

NEWS ABOUT TOWN AND COUNTY.

The Harrisburg Telegraph celebrated its one hundredth anniversary with a 76 page edition, on Monday.

All of the Republican candidates for nomination got together at a dinner at the Nittany Country Club, last evening. It was in the nature of a political love-feast on the eve of the primary.

Monday being Labor day the majority of borough councilmen were away some where celebrating so that a sufficient number for a quorum could not be rounded up for the regular meeting, Monday night.

The board of directors of the Bellefonte Y. M. C. A. are getting things lined up for their big membership drive, the latter part of this month. They have set their goal at one thousand members, which will be an increase over the present membership.

James B. Burke, a Junior at State College, and a native of Liberty township, has been selected as one of the thirty-one American and Canadian college students to receive fellowships entitling them to eight weeks training in business and agricultural leadership.

Sherman Lutz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Lutz, of Fillmore, one of Centre county's skilled aviators, has invited Capt. Frank Hawkes, one of America's speed pilots, to be his guest for a week during the deer hunting season in Centre county in December.

More marriage licenses were issued in Centre county, during the past week, than in any week this year, which doesn't look like hard times. But according to reports most of the couples are so situated financially, that they are not dependent on a job of any kind.

G. Oscar Gray has leased a plot of ground at Hecla park and has built a comfortable bungalow thereon, where he and Mrs. Gray will rusticate and entertain their friends during the outing season. His is the fourth bungalow now located at that place, all owned by Bellefonte people.

Bellefonte's new thrift bank will be opened in the room in the Penn Belle hotel building now occupied by Sager's post-card shop. It is thought that it will be ready for business by the 21st of this month. Mr. Kingsley, of Howard, son-in-law of Dr. W. J. Kurtz, has been chosen manager of the new corporation.

In the neighborhood of twenty-five candidates for the football team have arrived at the Bellefonte Academy and are in preliminary training under coach William Guterson. As the Academy will not open for the school year until Tuesday of next week it is impossible to tell how large the attendance will be.

The iron work of the new Lamb street bridge is all in place and water superintendent J. D. Seibert has the new 12-inch water main laid across the bridge and by the end of the week will probably have it connected with the main line of pipe put down on Lamb street some time ago. When the connection is made the new pump at the Gamble mill property will be able to do capacity work.

Among the eight 4-H club members who will represent the State at Camp Vail, an activity of the Eastern States Exposition at Springfield, Mass., September 20th to 26th, is one from State College, William Everhart. Four boys and four girls will compose the group. The boys will construct and refinish various kinds of furniture while the girls will bleach, dye and make such articles as lamp shades.

We regret to note that Mrs. Henry C. Quigley died at her home on Linn street, about noon yesterday. She had not been in good health for a year or more and on Wednesday was found unconscious on the floor in her home. She responded to no treatment and remained in a state of coma until the end. No arrangements had been made for the funeral at the time of our going to press with this edition.

By defeating Centre Hall in the Labor day game on Hughes field, Monday, the Bellefonte baseball team won the second part of the Centre county league season. As Centre Hall were the champions of the first part of the season they will now play a series of five games with Bellefonte for the full season championship and the trophy cup. If the Bellefonte team continues playing as good ball as it has during the past month they should land the cup.

The Logan Fire company's new pumper, which was expected to reach Bellefonte last Thursday, did not arrive until Friday and up until this writing has not been officially tested by an underwriter's engineer nor accepted by the company. Of course there is hardly any doubt but that the new fire fighting apparatus will meet every requirement claimed for it. With it in service Bellefonte will have a fire department with an equipment on a par with towns double its size. But with all its equipment there has so far been no reduction in fire insurance rates.

DUBOIS BOY KILLED ENROUTE TO HOME. Family Reunion Turned Into A House of Mourning.

What was to have been a happy family reunion at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Conway, in DuBois, on Labor day, was turned into a house of mourning through an automobile accident, on the Bald Eagle State highway, at an early hour, Saturday morning, in which an 18-year old son, Mearle Conway, was instantly killed and five other people were more or less seriously injured and at this writing are patients in the Centre County hospital under treatment.

