

O. L. IMBRIE, Editor & Proprietor. TERMS—One Dollar per Annum in Advance.

BEAVER ARGUS

NOTICE TO ADVERTISERS. Advertisements are charged at the rate of 75 cents per line for the first insertion.

NEW-YORK TRIBUNE.

The New-York Tribune, first issued in 1841, in its twenty-second year, has obtained both a larger and more widely diffused circulation than any other newspaper ever published in America.

It is a journal of news and literature. It is a political and literary journal. It is a journal of news and literature.

It is a journal of news and literature. It is a political and literary journal. It is a journal of news and literature.

It is a journal of news and literature. It is a political and literary journal. It is a journal of news and literature.

It is a journal of news and literature. It is a political and literary journal. It is a journal of news and literature.

It is a journal of news and literature. It is a political and literary journal. It is a journal of news and literature.

It is a journal of news and literature. It is a political and literary journal. It is a journal of news and literature.

It is a journal of news and literature. It is a political and literary journal. It is a journal of news and literature.

It is a journal of news and literature. It is a political and literary journal. It is a journal of news and literature.

It is a journal of news and literature. It is a political and literary journal. It is a journal of news and literature.

THE VOICE OF A VETERAN.

The following letter from the Hon. Josiah Quincy, of Massachusetts, to the President of the United States, will be read with particular interest by all who remember the extreme age and eminent services of the writer, and his illustrious revolutionary ancestry.

Mr. Quincy was born in 1772. He was a member of Congress in 1805, and served until 1813, and throughout this period of life, he did not cease to denounce and expose the ambitious projects of the slaveholding interest.

We have reminded the reader of the events in the life of Mr. Quincy, that they may know how to value properly the sentiments and opinions of the letter which follows.

Mr. Quincy's letter is a masterpiece of eloquence and wisdom. It is a journal of news and literature.

It is a journal of news and literature. It is a political and literary journal. It is a journal of news and literature.

It is a journal of news and literature. It is a political and literary journal. It is a journal of news and literature.

It is a journal of news and literature. It is a political and literary journal. It is a journal of news and literature.

It is a journal of news and literature. It is a political and literary journal. It is a journal of news and literature.

It is a journal of news and literature. It is a political and literary journal. It is a journal of news and literature.

GEORGE M. MCCLLELLAN.

The following, taken from the Baltimore American, an unconditional Union paper, always partial to Gen. McClellan, shows the estimation the loyal men of the south place in him for endorsing Woodward.

General McClellan has "spoken in public" at last, and the time and occasion of giving utterance to his sentiments has swept from his side all those truly loyal men who had adhered to him through good and bad report.

Next to Vallandigham there is no man in the country whose loyalty I had been more strongly impeached than Judge Woodward, whose election as Governor of Pennsylvania General McClellan regarded as called for by the interests of the nation.

But independent of this, there was reason why General McClellan should of all men have taken no part in this contest, even if his political prejudices were with Judge Woodward.

But independent of all this, General McClellan knew that the party which hoped to elect Judge Woodward is as disloyal as the secessionists of Maryland. They rejoice in Rebel victories and mourn over their defeats.

Our observation during the past few weeks has led us to know the gratifying fact that the YOUNG MEN, between the ages of twenty-one and thirty, who are not in the army, union ticket at the last election, without regard to what their former political bias may have been.

Democracy is a good thing when used to save a country, but when attempted to be made use of by such men as Buchanan, Wood, Vallandigham, Hughes, Reed, Woodward, Hiestler, and their like, to force the Administration to make peace and recognize the Southern Confederacy.

Paddy O'Reilly's RETURN.—Miles O'Reilly, the soldier who was arrested on Morris Island, S. C., for making blackguard poetry, and pardoned by the President in response to a witty poetical petition, has arrived in New York on a furlough, and met with an enthusiastic reception by his old mates.

