NOTICE.

HAVING disposed of my interest in the Beaver Argus, all those indebted to me for subscription, job work, etc. will please call and settle immediately with J. L. Anderson, who is authorized to receive the same. Feb. 29, 1863. T. C. NICHOLSON.

Send in the Election Returns.

Our friends in the country districts must not fail to send to the Union Head-Quarters at Kerr's Hotel, Beaver, the return of every township as soon as counted-off. We want to send the news eastward by midnight of the 13th, that Beaver county gives the thousand majority for the Union ticket.

U. S. Deputy Marshals.

The Deputy Marshals appointed by the Marshal, will take notice that the War Department requires that their accounts must show the number of days actually employed, and fifteen cents for each day's service, and that the number of names enrolled by each Deputy, must also be furnished. Deputies will attend to this as soon as possible, and their pay will be forthwith paid.

DEMOCRATS, LOOK AT THIS!

Are you in favor of a vigorous prosecution of the war for the suppression of the rebellion?
Are you in favor of furnishing the President with funds sufficient to arm equip, pay, clothe and sustain our armies and navies engaged in its suppression?
Are you in favor of the amendment to the constitution of Pennsylvania giving soldiers the right of suffrage?
We would be glad to have answers to these questions that we may understand the present position of our contemporaries.

The above questions we have proposed to the editor of the Star in five successive issues of the Argus. The answers would rise at once to the lips of a loyal man; yet the Star replies only by personal abuse. Its silence will bear but one construction—Loyal Democrats of Beaver county, do understand that the guilty clique which has usurped the control of your paper holds—

1. That the rebellion should not be suppressed.
2. That the President should not be supplied with funds for the support of the army and navy of the Union.
3. That your kindred, now fighting the battles of the country, should not be robbed of the right of suffrage.

Nearly all the soldiers for CURTIN—A vote in the 14th Reg. P. V. for Governor resulted as follows:

A vote taken in Camp Tyler, Baltimore, shows the following result:

Great and Enthusiastic Union Meeting at New Brighton, on the 3d of October, to Hear the Hon. Thomas Cunningham.

A great and unprecedented meeting was held on last Saturday at New Brighton, to hear Judge Cunningham, of Beaver, for many years an active powerful and influential leader of the Democratic party in Western Pennsylvania, proclaim to the people his determination to stand by and support the Government of his country against the treason of armed rebels in the South and the infernal machinations of their sympathizers and co-conspirators in the North.

Although the people had but only about two days notice of this meeting, yet so strong was their anxiety to hear this distinguished and eloquent Democratic leader, that at least THREE THOUSAND persons from the surrounding country attended.

About 12 o'clock the delegation from Beaver about 500 strong with a superb brass band, headed by Wm. B. Clarke, as Marshal, formed at the Court House, and marched to New Brighton, where they were received by a procession of citizens with a band of music, and those beautiful young ladies representing the States of the Union, and escorted to the ground at the north end of the town.

At nearly 2 o'clock the meeting was organized by the appointment of Wm. Henry, Esq., as President, with a large number of highly respectable gentlemen as Vice Presidents, and T. M. Cord and A. G. McCreary, Esqs., as Secretaries. The President then arose and after making a few appropriate remarks, introduced the Hon. Thos. Cunningham, who proceeded to address the assembled multitude. No one who was present, can ever forget its effect upon the mass of human beings. For an hour and three quarters he continued to discuss with signal ability and power, the great questions which now agitate the people of this country, leaving no doubt in the mind of any one as to his sound orthodox and devoted patriotism. He defined his position as a true and consistent democrat of the school of Andrew Jackson, but contended that in this great National crisis, it was the duty of every man, of whatever party heretofore, to lay aside all party considerations, and do all in his power to save his country from destruction at the hands of rebels who without cause have brought on this unholy and unprovoked war. He abused no man for differing with him, but presented such an array of facts, and sound and overwhelming argument, as to convince many who have been heretofore carried away by every party prejudice. His solemn and eloquent appeals to his old political friends around him, and every American citizen to rally for the support of the Government, in its time of trial and peril, and to aid in the preservation of our glorious republican institutions as handed down to us by our forefathers, awakened the most patriotic feelings.