The automobile party consisted of Mearle Conway, the driver of the car; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Conway and two year old daughter, Jean Lucille; Mrs. Robert Schock, a sister of the Conway men, and her two children, Robert Dale Schock, three years old, and Edwin, 18 months. The party were on their way from Reading to DuBois for a family reunion at the parental home. They left Reading between eleven and twelve o'clock Friday night. Motoring up Bald Eagle valley they ran into a dense fog and between Unionville and Julian the driver got off the road and ran head-on into the concrete abutment of a culvert. It is just possible that he had fallen asleep at the wheel and the fog prevented other members of the party from seeing the culvert until it was too late to avoid hitting it.

Young Conway was killed instantly, his skull being badly crushed. The other members of the party were brought to the Centre County hospital.

Mrs. Sarah Conway, wife of Charles Conway, suffered a badly fractured leg, numerous lacerations and body bruises.

Robert Dale Schock also suffered a broken leg and bad cuts and bruises.

All the others in the party were cut and bruised but not seriously. Mearle Conway, who was killed, had been living with his brother Charles and family and was employed by the Reading Textile company. The Schock family live in Philadelphia but Mrs. Schock and children had gone to Reading to accompany the other members of the family to DuBois for the reunion. The dead youth is survived by his parents, three brothers and four sisters. A DuBois undertaker came to Bellefonte, Saturday, and conveyed the remains to that place.

CLINTON COUNTY FARMER KILLED BY RUNAWAY TEAM.

Wallace Victor Strouse, a well known farmer of Greenburr, Clinton county, was instantly killed, on Tuesday afternoon, when a team he was driving ran away.

Mr. Strouse had gone to the farm of William Allen, adjoining his own, to help thresh buckwheat. He was on his way home when his team became frightened and ran away. Thrown from the wagon Strouse sustained a broken neck, dying instantly.

The unfortunate man was a son of William and Matilda Stover Strouse and was born on February 10th, 1884, hence was in his 48th year. On August 18th, 1909, he married Miss Eva Brooks, of Pleasant Gap, who died in February, 1925. On September 16th, 1930, he married Mrs. Kathryn Beck, of Spring Mills. She survives with the following children to his first wife: Doyle F. and Ernest W. Strouse, of Mill Hall; Leonore E. and Ruth B., of Bellefonte; Mylie, Margaret, Theodore, Duane and Thelma, at home. He also leaves three step-children, William, Thelma and Helen Beck, as well as six brothers and three sisters, Mrs. A. C. Bressler, of Greenburr; Mrs. William Stively and Charles Strouse, of Renovo; W. A. Strouse, of Mill Hall; Cleve and Henry, of Salona; Robert, of Spring Mills; James, of Rockport, Ill., and Mrs. C. H. Weber, of Flemington.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow morning, burial to be made in Cedar Hill cemetery.

HOWARD HUNTING CAMP SCENE OF BIG PARTY.

Sunday, September 6, was a notable day for those who were at the camp of the Howard hunting club in the Seven mountains. The day was spent in social intercourse, but its feature was the delicious dinner that was served.

Those who were there to enjoy it were: Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Glenn and son Ralph, of Cleveland, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. Paul Parker and daughter Pauline, of Jersey Shore; Mr. and Mrs. Kling Yearick and daughter Patricia, Mr. and Mrs. Marion Pletcher and son Robert, of Howard; Parker Glenn, Mary Speece, Rachel Glenn and Helen Hambaker, of Harrisburg; Prof. Harold Williams, of Ithaca, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Glenn and son Paul Richard, Mary Elizabeth Glenn and Mrs. Ella Harm, of Mt. Eagle; Mrs. Alice Parker, Mrs. Mabel Morrison, Mr. and Mrs. Willard Barnhart, son Kenneth and daughter Lois and Miss Helen Glenn, all of Bellefonte; Francis Glenn, Martha Glenn and Frank Chamberlain, of New York; Malcolm Freiler, of Wilkes-Barre, and Walter Glenn, of Williamsport.

COMMISSIONERS WILL NOT AUTHORIZE MACHINES

Richard J. Beamish, Secretary of the Commonwealth, has advertised for bids to supply voting machines for use in Philipsburg borough.

The County Commissioners continue to stand pat against the purchase of the machines or paying for them on order of the Secretary of the Commonwealth, according to the statement of Commissioner John Specially, on Saturday.

The law requires one machine for each 600 voters, or fraction thereof in a precinct, and in boroughs one machine must be held in reserve in case one of the regular machines is broken or gets out of order. This means that four machines will be the required number needed for Philipsburg.

