

NEWS ABOUT TOWN AND COUNTY.

DuBois has been tentatively selected as the place for holding the annual convention of the State Grange in December.

Gardeners in Bellefonte and throughout the county are having considerable trouble with cut worms, this spring, which are not content with preying on the cabbage patch but are cutting tomatoes, lima beans, peppers, etc.

Election day this year will fall on November 2nd, the earliest date possible. The first day to secure signatures on petitions is July 2nd, and the last day for filing petitions with the commissioners is August 11th.

The traffic signal at the intersection of High and Spring streets is no more. A truck driver ran into it, last Thursday night, and all that was left of it was the concrete base, and it was badly chipped. The probability is it will not be replaced.

Miss Grace Corman, of Coburn, a junior at Bucknell University, Lewisburg, has been chosen by the Bucknell chapter of Pi Beta Phi, as its representative to the national convention of the fraternity, which will be held at Asbury Park, N. J., from June 22 to 27.

Having completed a year's course in journalism, at The Pennsylvania State College, Paul Dubbs went to work as local editor of the Centre Democrat on Monday morning, to take the place made vacant by the resignation of Ralph T. Smith several months ago.

Among the recent changes made by the Bell Telephone Co., in the Pittsburgh region, was the advancement of Thomas King Morris Jr., from division supervisor private Bell exchange, Pittsburgh division, to that of district traffic superintendent, Central district, Pittsburgh.

Over two hundred boys and girls, 4 to 16 years of age, were in attendance at the first day's session of the vacation Bible school, held in the High school building on Monday. Since then there has been a decided increase in attendance. Last year the total was in the neighborhood of 175, hence the percentage of increase this year is quite large.

Probably few people in Bellefonte know that the James A. Jackson, whose name is seen so frequently in news stories from Washington, is the son of the late Abe Jackson, colored, of this place. He is now connected with the Department of Commerce in Washington and is especially assigned to the survey of negro business activities in the country. In the capacity of an investigator he travels from coast to coast.

Next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday "Young Sinners" will be shown at the Richelieu. It is not what its name would imply at all. It is just a pretty story of how a wayward boy was reclaimed by a man who knew boys and how the job was done so well that the girl who had caused his downfall in the first place was led to reform when she found she couldn't drag him back. This isn't what is regarded in the extravagant superlatives of moviedom "the feature of the year," but it is, what many of them are not, a good show.

The laying of the twelve inch water main on Lamb street has been completed from north Water street to Allegheny. The connection has not yet been made with the twelve inch line, on Allegheny street, and the Water committee has not definitely decided on how to carry the line across Spring creek for connection with the pump at the Gamble mill. The pipe can either be laid through the creek or hung onto the new bridge, but if they wait until the bridge is completed it will be late in the year before the line can be put into service.

Tomorrow night a thriller will be shown at the Richelieu. Everyone is interested in how the police of great cities handle crime, yet very little of the real workings of those whose duty it is to eternally keep a vigilant eye on known crooks is ever revealed. "The Vice Squad" lets you into secrets you never thought existed. It is a revelation to those who often wonder how the police system finds out what it does. It is a romantic melo-drama of gripping interest and features Paul Lukas and Kay Francis, who do some superb work in its production.

It might be of interest to Bellefonte people to know that Harris P. Child, who graduated at Annapolis two weeks ago, was declared winner of the sword presented annually by the Daughters of the American Revolution for excellence in practical seamanship. He is a second petty officer in the regimental organization. The young midshipman's mother was Mary Weaver Child, a grand daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John P. Harris, of Bellefonte. He was appointed to the Naval Academy on recommendation of Congressman J. Mitchell Chase and during his term won letters for activity in boxing, football and water polo.

STATE HIGHWAY WORK IN CENTRE COUNTY.

If all the reports coming out of Harrisburg can be relied upon more State highway work will be done in Centre county, this summer, than has been done in a number of years. At the present time M. R. Bennett & Sons are making good progress on their contract for the State highway from Port Matilda to the "Devil's Elbow," on the road to Phillipsburg, a stretch of almost six miles, and bids will be opened on June 26th for the continuance of the road from the "Devil's Elbow" to Phillipsburg, about 6.30 miles.

Among bids opened last Thursday, were those for building 1.1 miles of concrete through the penitentiary grounds, in Benner and College townships, Corrado and Gallardi, of Conneville, were the low bidders, $29,171.

The Highway Department has also announced that 276 miles of secondary highway will be built during the summer in fifty counties of the State, and Centre county's share of this roadway will be the road from Orviston to Beech Creek, a little over eight miles. This road will be built by the State's own highway forces at an estimated cost of $7,500 a mile. Local labor will be used entirely in this work, highway engineers and inspectors to be in charge.

Several other projects are in view but the above seem already assured, and will mean an expenditure of considerably more than half a million dollars in road work in the county, which ought to be some relief to the unemployment situation.

MANY MEN AT WORK IN CLASSIFICATION YARD.

Looking over the work being done in enlarging the Pennsylvania railroad's classification yard, just north of Bellefonte, would indicate that the company officials have optimistic views on the revival of business in the near future as well as a belief in the continuance of Bellefonte as the best shipping point of any town of its size on the Pennsylvania system.

