

GRANGE PICNIC COMMITTEE SEE SUCCESSFUL 1931 FAIR

The Grange Fair committee met on Grange Park, last Thursday evening, and with every member present there was a general discussion of plans and prospects for the coming fair. It was the united opinion that indications are favorable for a successful season. Each superintendent reported his department well in hand in the matter of preparations. Buildings are undergoing general improvements and repairs. Headquarters have been enlarged which will very much increase the facility in handling the complicated business of the fair and camp. Those who work there are only too familiar with the difficulties often encountered on a busy day in efforts to make things run smoothly. The horticultural building, weatherboarded and painted in accordance with the color scheme in force, will add materially to general appearances. The buildings surrounded by shrubbery are in ideal settings which in time will grow more beautiful. The superintendent of grounds has authority to purchase crushed stone for road improvement, and it will be a far cry from the mud of the early years on Grange Park to the present condition of walks and drives. However, the committee is ambitious for further improvement. Four Granges are preparing plays for evening entertainments and in view of the fact that Centre county brought home a prize from the farm show at Harrisburg, providing the splendid talent engaged in the dramatic groups in the subordinate Granges, something worth while may be expected. In this connection it may be of interest to know that Centre county was one of the first to take up this work and carry it through successfully. This year each prize has been increased $10.00 and will be paid as follows: $40.00, $30.00, $25.00 and $20.00. The premium book is in the hands of the printer and it is hoped to have it ready for distribution by August 1st. It will be a compact little booklet of 68 pages to which much thought and effort have been given. The information desired by the prospective exhibitor is given in detail and the classes and prizes listed. The great amount paid in cash prizes is evidence of the financial gain to the exhibitor.

With the score standing 8 to 6 in favor of the West Penn Power company baseball team, in the ninth inning, the Chemical Lime company nine staged a rally in the game on the Milesburg field, Tuesday evening, and scored four runs, winning by the score of 10 to 8. Luck figured largely in the Chemical victory.
