

NEWS ABOUT TOWN AND COUNTY.

A good supply of home grown sweet corn was on sale at the curb market, Wednesday morning, and was eagerly purchased at 35 and 40 cents a dozen.

An old-fashioned bucket brigade extinguished a fire at the home of Mac Peters, Central City, Wednesday morning, while the family were out berry picking.

If the manufacturers of canned heat could draw a little of the torrid condition out of the atmosphere we feel certain that no complaint would be registered against them.

No less than ten members of the Epworth League of the Bellefonte Methodist Sunday school will attend the August institute of the Methodist training camp at Newton Hamilton.

Myron M. Cobb and children hereby express their appreciation for the kind solicitation shown and assistance rendered by friends and neighbors during the recent illness and death of Mrs. Cobb.

The condition of W. T. Twitmire, who has been suffering from blood poisoning in his foot and leg, for two weeks or more, has now become so critical that the family have little hope of his recovery.

The Woman's Guild of the Episcopal church will hold a food sale in the Variety Shop on Saturday morning, July 25th, at eleven o'clock. Home-made cakes, rolls, etc., on sale at reasonable prices.

Fred Klinefelter, 45 years old, of Potter township, is in the Centre County hospital receiving treatment for lacerations of the head and leg sustained, last Saturday, by being kicked by a mule while working on the farm of John Snavely.

Don't fail to see "Seed" at the Richelieu next Monday, Tuesday or Wednesday nights. It is an exceedingly interesting story, acted with far more intelligence than the usual movie production. This is voluntary information on the Watchman's part, not an advertisement.

Next Sunday, July 26, Judge Rutherford will be on the air on a large radio hook-up to deliver his famous lecture: "The Hope of the World." Those interested should tune in from 12 to 1, eastern standard time. This will be what have come to be nationally known as "Watchtower" programs.

Qualifying in swimming, athletics, public health, botany, zoology and first aid, at Camp Wapalane, on Bald Eagle creek, last week, Roy Wilkinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Wilkinson, was awarded the badge of Life Scout. If he wins four more merit badges he will attain to the rank of Eagle Scout.

While weeding the garden at her home, at Lemont, on Monday, Mrs. Edward Williams was bitten on the left ankle by a copperhead snake. She was brought to the Centre County hospital for treatment. Clyde Kunes, of Blanchard, and George Reigel, of Howard, were both bitten by copperheads, last week. All are recovering.

To properly observe its nineteenth anniversary W. R. Brachbill's furniture store has launched a mammoth sale of furniture and rugs. New merchandise bought for spot cash at the present day low prices, plus their liberal discounts, and its low overhead cost of transacting business enables it to offer the lowest prices for quality furnishings that this community has seen in fifteen years. Attention is called to their special advertisement on page 5 of this issue.

J. McM. Curtin, son of Mrs. H. R. Curtin, of Curtin, has been made industrial manager of the central district of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company, with headquarters in Pittsburgh, his present home. He has been associated with the Westinghouse Company ever since his graduation from the Pennsylvania State College in 1898 and while his work has heretofore been with the sales end of their business this promotion transfers him to the manufacturing side of it. He is active in electrical association work and holds membership in a number of technical and social organizations.

With an attendance of 334 at the Methodist Sunday school, last Sunday morning, W. I. Fleming gave a ten minute talk of his high lights observation on a trip to Minneapolis, Minn., to attend the annual grand encampment of the Knights Templar. He stated that from the multitudes of children and young people seen everywhere there was no evidence of race suicide or birth control. Moving by day and night, aboard train and ship and in the streets of busy cities, he did not see one person under the influence of liquor; nor was there any served at the various festive feasts of the Knights. Even the California delegation refrained from carrying with it its customary supply of wine. Another feature alluded to was the Sunday morning religious service, which was held aboard ship on the lakes. The sermon was delivered by the grand prelate of the order in his church at Seattle and relayed by radio to the Knights aboard ship.

DEATHS OF THE WEEK HERE AND ELSEWHERE.

COBB.—Mrs. Arta Deborah Cobb, wife of Myron M. Cobb, passed away at her home on west High street, Bellefonte, at 8.15 o'clock last Friday morning, following an illness of six months with intestinal trouble.