Long life to you, Mather Lincoln! May you die both late and aisy! Ah! what you lie with the top of such toe turned up to the roots of a daisy.

A Touching Episode of the War.

Our readers will doubtless recollect having seen last week's issue of the paper some days since, of the death of a little son of Maj. Gen. W. T. Sherman, a bright, beautiful boy, of eight years, whose disease was contracted while in camp with his father, on the Big Black twenty miles from Yorkburg.

My DEAR FRIEND: I cannot sleep to-night till I record an expression of the deep feelings of my heart to you, and to the officers and soldiers of the battalion, for their kind behavior to my poor child.

These provisions, we apprehend, comprise the minimum of what we must require before we lay down our arms. That is to say, the North must yield all, we nothing.

It will be recollected that on the eve of the late election, Major General Butler addressed the people of the State Capital, and that Gen. Cameron presided at that meeting.

Now, gentlemen, let me prophecy a little; for an old man may be permitted to do this. The people of Pennsylvania have renominated Mr. Curtin, because the war is going on, and because they believed it would not be wise to change the commander.

Well, General, it seems that a prophet has sometimes honor in his own country and among his own kin. Half your prophecy, delivered early in September, was verified on the 13th of October—and the other may come true on the first Tuesday of November, 1864.

THE ERIC OBSERVER.—A rank cop perhaps best says: "Our Democratic exchanges promised their readers that the Curtin would fall on the 24th Tuesday of October. It has fallen, but, unfortunately, it has left us on the outside."

CURE FOR DIPHTHERIA.—Here is a remedy, said to be excellent, for the cure of diphtheria: A small quantity of sheep's suet, say a spoonful, chopped fine and boiled in a gill of milk, and drink on retiring to bed.

ALMOST UNANIMOUS.—There was one place in Ohio where Vallandigham received an almost unanimous vote. The rebel prisoners at Camp Chase took a vote for Governor, and the result was: Vallandigham, 1,083; Brough, 2. This must prove a consoling item to the disconsolate exile.

THE RICHMOND ENQUIRER.

The Richmond Enquirer, of the 16th ult., in an editorial on "Peace," says: "Save on our own terms, we can accept of peace whatever, and must fight till we die rather than yield an inch of them; and our terms are: Recognition by the enemy of the independence of the Confederate States."

These provisions, we apprehend, comprise the minimum of what we must require before we lay down our arms. That is to say, the North must yield all, we nothing.

It will be recollected that on the eve of the late election, Major General Butler addressed the people of the State Capital, and that Gen. Cameron presided at that meeting.

Now, gentlemen, let me prophecy a little; for an old man may be permitted to do this. The people of Pennsylvania have renominated Mr. Curtin, because the war is going on, and because they believed it would not be wise to change the commander.

Well, General, it seems that a prophet has sometimes honor in his own country and among his own kin. Half your prophecy, delivered early in September, was verified on the 13th of October—and the other may come true on the first Tuesday of November, 1864.

THE ERIC OBSERVER.—A rank cop perhaps best says: "Our Democratic exchanges promised their readers that the Curtin would fall on the 24th Tuesday of October. It has fallen, but, unfortunately, it has left us on the outside."

CURE FOR DIPHTHERIA.—Here is a remedy, said to be excellent, for the cure of diphtheria: A small quantity of sheep's suet, say a spoonful, chopped fine and boiled in a gill of milk, and drink on retiring to bed.

ALMOST UNANIMOUS.—There was one place in Ohio where Vallandigham received an almost unanimous vote. The rebel prisoners at Camp Chase took a vote for Governor, and the result was: Vallandigham, 1,083; Brough, 2. This must prove a consoling item to the disconsolate exile.

A student, in the course of examination, was asked, "Pray E. how would you discover a fool?" "By the questions he would ask," replied Mr. E.

THE SCORCHING REBUKE.

