

NEWS ABOUT TOWN AND COUNTY.

There are at present eighteen regular boarders in the county jail, not counting Sheriff Boob and members of his family.

Another severe frost occurred on Monday morning and unprotected gardens were considerably damaged in various sections of the county.

The rain which fell Wednesday night and yesterday was enough to help the gardens and farm crops but did not soak the ground to any great depth.

The Bellefonte police force came out in their new summer uniforms on Memorial day and they look as spic and span as drum majors.

James C. Furst Esq., has been appointed an auditor to make distribution of the funds in the hands of the administrators of the Rowland estate, of Phillipsburg, which is estimated to exceed three hundred thousand dollars.

The death of Dr. C. M. Parrish will make no change in the drugstore he conducted for so many years. In the future it will be in charge of James Fox, an experienced pharmacist, who has been Dr. Parrish's assistant a number of years.

Hunters' licenses for this year will be blue with white numerals. An order for 602,500 has been placed with the prison labor division of the Department of Welfare. Last year 585,800 tags were made, but the supply was insufficient, so that 17,000 more will be provided to meet this year's demand. The non-resident hunters' tags will be red, with white numerals.

According to a statistical report just sent out by the Department of Commerce at Washington there were thirty less marriages and two less divorces in Centre county during 1931 than there were in 1930. In 1930 273 couples were united in matrimony and 19 disunited, whereas last year only 243 couples took such vows and 21 couples petitioned to be released from them.

Night baseball will be inaugurated on Bowman field, Williamsport, next Monday evening, at 8 o'clock, when the Williamsport Grays will clash with the White Roses, of York, in a regular league game. Six steel towers have been erected to carry the flood lights which will illuminate the field. Arrangements have been made to accommodate a crowd of 5000 people. The medal offered by "Recreation" to the champion bugler in the Muncy district Juniata Council Boy Scouts, has been awarded to Max Alters, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Alters, of Beaver street, Bellefonte, who will now be entitled to compete for the council championship to be held at Huntingdon in June. Kenneth Ridge, of Bellefonte, placed second and Eddie Miller, of Milesburg, third. A century old house at Rote, owned by Lee Rossman and occupied by Charles Matter and family, was burned to the ground last Thursday night, and authorities are working on the theory that the house was set on fire. The first knowledge the Matter family had of the fire was when they were awakened by the shouting of men and on jumping out of bed saw an automobile being driven away at a rapid pace. Rossman, owner of the house, is now under bail for his appearance in federal court on the charge of violating the liquor law.

Tuesday was the 43rd anniversary of the Johnstown flood, a calamity unparalleled in the history of Pennsylvania. Gen. Beaver was Governor at that time and Gen. Hastings, his Adjutant General, was sent to Johnstown to bring order out of the chaos of death and destruction. Col. J. L. Spangler, an aid on the Adjutant General's staff, was Hastings' assistant. Of the three men Col. Spangler is the only one living today. While Johnstown was almost completely washed off the map, and thousands of its residents drowned, high water proved very destructive all through Central Pennsylvania. Bellefonte was practically isolated for a week, the flood having washed out much of the track on the Bald Eagle Valley railroad, and also stretches on the Lewisburg division.

The time of the year is coming when a dip in the cooling waters of the streams and swimming pools of Centre county will be an every day diversion by old and young. Extreme caution must be exercised even by the most expert of swimmers, and with it all, drownings will occur. In a case of accident in the water it is highly important to get the victim to shore as quickly as possible. If unconscious apply artificial respiration immediately. If the case is serious it may be necessary to resort to an inhalator. The West Penn Power company calls attention to the fact that it has on hand an H. H. inhalator which can be secured when needed. It is kept in the Bellefonte office and a phone call to 700 will bring the inhalator and a first aid crew to the scene as quickly as possible.

DEATHS OF THE WEEK HERE AND ELSEWHERE

MARKS.—John Farmer Marks, of State College, died at the Centre County hospital, at 9:20 o'clock on Monday evening, as the result of kidney and heart trouble. He came to Bellefonte from Derry, Pa., on August 2nd, 1915, to accept a position as clerk in the business office at the new western penitentiary at Rockview. During the sixteen years he has been in this section he lived most of the time in Bellefonte and in addition to his employment at the penitentiary conducted the Colonial restaurant, in the McClain block, a number of years and later opened the Governor Cafe, in Crider's Exchange, and was in charge there several years. During the past few years he had spent all his working time at the penitentiary.

In 1916 he married Miss May Donner, of Derry, who survives with two children, Keith and Jean, both at home. He also leaves his mother, who for some time past has been making her home with him at State College, two sisters and one brother, Mrs. E. R. Oppenheimer, of Detroit, Mich.; Mrs. H. C. Last week we told of several rats dying of "a broken heart" in the Watchman office because one of their number had been caught in a trap. We have since learned that they were victims of a "professional" rat killer who came to Bellefonte to drive out the rats. His work in this section of town was to rid the A. and P. store, adjoining the Watchman office, and the restaurant, in the McClain block, of the rodents. The stuff he used was guaranteed to drive the rats forth in the open air to die. We know of several that were driven into the open air in this office to die but from the arena filled the office when we opened the door on Monday morning we are convinced that all of them did not die where they were easy to find.

Dr. C. M. PARRISH

PARISH.—Dr. C. M. Parrish, dean of the druggist fraternity in Bellefonte, passed away in the family apartment, on north Allegheny street, shortly before four o'clock last Saturday morning, after less than a week's serious illness. For several years past he had been a sufferer with kidney and heart trouble but was in his drug store as usual up to Sunday evening. Remarkable that he felt somewhat tired he went upstairs to his apartment over the store, suffered a severe heart attack a few minutes later and lingered in a critical condition until his death Saturday morning.

