The Question at Issue.

By the nomination of Messrs. Curtin and Agnew, the question of the political status of the parties in this Commonwealth, is at once broadly and distinctly stated. There can be no dispute as to what constitutes the essential difference between the loyal party, represented by Curtin and Agnew, and the so-called Democratic party represented by Messrs. Woodward and Lowry.

The so-called Democratic party in this State, is in direct sympathy with the rebellion, and that is the essential characteristic of the party, every man who shall at this election vote for Woodward, will be by that very act, a supporter of the rebellion. It is notorious that the efforts of those copperhead sympathizers, in New York and elsewhere, whose acts, in resistance to the draft, and other like movements have given the most intense gratification to the rebel chiefs, and have been in direct communication with them. Although the main efforts of the Democratic press in this State, are mainly directed to an ingenious attempt to conceal their motives from public view, that it is easily penetrated by any one who will fix his attention for a moment upon it. For instance the doctrine of State Rights, the denunciations of the Federal executive, the long and frequent tirades paraded in the copperhead press about the "conspiracy act," the pretended concern for the invasion of civil rights and the interminable twaddle in regard to the Constitution as it is and the Union as it was. What are all such evasions but insidious attempts to overthrow the powers of the General Government and to bring into contempt the present administration. And for what purpose? Can there be one? No; there is but one motive, and that is the "support of the rebellion." For it is understood, that as this rebellion, has for its chief corner stone, slavery, which being truly analyzed, means that men are not created equal, that they should not receive the just rewards of their labor, that one class shall bear all the burdens, which is in effect rank injustice in every respect to the sympathizers with the rebellion, hate this Government and are secretly and bitterly opposed to every effort which has been put forth to crush the rebellion.

The ticket put in nomination by the Democrats, is a ticket whose supporters are in favor of the rebellion, and opposed to the Union of these States. The ticket put in nomination at Pittsburgh last week will be supported by men who are in favor of the Union of the States.

Men of Beaver county, the question is fairly before you. On one side Union, loyalty, and the preservation of the noblest and best Government the world ever saw, on the other Disunion, Treason and the destruction of this Government, choose you between them.

SOLDIERS' BENEFIT.—On Thursday, August 20th, 1863, a dinner and concert will be given in the Grove near "Bethlehem Church." (Hon. Daniel Agnew, Dr. D. H. A. M'Lean, Rev. R. S. Morton will address the people. The proceeds are to be appropriated to the "Young Men's Christian Mission."

Curtin and Agnew.

A Convention of the loyal men of Pennsylvania could do nothing more than re-nominate Andrew G. Curtin for Governor of the State. Those who offer other reasons why another man should have been selected, found, when they went to Pittsburgh, that they were the mere arguments and calculations of the politician, and possessed no favor with the people: The people of this State love Andrew G. Curtin, and their representatives, in convention assembled, gave expression to their love and confidence by giving him the gubernatorial nomination on the first ballot. It was eminently the work of the people. They had seen this man tried, for three long years, as no Chief Magistrate had ever been tried before. Coming into power with the Administration of Mr. Lincoln, he was called upon to grapple with the rebellion in the name of Pennsylvania, to represent the loyalty and power of our grand old State, and to direct its energies in support of the Union and the Administration in the prosecution of the war. How this work has been done it is not for us to say: It is written upon the most glorious pages of Pennsylvania's history. It is written in the story of her valor, her devotion, and sacrifices; and, more than all, in the bold and self-sacrificing statesmanship that made these things elements of strength and power on the side of freedom. When Pennsylvania sent forth her sons to war upon treason in the South, Governor Curtin went with them, ministering to their wants, alleviating the hardships of the field and camp, speaking words of comfort to the sick and wounded, and words of encouragement and pride to those who had deserved well of the State. He was with them in their joys and sorrows—after every period of victory and defeat. And so earnestly and faithfully did he labor in their behalf, that at this time his name is mentioned with love and pride in the tent of every Pennsylvania soldier. When invasion came, he opposed the invader with a fierce energy that drew the people around him, and aided materially in obtaining the fruits of victory. To Governor Curtin belongs much of the glory that Pennsylvania has gained, and much of the gratitude that the people should feel in having escaped conquest and devastation.