In 1929 the Legislature passed an amendment to the act legalizing the adoption of voting machines which authorizes the Secretary of the Commonwealth to purchase machines for any election district in the State where the voters approved their purchase and have the bill sent to the county for payment. It is under this amendment that Secretary Beamish is advertising for machines for Philipsburg.

Commissioner Specially stated that when the contract for the machines is awarded the firm receiving it will probably be notified not to fill the order as the Commissioners will not pay for the machines.

In the same amendment under which Secretary Beamish is proceeding the Commissioners have a good-sized loop-hole of evading payment. The act states:

"If current funds will not be available *** it shall be the duty of the County Commissioners to submit to the electors, at the same election at which the adoption of voting machines is to be voted on, the question whether the indebtedness of such county shall be increased sufficient to pay for such machines, if adopted."

This question was submitted to the voters along with the one for the adoption of the machines, at the general election in 1929, and while Philipsburg voters voted in favor of voting machines they defeated, by a decisive vote, the legal means prescribed for raising money to pay for them.

According to the last annual statement the county has a bonded debt of $100,000 and outstanding notes exceeding $111,000, or a total of $211,000. The Commissioners reduced the millage this year from 10 to 8, which will mean about $35,000 less for running expenses, so that there is actually no money available to purchase voting machines at about $1100 per.

In addition to the above the Commissioners claim that Philipsburg voters are not anxious to have the machines now, so why buy them?

PRETTY KETTLE OF FISH UP AT STATE COLLEGE.

There is a pretty kettle of fish in municipal affairs up at State College and officials of the borough are now trying to unscramble the situation they have gotten into. It appears that two years or more ago the borough annexed an outlying district known as "Manor Hills." At the municipal election in 1929 Capt. E. E. Lederer, who gave his residence as Manor Hills, was elected Burgess.

Later residents of the annexed portion protested against being taken into the borough and took the matter to court. Recently Judge Fleming rendered a decision in which he sustained the contention of the protestants and decided that the annexation was not legal. In the meantime Capt. Lederer has been filling the office of Burgess, has signed ordinances and official borough papers and the question now before State College people is, will his official acts stand the test of law?

Tax duplicates which the past two years have contained the names of residents of the Manor Hills section are being changed and relocated in College township. What the outcome will be remains to be seen.

SEPTEMBER GRAND JURY IN SESSION THIS WEEK.

The grand jury for the September term of court met, on Tuesday morning. Andrew Kosko, of Clarence, was appointed foreman. District attorney John G. Love had seventy-two bills of indictment for presentation to the jury, though it is just possible some of them will be held over until the next term of court. The quarter sessions docket for the September term contains 205 separate returns, the largest list ever known in Centre county, the largest heretofore being 188. As most of the cases are petty misdemeanors, it is quite possible that a lot of the defendants will plead guilty.

The John Thrifty store, in Temple Court, was not thrifty enough to stem the tide of depression and closed its doors, last week, leaving quite a number of bills unpaid. The stores in Lock Haven and State College were also closed.

BEE TREES YIELD A RICH HARVEST OF HONEY.

Hundreds of Pounds Taken from Seven Trees by Zimmermans.

William Zimmerman and son, Harry L., of Reynolds avenue, Bellefonte, have a sweet way of beating Old Man Depression. When they are not busy at their trade of painting and paper hanging they hie to the woods and hunt bee trees.

The Zimmermans are noted hunters of all kinds of wild animals and birds, and are just as successful in hunting bees. This fall they have found thirteen trees so far. Seven of the trees have been cut and six are still standing. According to the elder Zimmerman this has been an especially good honey year. The smallest yield from any of the seven trees cut was 25 pounds of honey, while the best yield was 75 pounds. The total amount of honey taken so far was well over 400 pounds.

The honey is taken home and rectified by heating it in a warm oven then squeezing out the liquid honey through a coarse cloth. It is then put in quart jars and sealed tight for use as needed. From the bee trees cut this year the Zimmermans have over 200 quarts of liquid honey, not counting the big supply of beeswax obtained in the rectifying process. If the other six trees they still have to cut yield the same ratio of honey they will have in the neighborhood of 400 quarts of pure honey as the result of their bee hunting this year.

So far as known the Zimmermans are the only bee hunters in this section. There was a time when most every woodsman was skilled in the art of hunting bee trees. But the end of the lumbering industry in Centre county meant also the passing of the old-time lumberman and the younger generation knows little of the art of hunting bees. And an art it is, at that. But to the Zimmermans it is merely a question of good eyesight and mathematical calculation.