Callistus Mitchell Parrish was a son of Joshua and Mary Meyers Parrish and was born at Ebensburg on February 28th, 1857, making his age 75 years and 3 months. He was educated in the public schools and at St. Joe's Academy, in his home town, then entered a newspaper office to learn the printer's trade. He worked for six years on a newspaper in Ebensburg then decided to forego journalism and learn the drug business. At the age of 27 he entered the Philadelphia College of Pharmacy where he graduated three years later. His first position was as an assistant pharmacist in a drugstore at Haddonfield, N. J., but he remained there only a short time then went to Cresson. From Cresson he went to Altoona, thence to Bellwood and in 1889 came to Bellefonte and opened a drugstore in the Eagle block, at that time owned by E. J. Pruner, now the property of Mrs. R. G. H. Hayes. He remained in that location until 1923 when he erected a building of his own as a portion of the brick block on north Allegheny street.

A good and dependable pharmacist, a man of congenial nature and friendly proclivities he proved successful from the day he opened his store in Bellefonte and continued so throughout his life. He was a member of the Catholic church and always a faithful attendant. In politics he was a Democrat and took an active interest in the councils of his party. In 1927 he was a candidate for County Commissioner on the economy platform but lost out at the polls in November. He was always interested in the economic welfare of Bellefonte and never shirked a personal or public-spirited obligation.

On April 25, 1903, he married Miss Rose Genevieve Fox, at that time one of Bellefonte's efficient school teachers, who passed away on April 29th, 1923, leaving two children, Dr. Joseph A. Parrish, located in Philadelphia, and Miss Mary Rose Parrish, at home. He was the last surviving member of the Parrish family of his generation.

Funeral services were held in St. John's Catholic church at 10 o'clock on Tuesday morning, by Rev. W. E. Downes, interment being made in the Catholic cemetery.

THE I. O. O. F. BAND OUT IN NEW UNIFORMS

The I. O. O. F. band, of Bellefonte, made their first showing in their new uniforms on Memorial day, taking part in the parade in Bellefonte and filling an engagement at Beaver Springs where they furnished music for the fireman's festival and carnival.

Quite a lot of favorable comment was passed on the splendid appearance of the band as well as the fine music rendered.

Their appearance in new uniforms was quite a surprise to the public, and manager Willis E. Wion is to be complimented for the able manner in which he handled the situation. Without any publicity he had a man here from the American Uniform Co., of Philadelphia, who took the measurements of the members and the uniforms arrived in Bellefonte just two days before Memorial day.

Any one needing the services of a band for parade or concert work, should communicate with Mr. Wion. The band, under direction of Mr. Samuel Bryant, solicits engagements of any description.

Mart Cooney was in the limelight at the horse races at Blue Springs driving park, Washingtonville, Montour county, on Memorial day. His horse "Tempest" won fourth money in the 2.19 class, in which the fastest heat was paced in 2.12 and his other horse, "Laraudia Forbes," won second money in the 2.24 class, in which the time was 2.13, 2.14 and 2.15. Five horses started in the first race and seven in the second.

WORLD WAR VETERANS HONOR SOLDIER DEAD WITH USUAL CEREMONY

Though a little too cool for comfort otherwise the weather, on Monday, was ideal for Memorial day services and the result was that cemeteries all over the land were thronged with people anxious to pay homage, not only to the soldier dead but also to loved ones who have passed away.

In Bellefonte these hallowed services were "carried on" by the Brooks-Doll post of the American Legion, World War veterans who assumed the burden laid down by their forefathers, the veterans of the Civil war, and it was a noticeable fact that not a solitary G. A. R. man was present, evidence that the vast army of men who fought to save the Union in those thrilling days of 1861-'65 have made their last march.

The American Legion, members of the Legion Auxiliary and Veterans of Foreign Wars attended divine services in the Methodist church, Sunday morning, when the pastor, Rev. Horace Lincoln Jacobs, preached an appropriate and patriotic sermon. An event of special significance was the unveiling of a church flag, the gift of Judge M. Ward Fleming. A procession of girls and boys—the girls dressed in white and carrying national flags and the boys carrying church flags, led by a Legionaire carrying the church's national flag, marched down the aisles from the rear of the church to the altar where they stood at attention during the presentation and unveiling of the flag. The presentation was made by John M. Fleming, only son of the Judge, in a neat and appropriate speech, while the unveiling was successfully done by Winifred Fleming, assisted by her sister, Miss Mary, Dr. Jacobs received the flag for the church and congregation.

On Sunday afternoon a detail of the American Legion held appropriate services at Meyers cemetery, where Rev. Ruth, of State College, was the speaker. They also visited Pleasant Gap and assisted in the services there.

On Monday morning a Legion detail went to the Advent cemetery and participated in the services and at 11 o'clock members of the Legion headed by the bugle and drum corps, marched to the Catholic cemetery and held services. Rev. W. E. Downes made the address.

In the afternoon the parade formed in the Diamond at 1:30 o'clock and marched to the Union cemetery. The line included the American Legion, led by the bugle and drum corps, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Troop L, the Odd fellows band, and a good turnout of both the Logan and Undine fire companies.

The usual services were held in the cemetery with an excellent and appropriate address by Hon. Frederick A. Godcharles, of Milton, State librarian during Governor Fisher's administration.

Decker, trading as the Decker Chevrolet company, was an action in trespass to recover damages for a car damaged by fire while in the latter's garage, but the plaintiff failing to produce evidence to show that the fire was the result of negligence on the part of the garage employees the court directed a verdict in the favor of the defendant.
