

LIQUOR AND DESERTION CASES YIELD MUCH IN FINES TO COUNTY.

cember 1st, and who took an appeal. They had been notified to appear in court on Thursday and failed to do so, hence the bench warrants.

All told it was a good day for the county as the fines imposed amounted to $2825, and most of it either has been or will be paid within a few days.

GRAND JURY COMPLIMENTS SHERIFF BOOB

The grand jury completed its labors late on Thursday and reported as follows:

We have examined 57 bills of indictment, 48 of which were found true bills, 8 of which we returned as not true bills and one was withdrawn.

We have inspected the court house and commend the various officials for the cleanliness of all departments.

We recommend the cleaning of all books and the repairing and indexing of books where necessary. We recommend the repair of the faucets in the ladies toilet.

We recommend that the men's front toilet should be kept in a more sanitary condition.

We recommend that the doors at the front of the court house should be hung to swing out instead of in.

We approve the changes being made for the new apartments for women prisoners at the county jail.

We commend Sheriff Boob on the cleanliness in the jail proper.

We also wish to commend the Commissioners for the furnishing of paint and Sherif Boob for having the interior painted by the prisoners without any expense to the county.

We recommend that the entrance doors to the jail be hung so as to swing out instead of in.

CASES DISPOSED OF THIS WEEK.

When court convened, on Monday morning, the civil list for next week was gone over, cases for trial checked and those continued so marked.

Raymond Rodgers was then called and entered a plea of guilty to the charge of larceny—stealing two auto tires from the Decker garage. He was given an indeterminate sentence in the Huntingdon reformatory.

The next case was that against Clarence Springer, alias Ralph Klingler, charged with impersonating a deaf mute on the streets of Bellefonte while soliciting money, and when arrested and placed in the lockup tore the water pipes from the wall and got a good shower bath free of charge. He was sentenced to pay the costs, a dollar fine and spend ninety days in the county jail.

David Bryant, a colored man of Philipsburg, was before the court on the charge of stealing a pig from John F. Walker, and also with manufacturing and possession of liquor on one count, and possession and sale of liquor on another count. Walker missed the pig early in January and on the 8th of the month officers, armed with a search warrant, went to the Bryant house to look for the young porker. They not only found the pig meat but a still and a quantity of liquor and mash. Bryant admitted to the court that he took the pig. He said Walker owed him money and wouldn't pay it; that his family had nothing to eat and he took the pig. He admitted the manufacture of liquor but denied the sale of any of it, stating that he made it for his own use. He was sentenced to pay the costs, a dollar fine and serve 15 months to three years in the Allegheny county work house on each of two indictments, or a total of three to six years.

The next case called was that of Andrew W. Powers, known as "Doc" Powers who, on or about December 20th, broke into the Dale Summit school house and stole a number of articles and is also believed to have broken into and robbed the George Hazel bungalow, on Spring creek. "Doc," who is 72 years old, has served quite a number of years in penal institutions in Pennsylvania and other States, having been convicted before State Judge Quigley, when he was on the bench, for horse stealing. When asked by the court what he had to say for himself the doctor said "nothing." He was given two to four years in the western penitentiary.

M. L. Larimer pleaded guilty to a violation of the liquid fuels act and was sentenced to pay the costs, $100 for the use of the county and placed on probation for one year.

The first case taken up for trial, Monday morning, was one against Alex Petrinko, of Philipsburg, charged with a violation of the vehicle code. Mike Kelse was the prosecutor. The jury returned a verdict of guilty and defendant was sentenced to pay the costs, $50 for the use of Centre county, $25 for the use of Kelse and placed on probation for one year.

Anna Brown and James Parks were indicted jointly on the charge of arson. The Brown woman stood trial and was acquitted by the jury, after which Parks entered a plea of guilty. He was sentenced to pay the costs, a dollar fine and imprisonment in the Allegheny county work house for six months to one year.

Jack Dunn, an escaped convict from Rockview penitentiary, who had persistently refused to plead

UNIONVILLE.

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Cox, of Pittsburg, were Sunday visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Askins.