Using honey or a combination of syrup and sugar as a bait they proceed to the woods and put out the bait. When the bees begin to work they note the general direction from which they come and go. Then the bait is moved to another location until the direction of the tree is located. When this is done two baits are used, one at the foot of each leg of a triangle. When the definite course of the bees has been established the bait is gradually moved closer and closer to the apex of the triangle and always leads right up to the bee tree.

INTERESTING SERVICE OPENS HERE TODAY.

Priests and acolytes from many parishes of Central Pennsylvania are expected to attend the first acolyte festival of the Diocese of Harrisburg to be held in Saint John's Episcopal church, Bellefonte, Friday evening and Saturday of this week. The guests will register and vest in the Parish house in time for the procession of the opening service in the church promptly at 8 o'clock Friday evening. This service will consist of a shortened form of evensong and solemn procession of choir, acolytes and priests. The preacher at this service will be the Rev. Dr. John Rathbone Oliver, noted psychiatrist and eminent author of the staff of Calvary church, Baltimore, and professor of medicine at Johns Hopkins University. Following this service the boys will enjoy a swim in one of the local pools.

On Saturday morning at 7:30 there will be low celebration of the Holy Communion followed by breakfast in the Parish house. At 9:30 in the church Father Oliver will hold a conference with the boys, and while the two services will be open to the public, this conference will be only for men and boys. At the close of the conference there will be a period of recreation followed by luncheon in the Parish house and the close of the festival. The rector of Saint John's is very fortunate in securing such a prominent person as Dr. Oliver for this first festival and is happy to be able to invite the people of Bellefonte to see and hear such an eminent man. Dr. Oliver is perhaps best known by his writings. Go and hear him!

FIREARMS PERMITS ARE BEING ISSUED BY SHERIFF

In a statement given the press, a week ago, by Secretary of the Commonwealth Beamish Centre county was listed as one of twenty-one counties which had not secured permits to comply with the law regulating the ownership and carrying of firearms.

It might be true that the county commissioners did not get a supply of permits from the printer designated by Secretary Beamish, but they got the permits, just the same and turned them over to Sheriff Dunlap with authorization to issue same to any and all applicants who, in his judgment, had sufficient reasons for carrying a gun. To date the sheriff has issued only 26 permits, which looks as if this is a law-abiding community.

NEWS PURELY PERSONAL.

Marshall Cook, wife and little son Charles, came in from Ambridge and spent Labor day at the home of his father, Charles F. Cook.

Capt. W. H. Fry, of Pine Grove Mills, mingled among the Civil war veterans at their annual G. A. R. day, at Lakemont park, Altoona, on Saturday.

Carl W. Beck was in from Pittsburgh, for the Labor day vacation, which he spent with relatives of his wife, the late Mrs. Laura Harrison Beck, here and at State College.

A party of eighteen, originated by the Garman and Lukenbach families, of Tyrone, celebrated Labor day with an all day picnic at Edgetown, the Garman summer home at Axe Mann.

Rev. William E. Downes, of Bellefonte, and Rev. B. A. O'Hanlon, of State College, were in Altoona, on Monday, attending the dedication of the new Cathedral of the Blessed Sacrament.

Owing to the opening of the city schools Mrs. Joseph Baker has closed her summer home, at Wingate, and taken the children back to Pittsburgh after being here since early in the season.

Miss Zoe Meek, supervising principal of the schools of Snow Shoe township, was in Bellefonte both Monday and Tuesday of this week, having driven in from Snow Shoe to look after some business relative to her school work.

Miss Pearl Royer and Miss Rose Blumrich, of Niagara Falls, spent Sunday and Labor day in Bellefonte. Returning home, Monday afternoon, they were accompanied by Mrs. Clark Carson, who will spend two weeks with the Royer family, at the Falls.

Dr. Louis E. Freidman, of New York city, Mrs. Freidman and their two daughters, are spending three weeks on a Caribbean cruise, visiting all places of interest in the West Indies. Mrs. Freidman was formerly Miss Edith Holz, and a native of Bellefonte.

Miss Helen Farrar went out to Pittsburgh, last Friday, on business connected with the organization of the Centre County Thrift Corporation, of which she was the instigator and has given much of her time to the sale of stock, etc. She returned home on Monday.

Godfrey, the elder of Mr. and Mrs. Robert V. Lyons' two sons, and a friend, stopped in Bellefonte for several hours, Monday, on their way from Buffalo, N. Y., to attend the races at Tip-top. Godfrey has a number of friends here owing to the frequent visits he makes to Bellefonte with his parents.

