AN EXPLANATION.

Editor Democratic Watchman:

Dear Sir:—In the last issue of your paper you said that I had gone on a rampage and beat up a neighbor. I want to correct the "rampage" part, as I only defended my family against the assaults of Ira "Brownie" Sprankle, who came to my home at least three times in a drink-crazed condition and threatened myself and wife, and after being warned to go home, he tore off the gate, came onto my porch and struck me. The result, he was hit by a poker. I have been advised to have you correct the account of this affair and I think it would be advisable to do so.

Respectfully,
JOHN L. STEELE.

Several days, after the above alleged "rampage" Mr. Sprankle had Steele arrested for assault and a hearing was held before justice of the peace J. M. Keichline. After the story of the night's happenings
