"FLAGG" AND "QUIRT" WILL BE HERE NEXT WEEK.
 "Flagg" and "Quirt" have gone blonde!
 In Raul Walsh's Fox production, "Women Of All Nations," which will be at the Richelieu next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday and which depicts the further adventures, love making and fighting of these two immortal leathernecks, as portrayed by Victor McLaglen and Edmund Lowe, their chief allure is the most gorgeous blonde of stage or screen, the Nordic Greta Nissen.
 In "What price Glory," which introduced "Flagg" and "Quirt" to the screen, the almond eyed, raven haired Dolores Del Rio was their chief charmer.
 In the record-breaking follow-up, "The Cock Eyed World," the fascinating Lily Damita, whose coloring was of a Titian shade, caused them much woe and warfare, and now comes the truly blonde Greta whose coloring and ivory skin caused a famous writer to refer to her as "The Perfect Pearl," and leads the fighting buddies a merry chase through the most hilarious adventures.
 This time the rough and rowdy dame chasers take their audiences to Nicaragua, Panama, Sweden and right into the midst of a harem in Turkey, on the most hilarious misadventures they have ever had. El Brendel is also featured in the show. It is a great production and worth seeing.
 —Harris P. Childs, a great grandson of the late John P. Harris, of Bellefonte, was one of the class of graduates at the United States naval academy, at Annapolis, yesterday. His home address was given as Bellefonte, though most of his life has been spent in Clearfield.

 Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kuhn and daughter Margaret, of Williamsport, visited in town, several days, bringing Miss Daisy Rowe to her home. Miss Rowe, who has been ill for a number of weeks, spent some time while convalescing with her sister, Mrs. Kuhn.
 Memorial day was appropriately observed in Boalsburg, on Saturday. The first decoration of soldier's graves soon after the close of the Civil war was in the local cemetery and originated among the young ladies of the town, only one of them now living, Mrs. E. E. Stuart, at that time Miss Emma Hunter. The ladies were assisted by a number of friends who for many years made evergreen wreaths to place on the graves. This beautiful custom prevailed until only a few years ago when the number of graves became so large that evergreen sprays were used instead of wreaths. Several efforts have been made to revive the old custom of weaving wreaths and is still the hope of some of the interested folks that in the future the task will be counted a pleasure and will be resumed. Memorial day is "home coming day" for former residents of this vicinity, who plan for months to return at this time, many coming from distant cities as well as adjoining States. The local cemetery, known as the Lutheran and Reformed cemetery, is noted for its beautiful location as well as the natural beauty of the surrounding country.
 Under the direction of the late Austin Dale and Calvin Riley the cemetery was transformed into a beauty spot. Every foot of ground was put in condition to mow with a lawn mower. Sixty-four soldiers, brave men who participated in the Civil, Spanish-American, Mexican, Revolutionary and World war service, lie buried in this cemetery, and every year flags and flowers are placed on each grave. The program for this year's celebration, arranged by the Sons of Veterans, consisted of a parade which included the lodges, organizations of the town; also the school children. Music by the Le-mont band. Invocation by Rev. W. J. Wagner and an address by Rev. H. L. Wink. A large crowd of interested friends, the many flags displayed about the town and the almost perfect weather added to the pleasant, although sad, memories of the day. Mr. Cyrus Bowman, aged 87, of Blanchard, was an honored guest on the occasion, the only Civil war veteran present, all the Harris township veterans having answered the last roll call.

 A delightful family gathering was held at the home of Mrs. Sallie Burwell, last Saturday evening, in honor of the newly-weds, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Gault. The dinner served by Mrs. Burwell and her daughter, Mary Ethel, was the equal of a wedding feast.
 While C. M. Barto was shoeing one of his horses the animal kicked him on the neck, causing a painful injury. He was unable to talk for several days but is now improving.
 Merchant E. C. Martz recently bought the lands of the old brick mill, burned down some time ago.
 The 65th annual Memorial day was fittingly observed here. Services at the Grayville cemetery were held at 10 o'clock, with Rev. Max Hall the speaker. Services here were at 2 p. m. The parade formed at the town hall and was composed of the G. A. R. Citizens band, a firing squad, I. O. O. F., P. O. S. of A., the lodge of Rebekahs and school children. Marching through the town to the cemetery the services were opened with prayer by Rev. S. S. Brown. C. Glenn Fry read Lincoln's speech at Gettysburg while Miss Esther Burwell gave an appropriate recitation. Owing to the inability of Arthur C. Dale, Esq., to be present the address was delivered by James R. Hughes, of Bellefonte.
 Services were held at Pine Hall at 6 p. m. They were similar in character to those held at Pine Grove Mills. The speaker there was Rev. J. Max Kirkpatrick.
