In 1927 there were 3430 sheep on the farms of Centre county. Today the number is estimated at 3710.

Mitchell I. Gardner, of Clearfield, formerly a resident of Bellefonte, has announced as a candidate for controller of Clearfield county on the Democratic ticket.

Centre county's share of gasoline tax for the first six months of this year, returned by the State, was $13,347, a voucher having been received by the County Commissioners for that amount.

In the first six months of 1931 the highway patrolmen covering the territory controlled from the Bellefonte office examined 383 applicants for license to drive motor cars. Of this number 109 failed.

The drinking fountain on the south side of High street bridge was out of commission several days during the week, and scores of people tried to get a drink without success. The foot valve worked, all right, but the water went down into the creek instead of up the fountain.

Last Saturday some one went into a field of farmer Jean Irwin, of Pennsylvania Furnace, knocked a fine heifer in the head, dismembered her right there and took the carcass away. No shot was heard during the day or night and as the animal was too heavy for anyone to carry it is presumed that the rustler was in an automobile.

We notice that the Fauble stores are offering their entire stock of boy's wash suits at a dollar a suit. Of course anything one buys at Faubles is good merchandise, so that no matter what these suits were priced at originally they must be bargains. However, what intrigues us is: How can a suit of clothes for a boy be produced so that it can be sold for a dollar, even assuming that Mr. Fauble is taking a loss on those he is offering?

Week before last one of the best horses on the farm of Miles Mechtley, down the Jacksonville road, had a leg broken by the kick of another horse and had to be shot. Last week one of his best dairy cows died as the result of a snake bite, and on Sunday evening one of "Dick" Taylor's hogs, on his farm near Mechtley's, got a stone in its throat and to keep it from choking to death the animal was butchered and turned into fresh pork.

The route will be the same as that now covered by the Edwards bus line and associated companies. The granting of the petition has been protested by several railroads and eight bus companies, among the latter being the Johnston Motor Bus company, of Bellefonte.

LIVE WIRE ELECTROCUTES HOWARD MAN ON SUNDAY.

Coming in contact with a live electric wire, near the old Long mill at Howard, some time on Sunday afternoon or evening, Roland Butler, 68 years old, was shocked to death, his left hand and arm and the upper portion of his body being badly burned. Just what time the accident happened or how are not exactly known.

LeRoy Scull and Paul Miller, of the West Penn Power company, which recently purchased the plant and franchise of the Centre Electric company, at Howard, were summoned to that place between eight and nine o'clock Sunday evening because of trouble in the service. Since taking over the Centre Electric company the West Penn has had men engaged in revamping the lines and service in general in Howard, but the work has not yet been completed. Up in the neighborhood of Long's mill are still a number of the old wires, some of them carrying the usual load of current.

From all accounts it was in that section where Scull and Miller found the trouble on Sunday night. They had made repairs and started away when Miller suggested they go back into the woods to see if they could locate the source of the trouble. With their flashlights they went into the woods just below the mill and hadn't proceeded far when they found a man lying across a live wire. They succeeded in removing him and at once notified Charles Kellerman, head of the operating department, who made a quick trip to Howard.

An investigation showed the dead man to be Roland Butler. He was found lying by the side of an old path which runs through the woods. Just how he came in contact with the wire is not known. A difference of opinion also exists as to the height of the wire from the ground. Some aver that the only way Butler could have come in contact with it was to reach up and take hold of it. Others claim that he could have brushed against it while walking along the path.

Coroner W. R. Heaton held an inquest and found that Butler came to his death by being electrocuted by a live wire which was not properly protected.

Butler is survived by his wife, who before her marriage was Miss Jane Lucas, and four children, Lawrence, at home; Mrs. Florence Dolan, of Howard, and Everett Butler, of Renovo. The whereabouts of the other son are unknown. Funeral services were held at 5.30 o'clock on Monday evening, by Rev. Johnson, of the Reformed church, burial being made in the Sand Hill cemetery.

PENNA. RAILROAD AGENT KILLS SELF AT WOODLAND.

Veris G. Henderson, for twenty-nine years station agent for the Pennsylvania Railroad at Woodland, Clearfield county, committed suicide, about four o'clock last Friday afternoon, by shooting himself in the head with a revolver. Despondency following an illness of eighteen months was assigned as the cause. He had been unable to walk for some time past and was confined to his bed. How he managed to get from his bed to his "den," where he kept the revolver and then back into bed, where the shooting took place, is a mystery to his family. Arrangements had been made to take him to the Clearfield hospital, on Saturday, to be under observation of Dr. Waterworth, and this may have precipitated his suicidal act.