Mrs. Elsie Rankin Helliwell went down to Atlantic City, last Friday night, for an indefinite stay at the Shore. Miss Mary Rankin and Miss Nina Lamb spent their Labor day vacation on a motoring trip to Baltimore and Annapolis, Md., and Washington, D. C., leaving Bellefonte last Saturday morning and returning Monday evening.

Miss M. C. Snyder, with her niece, Mrs. Daly and the latter's two children, Dolores and Mary Edith, went to Washington, Tuesday, where Miss Snyder will visit at the Daly home for several days before going on to New York to do her early winter buying. Mrs. Daly and the children had been in Bellefonte for almost two months.

Miss Elizabeth Hunter left, Tuesday, to return to Swarthmore to resume her school work, after spending the summer vacation in Bellefonte with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Hunter. Miss Hunter lives at Swarthmore but goes from there to Springdale and Oakdale, where she is in charge of music in the schools of both places.

Lafayette Houck and Harry Sypherd were motor guests of William Swarmer on a drive here from Birdsboro, Saturday. Mr. Swarmer having come up for a visit with Mrs. Swarmer's relatives, the Samuel Shirk family. Mr. Houck said the sole object of his visit to Bellefonte was to see the fish and get a drink of the water, of which he had heard so much.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul McGarvey drove down to Narberth, Sunday, to see Mrs. McGarvey's mother, Mrs. William McClure, who has been for a month or more at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Murdoch Clancy, while undergoing treatment by a Philadelphia specialist. Mrs. McClure has not been in good health for some time and her coersion up to this time has shown no decided change.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur F. Harris, their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Adrian Roberts and their two children, drove up from Harrisburg, Saturday, for a day's visit with Mr. Harris' brother, Hardman P. Harris, at the Harris home on Howard street. The drive to Bellefonte was made while the Roberts family was over from East Orange, N. J., for a Labor day visit at Mrs. Roberts' former home in Harrisburg.

The Misses Louise and Angela Carpeneto, daughters of Mrs. Louis Carpeneto, of south Allegheny street, left, early Sunday morning, by motor for Toronto, Canada, where they will be guests of their aunt, Mrs. John Cuneo and family. The purpose of their visit to Canada at this time is that they might attend the exposition which opened August 28th and will continue through the greater part of September. The Misses Carpeneto anticipate spending a week or ten days in Toronto.

Jack Yeager accompanied Phil Ray to New York, last week, on the hunt of a job. Cards received from him by his parents state that so far he has failed to land one but he is going to stick to it until thoroughly convinced that there is nothing for him to do. Hunting a job in New York these days is some undertaking. According to reports hundreds of experienced men are parading the streets day after day offering to work for ten and twelve dollars a week without finding an opening.

J. Orvis Peters, of Stormtown, was in Bellefonte, Tuesday morning, talking over the political situation in the county and, like the most of us, admitted that the outcome of the primaries next Tuesday is something for better prophets than he to predict. Mr. Peters' sons, the Peters Bros., Clarence and George, are in Hagerstown, Maryland, this week. They are attending fairs with their exhibit of thorough-bred Holstein cattle and since opening at the Granger picnic at Centre Hall, they have been to Lewis town, are now at Hagerstown, and will be on the road until well into October. In addition to advertising their farms as the home of pure bred cattle and hogs the Peters boys are winning a lot of blue ribbons and cash, as well.

Miss Anne H. Hoy is a surgical patient in the Centre County hospital having been admitted last evening.

Frederic Dale, of Oak Hill, was week-end guest of his brother, Ralph Dale and wife, at their home on Sprit street.

Midshipman R. D. Adams, of Annapolis, a former Academy student, spent the week-end in Bellefonte as a guest of Henry S. Linn.

R. B. Freeman, who has spent the summer at the Nittany Country club, returned to his home in Philadelphia for the fall and winter.

The J. M. Curtin family, who have been occupying the Cooke home on ea Linn street, for two months, returned their home in Pittsburgh yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. James Thompson, New York city, were among the tourists at The Markland this week, stopping here enroute to Canada. Mrs. Thompson is well known in Bellefonte as Miss Margaret Walsh.

H. T. McDowell, of Howard, was in Bellefonte for a short time Wednesday afternoon and favored this office with a call. Harry doesn't come to town often as he once did, but he still loves to talk politics.

