just where they are at. The proposals were opened in Washington on April 21st but so far post-office officials here have received no word as to the number or character of proposals submitted. A number of other places in the State where new buildings are to be erected were notified within a few days as to the number of proposals and price asked for each. Just why no word has been received of the Bellefonte proposals is rather a puzzling question.

—If a bill recently introduced in the State Senate by Senator Chauncey W. Parkinson, of the Greene-Washington counties district, is enacted into a law members of the next board of Centre county commissioners will receive a substantial increase in salaries. The bill provides for a graduated scale of salaries in seventh class counties—$1000 to $1500 in counties with a population of 20,000 to 30,000, and $1500 to $2000 in counties with from 40,000 to 50,000 population. As Centre county has over 48,000 population the commissioners would be entitled to a salary of approximately $1800 a year.

—On page 3 of this edition will be found a story of the execution of William Watkins at Rockview on April 20. It was written by the Watchman's roving reporter, John Fleming, who represented this paper as an official witness. Ordinarily we give little space to such gruesome affairs, but in this instance the rule is broken because Mr. Fleming tells the story of the tragedy in the death house in such an unusual way. We had intended publishing it last week, but it was crowded out by later news of greater local import. We held it in type for this week, however, feeling that our readers might want to know just what happens when one gives an eye for an eye, a tooth for a tooth, without being shocked by crude narration of the details.

THRIFT CORPORATION BEING ORGANIZED.
Local Business Men Backing Small Loans Institution.

Announcement was made this week that a small loans institution, to be known as the "Centre County Thrift Corporation," will be in operation in Bellefonte, and later on in State College, within the next few weeks, according to the present plans of a group of local business men who have been working on the enterprise for some time past. According to the announcement the plans and objects of the organization can be summed up as follows:

The institution will be strictly a loaning corporation and not a bank of deposit. Its business function is to make small loans, not exceeding $300, to deserving people in the community who have no other banking connection. It will be patterned very closely after twenty other similar enterprises located at Pittsburgh, Monessen, Donora, Scranton, Rochester, Lansdale, Pottstown, Phoenixville, Clairton, Turtle Creek, Pitsburgh and other places, giving needed assistance to a class of people not usually served by the State or national banks.

The small loans company does not enter into competition with the old-line banking business in any community.

In some States such corporations are permitted to take deposits, hence the title the "Small Loan Bank." But in the State of Pennsylvania these institutions are prohibited by law from taking deposits. And so the term "bank" is a misnomer. However, the term "bank" is often used to discriminate between an institution of this character, which charges very low interests rates, and the companies that charge the maximum that the law will permit, to wit, 42%.

For several weeks preceding the organization steps here, local business men made a study of the operation of similar small loan companies in other communities. Robert Hunter and D. M. Kline visited the Lansdale Thrift Corporation recently, and the directors and stockholders there were unanimous in voicing the opinion that this institution was the best institution that had ever been formed in that community, in that it gave a real helpful service to needy people. It was pointed out that the directors of the Lansdale Thrift Corporation embodied representation from every commercial banking institution in that community. All avenues of information disclosed complimentary details relative to the movement and it was the consensus of opinion that in nearly every case their respective institutions rendered an unexpectedly good service to the community, earning a normal return for the investors in the stock of these companies.

At a later date a meeting will be called, which will be addressed by prominent speakers who are conversant with the details of the small loans company, such as Zane B. Gray, president of the Williamsport Thrift Corp.; Judge James H. Gray, formerly president of the Pittsburgh Thrift Corporation and now director of the same corporation, and C. R. Anderson, president of the Pittsburgh Thrift Corp. At the same time Mr. Hunter and Mr. Kline will make a report to the guests who will attend this meeting.

The temporary committee for the furtherance of this movement are: John M. Bullock, Bellefonte; L. D. Fye, State College; George H. Hazel, Bellefonte; D. M. Kline, Bellefonte, who has already been selected as temporary treasurer, and R. F. Stein, State College. All the above men are associated with important business activities in their home towns.

All details have not yet been worked out but it is understood that the stock will be privately placed and subscribed by local citizens in order to avoid an expensive stock-selling campaign.

It was explained that the plan for obtaining $100 is something like this: A debtor owes a dentist, doctor, merchant or other creditors $100, or owes three or four creditors the same amount. These creditors may act as endorsers on the note and get the money at once. Then the borrower repays the loan at the rate of $2.09 a week for fifty-six weeks. At the end of that time, if the weekly payments have been promptly met, a rebate of $4.67 is given to the borrower for his promptness.

The remarkable fact about the small loans companies is that there are almost no losses.

The Morris Plan Bank, which operates much the same way as the Thrift Companies, made a public announcement recently that in the more than 100 banks which have been organized under their plan, not a single investor therein had ever lost a penny. The same record is enjoyed by all the Thrift Companies.

All of the Thrift Companies have been in a position to pay a dividend within a year and some have actually paid dividends within six or eight months after starting business. The Williamsport Thrift Corporation is an example of a company that earned enough to pay their initial dividend at the end of six months, at which time they went on a 6% basis.

It is expected that the Thrift office will be established in Bellefonte, and later on at State College so that adjacent communities can be adequately served.

In court, on Monday, Judge Fleming disposed of the cases against George Harris Sr., and his two sons, George Jr., and Carl, of Philipsburg. The sons were charged with larceny and the father with receiving stolen goods. The father and son George were sentenced to make restitution, pay the costs of prosecution and placed on probation for three years. The younger son, Carl, was placed in charge of the juvenile court officer.