She was a daughter of Augustus and Zipocah Harding Colvin and was born at Factoryville, Wyoming county, on October 3rd, 1875, hence was 52 years, 9 months and 14 days old. She grew to womanhood and received her education in the town of her birth and it was there, on January 28th, 1900, she married Mr. Cobb. The first years of their married life were spent at Factoryville, but eventually they moved to Wilkes-Barre and in 1920 came to Bellefonte and this had been her home ever since. As a young girl she became a member of the Baptist church and after coming to Bellefonte not only attended the Lutheran church but took an active part in various church activities, being a member and ardent worker in the Ladies Aid Society. She was a member of the Bellefonte chapter, D. A. R. and the Woman's club. A member of the Eastern Star where she came to Bellefonte she took a leading part in the organization of a chapter here. In her club and civic work, as well as charitable activities, she manifested an especial interest at all times, but her greatest efforts were directed in her home and the care of her children.

Surviving are her husband and four children, Arnold, of Frankfort, Ind.; Warren, with the Irving Trust Co., Brooklyn, N. Y.; Doris and Myron W. Jr., at home. She also leaves the following brothers and sisters: Frank Colvin, of Carbondale; Webster, of Scranton; Fred, of Nicholson; William, of Factoryville; Walter, of Fayetteville, N. C.; Edgar, of Plymouth, Mich.; Miss Olive, of Factoryville, and Mrs. O. L. Trenary, of Kenosha, Wis.

Brief funeral services were held at the family home, on west High street, at 7.15 o'clock on Sunday evening, by Rev. G. E. Householder, of the United Brethren church. On Monday morning the remains were taken to Factoryville by auto hearse where funeral services were held at the home of William Colvin, at 2.30 o'clock the same afternoon, by the Baptist minister, burial being made in the Colvin plat in the Factoryville cemetery.

MEYER.—Philip S. Meyer died at his home at Coburn, on July 12th, following six months' illness with heart trouble and dropsy.

A son of Philip and Magdaline Stover Meyer he was born in Haines township on August 26th, 1850, hence was 80 years, 10 months and 16 days old. As a young man he learned the milling trade and for a long period of years owned and operated the Pine Creek roller mill. He finally disposed of the mill and moved to Coburn where he was employed at the Kerstetter chicken farm until his retirement a few years ago. He was a member of St. Andrew's Reformed church, at Coburn.

Mr. Meyer was twice married. His first wife was Miss Lillian Lukenbach, who died fifty-four years ago, leaving one son, Warren E. Meyer, now living in Philadelphia. His second wife was Miss Anne Shull, who died twenty-nine years ago. Two daughters by this marriage survive, Mrs. John Winkleblech, of Coburn, and Miss Bessie, at home. He also leaves a half-brother, Thomas A. Meyer, of Coburn.

Funeral services were held in the Reformed church, at Coburn, at 10 o'clock on Wednesday morning of last week, by Rev. G. A. Fred Greisinger, burial being made in the Reformed cemetery, at Aaronsburg.

SMITH.—Charles R. Smith, a well known resident in the western section of the county, died at his home at Marengo, on Thursday of last week. He was a stone mason by occupation and about ten years ago was seriously injured in a cave-in, at Port Matilda, with the result that he had been an invalid ever since.

He was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Smith and was born in Spruce Creek valley on August 23rd, 1863, hence was not quite 68 years old. Most of his life, however, was spent in the vicinity of Gatesburg. He is survived by his wife but no children. He was a member of the Lutheran church, at Gatesburg, where funeral services were held at two o'clock on Sunday afternoon, by Rev. J. S. English, burial being made in the Gatesburg cemetery.

FORSTER.—Miss Mary Graham Forster, a lifelong resident of Haines township, passed away at her home in Aaronsburg, on July 8th, following an illness which dated back to last winter when she suffered a stroke of paralysis while sojourning in Florida. She was a daughter of John V. and Frances J. Graham Forster and was born in Haines township in 1863, at her death being 67 years, 7 months and 1 day old. She was a member of one of the old-time families of that section of the county and had a large circle of friends. Her only survivor is one brother, John Forster, of Aaronsburg. Funeral services were held on July 10th, burial being made in the Reformed cemetery, at Aaronsburg.

MILLS.—William Mills, dean of the barber fraternity of Bellefonte, died at his home, on Ridge street, last Friday morning, of general debility. He had been confined to his home for almost a year.

He was a son of Lewis and Caroline Mills and was born in Bellefonte on April 14th, 1847, hence was 84 years, 3 months and 3 days old. As a young man he learned the barbering trade with Mesh S. Graham, working for him until 1871 when he opened a shop of his own and for sixty years plied his trade in Bellefonte. He was one of the leading members of the A. M. E. church and was largely instrumental in the organization of the Negro Masonic lodge. Not only was he a member of one of the oldest Negro families in Bellefonte but his entire life was an exemplification of upright character and principles, regardless of race and color.

