

A HODGE-PODGE OF NEWSY INCIDENTS.

Last week a bevy of Bellefonte girls, members of a certain Sunday school class, were in camp along the Bald Eagle creek between Milesburg and Curtin, the young lady teacher of the class going down to spend the evening and nights with them.

Bellefonte's big spring is an attraction that never fails on the public. Some days ago an auto load of tourists stopped and after quaking their thirst at the drinking fountain went inside to take a look at the spring.

Several Sundays ago a certain Bellefonte woman went to church, the first time in several months, but she didn't enjoy the very able sermon, not even a little bit.

Last Saturday morning residents on east Howard street discovered a young girl crouching among the tall weeds of an uncultivated lot in that locality.

A Bellefonte merchant who does a county-wide business started out, last Friday, with a sheaf of bills to make collections.

Two men, both officers in the Y. M. C. A., spent Friday evening at the Y bowling. At least that is where they said they were but the next morning they discovered that they were each wearing the other fellow's coat.

The Lamb street bridge builders have the abutments all in place, the superstructure of the old bridge removed and ready to start work on the erection of the new ironwork.

TRIAL LIST FOR SEPTEMBER COURT.

A Commonwealth case which will be heard at the September term of court will be that against John Dunsmore, a psychopathic patient at Rockview penitentiary, for causing the death of James Araeri, on the evening of August 2nd, by hitting him on the head with a piece of iron.

One of the cases listed for trial during the second week of court is the already famous action of John H. Detwiler against Musser E. Coldren over the ownership of a narrow strip of land on the top of Nittany mountain.

Following is the complete list of civil cases down for trial:

Sarah M. Gallagher vs. Lulu Roland Hollenback. Assumpsit, non-assumpsit.

The Borough of State College, vs. Trustees Phi Lambda Theta Fraternity, Municipal lien.

The Borough of State College vs. Clarence R. Anderson, Municipal lien.

TOURISTS ASK REGARDING SCENIC ROUTES IN STATE

Popularity of Pennsylvania as a tourist destination is testified by the queries received at the Pennsylvania department of highways bureau of information, recently established in the capitol rotunda.

Analysis of a week's activity in the bureau revealed 75 per cent of the requests were for points of interest, routes and suggestions, of assistance in seeing Pennsylvania.

Comparatively few of the queries mentioned definite points to be visited, asking the bureau to suggest tours of varying lengths, sometimes to include the hometown of a relative or friends.

Callers and correspondents from other States fail to mention Pennsylvania mountains and lakes. Interest in altitudes is evident.

Letters of thanks and commendation for the bureau's service in directing motorists have been numerous. He letters are unanimous in praising Pennsylvania's road system and scenery.

The department has distributed more than 200,000 free tourist maps, this season, with a steady demand continuing.

EAST TEXAS BOASTS GREATEST OIL POOL.

The new eastern Texas oil field is so vast that six of the largest pools in the United States could be superimposed upon it.

A study of the geology and economic importance of the field reveals that its immense size, the consistent results of drilling and its effect upon the industry have not yet been realized by the most experienced and far sighted oilmen.

A map of the field shows that the Lathrop pool is so large that the Hobbs pool, of New Mexico, heretofore considered of immense proportions, could be tucked into it, with plenty of room left over for the Oklahoma City and Seminole pools.

The long, narrow Kettleman Hills (Calif.) field would stretch its length from the lower reaches of the Joiner pool, of Rusk county, and extend through the Kilgore pool into southern Gregg county.

It is the bodies of these shellfish, lying at an approximate depth of 3500 feet, that have turned into oil.

Oil comes from what geologists know as woodbine sand in this particular field. The fact that this sand occurs at almost the same depth in all parts of the field has contributed in a large measure to the sensational exploitation, as drilling costs are thus considerably lower.

The thickness of the woodbine sand varies from a few feet on the eastern side of the field to 60 or 70 feet thick about two miles west of the eastern limit of the field in the Lathrop pool.

PRICE OF JULY MILK ADVANCES

Members of the Dairymen's League Co-operative Association will receive a base net pool price of $1.25 for July milk, according to a statement issued at the New York office of the Association August 15.

This is an increase of 13 cents over the June price. This improvement in price is due largely to the greater percentage of milk sold through fluid channels and more favorable dispositions of surplus.

General conditions in the milk market during the month improved only slightly. The continued low buying power of consumers lagged far below normal levels.

The volume of milk showed an approximate increase of 33,000,000 pounds over July 1930.

THE PROFESSOR'S LOVE STORY.

"I dreamed that I was walking from Oregon to Maine, on a bet, and all at once I seemed to be here, and you were telling me again that you loved me!"

"Yes, yes," said young Professor Loebler as the rabbit, they say, makes one last despairing struggle.

"I'll tell you about it when you—when you recover from the shock of returning to—er—to complete consciousness."

"But you really were telling me that you loved me?" she wistfully insisted.

"For as long as it might take an earthquake to shake down a building, he looked into her eyes—deeply—deeply."

"Yes, dear," he whispered then. "And always will?"

"Yes, dear." "And some day we'll be married?" "As soon as the spring term's over, if you wish."

For as young Professor Loebler told himself later that night—after he had phoned to Ell that Professor Abrams needn't come because the subject had fully recovered, and after he and Helen had dined and danced at the Green Bay Tree, where he had seen Miss Koch and had told her his wonderful news—"A master of psychology should be the last person in the world to fear marriage."

He understands the workings of the feminine mind too well." Hearst's International Cosmopolitan.