That when the Judge spoke in clear, firm and manly tones of the position of Pennsylvania—the "zone, George W. Woodward calling himself a Democrat but whose opinion, expressed to the Judge in conversation, that our armies should be withdrawn to the North of Mason and Dixon's line and our blockade of the Southern ports be raised and that their government should hold out terms of compromise to the rebels,—but upon the other side, Andrew G. Curtin, the firm and decided patriot, the talented and upright man, who by three years untiring and energetic support of the government, and of the cause of outraged humanity, it was evident that a deep and most salutary impression was made upon his audience.

His vindication of the State and National Governments was complete and unanswerable, and never did any audience give more profound attention or warmer approval of a speaker, than the respectable and intelligent audience present on that occasion.—All appeared alive to the importance of the great issues involved in the contest. We refer our readers to the speech of Judge Cunningham at New Brighton, in the accompanying sheet, which was reported by a reporter present. Read it, fellow citizens, that you may see what is your duty, and that your patriotism may be fully aroused.

After Judge Cunningham had closed, Hon. John Allison entertained the audience for half an hour with strong and convincing argument in favor of the Union cause and the candidates of the Union party.

This great and glorious assemblage of freemen then adjourned, to meet at the polls on Tuesday next to carry out the great principles there enunciated.

Hon. Thos. Cunningham will address a Union Meeting at Phillipsburg, Monday, 12th inst., at 1 o'clock. P. M. Let there be a full train out.

The Decisive Hour of the Hand.

Every man who loves his country, who loves the cause of human freedom and hates tyranny and despotism, must now be awake to the important fact that the time has now arrived when it is their duty to devote themselves to ceaseless and most industrious exertions to secure the election of true, firm and well-tried loyal men at the next election in Pennsylvania. This cannot be done without prompt, decisive and vigorous action by every true loyal man throughout the country. We see, everywhere, that the opponents of the government, the sympathizers with Southern traitors are active, vigilant and industrious in support of their unholy cause. They are led on by unprincipled and bad men, aided by a mercenary press, proclaiming, with unblushing impudence the barefaced falsehoods to deceive, if possible, the honest but unthinking masses. Such foes, mean and contemptible as their leaders are, must not be underrated. The people of Pennsylvania were surprised at the result of the last election, because it exhibited an organization of friends of Rebellion so strong as to be able to command a victory. Their triumph was produced by organization and great industry. Their organization is complete, their party drill is unequalled. No matter what discontent may prevail in their ranks, or what opinion they adopt, their men always stand ready to support that ticket through thick and thin. This organization of the friends of the Union have to contend against. We owe it to ourselves, and to our country, to redeem the State from the hands of such men as are endeavoring to chain her to the chariot wheels of Southern Slaveholding Rebellion, and make her once more a willing and obedient slave to Southern masters.

We hope to see, where Union men are in the minority, that loyal men will endeavor to diminish the Democratic majority, and in the counties, such as our own, where our majorities are certain, we hope to see every man make every effort in his power to increase the majority and when the result throughout the State is shown the victory will be found to be so great as to have a powerful influence not only in the loyal States, but in the States in rebellion against the Union, and forever crush out the spirit of treason, which now dares to show its deformed and horrid head amongst us. This alone will bring about a lasting peace, and restore the Union to its former power and prosperity.

Freemen, we call upon you never to lose sight of the important fact that every vote given for Andrew G. Curtin will assist in restoring peace to the country, because rebels and traitors will be convinced that loyal men have roused themselves to a firm and fixed determination that the rebellion shall be crushed.

The people of the South went into the rebellion under the belief that the people of the North were unwilling and incapable of resistance to their unholy conspiracy, and now under the belief that a large mass of our people are still in sympathy with slavery and treason the rebellion is still raged with hope of success. Of this they are assured by northern demagogues who are in constant correspondence with them. Let us then make one mighty and united effort to convince the people of the South that their hope is entirely groundless, and defeat northern allies of slavery and rebellion at the fall on the 2d Tuesday of October. This can only be done by electing Andrew G. Curtin, the friend and supporter of the government.