The nomination of this man is, therefore, a compliment to him and an assurance of our devotion to the Administration. The people have made it, and the people will endorse it by an overwhelming majority in October. Now is the time for all who really believe in the cause, and that its triumph is the triumph of liberty and Union, to lay aside all selfishness and jealousy, and personal animosities, and unite around this man as our leader, and the platform of the convention as the platform of faith. In the person of the Hon. Daniel Agnew, the Convention has placed at his side an accomplished and learned jurist, one fully convinced of the truth of the great issue now agitating the country, and whose election would add an ornament to the bench. With such men in nomination, no loyal man can hesitate. Let us organize everywhere, let committees and clubs be formed, and notwithstanding to strengthen and unite the friends of the cause. We can win this victory in October if we begin at once and manage the canvass with judgment and energy. Let the line of battle be immediately formed, and the contest at once begin.

UNION STATE CONVENTION.
The Union State Convention which met at Pittsburgh on the 5th instant, nominated Andrew G. Curtin of Centre county for Governor and Hon. Daniel Agnew, of Beaver, for Judge of the Supreme Court.

The vote stood as follows:
For Governor—
A. G. Curtin, : : 95 votes.
H. D. Moore, : : 17 "
Jno. P. Penney, 16 "
T. C. Brewster, : 3 "
J. K. Moorhead, 1 "

Hon. Daniel Agnew was unanimously nominated for Judge of the Supreme Court.

No better nominations could have been made. And both these gentlemen will be triumphantly elected on the second Tuesday of October. We have not got space this week to speak of these candidates at length, but will do so at another time.

RETAKEN.—The notorious Wash. Gordon, who escaped from jail some time ago, where he was confined under sentence for "assault and battery with intent to kill," was recaptured by the Sheriff on last Saturday, at Rochester, and again lodged in jail.

After he broke jail he was arrested as a deserter and sent to his regiment; and we presume that he has again deserted, as he had done several times before. Wash. is a troublesome customer.

List of Prisoners in Libby Prison at Richmond, Va.

The following is a list of members of the 140th Regiment of Pennsylvania Volunteers, now in Libby Prison, Richmond, Va., belonging to the three Beaver county companies:

Company I.—Serg'ts J. H. Springer, Wm. A. M'Allen, B. F. Welsh. Corporals Wm. Agnew, J. H. Douds, Eli Watson, Geo. M. Brooks, Marshall T. Johnston, Daniel Bowers, Thomas Sawnes, Wm. P. Gibson, Patrick Wise, Geo. Marks, Levi Rhodes, John Mitchell.

Company F.—J. R. Dunlap, Joseph O. Schley, Ruel W. Stock, John M'Callough.

Company H.—D. R. Whitsell, J. R. Fleazel.

ALVEN GREENLEAF of Co. F., 140th Regiment Pa. Vol., wounded in the battle of Gettysburg, died of his wound in the hospital of that place. His remains arrived here last Thursday morning, and were interred on Sunday. His funeral was attended by a large concourse of friends and citizens.

John C. Gibb, of the same Regiment, cousin of Greenleaf, and wounded in the same battle, died about the same time. Also H. Ewing, who was also wounded in the same battle, is also dead.

RESISTING THE DRAFT.—A regiment of cavalry has been encamped for a few days below Beaver, on the farm of Robt. Potter, Esq. We understand that they have been sent out to enforce the draft where any resistance may be made. We learn that quite a resistance was made in one township in Washington county. The cavalry were fired into by some of the rebels there, which was returned by our men, wounding several. The troops finally succeeded in capturing the whole party. What disposition was made of them we have not yet learned.

Gov. Curtin has made an arrangement by which the claims of Pennsylvania Volunteers and their families for back pay, pensions and bounty will be collected through the State agency free of charge to the applicant. Communications should be addressed to Col. R. Biddle Roberts, Pennsylvania State Agency, 487 Eleventh street, Washington, D. C.

AGRICULTURAL MEETING.—The managers of the Agricultural Society of Beaver county, are earnestly requested to meet at the Court House, in Beaver on the 15th inst., at 1 o'clock, p. m., as business of importance is to be transacted. Let there be a full attendance.

EDITOR.—In our last issue under the caption "Generous Church," the following sentence occurred: "The Church has done nobly and deserves and will receive great praise for their liberality." It should have read deserves instead of "desires."