As a young man he married Miss Cella Graham who died a few years ago but surviving him are the following children: Mrs. Helen Duffan, of Harrisburg; Mrs. Carrie Thomas, at home; William Mills, of Harrisburg; Lewis, of Washington, D. C.; Harry, of Bellefonte; John and Harriet, at home. He also leaves twelve grand-children and six great grand-children.

Funeral services were held at the A. M. E. church, at three o'clock on Monday afternoon, by the pastor, Rev. W. E. Gibbons, burial being made in the Union cemetery.

ROBB.—Luther R. Robb, a native of Centre county and a well known locomotive engineer on the Pittsburgh division of the Pennsylvania railroad, died at his home in Altoona, at 5.45 o'clock on Wednesday morning, following nine months' illness with cancer of the jaw.

He was a son of Henry and Alice Keister Robb and was born at Nittany, Centre county, on September 8th, 1876, hence was not yet 55 years old. He was educated in the public schools of Walker township and thirty years ago went to Altoona and entered the service of the Pennsylvania railroad as a freeman, later being promoted to an engineer. Twenty-eight years ago he married Miss Belle Schaeffer, of Nittany, who survives with two children, Ralph Robb, of Altoona, and Miss Eleanor at home. He also leaves his aged mother, living in Bellefonte, and the following brothers and sisters: Nelson E. Robb, of Bellefonte; Mrs. Samuel E. Cole, of Dayton, Ohio; Alfred G. Robb, of Altoona; Mrs. Catherine Miller, of Harrisburg; Mrs. Thomas Swartz, of Tusseyville; Mrs. W. Harrison Walker and Mrs. M. W. Williams, of Bellefonte.

Funeral services will be held at his late home at 2.30 o'clock this afternoon, by Rev. E. A. Peters, burial to be made in the Alto Reste cemetery.

CAUM.—Benjamin Stetser Caum, father of Jesse C. Caum, general manager of the Bell Telephone company, in Bellefonte, died at his home in Juniata, last Thursday afternoon, as the result of a stroke of paralysis. He was past 80 years of age and is survived by his wife and six sons. Burial was made in Greenwood cemetery, Altoona, on Monday afternoon.

It wasn't exactly a vaudeville act that was put on at the Richelieu, late Saturday afternoon, but it was a free show for all who happened to be on High street to see it. The new manager of the Richelieu, Fred Fisher, a recent graduate of Susquehanna University, exercised his "hiring and firing" authority, last week, by discharging one of the boys who had been employed at the theatre for some time. On Saturday he also discharged Mrs. Henry Montgomery, ticket seller, and the lady told her husband that in doing so he had insulted her. Montgomery went to the theatre and promptly slapped Fisher's face. The latter ran from the theatre and down street into George Young's barber shop. Montgomery followed and hit him again. Fisher again took to his heels and ran across the street and into Miss Cooney's Hat Shop. Miss Stella Cooney, who was temporarily keeping the Shop while her sister, Miss Elizabeth, was at supper, tried to keep him out but he brushed past her into the Shop and slammed the door shut on her hand. Notwithstanding her cries of pain he held it there until Edward Gross went to her assistance and shoved the door open. The index finger on Miss Cooney's hand was badly lacerated. Fisher went to his home, on south Water street, that night, under police protection, but Montgomery made no further hostile move.

Last Thursday morning, just before the noon hour, J. C. Trevison, an inmate of the psychopathic ward, at Rockview penitentiary, made his escape from the harvest field where he was working. Between four and five o'clock in the afternoon Lee Smeltzer telephoned the prison that a man, almost naked, was wandering around in the foothills of Nittany mountain below Pleasant Gap. A guard was sent down from the penitentiary and he found the man to be Trevison, who had discarded all his clothing except his E. V. D's. He was taken back to the penitentiary. Trevison was sent up from Erie county for five to ten years for attempted robbery.

A BELLEFONTE STORE IS NINETY YEARS OLD.

BY JOHN M. FLEMING. With the closing of the present week the Brachbill furniture store in this place will have completed its ninetieth year as a business establishment. The firm was established in 1841 by John Brachbill, father of the present owner on the same location, on south Spring street.

At that time the manufacture of furniture was common in the smaller towns and Mr. Brachbill supplied the needs of the people of Bellefonte. Later, with the advent of machine made household supplies, the home manufactured articles were supplemented with goods shipped over the old canal from Philadelphia and the east. Later, with the arrival of improved means of transportation such as turnpikes, larger wagons and bridges the home-made products were discontinued entirely.

