

THE BEAVER ARGUS

December 27th, 1885.

LOCAL and MISCELLANEOUS.

We again remind those subscribers who have not paid up for the present...

Hon. George V. Lawrence and J. E. Moorhead will please accept our thanks for favors received.

The price of boarding at the first and second class hotels in Oil City, has been reduced to $8 and $5 per day.

Dr. Daniel Agnew, Judge of Supreme Court, leaves for Philadelphia Monday next, to attend the winter session.

Marshall and Frecko, the Boyd Hill hardware, are to hang, at Pittsburg, on the 27th of January, and Mrs. Grindler, the politician, will be hung on the 19th of same month.

In Pitkin, where there are 12,000 inhabitants, but for citizens have been residents long enough to be entitled to a vote.

Mrs. Isabella Marks died at the residence of her son, James Marks, of Hopewell township, aged 89.

Another Strike.—Last week the Venustus Oil Company struck a fine well on the Little Beaver, near the mouth of Island Run.

Bestwick sold a large number of his clothing stores for Christmas presents, and learn the purchasers are greatly delighted with their bargains.

State Military Claims.—General W. W. Irwin, President of the Board of Military Claims, states that a large number of claims have been adjudicated by the board...

Eds. Argus: It was the good fortune of your correspondent to be present at the examination of the pupils of the Beaver Female Seminary...

I cannot recount all the exercises, and it were invidious to make comparisons. The whole passed off admirably, giving entire satisfaction to the visitors.

The teachers have done their severest parts in such way, with such tact and skill, and patience to entitle them to the thanks of pupils, patrons and public alike.

A BOLD THIEF.—One day last week, a man by the name of G. B. Smith, who has been residing for several months past at Industry, in this county, stole forty six head of sheep from the farm of another man named Thom as Smith.

Restitution.—A. B. Craig, formerly in the employ of Chambers & Matthews, Washington, Pa., who purloined money and articles from his employers, in which he was detected, and of which he made restitution, has recently returned from California, in order to relieve his conscience still further.

PETROLEUM FUEL.—A process has just been patented in Philadelphia whereby petroleum is safely used as fuel for steam boilers.

SALES.—Such is the title given to the Pittsburgh Commercial, because of the great number of auctions, held in the place. We object to the title, and hope correspondents will not persist in ruining the business of our handsome village by any such blighting representations.

The above, clipped from the Beaver County Local of last week, is a specimen of the good taste and refinement of its Noble county editor. The society in which he has heretofore moved has indeed been very low.

The Pittsburgh-Fort Wayne and Chicago Railroad Company have made a contract for twenty five new engines, to cost between $300,000 and $400,000.

PROPOSED CHANGE.—The citizens of Greenville, Mercer county, are agitating the question of removing the county seat from Mercer to that place.

NEW COUNTERFEIT.—A new counterfeit five dollar treasury note has just made its appearance. At a cursory glance it would not be detected by parties not accustomed to handling money, but an expert would call it a decidedly poor imitation.

A correspondent, writing from Smith's Ferry, says that the hotel accommodations are entirely inadequate to the demand, but that there is a company organizing for the purpose of getting up a first class hotel, etc.

MARRIED: December 21st, by Rev. S. Burt, Mr. COCHRAN RAMSAY, of Beaver, Pa., to Miss SALMIE A. SUTHERLAND, of Vanport, Pa.

DIED: On the 9th inst., near Keithsburg, Mercer county, Illinois, JOHN BODEN, son of Wm. K. Boden, Esq., formerly of this place, aged about 18 years.

COAL! I AM prepared to deliver Coal of the best quality on shortest notice. Orders left at N. N. Atkins Clothing Store, Beaver, Pa., or at the office of the Board of Directors, will receive prompt attention.