The Anderson Construction company, of Tyrone, which started work on the yard early in April, has a force of fifty or more men continuously on the job. The bulk of the grading has been done from the old lime kilns north to where the point of the mountain was cut off to permit of the laying of an extra track down along the old fair grounds. A new double track bridge has been put down over Buffalo run where it empties into Spring creek and the men are now at work laying the ties and rails for the additional track in the yard. As there will be some five or six new tracks to be put down the entire length of the yard the laying of them will be no small job. The company hopes to have a good portion of the work done in time for the shipping of road stone, assuming that the various limestone operations hereabouts are successful in securing their usual contracts this summer. The increased facilities in the new yard will enable the shifting crews to make up trains much more expeditiously than before and shipments can be sent on their way without delay.

A patriotic ceremony in the Branch cemetery, at 3 o'clock tomorrow (Saturday) afternoon, will be the unveiling of a marker by the Bellefonte chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, in memory of five Revolutionary soldiers, namely: Col. TO DRILL FOR OIL AND GAS NEAR PHILIPSBURG.

An organization is being formed by F. G. Mason, of Tioga county, and J. Edward Horn, of Phillipsburg, to drill for oil and gas in Rush township. The men are now seeking leases on that section of land between the Halfmoon road and Mo-shannon creek, and Phillipsburg and the top of the Allegheny mountains. Just as soon as enough territory can be secured by lease to justify it drilling operations will be started.

SNOW SHOE STATE BANK CLOSED ON WEDNESDAY.

The Snow Shoe State bank closed, on Wednesday, or to be more exact, did not open for business that morning. While the bank was not exactly insolvent deposits continued to be less than daily withdrawals and its assets were not liquid enough to realize upon in case of emergency. The depressed condition of the coal business in and about Snow Shoe, and scarcity of work generally, necessitated depositors using their money in the bank to live on, and the continued drain brought the actual cash resources of the bank to the breaking point.

Cashier C. B. Bloom realized the bank was close to the danger line and notified the State Department of Banking. An examiner was sent to Snow Shoe and met with the board of directors, on Monday evening. At that meeting the directors were given twenty-four hours in which to see if they could raise the money to keep the bank open. Being unable to do so it did not open for business on Wednesday morning.

According to the last statement of the bank its resources were in the neighborhood of $375,000. The officers of the bank are as follows: President, R. E. Kech; cashier, C. B. Bloom; directors, H. J. O'Brien, David Chambers, Dr. Edward Harris, Roy Chambers, John Lucas and Mack McClure.

MANY ACCIDENTAL DEATHS AND SUICIDES IN COUNTY.

During the first five months of 1931 there have been twenty-nine accidental deaths and suicides in Centre county necessitating investigation by the coroner. The county, in general, is a community in which extreme lawlessness does not abound and there is little actual provocation towards self-destruction, yet more suicides have occurred so far this year than in any equal period of time in many years.

The result is that coroner W. R. Heaton has had twenty-nine cases to investigate, at least at two of which he was called back the second time for an investigation to settle definitely in the minds of friends the exact nature of the death.

All costs in connection with inquests are paid by the county, and there is no comeback. The coroner's fee is $15.00 without a post-mortem and $25 if a post-mortem is made. If a jury is empaneled it means $12.00 more, as the six men serving on the jury receive a fee of $2.00 each. On rare occasions a justice of the peace is called into service and he, also, is entitled to a fee.

The coroner's returns are made to the prothonotary's office where a fee is also allowed for entering upon the quarter sessions docket and certifying the bill of costs to the county commissioners. The cost to the county in the twenty-nine inquests held so far this year is in the neighborhood of $850.00, which already exceeds the total for any previous year.

MOTHER'S CLUB HOLDS MONTHLY MEETING.

The June meeting of the Mother's Club, of Bellefonte, was held Monday evening, at the home of Mrs. Van Jodon, on Curtin street, with eleven members and three visitors present. Mrs. P. G. McGroarty is enrolled as a new member. The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. J. M. Hartswick. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved. The treasurer's report was read and accepted. The president appointed a new program committee, Mrs. W. T. McCormick, chairman; Mrs. William Kline and Mrs. Harry Yeager.

The following articles were read: "Use of Money," by Dr. U. T. Kerr, and a poem, by Edgar A. Guest, read by Mrs. L. C. Heineman; "Rewards and Punishments," by W. N. Miller, read by Mrs. Leif, A. Olsen. Mrs. J. M. Hartswick rendered a whistling solo which added to the entertainment of the evening. She was accompanied on the piano by her daughter, Betty Ann Hartswick. After a general discussion and social hour refreshments were served, and the meeting then adjourned to meet in September.

While the others on the Richelieu's advance offerings are really good shows "Sin Takes a Holiday," which you still have a chance to see because it will be shown again tonight, is probably the best of the three. That doesn't mean that "The Vice Squad" and "Young Sinners" are not good offerings. It merely means that the Constance Bennett show strikes a chord that neither of the others touch. If you haven't seen it we think you would make no mistake in going.

A food sale, given by St. Mary's Guild of St. John's Episcopal church, will be held in the Variety shop this Saturday, June 13th, at 2 o'clock. An opportunity to buy home-made cakes, pies, etc., for over Sunday.