Miss Hale, her house guest, Miss Ella Switzer, of Orlando, Florida and Miss Mull, drove over from Philipsburg, Thursday of last week, and spent several hours in Bellefonte, making son calls on a few of their friends from their car.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Otto and the two children drove over from Johnstown, Saturday, for the Kern-Frabbert wedding supper, given at the Kern home immediately following the marriage of Mrs. O. to's niece, Virginia Kern and Joseph Frabbert Jr.

Mrs. Guy W. Lyons and her two daughters, Helen and Jeanette, were over to Mt. Carmel, Wednesday of last week, and were joined there, Sunday, by Mr. Lyons and their son "Bobby," a spending Labor day there as guests of relatives of the Lyons family.

Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Garman with Jennie Irwin and Isabelle Gettig, as motor guests, spent Labor day on a drive to Lewisburg, where they visited Mr. Garman's cousin, Miss Alina Schaefer, later continuing their drive to include all places of interest in that section.

The Hon. and Mrs. Robert M. Foster, of State College, with Mrs. Foster's father, Maj. Thompson A. Snyder, at motoring through the Virginias. Doubtless Bob is enjoying the pure Democratic atmosphere of the Old Dominion, while Maj. Snyder is reminiscing on the battle fields that he once fought over.

Rev. S. B. Evans, pastor of the Newberry Methodist church, who will preach in the Bellefonte church, Sunday morning, will be a guest of Judge and Mrs. M. Ward Fleming during his visit to Bellefonte. He was pastor of the Methodist church, in Philipsburg, while the Flemings were residents of that place.

Charles Lukenbach of Detroit, Michigan and his two sisters, Mrs. Harry James and Pittsburgh, and Mrs. C. M. McCoy, of Lewistown, spent Tuesday here with few of their friends. The Lukenbach family are all natives of the town and lived here the greater part of their lives consequently their occasional visits to Bellefonte are just visits back home.

Geo. G. Vest, grandson of the late Senator G. S. Vest who represented Missouri in the upper house of Congress for thirty six years, was in Bellefonte Tuesday night. He was a guest of Charles McC. Scott while here, the two men having been room-mates while they were students at Princeton. Mr. Vest was on his way home to St. Louis after having spent his vacation on "Eastern Shore," Maryland.

Col. Frederic A. Dale, U. S. A., drove up to Bellefonte, last Saturday, and will be here for several weeks, a guest at the home of his brother, Dr. David Dale. I have been five years since the Colonel has been back to the scenes of his boyhood. He is stationed at Baltimore, while it is only a four hour run from his city to Bellefonte perhaps his friends in Centre county will see him more frequently in the future.

Mrs. Mottter and Mrs. Minnie Schreyer Sigbee, the two daughters of the late Charles A. Schreyer, of Chicago, brought the ashes of their father to Bellefonte Tuesday, for burial in the Schreyer lot in the Union cemetery. Both women remained in Bellefonte for a short visit with their aunt, Mrs. Mary Galbraith Woodring, and their cousins, the Garman and Harper families, being home guests while here of Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Harper, at their home on east Bishop street.

Ira Harpster, of Warriors Mark, with his niece, Mrs. Alva Johnson, and her two daughters, Violet Johnson and Mrs. Edith Rider, were Bellefonte visitors on Tuesday. When we saw the party the ladies were having considerable merriment out of the fact that "Uncle Ira" was scared clear off the highway by a big truck that seems to have no rights whatever. Some of them do act just that way. Often we have longed to have some kind of an armored juggernaut so that we would be safe in tearing right in and making sausage of some of these "road hogs" we meet.

Bellefonte had two distinguished visitors over Wednesday night in the persons of Judges William H. Keller and Robert S. Gawthrop, of the Superior Court of Pennsylvania. Judge Gawthrop had never seen Bellefonte and as Judge Keller has never lost his love for and pride in the town of his birth he brought him clear up here from Lancaster for no other purpose than to show just why once a Bellefonter means always a Bellefonter. In the party were Mrs. Keller and her daughter and Mrs. Gawthrop and her son. They saw the Big Spring the big fish and other things we point to with pride, called on a few friends spent the night at The Markland and motored back to the Keller home in Lancaster yesterday morning. Judge Gawthrop is from West Chester, Chester county, and inasmuch as his term on the Superior Court bench expires next year he will likely be a candidate for re-election.