Mr. Henderson was a son of John C. and Elizabeth J. Cooper Henderson and was born at Julian, this county, on November 23rd, 1879, making his age 51 years, 8 months and 8 days. His father was at one time a county commissioner of Centre county. As a young man he went to work as a clerk for the Railroad company in the station at Julian and in due time was promoted to an agent and assigned to Woodland. He was a member of the United Brethren church.

In April, 1919, he married Miss Mame Duffield, a Woodland school teacher, who survives with no children. He leaves, however, four sisters, Mrs. S. J. Taylor, Mrs. L. N. Fleck and Mrs. Ollie M. Gott, all of Altoona, and Mrs. George F. Stevenson, of Buffalo Run valley. Funeral services were held at his late home, at 2.30 o'clock on Tuesday afternoon, by Rev. M. E. Bitner, of Altoona, burial being made in the Bradford cemetery, at Woodland.

Mensch—Hartman.—About two dozen Bellefonte people motored to St. Mary's, last Saturday afternoon, to attend the wedding of Thomas Harter Mensch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Mensch, of Bellefonte, and Miss Catherine Naomi Hartman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford E. Hartman, of St. Mary's. The ceremony took place at four o'clock in St. Agnes Episcopal church, and was performed by the rector, Rev. Aaron C. Bennett. Preceding the ceremony Miss Long, of Ridgway, sang "Oh Promise Me," and the wedding party moved to the altar to the strains of the wedding march from Lohengrin.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore an informal gown of white taffeta and net with a tulle veil and lace cap. She carried a bouquet of white rosebuds and lilies of the valley and her only jewel adornment was a cameo pendant, a family heirloom. She was attended by her sister, Miss Winifred Hartman, as maid of honor, who wore a dress of pink embroidered organdie, a pink picture hat with slippers to match, and carried a bouquet of sweetheart roses.

The bridesmaids were Misses Mary Jane and Helen Hartman, also sisters of the bride; Miss Agnes Benson, of St. Mary's, and Miss Imogene Flanagan, of Brookville. Two of the bridesmaids wore embroidered orchid gowns and two embroidered green organdie. All wore large picture hats with matched slippers and carried bouquets of pink roses. The flower girl was Beverly Conrad, of St. Mary's.

The bridegroom was attended by his brother, Charles A. Mensch, of Bellefonte, as best man, while the ushers were Dr. Joseph A. Parrish and George P. Lyon, of Bellefonte; W. K. Allen, of Wexford, Pa., and J. C. Whiteman and William Hartman, of St. Mary's.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception and dance was held at the St. Mary's Country club which was attended by three hundred or more guests. The young couple are spending their honeymoon at Eagles Mere expecting to come to Bellefonte next Tuesday when they will be honor guests at a tea given by the bridegroom's mother, at the Harter home, on Allegheny street, from two to five o'clock in the afternoon, to be followed with a dinner at the Nittany Country club. The following day they will leave for Washington, Pa., where an already furnished home awaits them.

The bride is a graduate of the Pennsylvania College for Women, class of 1928, and since her graduation has been an instructor in English and history in the St. Mary's High school. Mr. Mensch is a graduate of the Bellefonte High school and State College, class of 1926, in civil engineering. Since his graduation he has been in the employ of the West Penn Power company and has won a number of promotions and, it is rumored, is being groomed for an executive position with the company.

Quigley—Wieland.—Robert Carter Quigley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Quigley, of Harrisburg, and Miss Winifred S. Wieland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Wieland, of State College, were married in Grace Lutheran church, at the College, at 11 o'clock on Monday morning, by the pastor, Rev. John F. Harbison. A reception followed the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents. Following a wedding trip through New York State Mr. and Mrs. Quigley will take up their abode in New York city where the bridegroom is associated with the R. and H. chemical branch of the DuPont Corporation.