In the days of canal shipping it was considered quite a feat for a load of furniture to arrive in Bellefonte without being badly marred from the rough treatment it would receive en-route. The present owner of the store is in possession of an advertisement clipped from a Bellefonte paper dated August, 1864, in which the original owner addressed those who were married and those about to be married and informed them of the care that had been exercised in order that the shipped goods might be in perfect condition on their arrival at the county seat.

In 1884, after forty-three years of service as a merchant of Bellefonte, Mr. John Brachbill was succeeded in business by his two sons, P. Calvin Brachbill, now deceased, and W. R. Brachbill who conducted the firm in partnership until 1886 when the latter took full charge and the partnership was dissolved.

After forty-five years of continued service Mr. Brachbill can look back on a record of propitious servitude, a business with a well established reputation over a period of years that cannot be equaled, a rich heritage from the past and a prosperous outlook for the future.

In charge of the business today stands three generations of Brachbills. The store has known four generations of this same family. Mr. William Brachbill, the owner; his son, Charles; and his grandson, William 2nd; are the three generations living. The original owner and founder of the firm, John Brachbill, deceased, makes the fourth.

On its ninetieth birthday we wish the firm the happiest of future days and may good fortune smile on its future as she has in the days that have past.—John Fleming.

BELLEFONTE AIRPORT WILL NOT BE VACATED.

During the past week stories have been afloat in Bellefonte that the Bellefonte airport was to be vacated in favor of Kylertown because of a disagreement between property owners there and officials of the Department of Commerce. The Watchman has it on good authority, vouched for by Robert F. Hunter who has probably been in closer touch with both the officials of the Department of Commerce and the National Air Transport than any other one man in Bellefonte, that the field will not be abandoned but will be enlarged and improved as outlined in the Watchman several weeks ago, with a strong probability that in the near future the ground, about 100 acres, will be purchased outright by the government, which will be a positive assurance of its permanency.

The fact that the Bellefonte field is as near midway between New York and Cleveland as it is possible to be, and the added fact that it is located between the Nittany range and the Allegheny mountains makes it more desirable than one where pilots would be compelled to cross both ranges to find a landing field. When the proposed enlargement and grading of the present field has been completed no airport in the country will be better adapted for landing or taking off of all kinds of planes than the Bellefonte field. And work on the enlargement will be begun in the very near future.

If the regrading of the present field will interfere with the landing of N. A. T. planes while the work is in progress they will make any emergency landings necessary at the Philipsburg airport, at Kylertown.

Apropos of the Bellefonte airport it might be stated that A. K. Lobeck, of the department of geology and mineralogy at Columbia University, New York, has in course of preparation a guide for the air route from New York to San Francisco, and Bellefonte will be mentioned as the first stopping place west of New York. Mr. Lobeck wrote to the Bellefonte "Chamber of Commerce" for some detailed information about the town in general to incorporate in his guide book and the letter being turned over to Mr. Hunter he furnished the desired information.

The United States circuit court has affirmed the decision of federal judge R. M. Gibson, of Pittsburgh, setting aside the revocation of two alcohol permits of the Barr Manufacturing company, of Tyrone, makers of perfume and other toilet articles. Several well known State College people are prominently identified with the company, and the federal court decision restores to it the right to receive alcohol and continue its manufacturing business.

Miss Bayard, for a number of years was an employee of the soldier's orphan's home at Scotland, Pa., but recently resigned her position in that institution.

AUGUST DATES ARE SET FOR UNDINE CARNIVAL.

The Undine Fire company will hold their annual carnival on August 12, 13, 14 and 15. It will be staged on their own lot, rear of the engine house on Bishop street and everybody is invited to "make whoopee" with them there.

Usually carnivals are held to make money but the plans for this one seem to indicate that the usual procedure is to be reversed, for the Undines are going to give away a deluxe Chevrolet sedan, and a great number of ten and twenty dollar good pieces.

On Wednesday evening at 7 they will give a parade in which the highly touted "Darktown Fire Brigade," of State College, will be featured. On Thursday night at the same hour another parade will be made and a fire drill and ladder exhibition on the Diamond will be its feature. Firemen from nearby towns will be here to join in both parades.

Headmaster James R. Hughes, of the Bellefonte Academy, desires to announce for the information of those interested that he will gladly welcome young ladies as day pupils at the Academy this coming year. For several years past a few young ladies have been attending classes at the Academy, special provision for their study hours being made in the school library. Mr. Hughes is glad to have young ladies avail themselves of the many advantages offered at this historic school.