If the friends of the Union fail to do their whole duty, our country is in danger of being overthrown by foes within and enemies abroad. Freemen, arouse and save your government.—One more effort and you will be safe.

Capt. J. S. Winans, of Co. H, 9th Reg. P. R. C., has sent us the vote of his company for Governor, which resulted as follows:

A similar vote was taken in the regiment, with the following result:

"We are," says the Captain in his letter, "debarred the privilege of a voice in the coming election, and take this method of expressing our preference, hoping that it will serve to convince our friends at home that the copperhead candidate has no sympathy in the army, in this part at least."

Will the people along the line of the Rail Roads recollect that Woodward and Lowrie decided that the companies were not bound to fence their Roads; and that the owner of the cattle, killed by the locomotive, could not recover damages for the property destroyed, but were liable themselves for damages done on account of their cattle being on the track. This decision was made against law and common sense. Will you vote for such men?

Freemen of Beaver County.

Do you wish to aid and support the best Government the world ever saw? Then vote for Curtin and Agnew.
Do you wish to uphold our glorious country in her present struggle? Then vote for Curtin and Agnew.
Do you wish to rebuke the disloyal cowards who are striving to overthrow our Government? Then vote for Curtin and Agnew.
Do you wish to administer a reproof to the spirit of disloyalty now running ripe at the North? Then vote for Curtin and Agnew.
Do you wish to dash down the hopes of the leaders of the rebellion? Then vote for Curtin and Agnew.
Do you wish to lend your aid at the most opportune time for striking a blow to copperheads that will make all rebellion reel? Then vote for Curtin and Agnew.
Do you wish to partake in the glory which Grant and Banks have acquired? Then vote for Curtin and Agnew.
Do you wish to assist the work which Meade inaugurated at Gettysburg? Then vote for Curtin and Agnew.
Do you wish to assist grand old Rosecrans in his terrible struggle in Georgia? Then vote for Curtin and Agnew.
Do you wish to inspire those brave men who under the lead of Gilmore and Dahlgren, are operating in front of Charleston? Then vote for Curtin and Agnew.
Do you wish to aid and assist our brave boys who are now baring their bosoms to the bayonet in defense of our free institutions? Then vote for Curtin and Agnew.
Do you wish to strike terror into the hearts of the despots of the Old World? Then vote for Curtin and Agnew.
Do you wish to make the British Lion crouch in terror at the feet of American Eagle? Then vote for Curtin and Agnew.
Do you wish to make Louis Napoleon the most polite and accommodating of Frenchmen? Then vote for Curtin and Agnew.
Do you wish to extinguish the last hope of the Rebellion? Then vote for Curtin and Agnew.
Do you wish to end this cruel war? Then vote for Curtin and Agnew.

Recollect that this rebellion is now on its last legs, and the defeat of copperheadism in this State, will go a great ways to finish the rebellion.
Recollect that George W. Woodward is a traitor and a copperhead.
Recollect that Walter H. Lowrie is an aristocrat in favor of Jeff. Davis, and the rebellion and opposed to our Government, and has now doing all he can to thwart the efforts making for the suppression of rebels.
Recollect that the potent voice of the old Keystone State, in conjunction with her younger sister, the Buckeye State, will be uttered on the 2d Tuesday of October, and that all ears are waiting for that decision, all the world is looking. The friends of human progress are hoping to hear the decision of the people, on the side of freedom. Those who hate Union progress are expecting to have a decision in favor of slavery?

Remember, that as that decision is rendered upon that day by those great States, will go forth the opinion to the whole world, either that all is lost, or that every thing has been gained.
Remember these things, and with a solemn conviction, of the fact that greater or more momentous issues were never in the history of this world submitted to your consideration, go to the polls and deposit your ballots for Curtin and Agnew.
Vote for these men and you will be thus enabled to confer a lasting benefit upon your country.
Vote for them, and you can enjoy a proud consciousness of having performed your duty.
Vote for them, and you can rest in the assurance that the blessings of posterity will be awarded you.
Vote for them, and you will soon see the end of this most mischievous and accursed rebellion.
Vote for them, and you will set the miserable horde of cowardly traitors who are secretly in league with Jeff. Davis and his crew to howling over their defeat.
Vote for them and all will be well.
Vote for the whole Loyal Union Ticket.