CONVICTED MURDERERS MUST DIE IN CHAIR

Frank Powell, Frank Cantilla and Carl Crow, convicted Cambria county murderers, lost their chance for life, on Monday, when the three judges of that county, sitting en banc at Ebensburg, refused their application for a new trial on the ground that the alleged "newly discovered evidence" was not sufficient to warrant another hearing in open court. The three men were convicted of the murder of Louis Hoffman, on his farm in Cambria county, on July 24th, 1928, in an altercation over an alleged supply of moonshine liquor. Joseph Parsi, a fourth member of the gang, entered a plea of guilty after the above three had been convicted and the court also imposed the death sentence in his case.

It will be recalled that Crow and Cantilla, who were to have been electrocuted on June 2nd, were granted respite by Governor Pinchot just five hours before they were to have been taken to the chair. The other two men were to have been electrocuted on June 9th but they, also, won a respite. Crow, Cantilla and Parsi have been in the death house ever since. The four men are scheduled to die Monday morning, August 17th.

Mrs. Charlotte Wighamam, of Taylor township, was arrested by county detective Leo Boden, on Monday, on the charge of arson. She is blamed for setting fire to her home on January 19th, resulting in its total destruction. At a hearing before justice of the peace R. C. English she was held in the sum of $500 bail for her appearance at court for trial.

BOROUGH COUNCILMEN MEET AT STATE COLLEGE.

In compliance with an invitation from the borough council of State College representatives from the borough councils of Bellefonte, Howard, Philippsburg and Snow Shoe attended a dinner meeting at the State College hotel on Wednesday evening of last week. Bellefonte was represented by burgess Hardman P. Harris and councilmen John S. Walker, W. J. Emerick, Thomas Beaver and E. E. Ardery. The meeting was called ostensibly to discuss public utilities and their relation to boroughs but in reality it was to further Governor Pinchot's fight against utility companies in general.

This fact developed when the speaker of the evening was introduced. He proved to be John M. Walker, of Harrisburg, the Governor's special counsel in his fight against the utility companies. And the entire tenor of Mr. Walker's talk was a plea for support of the Pinchot program. He cited statistics which he claimed were convincing proof that the consumer is paying anywhere from 25 to 40 per cent. more for his electric service and water than he should pay. He gave a comparison of prices between municipally conducted utility companies and private ownership, greatly to the detriment of the latter. But he did say that of all the utility companies in the State the West Penn Power company, which serves the people of Centre county with electrical power and light, has the most reasonable rates of any in Pennsylvania.

Burgess E. E. Lederer presided at the meeting and Mrs. M. Campbell, secretary of the borough council of State College, was chosen temporary secretary. It was voted to form a county organization and a committee to be composed of one representative from each of the five boroughs represented at the meeting will formulate plans for the organization. Burgess Hardman P. Harris was appointed, Monday evening, at the meeting of borough council as Bellefonte's member of the committee.

SCHOOL APPROPRIATIONS RECEIVED THIS WEEK.

The various school districts throughout Centre county received their semi-annual appropriations this week, a total of $110,666.98, about the largest ever received. One year ago the total amount of the appropriation allotted to Centre county was $95,867.41. One of the biggest items of increase is accounted for in the number of schools closed in the county through consolidation, a total of $7,300. Twenty-one districts benefitted in this way in sums ranging from $100 to $700, Boggs township being credited with the largest amount. Other increases are accounted for in the increase of enrollment, Philippsburg being the biggest gainer in this respect, receiving an increase of $2583.20. Bellefonte received $367.51 more than a year ago. Following is a statement of the amount received this year, by districts, and the amount on the same date last year:

PSYCHOPATHIC CONVICT DIES FROM CRUSHED SKULL

James Araeri, an Italian convict in the psychopathic ward at Rock view penitentiary, died late Sunday evening, as the result of a fracture skull received at the hands of another inmate, John Dunsmore, negro on Tuesday of last week. The latter was also an inmate of the psychopathic ward.

There was no quarrel between the two men. They were working together on one of the prison farm when Dunsmore got hold of a piece of iron that had been broken from a cultivator. He hit the Italian twice on the head, causing a basifracure. He did not deny the assault but admitted hitting him and gave as the reason that "he didn't like the fellow."

Araeri, who was about 36 years old, had no friends or relatives in this country and his remains were buried in the penitentiary cemetery, on Monday afternoon. He had been sent up from Allegheny county.

Dunsmore, who was sent up from Crawford county for five to ten years for larceny, will have to face trial for murder in the Centre county court. He will be kept in the psychopathic ward at Rockview until the date of his trial.
