

NEWS ABOUT TOWN AND COUNTY.

The annual Thanksgiving market by the Ladies' Aid of St. John's Reformed church will be held Wednesday, November 25th, at the Variety store.

We note that Bald Eagle creek is among the "well known trout waters" in Pennsylvania that the Fish Commission stocked during September.

Governor Pinchot, on Monday, appointed Miss Florence Dible, of Johnstown, and Jesse B. Warriner, of Lansford, members of the Board of Trustees of the Pennsylvania State College.

We regret that a break in our typesetting machine yesterday morning made it impossible for us to get our correspondence from Howard, Boalsburg and Unionville in type for this issue. A number of other interesting items of news also missed publication because of this mishap.

It is estimated that the eight thousand banks in the country that run Christmas savings clubs will pay out, during the next two or three weeks, six hundred million dollars. With that vast sum of money loosened up there ought to be a slight spurt, at least, in the mercantile business.

The Watchman, last week, gave Miss Vera Hummel, of Philipsburg, credit with being the first foreman of a grand jury in Centre county, which we have since learned was not correct. Mrs. R. S. Brouse, of Bellefonte, was the first, having served in that capacity at the May term of court in 1928.

Centre county appointments made by Governor Pinchot, last week, included Edward H. Harris, Snow Shoe, a forest ranger at a salary of $1080 per year, and Paul N. Brouse, Boalsburg, a journeyman in the department of forests and waters, at a salary of $1380 a year. Harris is a son of Dr. and Mrs. Edward H. Harris, of Snow Shoe, and will undoubtedly make a good ranger.

About 6 o'clock last Thursday evening a straw shed in the rear of Miles' store, in Milesburg, caught fire and the shed, an old stable and another small building were entirely destroyed. Bellefonte firemen responded to a call for assistance but when they got there the Milesburg firemen had the flames under control and the fire was confined to the out buildings. How it originated is not known.

A really great treat is in store for those who will attend the Methodist church Sunday evening, Nov. 22, when Dr. George W. Reese, Supt., and surgeon-in-chief of the Shamokin State hospital, will speak. He will have the same quartette of Welsh miners, that accompanied him on last Mother's day, a service never to be forgotten. This is a great opportunity to hear a charming speaker and good singing.

At a meeting of the Associated Charities of Bellefonte, Wednesday evening, W. J. Emerick, offered free of expense the corner room in the Penn Belle block, formerly occupied by the Express office, as a place to receive contributions of clothing, etc., donated for those in need. The room will be kept open Tuesdays and Fridays of each week, and all those having anything to donate should send it there.

The Watchman, last week, gave Miss Vera Hummel, of Philipsburg, credit with being the first foreman of a grand jury in Centre county, which we have since learned was not correct. Mrs. R. S. Brouse, of Bellefonte, was the first, having served in that capacity at the May term of court in 1928. And following her was Miss Mary Miles Blanchard, so that Miss Hummel was the third woman grand jury foreman in the county.

Mary Maxine Craft, daughter of Mrs. Fred Craft, was seven years old, last Friday, and a children's party was given in her honor, from four to six o'clock that afternoon, at the home of her aunt, Mrs. Frank T. Kern, on north Water street. The guests included Laura Ann Stere, Betty Vonado, Joyce Marie Jones, Frances Louise Jones, Sara Vonado, Herminie Levi, Phyllis Jodon, Alice Jane Gordon, Bobby Tanner, Anne Tanner, Blanche Locke, Bobby Locke, Fred Craft and Mary Maxine Craft.

Charles E. Dorworth, Dr. David Dale and Willis Shuey spent several days, last week, at their camp at Nevels, in Treaster valley, hunting for small game. They were all extremely anxious to bag a wild turkey and for several hours worked the thick underbrush pretty thoroughly. Finally the doctor found himself near the camp and decided to go in and throw a log or two on the fire. While inside he looked out of the window and saw a strange hunter peering up into a tree. Suddenly he threw up his gun and the wild turkey dropped to the ground. The bird had evidently been there when the doctor went into the camp and he failed to see it.