Fresh Oysters.
Peter Angel, of Bridgewater, calls the attention of his friends and customers—and those who desire, a nice dish of Oysters, to the fact that he is receiving, daily, Maltby's Oysters, the best Oysters known. He will also sell by can or half can.

A Dreadful National Calamity.

The most dreadful calamity that could befall the nation would be the election of Woodward to the office of Governor of Pennsylvania. The rebels in arms for the destruction of our Government, are waiting with intense anxiety for the result of the election in this State and Ohio, eye the enemies of the free government in Europe are looking with strong hope for the success of the candidates of the rebel sympathizers in the North and the moment it is ascertained that Woodward and Vallandigham are elected, the government set up in the South will be acknowledged by France and England.

Let us briefly review some of the opinions of Woodward the Southern candidate for Governor, and see if the freemen of Pennsylvania can consistently, with their honor, their interests or their loyalty to the government support him for their highest office.
In the first place he, as a member of the Convention that amended the Constitution, offered a resolution to amend it by prohibiting all foreigners who might be naturalized after the 4th of July, 1841, from voting or holding office in this State and advocated the same at great length saying that he had long desired to see such a provision as that offered by him. Loyal Irishmen and Germans, are you prepared to vote for a man who would disfranchise you, and say that you must be satisfied with the protection only which is given to the negro and have no greater privilege than he enjoys. Again we find this bloodthirsty, selfish and austere man as a Judge of the Supreme Court deciding that the soldiers of Pennsylvania who have sacrificed all the comforts and enjoyments of home and nobly gone forth with the armies to do battle against rebels and traitors for the national life, shall not be permitted to vote for our public officers. Yes, freemen this man is now asking you to vote for him. He thinks, whilst your sons and brothers are enduring hardships and perilling their lives to redeem our nation from rebellion, he can be elected by men, who like him, sympathize with the traitors who are shedding the blood of your friends, who have been disfranchised by his decision, a decision made by him no doubt with a view to the present case, for he has been long seeking this high position. He knows, and every intelligent man does, that the best and truest loyal Union men are now in the army. Such men as Woodward, and his supporters are never found supporting the Union with either voice or hand.

Judge Cunningham, with whom you are acquainted, than whom no truer man lives in his public speeches, has given to the public a conversation which he had with Judge Woodward in which he said he was in favor of withdrawing our armies to the North of Mason's and Dixon's line and raising the blockade of Southern ports, and then offering them terms of compromise.
Thus we see this Judge of the Supreme Court using expressions of disloyalty, which should banish him from the society of the good and wise every where.

It is further stated by Mr. Hart of Philadelphia, a most respectable citizen, that on the way to and from the battle-field of Gettysburg he publicly and unblushingly proclaimed that he was opposed to the war because it was an abolition war and was unconstitutional. He could see no right in the government had to maintain a supremacy of the constitution and laws, but could see that the Southern traitors had the constitutional right to trample upon the constitution, and enslave men. He stands upon the same platform with that infamous traitor, Vallandigham, who glories in his treason, of which he now stands convicted, and what hanked God that whilst in Congress he had never voted for a single man to give our armies, or a single dollar for the support of the soldiers or their wives and families.

Freemen of Beaver county, can you vote for such a man who would betray you and surrender your government into the hands of armed traitors and reduce you and your children to the condition of slaves under a terrible military despotism.
We implore you as you love your country, your homes and the peace and happiness of those you love, and as you are desirous of supporting the great cause of human freedom, vote for Curtin and Agnew, the true and loyal candidates, the friends of the country, and of all the oppressed and suffering everywhere.
If you refuse to vote for them and cast your vote for Woodward and Lowrie, you will upon your dying bed regret that you have contributed to the destruction of the best government on earth.
Go to the polls and vote for Curtin, Agnew and the whole Union ticket—all good true and loyal men.