We are under obligations to Capt. D. M. Maratta, commander of the United States steamer Madison, for New Orleans papers.

ARMY LETTERS.
The following letters we publish by request, and will be perused with interest by our readers:

HEADQUARTERS 101st REG'T P. V.,
PLYMOUTH, N. C., July 23.

No military leader has ever had the confidence and profound admiration of his entire command, to a greater extent, than has General Wood, the late commander of the Brigade to which our Regiment is attached. Few have possessed the exalted character—the noble nature—which would enable them to that profound regard.

As a man, kind, generous, and unassuming; as a commanding officer, a thorough disciplinarian; as a soldier, he has no superior.

It were well for our country if all her Generals possessed the same fervent, disinterested, inflexible devotion to her cause.

It is not strange that such an officer would be esteemed as a father by those under his command and who are always proud when they say, "we belong to Wood's Old Brigade."

Two months ago, the officers of the Brigade presented the General with two fine horses, and equipments. As an evidence of their appreciation, and as a testimonial of their gratitude, the Pennsylvania Volunteers have presented the General with an elegant sword, and belt, costing over $500.00. The sword was manufactured in order in New York, and is one of the finest and most beautiful swords we have ever seen.

101ST REGIMENT PENN. VOLS.,
PLYMOUTH, N. C., July 20, '63.
H. W. WESSLES—Edelweid General.—In behalf of the enlisted men of the 101st Regiment, Pennsylvania Volunteers, permit me to say that by accompanying this note we take the liberty of presenting you with a sword, sash and belt which we have had manufactured for that purpose, and which we offer to you as a testimonial of the heartfelt gratitude and esteem of the entire Regiment, for the kind, even and discreet military discipline you have ever been pleased to extend toward us, as well as an evidence of our appreciation of your general merit. We are impelled to this, not because such presentations are common in military circles, but by impulses of the most tender regard. The inscription "Fair Oaks" on the scabbard, may suggest afresh to your memory the stormy scenes that followed so quickly upon your assuming command of our Brigade in the midst of the ill-fated campaign on the banks of the Chickahominy.

This memento may also recall to your mind the succession of shifting events through which you have passed with our old Brigade since then, the memorable retreat to the James River, our late and more brilliant march into the interior of the Old North State, while the surging devices of the scabbard, the coat of arms of our native State and the Goddess of Liberty will serve as emblems of the indelible fortitude in the cause of liberty of those presenting it. With it you will accept the warmest wishes of the entire Regiment for your uninterrupted success and welfare in the future. You will please receive it then as a seal of the unwavering friendship of the 101st Regiment.

J. H. LONGENECKER,
On part of Committee of presentation.

DISTRICT OF THE ALBEMARLE,
PLYMOUTH, N. C., July 21, '63.

Soldiers of the 101st:—On my return last night from a tour of duty, your letter of the 20th, signed by Lieut. Longenecker in your behalf and accompanied by the sword, sash and belt of a General officer, awaited me at my private quarters. This evidence of taste and good will from the noblest men of a veteran Regiment, is peculiarly gratifying and so unexpected, that I find it difficult to convey to you in proper language, the pleasure it has afforded me; the more so, as I believe in the sincerity of your flattering expressions.

A year has passed since I joined you, a gentle stranger in the face of the enemy, and on the threshold of a great reverse; you have looked both in the dark and the bright side of a soldier's life, your patience and endurance have been tried by privations and exposures, that can be appreciated only by those who have shared them with you, and I can bear testimony to the cheerful spirit with which they have been met.

Having no political desires or aspirations, I have but one object before me, in my official relations with you, that is a discipline and soldierly pride, that give character to regiments, and to individuals comprising them; if in this I have gained your confidence and esteem, it is my full reward. In accepting from your hands this beautiful gift, I can only say, that it will be remembered as the most agreeable event of my military service, and wishing you a safe return to your homes, allow me to add that it will afford me sincere pleasure to meet you hereafter, in the employment of that peace and prosperity which your arms have aided to establish.

With much respect, yours, &c., &c.,
H. W. WESSLES,
Brig. Gen'l. Vol's.

To the Enlisted men of the 101st Pennsylvania Volunteers, Plymouth, North Carolina.