At a session of court on Tuesday morning Guy Carter, of State College, plead guilty to passing worthless checks. The prosecutors were Samuel Swam and George P. Kuhn. In each case he was sentenced to make good the checks, pay a dollar fine, costs and serve thirty days in jail.

THREE PART BENEFIT PLAY FOR CRIPPLED CHILDREN.

The three part benefit entertainment to be given in the State theatre, next Monday evening, for the crippled children fund of Clearfield and Centre counties, gives promise of superior excellence. The entertainment will be under the auspices of the Kiwanis clubs of Tyrone, Philipsburg and Bellefonte, and each club will provide its part of the entertainment.

According to the program Tyrone's contribution will be a minstrel performance written by Wilbur VanScoyoc, of that town. Thirty men will be in the cast and Joe Malroy's ten-piece orchestra, of Altoona, will furnish the music. Impassiveness will be added to the minstrel aggregation by the appearance, also, of the American Legion drum and bugle corps, of Tyrone, forty strong, and resplendent in new uniforms.

Philipsburg's contribution to the entertainment will be a one act musical comedy, representing a jungle scene, in which thirty men will appear. They will also have as a feature Ariene Bennett, of Altoona, twelve year old acrobatic dancer.

As a closing part Bellefonte will present the Penn State Varsity quartette, Robert Flasher, super magician, and Veto Aluso, accordion virtuoso, of Penn State.

Tickets are now on sale by members of the Kiwanis club. The price is $1.00, about half what the entertainment will be worth, and if you haven't bought yours don't wait too long to get it.

SERIES OF SERMONS ON THE SECOND COMING OF CHRIST.

Beginning on Sunday evening, and continuing for six consecutive Sundays, Rev. G. E. Householder, pastor of the United Brethren church, will preach a series of sermons on "The Second Coming of Christ," and the public is cordially invited to attend all services.

It is not Rev. Householder's intention to tell what he thinks, or what theologians say about it, or even give his interpretation as to what the Bible teaches about it, but to tell what God actually says about it in His word. The subjects will be as follows:

- May 3.—Prophecies concerning the advent of the Lord; were they all fulfilled at His first advent?
- May 10.—The necessity of a second advent, and false theories about the second coming of Christ.
- May 17.—Signs of the second coming of Christ.
- May 24.—The rapture of the church, or Christ coming for His church.
- May 31.—The great tribulation.
- June 7.—The glorious reign of Christ upon earth.

—Will Keichline will have to get a new name for his garage and filling station at Nittany. Since he opened his place there it has been known as "The Larch Tree," because right in front of it stood a giant larch, the most symmetrical tree of its variety, that we have ever seen. On Sunday afternoon the big tree blew over and fell in a reclining position against the top of the store building that was named for it. It dented the roof in a bit, but did no serious damage to the building.

FEWER MOTOR ACCIDENTS DURING PAST WEEK.

Fewer motor accidents happened the past week than for some time previous. The only one reported to the highway patrol occurred in Milesburg, on Sunday, when Elizabeth Jodan was hit by a car operated by Howard G. Nagle, of that place. Body bruises and burns were the only injuries. Patrolman Hughes investigated the accident and decided it was unavoidable, as the child ran in front of the car.

Last Wednesday Corp. Gross and patrolman Turner checked 13 cars on route 220. 5 had bad emergency brakes, 1 bad foot brake and 1 no mirror.

Out of 45 cars checked by patrolmen Hughes and Turner, on route 45, on Thursday, 7 had glaring headlights, 1 rusty reflector and 2 no rear light.

On Saturday Corp. Gross and patrolman Hughes were in Ferguson township directing traffic during the unweaving of two memorials to Revolutionary soldiers.

On Monday patrolmen Hughes and Turner checked 35 cars on route 45, near State College. 7 had glaring headlights, 2 only one light and 4 no tail light.

A check of 90 cars on route 220, near Milesburg, on Tuesday, showed 4 with bad emergency brakes, 6 no windshield wiper and 1 swinging tag. The same day 100 cars were checked on route 53, near Centre Hall. 7 had bad emergency brakes, 3 swinging tags and 1 no warning device.

On Tuesday evening Corp. Gross and Sergt. Miller surprised residents of Karthaus by patrolling that locality between 7 and 12 o'clock. Twelve arrests were made for operating without having any registration for car, one for not having an operator's license and one for using plates from another car.

TWO FINE PICTURES TO SHOW HERE NEXT WEEK.

While all the pictures to be shown at the Richelieu and State next week will be up to the standard of those two theatres there are two to which we feel warranted in calling special attention.

One is "Father's Son," which will be shown at the State all week. It is a picture with a heart interest that every parent should see.

The other is "Skippy." It will be at the Richelieu next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. "Skippy" is one of the dearest pictures we have ever seen. If you know anything about children at all you will be charmed with the action of the youngsters who portray the characters that Percy Crosby has immortalized in his "comic strips."

It is a picture that will send you home feeling that you have had a worthwhile evening.

STATE COLLEGE MAN KIDNAPPED AND ROBBED.

A dispatch from Pittsburg states that W. I. Yarnell, 37-year-old dairyman of State College, told police there that he had been kidnapped by three men, taken to Pittsburg, robbed of $22 then turned loose on the street. According to his story the three men caught him near his home, early Monday morning, tied him up with ropes, put him on the rear seat of their auto and drove to Pittsburg. —John "Fappy" Steele went on another rampage, about two o'clock Sunday morning, and according to the police, beat up his wife and hit a neighbor, Ira Sprankle, over the head with an iron bar, cutting quite a gash in his scalp. Chief of police Duke-man also went to the Steele home. Sprankle was taken to a doctor to have his injuries dressed and up to the writing of this item Steele had not been arrested.