The following is a scorching rebuke given by a gentleman to a wealthy planter of Alabama, who is a large slaveholder. One of the group stepped out to the door, looking on for a few minutes, and then indignantly turned on his heel, addressed himself to the grave Alabama, to the following purport: "Well, I'll be—If that is not a burning disgrace, which no decent white man can tolerate, I don't think your regiment too great an insult."

These provisions, we apprehend, comprise the minimum of what we must require before we lay down our arms. That is to say, the North must yield all, we nothing.

It will be recollected that on the eve of the late election, Major General Butler addressed the people of the State Capital, and that Gen. Cameron presided at that meeting.

Now, gentlemen, let me prophecy a little; for an old man may be permitted to do this. The people of Pennsylvania have renominated Mr. Curtin, because the war is going on, and because they believed it would not be wise to change the commander.

Well, General, it seems that a prophet has sometimes honor in his own country and among his own kin. Half your prophecy, delivered early in September, was verified on the 13th of October—and the other may come true on the first Tuesday of November, 1864.

THE ERIC OBSERVER.—A rank cop perhaps best says: "Our Democratic exchanges promised their readers that the Curtin would fall on the 24th Tuesday of October. It has fallen, but, unfortunately, it has left us on the outside."

CURE FOR DIPHTHERIA.—Here is a remedy, said to be excellent, for the cure of diphtheria: A small quantity of sheep's suet, say a spoonful, chopped fine and boiled in a gill of milk, and drink on retiring to bed.

ALMOST UNANIMOUS.—There was one place in Ohio where Vallandigham received an almost unanimous vote. The rebel prisoners at Camp Chase took a vote for Governor, and the result was: Vallandigham, 1,083; Brough, 2. This must prove a consoling item to the disconsolate exile.

A student, in the course of examination, was asked, "Pray E. how would you discover a fool?" "By the questions he would ask," replied Mr. E.

Important Confession from the English.

In an article upon "Glimore's Angel," the London Telegraph makes the following admission in favor of the Americans: "If the Americans are vain, bragging big, why not do them the justice of confessing that they attain their advantages in their contentions, their sufferings, and their engines, and methods of warfare? Twice, in the course of two years' struggle, they have altered the complexion of the science of destruction—once the water and once by land. The Monitor and Merrimack, by their invincible and almost invulnerable armor, have raised the scale of naval warfare to a new and higher level, and have shown that the old-fashioned iron-plated frigates and ships of the line are no longer fit for the sea."

These provisions, we apprehend, comprise the minimum of what we must require before we lay down our arms. That is to say, the North must yield all, we nothing.

It will be recollected that on the eve of the late election, Major General Butler addressed the people of the State Capital, and that Gen. Cameron presided at that meeting.

Now, gentlemen, let me prophecy a little; for an old man may be permitted to do this. The people of Pennsylvania have renominated Mr. Curtin, because the war is going on, and because they believed it would not be wise to change the commander.

Well, General, it seems that a prophet has sometimes honor in his own country and among his own kin. Half your prophecy, delivered early in September, was verified on the 13th of October—and the other may come true on the first Tuesday of November, 1864.

THE ERIC OBSERVER.—A rank cop perhaps best says: "Our Democratic exchanges promised their readers that the Curtin would fall on the 24th Tuesday of October. It has fallen, but, unfortunately, it has left us on the outside."

CURE FOR DIPHTHERIA.—Here is a remedy, said to be excellent, for the cure of diphtheria: A small quantity of sheep's suet, say a spoonful, chopped fine and boiled in a gill of milk, and drink on retiring to bed.

ALMOST UNANIMOUS.—There was one place in Ohio where Vallandigham received an almost unanimous vote. The rebel prisoners at Camp Chase took a vote for Governor, and the result was: Vallandigham, 1,083; Brough, 2. This must prove a consoling item to the disconsolate exile.

A student, in the course of examination, was asked, "Pray E. how would you discover a fool?" "By the questions he would ask," replied Mr. E.