Resolutions of the Union State Convention.
Mr. McVeigh, Chairman of the Committee on Resolutions, presented the following report, which was unanimously adopted:

The loyal men of Pennsylvania, in Convention assembled, disclaiming all partisanship, and knowing full cause but that of the country, declare for themselves and their constituents, 1st. Their inflexible purpose, to maintain, by every necessary effort, service and sacrifice, the National Union, as the first, the highest, the most solemn and the most overshadowing of all political duties.

2d. That the rebellion which threatens the existence of the Union was without cause, was conceived in wickedness, organized in perjury, and developed by reckless violation, is sustained by every crime, and detestible in means and infernal in purpose, must be suppressed by the people of the United States, at the destruction of whose free institutions it is impiously aimed.

3d. That in the momentous contest now waging there are, and can be but two parties, viz: the one which firmly maintains the constituted authorities of the nation in enforcing all the laws thereof, and in protecting the principles upon which the government rests, and therefore, at once the party of liberty, and of patriotism; the other which opposes the constituted authorities of the nation in enforcing the laws, securing the safety and preserving the life of the nation, and is therefore, the parent of mobs, the enemy of order and a participant of treason, a class whose detestible practices not only give aid and comfort to the common enemy, but as confessed in Richmond, light up these days of rebel darkness and disaster, and actually stimulate them to renewed and desperate efforts to recruit their armies, and to whom is this day justly chargeable whatever of vitality the rebellion possesses, and whatever of calamity or affliction the further protraction of the contest may involve.

4th. That wholly without sympathy for the men who have made this war against a free Republican Government, or for the system of human bondage, in whose interest it was instigated, or the cause of despotic principles to which it is now devoted, this Convention declares as follows: that there is, while so engaged, to be worthy only of our patriotic love, and in like spirit we denounce as doubly recreant and base those residents of the loyal States who tolerate this treason, would affiliate with armed traitors, and again surrender our government and liberties to their keeping.

5th. That Abraham Lincoln, the President of the United States, by the discharge of his most onerous duties in these dark days of civil war has won for himself the affections and regard of the American people, and always bearing himself clear in his high office, has maintained the integrity of the Union and kept our honor untarnished throughout the world, and to him and his administration, its principles and its policy, we give our hearty approval and pledge an earnest and enthusiastic support.

6th. That we tender to the gallant armies and navies of the republic, the thanks of a grateful people for their unselfish and heroic valor; that we mourn for those who have sealed in their blood their devotion to their country, and will cherish their memories tenderly and proudly; while to the glorious survivors we give the assurance that the last dollar and the last life shall be given to reinforce them until the old flag floats in final victory.

7th. Resolved, That Governor Curtin, by the effective support he has given the Federal Government in the prosecution of the war, and his vigilant care for our soldiers alike in the field, the camp and the hospital, has given Pennsylvania a proud pre-eminence among the loyal States, and himself, to the thanks of all her loyal citizens, and in placing him again in nomination, we but give expression to the spontaneous wishes of the Commonwealth he has served so well to present, for their suffrages, a patriotic statesman, who is alike the friend of the soldier and the favorite of the people.

8th. Resolved, That the amendments proposed to the Constitution, in giving our soldiers in the field the right of suffrage, merits our hearty approval, and that we recommend the conventions of loyal men throughout the State, to pledge candidates for the Legislature to vote for it.

9th. Resolved, That we hereby declare our unalterable attachment to the doctrines of the fathers of the Republic, as enunciated in the declaration by President Monroe, that there shall be no interference by a European or foreign power, with Governmental affairs upon this continent.

10th. Resolved, That in Hon. Daniel Agnew, we present an accomplished jurist, a pure patriot, and a loyal citizen. He will adorn the highest judicial tribunal of the Commonwealth, and give additional security to the rights of person and property.

The resolutions were unanimously adopted.

Mr. Hincheloff, of Jefferson, offered the following, which was unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That the bold and determined stand taken by the Administration, in summarily arresting persons found to be guilty of treasonous practices, merits our hearty commendation, and that in performing this part of its military duties, we be pleagely for the public safety, we pledge our hearty co-operation.

At 10 1/2 o'clock, the Convention adjourned sine die.
