

Bellefonte, Pa., August 21, 1931.

GRANGE FAIR WILL OPEN UNOFFICIALLY TOMORROW.

The Grange Fair has been fortunate this year in securing two splendid speakers, both well known and representing the interests which are back of the fair. Hon. E.S. Dorsett, Master of Pennsylvania State Grange, and Hon. John McSparran, Secretary of Agriculture, without doubt the two leading minds working for agricultural betterment and improved rural conditions. Both always have an important message and are able to get it to their audiences in a manner clear and forceful.

There will be other speakers during the week-one of whom will be Hon. J. Banks Kurtz, of Altoona, long a Congressman with Blair county as part of his district. The Congressional reorganization now includes Centre county in that district and as a consequence it is very important the people of Centre county have this opportunity to hear Mr. Kurtz state his views on national affairs. And no better place could be found than the Grange Fair for him to meet and become acquainted with the good people of Centre county,-a representative gathering. Dr. W. C. Dunlap, formerly pastor of St. Matthew's Lutheran church, Reading, now retired and a resident of Tyrone, will have charge of the harvest home services in the auditorium on Sunday afternoon. Special music is being planned for the service and no doubt it will be impressive as in the past years,--a good beginning for the week.

The public must be entertained as well as instructed, so ball games ar-ranged for each day play a big part Kinney. Floyd Palmer, well as instructed, so ball games arin the pleasure it is believed each person will receive while attending the fair. Skilled teams have been secured and visitors are assured all the usual thrills will be experienced. The new bleachers will add greatly to the comfort of the spectators. A small charge will be made for their use
