discuss the new athletic policy of the college.

Great importance is attached to the coming meeting in that it is the first effort towards organization of former students on a county-wide plan in the home county of the institution. In the spring of 1930 alumni residing in State College met at the State College hotel and laid the foundation for later development of a Penn State club of State College and also for a Penn State club of Centre county as District 23 in the alumni council plan. Dean Edward Steidle was chairman of this meeting and appointed B. M. Hermann as chairman of the local organization group and William G. Edwards as chairman for the countywide organzation.