Mr. Beighley's Reply to the Star.

Mr. Editor.—My attention has been called by my friends to an article in the Star, of last week, headed "JOHN H. BEIGHLEY," which charges me—
1st. With endeavoring to appropriate to my own use a gun sent by Capt. Joseph M. Reed to his father, Eli Reed, by my hand.
2d. With embezzling money sent by Mrs. Mary Holsinger to her sons in the 139th P. V., in my care.
The notorious character of the Star for veracity and the outrageous nature of the charges when considered in connection with the silence maintained concerning them until this late day, render the article impotent for any injury to me, but I have thought it due to the Union men of Beaver county, who have placed me in nomination, that it should not pass unanswered.

The facts are briefly as follows:—
1st. The gun was committed to my care, as stated by Capt. Reed, and brought home by me. Eight days after my return, I came to Beaver upon business. I had forgotten the gun at the moment of starting from my home (ten miles distant) but in Bridgewater met Mr. David Woodruff, who asked me if I had brought with me a gun for Eli Reed, as he had promised to have it brought down for him. I told him I had the gun and would bring it when I next came down. I was in Bridgewater on the following Tuesday, when I brought the rifle with me and handed it to Mr. Woodruff. This is the history in brief of the attempted appropriation of the gun, and I never dreamed that any intention to keep it was attributed to me until I saw the hysterics of the Star last week. In relation to this I append the affidavit of Mr. Woodruff, a gentleman whose character even the Star will not venture to impugn.

2d. Just before I left for the army of the Potomac, in October, 1862 (Mrs. Holsinger's affidavit says, which grieved her to send him the money, came in November.) I met this Mary Holsinger, and at her request, took charge of two letters for her sons, and a package of letter paper, envelopes, one of tobacco. She also gave me a dollar to buy more tobacco, which I did as I passed through Pittsburg, and tied the letters, paper, tobacco for the Holsinger boys in a single bundle. After my arrival in camp, my trunk having been broken open upon the passing, the bundle was abstracted from it, and I so told the boys, and that though not legally bound to do it, I would pay them its value, whatever it might be. Nothing was then said by them, and nothing was said by Mrs. Holsinger, at the time of the delivery of the letters, of their contents being valuable, and I had no other letters in my custody for the 139th regiment. Some weeks after my return, Mrs. Holsinger sent me demanding the value of the goods sent in my care, and claiming that eight dollars were enclosed in the letters. Her circumstances, and the facts attending the matter were such that I know this to be false, and refused to pay, unless she made her affidavit that such was the fact. This she did before Henry Bryan, Esq., and I paid her the money, protesting at the same time that she had never sent a dollar in the letters, as Squire Bryan will remember.

Mrs. Holsinger's character, at home, and in our Courts, is so well known that this will be understood by her acquaintances. She herself stated to Mrs. Hendrickson, that she had sent no money to her boys by me, and I append Mrs. Hendrickson's affidavit to that effect.
I went to the army to see my two sons, who have long been in the service, one of them since the breaking out of the rebellion, and I do not know that there was anything criminal in endeavoring to make my expenses by selling such wares as I could sell to advantage, though the Star thinks differently. Nor do I believe that the people of Beaver county will consider it a crime as the Star does that I am not rolling in wealth, as my opponent Geo. C. Minis is, who is the father of the most base, malicious, and unwarranted attempt to destroy my reputation. It wealth is a qualification for office, I frankly confess myself disqualified, and I have never represented my circumstances as other than moderate. The Star also charges that I was guilty of profane swearing on the day of the last election.—There was a difficulty arose out of an attempted copperhead outrage at the polls, in the course of which I became much excited. The copperheads say I swore some; perhaps I did. If I did so, I can but acknowledge the fault, and add, the conduct of the traitorous crew who gathered against me that day, was enough to have provoked any man from a saint.

This, Mr. Editor, is all I have to say upon the article in the Star. It is of a piece with the reckless mendacity which has long characterized that sheet. Rarely does an election occur that is not ushered in by some such malignant and false attacks upon the character of some of our candidates, a date so late that a reply is deemed impossible. They have filled of their effects heretofore, and I think will fill again. I am ready to abide by the decision of the people, and will adjourn this discussion with Mr. Minis to the polls.
JOHN H. BEIGHLEY.