Mrs. Ida Wills, Miss Martha Williams, Miss Nell Williams and several of the school children are among the sick of this community.

Miss Leta Bissett, of Conneville, who is a nurse in the hospital there, was an over Sunday visitor at the home of her mother, Mrs. Jesse Hall.

Mrs. Estella Parsons returned home, Sunday evening, after spending several weeks in the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Brown, of Trafford.

John H. Caldwell greatly appreciates the kindness that was so freely shown at the burial of his sister, Clara, and requests that we thank those who in anyway assisted.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Snook and family visited their uncle, George Turner, at Munson, on Sunday. Mr. Turner had been in poor health for some time but has improved considerably.

The topic discussed last evening at prayer meeting was "What is Worship and When Does it Begin?" Rev. Crawford has been conducting a series of wonderfully interesting discussions on different topics during the prayer services for some time.

The Ladies Aid society of the Methodist Episcopal church held their Washington's Birthday social at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Askins, on Monday. Thirty-six persons, including men, women and children, gathered around the table at noon.

A very delicious dinner was served, after which a pleasant social hour was spent in conversation and recitations, as follows: Mrs. Clair Parsons, "So did I"; Mrs. Hannah Iddings, "Building a Temple"; Mrs. Effie Stere, "The New Carpet"; Mrs. John Askins, "Whistling in Heaven"; Mrs. Orrie Holt, "The Master is Coming"; Mrs. J. E. Bringer, "Little Robert Reed." The society appreciates the contributions of visitors and of all who helped make the meeting a success. A nice sum was added to the treasury.

Next week several exceptionally good pictures will be shown at State College. Joe E. Brown will be at the Cathaum Monday and Tuesday and "Two Hearts in Waltz Time," at the Nittany is another fine picture.

guilty was given a jury trial, on Tuesday, was quickly convicted and sentenced to pay the costs, a dollar fine and serve from five to fifteen years in the western penitentiary, which was a duplicate of his original sentence.

The most of Tuesday was taken up with the trial of three cases against August Viard, of Philipsburg. Two of them were for breaking, entering and larceny and one for a violation of the liquor laws. On the latter he was found guilty as indicted. On one of the breaking, entering and larceny charges he was found guilty as indicted and on the other of receiving stolen goods, only. Hillary Viard, a brother, after learning of the verdicts against August, pleaded guilty to all three indictments.

George Howard, of Bellefonte, was tried on the charge of operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor, was found not guilty but sentenced to pay the costs.

The next case taken up was that of W. Y. Williams, of Frankin, Pa., one of the three men who, on December 7th, robbed the offices of the Citizen's Building and Loan Association, at Philipsburg, of $150. One of the men, J. W. Woerner, of Oil City, pleaded guilty on December 22nd and was given a five to ten years penitentiary sentence. Owing to the fact that Williams was charged with robbery and carrying concealed deadly weapons his case was certified from the quarter sessions court into that of theoyer and termier.

In the above case the jury, late Wednesday evening, returned a verdict of guilty on the three counts on which Williams stood indicted. N. B. Spangler, attorney for the defendant, at once noted an exception to the verdict.

On Wednesday the court imposed sentence on the four Philipsburg men charged with robbing P. R. R. box cars. August Viard, who stood trial and was convicted, was given a sentence of five to ten years in the penitentiary in one case and two to four in another case, and in the case of the violation of the liquor laws the costs, $100 fine and two years in the county jail after he has served his penitentiary sentences.

On the breaking, entering and larceny charges Hillary Viard, who pleaded guilty, was given a total of three to six years in the Allegheny county work house and on the liquor charge the costs and $20 fine.

Herman Maney and E. M. Menser, both of whom plead guilty to being implicated in the robbery of the box cars, were each given one to two years in the penitentiary.

The last case tried on Wednesday was the manslaughter charge against F. A. Estright, of Boggs township, for causing the death of Mrs. Travis Chappell, of Petersburg, Va., in an auto accident in Milesburg, on the afternoon of January 8. It resulted in a verdict of not guilty but pay the costs.