BEAVER COUNTY SS.

Personally appeared before the subscriber, a Justice of the Peace, in and for said county, David Woodruff, who after being duly sworn according to law, saith that about a week or eight days after John H. Beighley came home from the army, Eli Reed came to me on his way to see said Beighley. I told him I would see Beighley and get the gun for him. I saw Beighley the next Tuesday and asked him if he fetched a gun for said Reed. Beighley told me he did. I made a demand for it for Reed, and on the next week J. H. Beighley fetched the gun to me and I delivered it to Eli Reed. Further saith not.

Personally appeared before the subscriber, a Justice of the Peace, in and for said county, Hannah Hendrickson, who, after being duly sworn according to law, saith that Mary Holsinger came to her on the day, or the day after she said she gave John H. Beighley a package of paper, envelopes and tobacco for her sons in the army. I asked her, Mrs. Holsinger, if she had sent any money, and she answered and said "no indeed." I made answer and said I would not know who to send a three cent piece with, and further saith not.

BEAVER, Oct. 6, 1863.
Mr. Editor.—The statements are not true. I never asked Mr. Beighley for the gun. Mr. Woodruff of Bridgewater, when I was about to go after it, told me he would see Beighley and get it for me, and save me a walk to Beighley's house in Economy township. He did this and I got the gun from Woodruff. It was delivered to me before Joseph returned.
ELI REED.
DUNK.—It is asserted by "eye witnesses" of the fact, that when Governor Curtin left Rochester on Friday evening, after the Republican meeting, he was so drunk as to be unable to get into the car in front. The assistance of two men, respectable, moral and intelligent Republican party? We believe Curtin left Beaver about as sober as usual with him, but as he had to wait nearly two hours in Rochester before the starting of the train he improved the time by getting drunk clear through. Poor Curtin! How wonder that he should in this way find a refuge from the "unpleasantness" and the memory of his death or corruption.
We publish the above extra from the Star of last week, simply to show our readers to what shifts the Succession Democracy are driven in their desperation. It is a base and malicious libel, and a thousand witnesses can testify to what shifts it was concocted by Mr. Long. If not, let us have the names of the "reliable" liars who furnished the item.
—Since the above was in type, Mr. Odle S. Long has been arrested and held to bail for the libel referred to. He will find, we imagine, that he has paid pretty dearly for his whistle before he is done with it.

When Gov. Curtin pledged himself to bring to the polls as many of the soldiers a Democratic Supreme Court had disfranchised as possible, he meant what he said; as the result, we have quite a sprinkling of the blue-jackets amongst us. To these we say, let no threats or argument deter you from voting upon election day? You were sent home without inquiring as to your politics. If you believe that the election of George W. Wood and his for the benefit of yourselves and the cause you are fighting for, then vote for him; if not, vote for Andrew G. Curtin, who has proved himself true to the Government and to you. But vote at all events. The Democracy are quoting the clause of the constitution, providing that no military force shall be present at the polls to prevent you from voting, and in some districts of this county, they threaten to prevent you by force. The constitution which only intended that no armed force should be present to prevent you from the exercise of the right of suffrage does not apply to your case, and if force is used, it will be by force. In your duty at home as you have done it in the field, and all will be well for you and for the country.

A Mistake.
We observed in the last issue of the New Brighton Times, an editorial article, stating that Judge Woodward had denied the statement of the Hon. Thos. Cunningham, as to the conversation he had with him, in which Woodward said he was in favor of withdrawing our armies and raising the Blockade of the Southern Ports. In this matter the Times was in error. No such denial has been attempted by Judge Woodward, nor will there be any. We are very confident that where Judge Cunningham is known, which is very general throughout the State, no one will dare deny any statement of facts so well made. His character for veracity, and in every other respect, is far above reproach. He deservedly stands high in the estimation of all—even of his political opponents. Brother Lemon you had better put your spectacles on.
